For this gem of the Canadian Rockies is a place that one could easily imagine as the playground of the gods. Like the Persian paradise it is walled — not by man-made barricades but by huge ascending rings of mountains.

No mere words can describe a visitor's first reaction to seeing this magnificent spectacle. Nature and the lake chateau owners have combined their efforts to make the first view of the lake and glaciers the stunning climax of the three-mile ride and 1,000-foot climb from Lake Louise station on the CPR trans-continental line in Alberta.

When the visitor alights at the side door of the chateau, the building has been so placed he gets only a glimpse of the grandeur awaiting him. But on entering the lobby, most people are stopped in their tracks by the powerful impact of such incomparable beauty.

Almost Touch Mountains

The lobby faces the lake with its ever changing color ranging from turquoise to jade and surrounded by mountains which a visitor feels he can reach out and touch. Huge ceiling-to-floor windows across the front of the hotel frame this view that reminds you of a magnificent painting. Its beauty is so awe-inspiring that you have to pinch yourself to make sure it's real.

The lake is tiny by eastern standards, 1½ miles long and ¾ of a mile wide, but is a never ending source of delight. Its color is different every hour of the day and with its backdrop of Victoria glacier, it is an elusive thing artists rarely succeed in capturing.

The gorgeous color is due to the depth of the lake and the minute particles of glacial silt and rock dust carried down from the glacier. The sparkling crown of white on Upper Victoria glacier is from 200-300 feet thick and Lower Victoria glacier is a massive 400-500 feet of icy thickness.

Tom Wilson, an ex-RCMP and pioneer guide, was the first white man to set eyes on the green waters in 1883.

He was camping nearby while working as a guide for Major A. B. Rogers who surveyed the main line of the CPR through the mighty Selkirk Range. The stillness of the night was broken from time to time by heavy rumbling sounds like far-off thunder.

Hears Spirit Speak

The next day he questioned his Indian guides and was told it was the voice of the Manitou or Great Spirit at the Lake of the Little Fishes. Wilson was determined to see the spot for himself and the next day his Indian friends led him to the location.

Wilson was so struck by the brilliant color of the glacial waters dancing in the sun that he renamed it Emerald Lake. The voice of the Great Spirit, he found, was caused by huge pieces of the glacier falling down the mountainside into the lake.

Like everything else about the area, the lake and mountains were named in picturesque fashion. Shortly after Princess Louise, daughter of Queen Victoria, came to Canada as the wife of the Governor-General, the lake was named in her honor. Mt. Victoria and Victoria glacier forever watch over and feed the daughter Lake Louise.

Everything Blends

The Chateau Lake Louise was first opened in 1890. Additions were added in later years and it was rebuilt in 1925. One of the features is its beautiful dining room under Oscar Wulliman, maitre d'hotel, a story in himself. The same huge picture windows frame the lovely lake and glacier as those in the lobby. Originally built solely for the luxury trade, the chateau now is within the means of the average wage earner. Rates run from $9 a day for a single room with bath and $12 a day for a double.

Other things adding charm to this pleasant holiday spot are the hundreds of orange and yellow Iceland poppies on terraces in front of the hotel and the glass-walled swimming pool facing the glacier.

It is an unsurpassed centre for mountain climbing. The array of mountains, including Fairview, Aberdeen, Temple, Lefroy, Victoria, Pope's Peak, The Needles, Beehive and Niblock, form a gigantic circle around Louise. There are climbs of from three hours to two days which can be taken.

Sunrise Wonderful

One of the loveliest sights is to be beside the lake at sunrise, when the water looks almost black with the glistening glacier and sister peaks reflected at the end. Shorter mountain climbs taken at this time surpass any other time of day.

Lake Louise has one big advantage over other resort spots of that area. It is centrally situated and is much handier for side trips to the Yoho Valley, Banff, Emerald Lake, etc. Banff 40 miles away, is at one end of the circle, while Emerald Lake is at the other. Lake Louise lies half way between.

Short trips on horseback or hiking can be taken up the mountains. One popular one, about six miles return, is to the Plains of the Six Glaciers. It takes visitors past the end of the lake up toward Victoria Glacier. The climb is lovely and the reward at the end is the beautiful meadow of lovely wild flowers at the foot of the glaciers and a tea house where the exhilarated climber can rest before turning home.

Doesn't Take Long

Lake Louise can be reached in 2½ days on the main CPR line Toronto to Vancouver. Train No. 3 leaves Toronto at midnight (DST) and carries the traveller through many Canadian beauty spots. Information and tickets can be obtained from the CPR ticket office, George Street, under agent, E. J. Heard.

The trip from Calgary on is very lovely. The visitor passes through the rolling foothills and gradually growing mountains. There are wonderful views and you can develop a crick in the neck from trying to see everything on both sides of the tracks. From Calgary on, there are open observation cars which provide excellent views. The Lake Louise station is built in Swiss chalet style to fit in with the scenery.

Percy Council Holds Inaugural

WARKWORTH, Jan. 26.—The muncipal council of the township of Percy met on Monday in the town hall.

The council members were all present: George Broadworth, reeve; Cecil Grills, reputy reeve, and J. S. Atkinson, Eric Merrill and William Johnston, councillors.

The road superintendent and a member of council will attend the Good Roads convention and the $5 fee will be paid and $25 to each delegate for expenses.

The council instructed the clerk to send out notices that a bylaw will be considered at the next council meeting to alter the boundaries of school sections Nos. 8 and 13.

The council agreed to pay the municipal auditor $150 for auditing the township books.

The council agreed to pay George Vansickle 90c an hour for driving the maintainer; the truck driver 80c per hour, and 70c per hour for laborers.

The council appointed James Towns as livestock valuator at a salary of $2 per call plus 10c a mile.

The council extended the tax collector's time until Feb. 5, 1952.

The council appointed Eldon Ewing school attendance officer for the year.

The council agreed to pay an interest rate of 4 per cent per annum on private loans.

J. S. Atkinson was named as council representative on the Community Centre Board in place of Cecil Grills, and Cecil Grills and William Johnston were appointed council's representatives on the Percy Recreation Commission.

W. D. Hoar was named caretaker of the town hall at a salary of $30 per annuam. Eric Merrill, relief administrator, at a salary of $2 a call and mileage of 10c per mile. The clerk was instructed to advertise for tenders for six cords of body beech and maple wood, 16-inch length with 3 lengths to the cord.

The council authorized the reeve and clerk to sign and submit to the Department of Highways a petition showing that during the period from Jan 1, 1951, to Dec. 31, 1951, there has been expended on the township road system $35,348.76, and to request the statutory grants on that amount as provided by the Act, being subject to deductions and payments already made.

Cancer Society Starts Campaign

The Peterborough unit of the Canadian Cancer Society will conduct a fund-raising campaign in this district Feb. 1 to 4.

This announcement was made today by Mrs. Maurice Holt, president of the Peterborough unit.

The campaign objective has been set at $9,000.

Mrs. Holt explained that this money is used in three projects: education, research and welfare for patients.

"The importance of discovering cancer in its early stages is the society's reason for promoting nation-wide educational programs," she said.

"Until every adult in the country has been taught to recognize the danger signals of cancer and has become aware that many types of cancer can be cured if diagnosed and treated in time, the educational program of the society must continue to grow."

75 Projects

The National Cancer Institute is sponsoring 75 cancer research projects in the country. The funds for these projects are raised by the Cancer Society. Funds are urgently required to extend research facilities and to provide fellowships to enable qualified doctors and scientists to continue their cancer research studies in Canada and abroad.

Mrs. Holt went on to explainn that the Peterborough unit is following the welfare-for-patients projects which is also nation-wide. During the past year more than half a million free cancer dressings have been provided in Ontario for patients receiving care in their homes. Free transportation is also provided in Ontario for patients receiving care in their homes. Free transporation is also provided to take patients to clinics for treatment. Many other services are also carried out for patients with this disease.

Thousands of Lives

"To help control cancer — a disease which takes thousands of Canadian lives every year — the society is appealing to the people of Peterborough district for generous support during our campaign," Mrs. Holt concluded

Contributions will be received at the Royal Bank of Canada at 410 George St. N. The campaign is being sponsored by the Peterborough Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Group Hospitalization Plan

Again Available for the Smaller Company Staffs

ALL MEMBERS OF THE PETERBOROUGH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE QUALIFY! ACT NOW!

Your Chamber of Commerce is pleased to announce that additional memberships in its Great-West Life group hospitalization plan can be accepted during the period from January 15th to February 15th inclusive. This plan is open to all Employers and Employees of Businesses who are now (or will become) members of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. This is a new opportunity for small businesses in Peterborough to bring to their employees all the benefits of a proved plan of a type that was formerly open only to larger firms. Already employees of the Peterborough businesses listed on this page are enjoying the security of complete Hospital and Surgical coverage, group life insurance and weekly income in case of illness. Many Peterborough citizens have already received benefit cheques through the plan.

NO MEDICAL EXAMINATION . . . NO AGE LIMIT

. . . PRE-EXISTING CONDITIONS COVERED!

Every employee and all employees' dependents of every member firm are eligible for this comprehensive protection, without medical examination, and pre-existing conditions are covered!

The plan now includes a special Polio coverage of $1500 for employees or dependents in lieu of other benefits.

New applications from member firms of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce will be accepted up until February 15th, 1952. Make your inquiries at once.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1952

The New Lieutenant-Governor

Mr. Louis O. Breithaupt (pronounced bright-up) of Kitchener has been named Ontario's eighteenth Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Breithaupt is a former mayor of Kitchener, a successful industrialist and a Liberal Member of Parliament. He has represented North Waterloo constituency since 1940.

* * *

Lieutenant-Governorships are actually in the gift of the ruling party at Ottawa; it was therefore inevitable that a Liberal would be appointed. When Conservatives are in power at Ottawa, Conservative Lieutenant-Governers are named; when the Liberals form the Federal Government, then men are appointed who have supported the Liberal Party actively as politicians or indirectly as men of influence and means. It has not been usual to make the appointment right out of Parliament. Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, whom the Conservative Bennett Government named Lieutenant-Governor in 1932 did not become a Conservative Member of Parliament until after he retired from Chorley Park.

* * *

Mr. Breithaupt, who will of course give up his seat in the Commons, brings to his high office fine qualities of citizenship and the abilities of a successful businessman. He will give it his own dignity and it is expected will be as active in the social and ceremonial appurtenances of Lieutenant-Governorship as the Honourable Ray Lawson, whom he is replacing.

* * *

Lieutenant-Governor Lawson's term has been distinguished by the energy and enthusiasm with which he took and expanded his responsibilities as King's representative in Ontario. He has travelled widely throughout the Province since 1946 when he took office, and been a genial, dignified and even courtly figure at a great variety of social and state functions. Lieutenant-Governor Lawson has served the Province ably and with spirit. He leaves the office in good esteem to his successor from Kitchener.

Incidentally, like all has predecessors, Mr. Breithaupt is a Canadian but it will be the first time that a member of the Evangelical United Brethren will have represented His Majesty in Ontario.

Memorial Tablet

It is fitting that a memorial plaque should be put up to honour the four men who died last Spring fighting the big fire in the Zacks building on George Street. The plaque, a fine bronze one, is ready for placing. We think, however, that the proper place for it is not the City Hall. Alderman Rehill's suggestion that it be put up at the Fire Hall is better. More suitable still would be to erect on the wall of whatever building replaces the Zacks block; and until there is a replacement, it could be put on the charred wall beside the gap. That is where the men lost their lives, and more people will see it there than on a wall inside the City Hall.

The City Hall is itself a memorial to Mr. Morrow. It is not fitting that other memorial plaques be put there. If the place were to become a repository for tablets, visitors confronted with dozens of them would be mindful of none of them—only of the clutter.

We very much favour outside wall tablets on buildings. They give a street history. One reason London streets are so interesting is that here and there—hundreds of them all over the town—a plate on a house wall, a plaque on a commercial building, a bronze beside a doorway, tell the passer-by that here Dr. Johnson lived until 1782; that fire in 1837 destroyed the Old Tavern frequented by such-and-such in the seventeenth century; that a famous theatre once stood on the site; that a general died in this house; that a noted statesman was killed at that corner. Thus Londoners and their guests walk daily with history.

Peterborough has no such plaques. Let a fitting beginning be made by putting the memorial bronze to the four firefighters prominently at the site where their sacrifice was made.

The Murmuring Pavement

We have all, at one time or other, read the sort of prose or poetry which cried "Hey, for the open road." It seems that it will not be long before the open road will be quite capable of crying Hey! for itself. The Journal of Commerce records a patent for a device which will make motor highways utter such warnings as "Danger," or "Crossing" when a car runs over them.

The principle is the same as those little effigies of Santa Claus, popular two Christmases ago, which said "Merry Christmas" when you drew your thumbnail sharply over a piece of corrugated tape. The corrugations caused sound waves, and the hollow body of Santa acted as a soundbox, producing the voice. Roads may be corrugated in such a way that a car, running over the corrugations, will form a soundbox, and will utter the message desired.

At first this appeals to us as a good scheme. As the size of the soundbox will control the size and pitch of the voice, we may assume that drivers of little English cars will receive their warnings in a feminine voice, if not in the high squeak associated with Mr. Punch. Rolls-Royces, with their superior body work, will undoubtedly address their owners (more likely their chauffeurs) in cultivated English tones; the voice of a large transport will be of a depth to mortify the most profound Russian basso. It will be amusing to hear the cars speak in their characteristic voices.

But another thought assails us. We remember those speaking Santa Clauses very well, and we recall that when the tape was scraped very slowly, Santa spoke in soft and sepulchral tones, and when it was scraped quickly, he screamed, as though "Merry Christmas" were an outcry of terror. Even so the speed at which a car is travelling will influence its voice as it passes over the corrugated warning. And the notion that if we are in a hurry our car is going to scream "Danger!" does not please us at all. Such a warning, in such a voice, would certainly put us in the ditch, at once. And is there any possibility that these warning voices can be confined to the cars? We see no reason to suppose so. If people who live near the warning areas are to hear shrieks of "Danger!" all day and most of the night, in a variety of voices, our incidence of insanity will rise sharply. We hope that the pavements will be left silent until this plan is better understood than it seems to be at present.

Anybody Know Where Sault Ste. Marie Is?

The Prime Minister opened a big, costly new armoury in Sault Ste. Marie a few days ago. Mr. St. Laurent likes to arm himself with some local lore for such occasions. Now, Sault Ste. Marie and its district of Algoma have a pretty brief civilized history compared with ripe old places like Peterborough. However a research secretary in Ottawa must have found him something, for in his speech he said: "I am told that in 1859, shortly after the judicial district of Algoma was organized, Sir John. A. Macdonald appointed a Colonel Savage as its first registrar. After thanking Sir John for the appointment, Colonel Savage asked where Algoma was. Sir John is said to have replied that 'he'd be hanged if he knew where Algoma was'.

Anybody today know where Algoma is? Of course, everybody does; it's the place that is going to have the biggest crop of tent caterpillars next summer that anybody in Canada has ever seen.

And what is doing in the Sault and Algoma these days? The same Colonel Savage asked Sir John Macdonald what book or books he would need in his new job as registrar. Sir John answered: "A pocket diary, Savage, a pocket diary; I fancy you'll not fill it with all your official entries".

Sault Ste. Marie has come a long way since then. It is now important enough to be worth defending with an armoury, and presumably the present registrar has perhaps even a couple of pocket diaries to record the statistics vital to Algoma.

B.C. Coalition Comes Unstuck

Liberals and Conservatives in British Columbia united to form a solid front against the rising tide of C.C.F. in 1941, a year when union governments were patriotic devices. The C.C.F. people have been kept out of the seats of power (being the official Opposition since then) but the war-time abasement of party politics for the provincial good has gone. The honey which stuck Liberals and Conservatives to the same platform has turned rancid and thin. Liberal Premier Byron Johnson fired Conservative leader Herbert Anscomb, his Minister of Finance but a thorn in his flesh. The three other Conservative Ministers in the coalition cabinet also resigned. Premier Johnson stays in power with a majority of one over the 22 Conservatives in the legislature, but it is expected that he will call an election shortly. Both Conservatives and Liberals must feel safe from the C.C.F., who have only eight members in the House now.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Halifax girl who was robbed by a man who gagged and bound her with her own stockings described her assailant as "a gentleman." Imagination boggles at the notion of an encounter with somebody whom she deemed unrefined.

A letter-writer to the Montreal Star says that the way to avoid catching colds is to sleep with the bed pulled out at least nine inches from the walls. Make it a couple of feet; then you'd be able to catch a good cold every time you fall out of the bed.

BIBLIOMANIA

Calligraphic Revolution

WRITTEN BY HAND, by Aubrey West (Allen & Unwin).

THIS BOOK MAY have attracted the attention of some readers who would not normally be interested in its subject because it was recently given some flattering attention in "Time" magazine. It is a book about handwriting, written by an English man of business who has recently become interested in the subject; because it is by a business man, and because "Time" has boosted it, we may hope that some Canadian business men who would otherwise never hear of it, will read it and pay attention to it. The purpose of the book is to persuade people that it is necessary to write legibly, and if possible, beautifully.

Most people, we may safely say, write a wretched hand. It is not their fault; they were taught a method of writing which is bad at its best, and quickly degenerates into illegibility. There is also a curious belief that bad handwriting is a sign of "character". It is not more a sign of character to write illegibly than it is to speak illiterately and incomprehensibly. It is annoying to receive letters which are signed with unreadable names; it is even more annoying to be compelled to read a personal note written in the scribble of one of these undisciplined people. And although the typewriter is in general use today, a vast amount of correspondence is still conducted in hand-written letters. Why not learn to write well?

There is no reason why anybody cannot learn to write a fine hand. Age is no barrier. In the book under review there are two examples of writing by the same man, one done in 1950 and the other in 1951; one is a scrawl, and the other is a beautiful piece of script; the man was 62 when he made this change. Surely that should encourage any man, of any age, at least to learn to write his name well.

This reform in handwriting has become something of a fad in England during the past ten years; all sorts of people are learning to write handsomely. Perhaps "fad" is not the word we want, for it implies an unworthy infatuation with a trifling matter, and fine handwriting is no trifle. English schools have taken it up, and many of them offer an annual prize for good writing. A Canadian bank manager told us recently that he had great difficulty in finding clerks who could write a readable hand and keep a neat ledger; perhaps a writing prize would not be a bad thing in some of our schools here. The model which is usually favoured by these reformers in writing is the hand which was developed by the Papal Chancery in the sixteenth century; modern Italic type, which is familiar to everybody, is copied from this script, and its beauty and clarity are apparent to every reader.

Mr. Aubrey West's book makes a plea for better writing, and gives a short and excellent history of writing. It is splendidly illustrated, and if you can look through the book without being fired with a desire to improve your writing, you must be strangely lacking in visual sense. I recommend this book strongly to readers of every kind and particularly to teachers, and others who do a good deal of writing in the course of their work. Fine writing is a handicraft which anyone may acquire, and of which anyone may justly be proud.

WILD GEESE AND ESKIMOS by Peter Scott (Country Life-British Book Service).

NO CANADIAN bird-watcher and ornithologist, and no other quiet adventurers into the realms above the earth (Peter Scott travelled above the Arctic Circle) should miss this authentic piece of bird-lore. It is fascinating. This Englishman, well-known as duck and goose illustrator, and son of Captain Scott of the Antarctic, wrote a journal of his expedition into the Perry River territory in the District of Mackenzie of Canada which he made in 1949. This is it.

Scott's Journal has wide-ranging interest even to those who do not care greatly that the "beautiful little Ross's geese whose nesting colonies were found for the first time in 1938, are among those which are threatened, for their world population is probably no more than 5,000, possibly much less."

It was for this specific purpose, to investigate Ross's geese, that the Perry River Expedition of 1949 was undertaken with the financial support of the Arctic Institute of North America, Life magazine, Ducks Unlimited and Colonel Arthur Sullivan K.C., of Winnipeg.

The book is a daily record of what Scott saw and felt—geese included. Nature lovers will of course find the account especially interesting, but general readers will also find it fascinating, for it is a sensitive, trained observer's factual account of the land and its people, as well as of the flora and fauna of this part of the Canadian North-West where ice is a hazard in June and flowers burgeon luxuriantly in July.

The expedition began on May 31st, 1949, when the author, an American amateur ornithologist named Paul Queneau, and another American, Harold Hanson, a trained zoologist, took off in a hired Avro Anson from Yellowknife on Great Slave Lake. It ended at Moose Factory on August 4th, when the party was flown out. They made their main camp at the mouth of the Perry River, on the south shore of Queen Maud gulf. It tells in an unpretentious way, with the vividness of daily jottings in a diary, about the traders whom the three men met, the difficulties they encountered, the life of the Eskimos, and, in quick flashes gives the moods and characters of people and country.

Canadians of the future can be glad that this book was written and the air voyage undertaken by an observer as knowledgeable and graphically capable as the Englishman Scott. In a hundred year, after the mines, oil, radium, tundra, Eskimos and waters of the far Canadian north-west are thoroughly exploited and people other than Eskimos live there, this book, with its photographs and its illustrations will be a collector's item.

The book is liberally illustrated with pen-and-ink drawings by the author, photographs by Paul Queneau and a reproduction in colour of a Scott painting of Ross's geese on their northern breeding grounds.

It is curious and valuable to find, as the Canadian North unfolds, that in the van of this movement is a book about its birds. Canada should be pleased that a man of Mr. Scott's abilities undertook his 1949 expedition.

BEDS, By Reginald Reynolds (Doubleday)

REGINALD REYNOLDS MUST BE one of the most original and wayward of living scholars. He has written three first-rate books on subjects which have been neglected,

An American Opinion: NO WAY TO HUNT DUCKS

Dutch Art For South Africa

(By JOHN WORRALL in Capetown

THE most valuable collection of art treasures, including many old masters, to leave Holland since the war has arrived in Cape Town and will be exhibited at the South African National Gallery in Cape Town during the Union's Tercentenary celebrations.

The value of the collection is estimated to be in the region of £500,000. It includes Vermeer's famous picture "The Letter", Frans Hals' "The Happy Drinker", and paintings by Nicholas Maes, Pieter de Hooch, Abraham van Beveren and others.

There are two Rembrandts in the collection.

Many of the pictures and objets d'art have a purely historical interest in relation to the founding of the Cape Colony by the Dutch in the 17th Century.

Among these is a portrait of the founder and first Governor of the Cape, Jan van Riebeeck by Dirk Craey, reproductions of which appear on South African banknotes and official documents, but which has never been seen here in the original.

In charge of the collection is Dr. R. Van Luttervelt, keeper of the historical section of the famous Ryks Museum, Amsterdam.

Three hundred years have elapsed since at least one of the objects in the collection left South Africa's shores for Holland. This is a map of the Cape Settlement which Jan van Riebeeck had drawn up for the Council of Seventeen and which reached Holland in 1653.

The exhibition will be on view from next month in Cape Town and is expected to attract thousands of art lovers from all parts of the Union.

Celebrations have been arranged in Culemborg, Holland, the birthplace of Van Riebeeck, to take place simultaneously with those in Cape Town.

The Festival will be the biggest of its kind ever staged in the Southern Hemisphere, and is designed to show the developments of industry, agriculture, commerce, education and culture over 300 years.

Although the Festival will coincide with the King's holiday visit to Natal, it is not expected he will make the journey to the Cape, but it is thought possible that Princess Margaret may pay a courtesy visit.

and he has written with wit and learning in each case. His first work, "Cleanliness and Godliness" was a history of sewage disposal, with special reference to the disposal of the excrement of the human body; the next book was called "Beards", and on that topic he produced a wealth of entertaining evidence that beards have been matters of the most profound concern to mankind since the dawn of history. His newest book, "Beds" tells us a vast amount about beds without dwelling upon the facts that it is in bed that most of us are begotten, and that it is from bed that most of us are lifted when we have lost the power to lift ourselves. To write about beds without being either salacious or melancholy is a remarkable feat in itself; to find so much relating to beds that most of us have never guessed at is a notable feat of research.

Reynold's style appeals strongly to me because he is witty and scholarly without ever being arch, and he dives delightedly down side-alleys of scholarship without being tiresomely whimsical. He is immensely learned, but he is not top heavy with knowledge. He is interested in everything; he discusses the odd practice of the Bolivians of lying in bed and spitting at their walls; he explains why bedbugs were unknown in England until the sixteenth century; he knows of all the famous lyers-abed, he powerfully recommends lying abed, and he gives aid and comfort to such people as myself by imparting a fine moral and spiritual grace to the very act of lying abed when other people are on their legs, running about and making mischief in the world.

This is a fine book, and I am honoured to bring it to your attention. It is also a charming book in its physical aspect—small, light, pleasing to the eye and just right for reading in bed.

Soviet TV

(New York Times)

It does not take superhuman prescience to predict the opening of the Soviet Union's third television station, in Kiev, will be made the occasion for much propaganda jubilation.

Tons of paper and ink and hundreds if not thousands of hours of radio time will be devoted to this new "proof" of the superiority of Soviet science, the genius of the Russian people, etc.

Before the deluge begins, however, three footnotes are in order.

First, the station was supposed to be completed under the Fourth Five-Year Plan before 1951, so it is at least a year late. Second, that same plan called also for a fourth TV station to be opened in Sverdlovsk, but that still remains for the future.

Third, this "decadent bourgeois country" (our USA) has 108 television stations without benefit of socialism, economic planning, or even "the invincible genius of Comrade Stalin".

(From the Authorized Version)

Then the men of Israel said unto Gideon, Rule thou over us, both thou, and thy son, and thy son's son also: for thou hast delivered us from the hand of Midian. And Gideon said unto them, I will not rule over you, neither shall my son rule over you: the Lord shall rule over you. (Judg. 8: 22, 23.)

Report Cards A La Mode

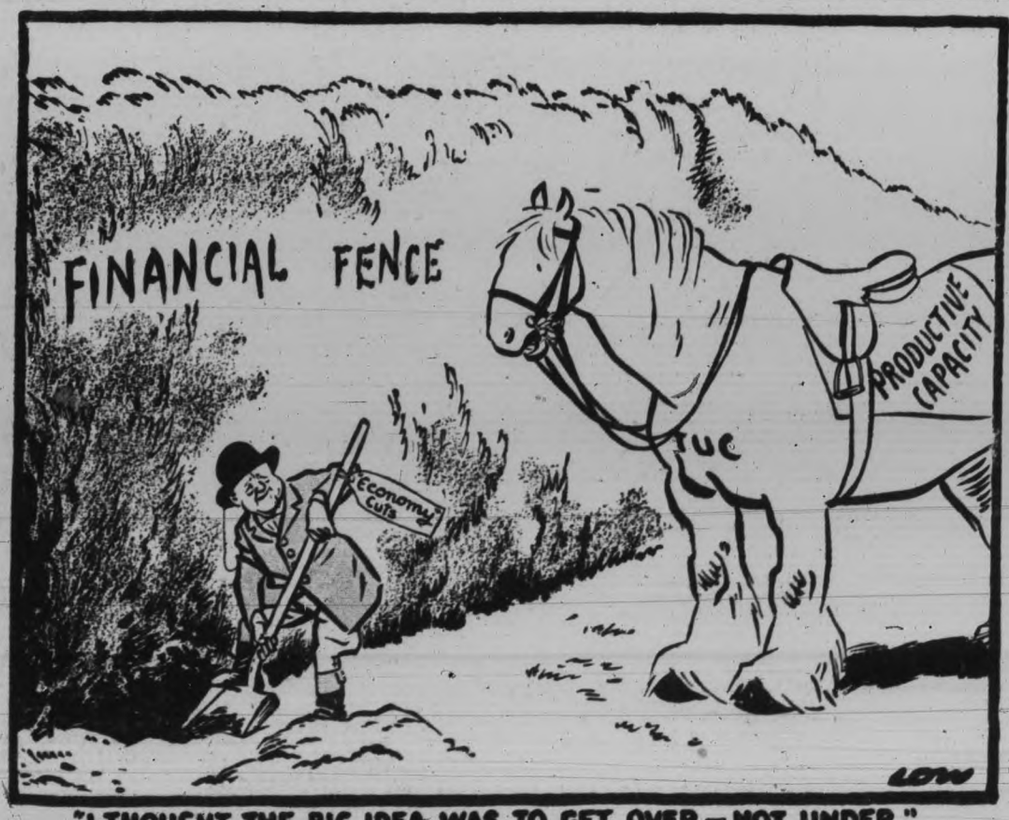
(Montreal Star)

When Toronto kids bring home their report cards from school, the anxious parents are no longer given the information in its old form. The report merely provides them with a letter: "O" for Outstanding; "S" for Satisfactory; or "U" for Unsatisfactory. The reason for the change, according to the Toronto authorities, is that the new report grades the child in terms of his own ability, not in terms of the average of his class.

If little Willie is a dumb cluck but is doing the best he knows how, he apparently gets an "O" for Outstanding. If his sister Lucy is smart and is getting perhaps the best marks in the class, she may get an "S" or even a "U" because she is falling behind what her teachers think she is capable of. Far be it from us to pose as experts in educational theory, but, if this is educational theory, one of its effects will be to remove parents further and further away from a matter which has always been—and should remain—a matter of primary concern to them.

The teacher may think little Willie is a cluck, yet give him an "O" because that is how his work is graded by the school. The parents, however, who probably know little Willie a lot better than the teacher, think he is not a cluck and should not be classified as one. They think he is capable of better work, but find their efforts are frustrated by little Willie himself. Try and make little Willie work harder when he is getting "O's". Just try it.

If the Toronto teachers want parent co-operation (and, heavens! how they howl when home-and-school meetings are ill-attended) they had perhaps better go back to the old system. Let them use their "O's" and "S's" and "U's" to their heart's contents. But make them give the actual class marks as well, the defeats and victories in each subject. This gives the parents a better chance to help. They won't just sit at home saying to each other "Teacher knows best." The Truro Daily News calls the Toronto plan "wretchedly poor policy" and we are inclined to agree with it.



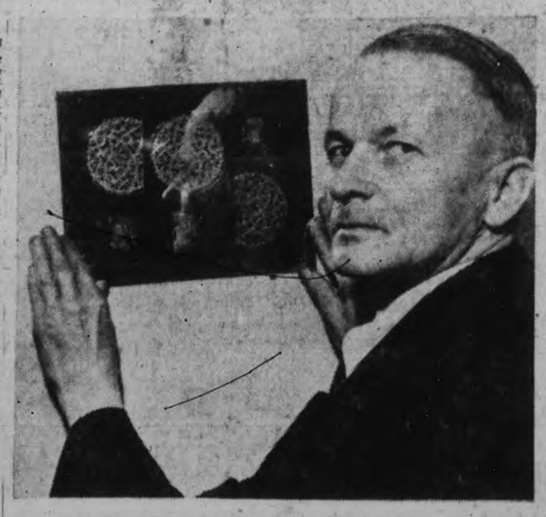
WORK FAST

The insurance office was rung up by an excited woman.

"I want to insure my house," she said. "Can I do it over the 'phone?"

"I'm afraid not," she was told. "Perhaps we'd better send a man along."

"I've got to do it immediately," came the frantic voice. "The place is on fire!"



"I THOUGHT THE BIG IDEA WAS TO GET OVER — NOT UNDER"

In His Kitchen On Burleigh Falls Road A Craftsman Etches Like a Wizard

By A. J. THOMAS

Living between Burleigh Falls and Young's Point in a frame house near the highway is one of Canada's master craftsmen. He is Emil York, engraver. His work is so exact and fine, that he can engrave [illegible] hand the entire alphabet [illegible]e head of a small nail—the size of a pin-head. He has done it lately, though he did not even mention the fact to this interviewer. Probably Mr. York thinks a feat like that is just a showy sort of trick job—and he is a serious craftsman, with a great pride in his work, and love for it.

He has recently been engaged on a special job of engraving for the Dominion Government. The firm which sub-let this work to Mr. York found out last year that there was a man in Canada capable of doing so specialized engraving. Formerly Ottawa got the job done—at great expense—in the United States.

ETCHED BY HAND ON A KITCHEN TABLE NEAR BURLEIGH FALLS the intricate engravings on this plate are exactly 1½ thousandths of an inch deep. The engraver, Emil York, who holds the brass plate, is a master craftsman and uses a process known only to himself. From a plate such as this water-marks on fine notepaper are made.

GRIEF

My grief lies all within;
And these external manners of laments
Are merely shadows to the unseen grief
That swells with silence in the tortur'd soul.

SHAKESPEARE:
Richard II, iv

Mr. York works by a very simple process, using acids of which he carefully guards the secret. He does it on the kitchen table in his frame house, with very little equipment. He seldom uses tools—doing the engraving with a bit of cloth held in his sensitive hands.

Need Feeling

By his own simple yet intensely skilled process Emil York etches letters and designs on brass plate to an exact depth of 1½ thousandths of an inch.

"It's a job where you have to have really a 'feeling'", he says. He does not wear gloves while working because that would interfere with his delicate sensitivity of fingers, a sensitivity conditioned by years of experience and a long, very thorough training in his craft in Germany.

Mr. York, now a man past middle age, was brought out to Canada in 1924 by a Toronto firm which needed a highly qualified craftsman who could engrave, do electric-plating and stereotyping. In order to attract him, the firm offered a weekly wage under contract which even in this day would be considered high.

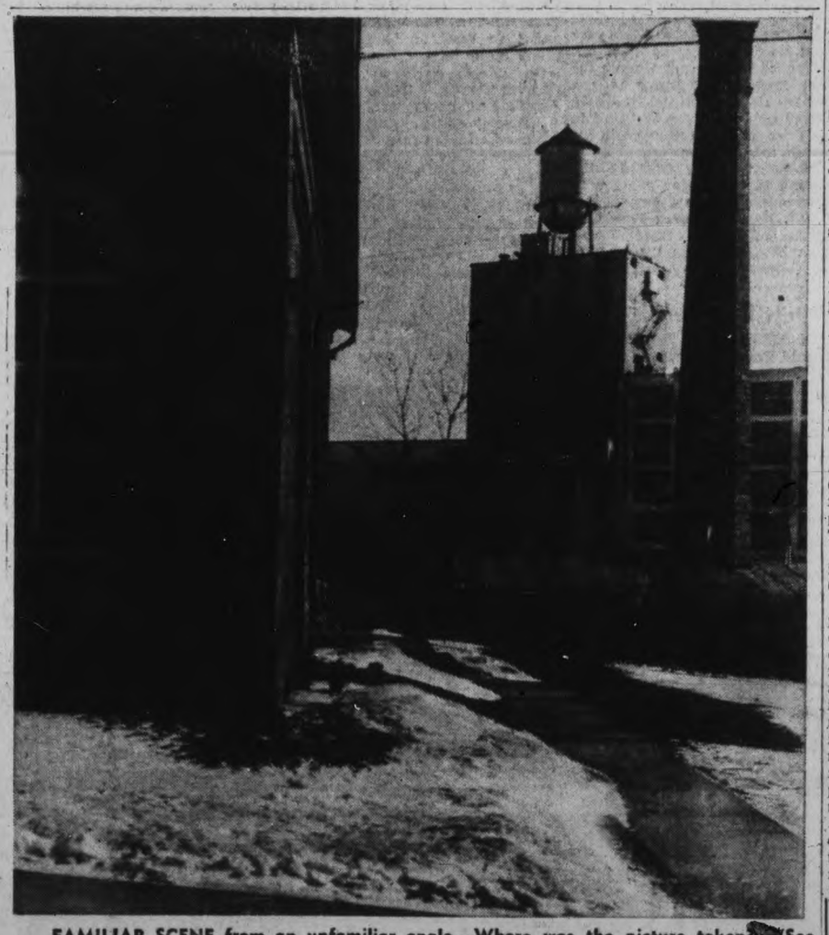
Moved To Bushland

He worked in Toronto for 21 years, and then his health gave out. He acquired about 100 acres north of Young's Point and there he, his wife and son went to live. Various special expenses had depleted the family's savings, so Mr. and Mrs. York began to operate tourist cabins built along the road on their property. Mrs. York died a couple of years ago and Emil York is living alone. Without the help of his wife he finds it difficult to maintain the small cabin-rental business they had.

He has never lost his love for his craft and takes on from time to time special assignments. For instance, he has been engraving the paper-thin plates used to put water-marks in good quality letter-paper. These engraved brass plates, afterwards plated with chromium, must be able to withstand pressures up to 40,000 pounds, in order to be used for water-marking.

The brass he uses is compounded of zinc and copper. The mixture, even on a single small plate is not always exactly even—and when a person is etching a line only 1½ thousandths of an inch deep this unevenness must be compensated for. For instance, sometimes there are soft zinc spots, which his acid would eat into too deeply unless watched minutely.

At work with his magnifying glass, his acids, his cloth, his sensitive hands, and a depth guage, this master craftsman does watch with meticulous care. So thorough has his training been—he served a long apprenticeship in his youth—that Mr. York understands and can work at not only one branch of engraving, but the whole range, from making his own brass sheets to the final delicate plating of them after the etching is done.



Mr. York is not a man to blow his own horn or boast of his skill. Quiet in voice and appearance, mild in manner, this craftsman has something of the detached air of an unworldly scholar. His work and art, not the dollars to be gained from it, come first.

And so this small man with thinning grey hair and gentle features lives in seclusion on the Burleigh Falls road in his unpretentions wooden house, catering to a few tourists, undertaking engraving commissions when they come his way (he recently did a presentation plaque); and he is one of the most skilled craftsmen on the whole continent, in his special field.

WOMAN'S BEAUTY

Nature gave horns to bulls, hooves to horses, speed to hares, the power of swimming to fishes, that of flying to birds, and understanding to men. She had nothing left to give to women save beauty. Beauty is proof against spears and shields. She who is beautiful is more formidable than fire and iron.

White Brick Witness Of a Century's Deeds

By DAVE WHITE

The low building of grimy white brick that stands just south of the county courthouse was at one time the county registrar's office. But for the last five years it has been the office of the Children's Aid Society.

Courthouse officials are unable to say just how old the building is. The best guess is that it is nearly as old as the courthouse itself; and the main section of the courthouse was completed in 1841.

When Registrar W. F. Morrow moved out of the building in 1929 with his records it lay for a long time in disrepair. The walls of solid brick vary between 24 and 26 inches and defied initial efforts to destroy it.

The roof was partly off but the old building was accepted by the Children's Aid Society. After fixing up, the premises were found satisfactory.

Available space in the newly-completed north wing of the county courthouse prompted Registrar Morrow to move the records in 1929. The office has modern vault furniture, compact filing system and space for accumulating the legal documents from county and city.

The first record book showing a transaction is no larger than an outsize hymn book and could easily be slipped into a coat pocket. It bears all the transactions between Jan. 10, 1842—the first entry—and April 30, 1847.

Nowadays the volume of business during that period fills a weighty volume, about 18 inches long and two inches thick.

"There has been a slight increase in business for four of the last five years," explained John R. Corkery, KC, registrar. "Last year (1951) there was a slight drop."

Mr. Corkery has been registrar for the last five years; he practised law in Peterborough from 1912 onward.

His predecessor was W. Frederick Morrow who retired Dec. 31, 1946. Mr. Corkery took over as registrar on Feb. 1, 1947.

Captain Charles Rubidge, the British naval veteran who served under Lord Nelson at Aboukir Bay and Copenhagen, was the first registrar. He held that post from 1841 until his death in 1873.

His successor was Col. F. W. Haultain who died in 1883.

Third registrar was Bernard Morrow who assumed office in January 1884. And in 1922, because of ill health, he resigned in favor of his son W. F. Morrow.

Thus between father and son the registrarship remained in the family for 62 years.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

"As the days lengthen
The cold strengthens," observed a fellow passenger on the bus this week. He scratched a small hole in the frosty window and sighed. The sun was five minutes high above the Otonabee hills, flooding the snowscape with light.

"You'd never think to look out there that a fellow will be trout fishing in three months."

It does seem hard to believe, stranger, but I have the good word from White Lake Hatchery manager Alf Snider that he is as busy as a one-armed paper hanger looking after this spring's crop of speckled fry. Feeding is the great problem at the present time.

Feeding is done through three holes, three by five feet, in each rearing pond. This cold weather the holes have to be kept open with ice chisel and hammer. Saws cannot be used as the movement of the shiny blade attracts the fish and many would be mangled.

The menu is something special, for trout. One hundred and fifty pounds each of beef liver and hog melts (the spleen) makes three feedings a week. The liver is thawed out and the fat and large veins removed and the fat stripped from the melts. Then, through the meat grinder, mixed and salt and cod liver oil added. Half a pound of this doctored livermelts concoction feeds a 1,000 fish.

The feeding of it is a science, too.

If the mixture is not thinned sufficiently, or, if it is fed into the holes too quickly, only the larger and stronger fish will benefit from it. Smaller feedings are given when the water is very cold so that the food may be digested but when the water warms up the size of meals is stepped up to prevent cannibalism.

This mollycoddling of baby trout and their subsequent handling and distribution in spring will give you some idea of the pains the Provincial Government go to to provide you with your favourite sport, come May 1.

There are bound to be a few fish for every fisherman but if you have your heart set on creel limits you are not a true Fellow of the Fly.

A Black Weekend

The man who sold us our oil space heater last Fall warned us that the stovepipes needed to be cleaned every little while. And all these winter fire stories in the newspapers kept us on the alert.

So-o-o-o-, last weekend Patricia—that's my dancing daughter—and I set to our task. We turned off the heat and when the pipes were cool enough to touch started to dismantle them. Twelve lengths of pipe and four elbows gave us quite a tussle. We wavered from the tops of ladders, chairs and the refrigerator and dusted part of the living room and all of the kitchen liberally with soot before we got them into the backyard, piecemeal.

The pipes were very dirty. We scraped out the black fluff into an empty carton. The loose stuff that escaped in the wind over the snow made sport for the family pooch—she pounced on it, rolled in it. Our black and white pet was now all black. She tired of this new game and sneaked off into the house to sleep (on the chesterfield.)

Two hours, twelve pipe lengths and four elbows later the pipes were back in place. We cut our fingers. Lost our patience. Perspired. Wiped our faces with sooty hands. Another two hours of vaccing, floor washing, dog washing, and self-cleansing finished the job. It was dark. It was a job well done. And the stove went like a son-of-a-gun.

It was also cheap insurance. We will be at it again in five or six week. You've got to be careful, the man said ....

Paper Mill For South Africa

By JOHN WORRELL (in Cape Town)

Combined Canadian and South African interests are planning the establishment of South Africa's first newsprint mill, using pine pulpwood grown in the Eastern Transvaal.

The project would involve an investment of more than £4,000,000.

At the moment the plans are purely provisional. They depend on the verdict of a party of Canadian experts who are due to arrive in the Union early in January to investigate the practicability of producing high quality newsprint in South Africa. Experiments so far conducted in Johannesburg have yielded promising results, and a quantity of newsprint of good quality has been manufactured.

Should a newsprint industry be established Canadian manufacturers will share in its development. Representatives of the South African companies interested had talks earlier in the year with manufacturers in Canada, who promised their co-operation.

The mill would be established in the Sabie district of the Eastern Transvaal, where 50,000 acres of pines have already been planted, with another 45,000 acres to be plantedlater.

The plantations can supply all the pulpwood needed to keep the factory in full production. All the other materials needed can also be produced in the Union.

The world newsprint problem is acutely felt in the whole of Southern Africa and there would be little difficulty in absorbing the entire output of the factory. The project has the full support of the government. The Colonial Development Corporation is planning a newsprint mill in Swaziland in the Mbabane area, where thousands of acres are already planted with pine.

DAME MYRA HESS: "Her steady gaze is fastened on the ultimate purposes of her art."

Great British Woman Pianist Myra Hess Honored Throughout the World

By A. K. HOLLAND
(Music Critic of The Liverpool Daily Post, Liverpool, England)

The highest honors have rarely fallen to the woman in Britain and indeed in the field of instrumental music they have been comparatively late in coming into their own. Two women have, however, in the present century, reached an eminence in their own sphere which has distinguished them among the artists of their time, male and female.

One, a composer, Dame Ethel Smyth, fought a life-long battle for recognition in a world that seemed hostile to the equal claims of women, and the other, a pianist, Dame Myra Hess, who seemed destined from the beginning to reach an exceptional position in the most highly competitive of all forms of musical expression.

Myra Hess, it is fair to say, has by her gifts and by her devotion to the art of music, by her public service and her gallant record during World War II, lifted the status of the woman musician to the highest levels of general admiration. To those who have watched her progress over the years, the span of her achievement seems a long and honorable one, yet in a changing world she seems among the least changeable figures. Indeed, the late Sir Henry Wood, in his autobiography declared: "She still seems to me the dark-haired girl she was in 1908 She is more fortunate than most of us in that she has changed very little in appearance with the years. Her musicianship has matured but she was a great artist even then."

Sir Henry was referring to her first appearance at a Promenade Concert in 1908 when she played the E flat concerto of Liszt ("not the type of work with which she is generally associated in these days", but of that more in a moment). Born at Hampstead, London, in 1890, she entered the Guildhall School of Music at the age of seven. Thence she won a scholarship, in 1902, at the Royal Academy of Music where she was a pupil of the celebrated pedagogue, Tobias Matthay, and where she had as fellow students Irene Scharrer, and Arnold Bax, the composer, who remembers the two young pianists as "very small and eternally giggling girls", (but his is probably a case of male superiority, for none could have been more earnest about their studies than these two who were to become the most famous pupils of the martinet they called "Tobs").

The public début of Myra Hess occurred in London in 1907, when she gave a recital at the Aeolian Hall. This clearly must have attracted notice for the same year we find her playing the Beethoven concerto in G major with Sir Thomas Beecham's newly formed orchestra at Queen's Hall.

The choice is interesting, for it is in this work that she has since achieved fame everywhere. Indeed, in 1951 when she played in Washington before President Truman, the "Washington Times Herald" declared that "as an interpreter of Beethoven she is without equal today".

Her Mozart is characterised by a quality which perhaps more than any other sums up her playing: it is supremely graceful. That her art, as it has deepened, has become less exuberant and less romantic, may be true enough.

The public is inclined to associate her with her playing of the Bach transcriptions which she has made with such taste and pianistic elegance; for example, the popular Jesu, Joy of man's desiring and several others, which have not only enriched the repertoire but have brought the music of Bach to thousands who might otherwise never have known him.

But the work which did most to set the seal on Myra Hess's reputation as an idealist musician was the foundation of the National Gallery concerts in the dark days of 1939. Here with the co-operation of Sir Kenneth Clark, the Gallery's Director, she planned and carried out series of daily lunch-hour concerts which made history.

Not only a wonderful array of artists but a truly astonishing range of works were presented at a time when night-concerts in London were out of the question. The entire series of Mozart's pianoforte concertos was given. In a report that was issued by the Trustees in October 1944 on the fifth anniversary of the concerts, it was shown that over 1,300 programmes had been given.

The catalogue of works performed ran into 50 pages of small type and the artists engaged, of all kinds and instruments, amounted to hundreds. Many young musicians were given a start on their career and Myra Hess herself gave countless concerts without fee of any kind. And even when the artists had been paid, there was still a sum of £10,000 which was handed to the Musicians' Benevolent Fund. It was the greatest musical gesture of the war.

Honours Given Her

It is small wonder that honours have been showered on a musician who was ever ready to put the cause of art before personal aggrandisement. In the New Year's Honours List of 1936 she had already been made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire "for services to music". In 1941 she was made a Dame of the same order and in the same year received the gold medal of the Royal Philharmonic Society at the hands of Dr.

Gord McIntyre's cage Marines have been doing right well lately, especially in that contest with Belleville Glens on the Quinte floor Thursday. The win put 'em in a tie with Glens, and they can take over top spot alone tonight at eight in the "Y" here. It's a four-pointer with Picton of the Eastern Ontario loop, and Marines should win it. These teams serve up good basketball. Two boys' jousts this eve also at the Collegiate, SPS and PCVS junior "B" teams tangling at 7.15, followed by Oshawa and the PCI-ers in a junior "A" scrap. Results of last night's local hoop tilts are in elsewhere.

* * * * * *

Quite a pro mat program lined up for the Brock on Tuesday night. A tag team bout headlines the card with Lou Pitoscia and Athol Layton opposing Pat Flanagan and Bobo Brazil. Team bouts are always wild and woolly affairs. Semi-final brings a newcomer here, Hans Hermann tackling big Bill Stack. The towering Teuton is a headliner since coming to North America, and recently wrestled Lou Thesz in a titular match. A fast, rough worker he makes fans work up a quick hate, and probably Stack is in for a rugged evening. Another top performer, Sandor Kovacs, goes against Stan Mayslack in the prelim. Yeah, lots of grappling talent in this show.

* * * * * *

They Have Odd Hobbies

Clayt Browne has been digging into hobbies of some of these better known wrestlers and he comes up with some odd facts. Take Togo the Great, a very mean type of Jap grappler. He relaxes by growing flowers, gathering fancy tapestries and reading philosophy. A graduate of Tokyo University, he has a big estate in that city and is the equivalent there to an English baron. He was honored by the Imperial family by being recognized as champion wrestler of Japan. Won the Asiatic title, too, by beating the Manchurian champ before 35,000 payees in Harbin, China. But he still likes USA dollars.

Then there's Bob (Strangler) Wagner, a rough guy in a ring, who breeds Staffordshire terriers (pit bulls) and has more than 80 in kennels on his Nebraska ranch. Pups bring up to $200 each. Wee Willie Davis—well-known here—is a dress designer of all things and operates a model agency, besides doing bit parts in movies. As does Iron Talun. Kaye Bell finances an orphans' public playground. The Zebra has a boys' camp in the hills of Pittsburg. The Duseks go in for oil painting in their spare time. Whipper Watson has, or had up till recently, a plant making soft drinks. Lou Thesz runs a midget auto racing track at St. Louis. And so they go.

Hawks Meet The Eagles

Belleville Hawks tangle with the Eagles at 8.30 Monday night in Civic Arena, and there'll be feathers flying. These senior "B" teams have staged some sizzling scraps in their scheduled fixtures this season and, in fact, the high-flying Hawks fear Ned Vitarelli's local birds more than either the K's or Petes, or so they tell us. On account of the Eagles don't seem to have to much trouble denting the Hawks' hemp quite frequently in every joust. Yet Belleville has a fast, strong squad and win a good share of games on the road, also. It promises to be a swell senior "B" struggle to start the week.

* * * * * *

As mentioned before, 'tis an odd senior "B" group. Petes earn a win easily over Eagles last Wednesday and then last p.m. Eagles take an easy 7-2 win o'er the Petes! As in the Wednesday tilt, the score could have been closer Friday but Eagles certainly deserved to take it. Played solid two-way hockey from start to finish, even though third heat was a bit rough in spots. Don Floyd was lost to Petes in the second when he drew a match misconduct for pushing Ref Herb Payne around twice after getting a penalty. It doesn't pay. The Petes were sore about it—same as the Eagles were Wednesday—and felt the ref was too tough. We always say players should take their penalties without kicking and refs should skate away from arguing players. Never a dull moment when these clubs clash. A good crowd was there.

* * * * * *

Hither And Yawning

Junior "B" Oddfellows dropped a 9-6 OHA decision in Lindsay last e'en. They haven't a game listed till the same squads tangle here Feb. 6; the schedule winds up in a couple of more weeks.... Petes are off till Kingston comes this way next Wednesday.... PMHA-ers conclude their schedules at the arena next Thursday after supper... Public school juniors wind up Feb. 1, but the seniors and intermediates go two weeks longer ere playoffs.... We rarely get word on the church loop or the separate school circuit.... Hastings go to Belleville and Lakefield is at Trenton in TVL play Monday.... Keene and St. Peter's have an ERL number that night.... Next eve at Keene sees Indian River play Hiawatha and Keene meet Downer's in the Otonabee loop.... In 25 AHL games with Buffalo, Don Ashbee has scored 16 points, while Ike Hildebrand has notched 30 points in 35 tilts for Cleveland of that league.... Local badmintoneers resume their Belleville tourney today... PMLA officials and bantam champs meet at the CNR office at six Monday p.m. for a dinner and presentation.... Thus windeth up another busy winter week in sports.

Record Records Bowling Double

Bob Record rolled a high three of 862 and a high single of 362 to capture both honors this week in the Playfair Mercantile League.

Jane Gregson led the women's scores with a three-game total of 610. The other good scores were: H. Hallett 772 (319); M. O'Donnell 695; B. Murray 677; J. Potipco 654; T. Williams 651; F. Marino 645; H. Cawker (271).

The race for the men's single has now tightened down between Tom Holyman and Bob Murray, now in their 20th week with a high of 211. Marg Rogers leads the women with an average of 188.

Seven points were chalked up by the Mustangs over Ovaltine, Harrisons over Combines, Knox over Turners, and AP over Peterborough Express.

Knox still leads the league with 111 points, followed by Austins with 101, Kesco with 97, Harrisons 96, Mustangs 89, Grant & Loucks 79, Turners 74, Can. Canoe and AP each with 69, Cherneys 69, Pet. Express 63, Turners 62, Loblaws 57, VCO 56, Combines 41, Dominion 31 and Ovaltine 25.

Lindsay Wins By 9 to 6 Against IOOF

LINDSAY, Jan. 26 (ENS). — A second period blast by Lindsay Kin juniors which netted four goals, gave them a resounding 9-6 win over Peterborough IOOF on Friday night in Lindsay. The win allowed Lindsay to keep pace with the Belleville Hawks for the league leadership and to pull away from the IOOF, who have been nipping at the heels of the leaders.

Apart from the second period rally which died out after 10 minutes the Kin juniors and the Triple Links were on fairly even terms. Lindsay after a slow start took a slim 3-2 lead in the first, then shot up to 7-3 in the second and staved off a rally by Triple Links in the third.

Johnny Godfrey's boys carried the play in the first period as they out-passed, and outskated Lindsay in the first 14 minutes. Brian Robinson, second in league scoring, worked IOOF into the lead twice but both times the Kin came back to tie the game. It wasn't until the final 35 seconds that Lindsay first took the lead.

Lindsay Rallied

But the IOOF's fast start in the first was copied by Lindsay in the second, and with better results. The Lindsay crew took advantage of an IOOF defensive slump and rattled in four goals, featuring the Dysart, Schinkel and Powell line who were strong throughout the game.

Don Bigford, when Lindsay's Copeland was off for highsticking, brought Triple Links one closer when he looped a shot which was deflected into the netting.

Again IOOF took charge but Lady Luck dodged them in the final minutes of the second. The Lakefield line of Heffernan, Twist and Coyle worked in close time after time but couldn't seem to score.

A Hot Attack

Lindsay's Carnation Kids, Hall, Powell and Schinkel opened the third with another blistering attack. Before Triple Links could douse the spark, the Kins' Powell and Vaisey had added two more goals.

Triple Links then began their final burst, faced with the six-goal deficit. They again thoroughly outplayed Lindsay the length of the ice and this time made their chances good.

Brian Robinson again starred as he set up Twist and Stewart for the first two goals. Stewart added his second tally on a play with Leo Sulliyan. Then the rally ran short of time.

Between goal-scoring, the teams offered a bit of roughing, high-sticking and other excitement which included a scuffle between IOOF's Heffernan and Kins' Schinkel. Midway through the third Schinkel caught Heffernan along the boards and both dropped their gloves. This resulted in a major for Schinkel and a minor to Heffernan. In the second Heffernan was in another hot issue with Marshall but both were handed only highsticking penalties. Lindsay fans, 704 strong, were given a chance to yell in the third with three minutes to go when Copeland was waved from the game for arguing.

Lineups:
IOOF—Goal, Wasson; defence, Bigford, Armstrong; centre, Robinson; wings, Ferguson, Buckton; alts., Twist, Coyle, Heffernan, Jensen, Stewart, Sullivan, Clapper, Kimble.
Lindsay—Goal, McGuire; defence, Lucas, Marshall; centre, Powell; wings, Schinkel, Dysart; alts., Copeland, Deeth, Hall, Smith, MacDonald, Vaisey, Sherrington.

Lindsay Women Win In Two-Day Bonspiel

LINDSAY, Jan. 26 — Twenty-four rinks completed a two-day district bonspiel for ladies Friday afternoon with skip Ann McIntosh of Lindsay winning the event by defeating skip Mae Devitt, of Bobcaygeon, 12-4.

Feature of the 'spiel today included the elimination of Mrs. Dulmage of Peterborough by Mrs. Devitt on an extra end, and the defeat of Mrs. Northey of Lakefield on an extra end by Mrs. R. Kay of Lindsay. Mrs. Kay then lost to Mrs. McIntosh. The consolation was won by Mrs. Rheta Mosley of Lindsay, who defeated Mrs. L. Perkins, also of Lindsay.

Eagles Beat the Petes 7-2 Before Hefty Gallery In Fast Senior "B" Contest

Flashing back to form before 1,500 fans at Civic Arena last night, the Eagles downed the Petes 7-2 in a speedy OHA senior "B" struggle. The win kept the Eagles in the hunt and spoiled Petes' chances of closing in on the top-place Belleville Hawks. Fans saw a close, exciting tussle, roughing up toward the end, with Eagles earning the win over the distance. The Vitarelli pack took a 1-0 lead in the even first frame, and edged the Ellis men 3-2 in a pretty even middle chukker. But Eagles dominated play in the third to rap in three goals without a return. The losers drew six of 11 penalties, one a match misconduct in the second to Don Floyd of Petes for twice pushing Referee Herb Payne after being given a minor penalty for slashing. On the first push the ref. gave him a misconduct but the next time—as the player resumed arguing and pushing—Floyd was given the match penalty.

HARD WORKER — Gus Leonard played his usual hard-working and effective game for Petes last night but it was in a losing cause as Eagles took a 7-2 win.

IN ON THREE—Bert Hill was in on three tallies in Eagles' win over Petes on Friday night in another hot scrap between these rival senior "B" puck squads from here.

Lots Of Stops

Both goalies stopped a lot of hot rubber as a speedy pace was maintained throughout. Both sides stuck to hockey most of the first two periods but took time out for a bit of slashing and elbowing in a chippy third stanza. Eagles were in top form on the attack and in back-checking and fore-checking. Their defence was strong, too. The Petes made it a real battle till out in the third heat when they appeared to lose steam on the defensive.

Bert Hill led the victors with three points, while George Samalenko, Toodie Greenlaw and Reg. Stewart were each in on two. Single points went to Bill Crowley, Dootch Vitarelli, Fred Mortimer, George Brabin and Keith Montgomery. For the Petes, Arn Dugan and George Steele were the only marksmen, an assist apiece being registered by Curly Mason and Ted Collins.

Fast and Even

It was fast, even and clean in the initial inning, ragged at times but close and exciting all the way with both goalies on the jump. Steele drew the first penalty for charging but Harding held his rivals off till the penalty was up. Crowley got it for hooking then but no damage resulted. The period had gone more than 17 minutes at a hot clip to a noisy fans' accompaniment when George Samalenko scored from Brabin on a sizzling screened shot at defence that the goalie never saw. It was still speedy and even at the gong.

Hill went over early in the second for tripping but the Petes applied no pressure. Later Jopling hit the post as the Petes began to bore in, and then Dugan tied it up on a backhander with Mason's corner passout at close range. Hill got that back soon when he took a long forward pass from Montgomery and finished it off neatly, the Petes arguing that it was passed over two lines. Steele tied it again on an angle backhander to an open net corner with a pass from Collins around defence. Crowley once more put Eagles up, this time 3-2 in close with Hill after Harding made one save on their thrust. Floyd then drew a slashing, a misconduct and a match misconduct penalty after pushing the referee around. Wade went off shortly, too, for roughing and Greenlaw raced in close to tally again from Stewart on neat combination to make it 4-2.

Three More

Vitarelli pretty well clinched things early in the third on a backhander with Hill's passout in close to send the count to 5-2 for Eagles. They kept forechecking as the Petes battled hard to whittle down the count and Samalenko added another in close on a partial breakaway, having but one man to beat before going in on goal. Fred Mortimer got the nod for tripping but was back when Crowley got it for slashing and then Gus Leonard for high-sticking as it became rougher. All were back when Fryia was chased for a bit of interference and Fred Mortimer scored the final goal in close from Stewart and Greenlaw. Earl Leonard drew a misconduct for criticizing Referee Dick Quimet and Richlark followed for holding just before the finish.

Teams:
Eagles—Goal, Milne; defence, Munroe and Fennell; centre, Hill; wings, Crowley and Vitarelli; alternates, Samalenko, Brabin, Berwick, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Stewart, Montgomery and Richlark.
Petes. Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling and E. Leonard; centre, G. Leonard; wings, Wyatt and J. Mortimer alternates, Steele, Collins, Floyd, Dugan, Fryia, Mason, Wade and Horton.
Referees, R. Ouimet and H. Payne.

Summary
First Period
Eagles—Samalenko (Brabin) 17:19
Penalties—Steele, Crowley.
Second Period
Petes—Dugan (Mason) 5:08
Eagles—Hill (Montgomery) 8:47
Petes—Steele (Collins) 11:50
Eagles—Crowley (Hill) 14:55

Penalties—Hill, Floyd, Wade.
Third Period
Eagles—Vitarelli (Hill) 1:25
Eagles—Samalenko 9:17
Eagles—F. Mortimer (Stewart, Greenlaw) 16:24
Penalties—F. Mortimer, Crowley, G. Leonard, Fryia, E. Leonard, Richlark.

Neills Defeat Normals 52-10,

Neill's girls cagers remained undefeated for the past two seasons Friday night when they trampled the Normal School lasses 52-10 in the girls' city league basketball at the YWCA. In the first game the CGE cagers edged out Blacks for a 20-17 victory.

Barbara Luther, Mary Waye, Jennie Luther, Barbara Rashotte and Madge Jones all scored points for CGE in the first half as they took a one-point lead 11-10. Rosie McInroy with six points and other baskets by Carol Raper and Edie McIhagga kept Blacks close.

In the second half with Mary Waye leading the way with five points the CGE girls again edged the Blacks with time 9-7 and enough for the slim victory.

Mary Waye of CGE and Rosie McInroy of Blacks shared the scoring honors with seven points each.

In the second game the Normal School girls were no match for the Neills girls who have had much more cage experience. They passed, dribbled and shot better by a wide margin over the Normals who were never in the game.

Wilma Byers, S. Bestard, G. Poast, Joan Dunk, M. Borland and Pauline Stewart whipped in 28 points in the first half while Gwen Todd, Betty Osborne and Betty Scollard accounted for only six Normal points.

Again in the second half the Neills unleashed another severe attack this time netting 24 points, mostly by Joan Dunk, Pauline Stewart and S. Bestard. Gwen McCullough, Mary Lynch and Betty Osborne notched the Normals' four points in that half.

Joan Dunk of Neills led the scoring with 14 points, closely followed by Pauline Stewart with 12 and S. Bestard with 10. Betty Osborne was high for Normals with four. Lineups:

First game, CGE (20): B. Luther 2, M. Waye 7, J. Luther 3, L. Lee, Rashotte 2, Batley, Jones 4, Nixon 2.

Blacks (17): Raper 3, McInroy 7, Naylor, Hollingsworth 2, McIlhagga 2, Vint, McGill, Pollock. McIlvena 3.

Second game, Neills (52): Byers 6, Wasson, Smith 2, Bestard 10, DeVarga, Poast 2, Dunk 14, Borland 6, Stewart 12.

Normals (10): Merrett, McCullough 1, Lynch 1, Jeremy, Scollard 2, Faircloth, Osborne 4, Todd 2, Wallace.

PCVS Damsels Split Two In Cage Play

For the second time in a week the PCVS Garnet and Grey girls' basketball teams divided honors with Port Hope High School. Friday night in the lakeshore town the Port Hope juniors trimmed PCVS 17-7 while the Garnet and Grey seniors finally hit the basket to win handily 21-9.

Last week Port Hope won the junior game 20-12 and PCVS the senior 14-8.

All through last week's senior game both teams had trouble finding the basket although they both had shot after shot. On Friday night the shooting was the same for three-quarters of the game, then PCVS found the range and the game was won with ease.

The Garnet and Grey played on even terms with Port Hope in the first half of the senior game but Port Hope lasses skipped ahead 7-6 in the second quarter. The scoring was practically nothing in the third as both added a single point.

Hit the Hoop

Then Audrey Hustwitt's girls began to put the ball through the hoop and that was the end for Port Hope. Marg. Clarke and Janet Frederick, 10 and eight points respectively, were the scorers for PCVS in that few minutes.

Those two girls easily led the PCVS scoring, with other points going to Janet Estlick and Betty Jones. Nancy Rowell stood out along the guard line.

But the Garnet and Grey juniors mostly new to basketball this year were no match for the more-experienced lakeshore juniors in the first game. Port Hope took a healthy 12-3 lead in the first half, played on even terms three-all in the third quarter and again in the fourth, this time two-all.

Margaret Uglow topped the scoring in the junior game with nine points for Port Hope. For PCVS, Bernice Callan sank five points and Maizie Shearer two. Joan Bradburn was the pick of the Garnet and Grey guards.

Wants First Crack

In Milwaukee The Sentinel quoted Ezzard Charles as saying Friday that Jersey Joe Walcott has a "moral obligation to give me the first crack at his heavyweight title."

Asked about the controversy over who will be Walcott's opponent in his first defence of the title he took from Charles last summer, the former champ said: "It's got me puzzled."

St. Alphonsus Wins

In a clean, fast contest between St. Alphonsus' and St. Peter's seniors, St. Alphonsus emerged victorious by a score of 7-4 with the boys representing St. Peter's pressing hard during the dying seconds of the game. Smith and Doris starred for St. Alphonsus with three and four goals respectively. Trudeau and Strano scored for St. Peter's. Lineup:

St. Alphonsus: Goal, Reid; defence, Adamson, Gordon; forwards, Rochetta, Smith, Doris; subs., Saxby, Driscoll, Fitzgerald, Riddle, Hamblin.

St. Peter's: Goal, Mackie; defence, Feeley, Gardner; forwards, Asta, Trudeau, Strano; subs., Moher, Carver, Doris, Garvey.

Peterborough Pair Capture Consolation Doubles Play

Peterborough badminton players won the consolation women's event and worked their way into the finals of the women's doubles Friday night as the Central Ontario Badminton Association began a two-day tournament in Belleville.

Miss R. McKee and Miss C. McHugh, both of Peterborough chased the birds into the finals of the consolation women's event and then defeated Miss Jean Allen and Miss Dorothy Harvey, Cobourg.

In the men's consolation event a Belleville pair, McBride and Wellard went through the competition to defeat Roughley and Gallagher of Bowmanville for the honors.

Mrs. M. Charlton and Mrs. V. Rose, both of Peterborough, turned back the efforts of Mrs. K. Smith and Esther Martin, both of Port Hope, in the quarter finals of the women's doubles. Then they went on to defeat Miss G. Way and Miss Thompson of Bowmanville in the semi-finals.

In the other set Mrs. Al Harvey and Miss A. Armstrong, both of Port Hope, defeated a Bowmanville pair, Mrs. K. Swindells and Mrs. B. Kent, in the quarter finals. In the semi-finals the Port Hope double went on to defeat a second Bowmanville duo to enter the finals.

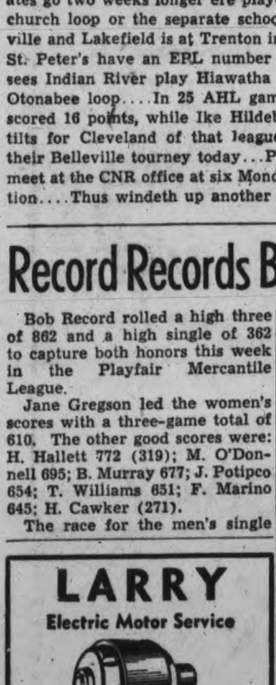
Tonight the finals will be played between the Peterborough pair, Mrs. M. Charlton and Mrs. V. Rose and the Port Hope semi-finalists.

The Peterborough men dropped out of the running early in the men's doubles.

Tighe and Burgess of Bowmanville ousted Bob Baker of Peterborough and Al Harvey of Port Hope in the quarter-finals and then went on to reach the finals by defeating Bowmanville team of R. Swindells and Dr. Charles Austin, Swindells and Austin had previously defeated W. Elmsley and V. Taylor of Peterborough in the quarter finals.

Another Peterborough pair, Vince O'Donoghue and E. Johnston of Peterborough were defeated in the quarter finals by B. Kent and E. Neilson, last year's champions from Bowmanville. R. Charlton and C. Lockyer, both of Belleville, turned back Moore and Smith of Napanee in the other quarter final.

Kent and Neilson made the men's doubles a Bowmanville affair when they earned the right to meet Tighe and Burgess in the final today by defeating Charlton and Lockyer.



Besides the doubles finals tonight, the singles and mixed doubles playoffs are scheduled for today. There will also be an exhibition match featuring Gord Simpson, Don Smythe, Bill Purcell, and Grant Henry.

More than 220 players are entered in the tournament from Belleville, Napanee, Trenton, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville and Peterborough with more than 30 entered.

Rangers' Wings Wounded Weeps Genial Boucher, Face Nine Games On Road

By The Canadian Press

Frank Boucher, genial master of New York Ranger destinies, Friday night admitted the next few weeks will probably be his club's most critical period of the National Hockey League season. "We're travelling on wounded wings," he said. "Ed Slowinski is out with an injured knee and of course Allan Stanley is still missing and will be for a long time with that shoulder separation. Then there's Jackie Stoddard. He missed two recent games with an injured leg and although he played in our last outing, he didn't look ready. I don't think he'll be much help for a while. Things are rough, believe me."

Just what Boucher meant by "critical" may be gathered by looking at the NHL schedule. The blueshirts are right in the middle of a 10-game span, nine of them on the road.

Five On The Road

"We've played three of them now and haven't been beaten yet," beamed the Ranger general manager in a somewhat happier mood. "We tied the Hawks in Chicago, beat the Wings at Detroit and tied the Bruins in Boston. Now we meet the Leafs and return home for a Sunday stand. After that we hit the road for five in a row."

So it is that the Young Men of Manhattan face a tough weekend that begins in Toronto tonight. The fourth-place Rangers square off against the Maple Leafs who have been able to salvage a tie in their last pair of outings. However, Joe Primeau's boys are always extra dangerous playing before a Saturday evening Toronto crowd.

Leafs Want Win

The Leafs will be out to improve their second-place holding, a scant four points up on the Montreal Canadiens who will entertain fifth-place Boston Bruins tonight. The Habitants hit Madison Square Garden Sunday night to provide the Rangers with their second stiff battle of the weekend.

Tonight's third tussle will see the tail-end Chicago Black Hawks, who have won only 12 games in 44 outings this season, waltz into Detroit for a go at the league-leading Red Wings. Tommy Ivan's crew have dropped only nine games in their 44 appearances.

While Montreal is at New York tomorrow, Toronto moves into Boston for a clash with their arch-rival Bruins and at the same time Detroit and Chicago change venue for a game in the Windy City.

Christ Of Gospel Appears Compassionate, Implacable

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD.

Jesus in the Gospel narratives appears in two characters, or aspects, that to the undiscerning eye might seem different. Nevertheless, both express His teaching concerning honesty and justice, sincerity and love.

We see Him as the compassionate Savior and friend, dealing gently with sinful men and women (Luke 7.36-50), commending a good Samaritan, approving a humble, repentant publican, blessing little children; and in manifold ways revealing the tender, sympathetic Savior looking upon the multitude as sheep without a shepherd.

Then, in another aspect we see Him as the implacable, indignant Christ, driving the money changers from the Temple, His whip, actual or woven of rushes, a symbol of righteous force in action. And when we turn to Matthew 23: 13-39, we read in His words the most terrible indictment of evil men ever spoken — and spoken even against those who considered themselves the officially religious of their day.

Surely sterner words have never been spoken than in that succession of "Woes."

How can we reconcile them with the gentleness and compassion that the Master showed toward other sinners? The reconciliation is easy; for these were the sinners against the humanity and compassion of the Master's gospel of love. They sinned against their fellowmen, as well as against God by defrauding widows, using religion for their own profit, perverting their spiritual heritage with untruth and hypocricy.

Here in these professedly strong and religious, despoiling the weak and misleading the people, was something very different from sinners erring through human weakness and a false sense of satisfaction.

It was out of His very gospel of love and compassion that Jesus denounced those who were so grossly perverting the true religion of Israel the beauty of all that teaching that He had come not to destroy but to fulfill.

I have often thought that in the very intensity of His denunciation the Master's purpose may have been kindly. Could one have loved such evil-doers and hypocrites without denouncing their evil-doing and hypocrisy?

Moreover, if among that hypocritical crew there were any misled souls, with a spark of sincerity, nothing could have been more calculated to challenge them and rouse them, and turn them into purer paths.

It might be said that Jesus was compassionate towards sins of the flesh, but completely denunciatory of sins of the spirit. But in His compassion there was no soft sentimentalism, no excuse or blurring of values. To sinners, whom His very love drew to repentance, He said, "Your sins are forgiven; go, and sin no more." He taught them true values and the way to a better life.

ASHES IGNITE BOX

Hot ashes that were placed in a cardboard box ignited the box Friday afternoon outside the home of H. L. Garner, Weller St. Some paint was burned off the side of the house. By the time firemen arrived the fire was out.

SPEAKER AT LINDSAY

John D. Londerville of Peterborough Normal School was the speaker at the Burns Night dinner at Lindsay Friday. It was held in the school room of St. Andrew's Church and was under the auspices of its men's association. The minister, Rev. D. McQueen, spoke in both English and Gaelic in a concluding expression of thanks.

Snow Causes Crash

Slippery streets were the principal cause of two accidents in the last 24 hours. A truck driven by John G. Thompson, RR 2 Lakefield, collided shortly after midnight with a car driven by Francis O'Heron, Oxford St., at Water and King Sts. Neither man was injured but both vehicles received bent right fenders and other minor damage. A bread truck, driven by Robert Kingston, RR 1, Peterborough, collided Friday afternoon at Stewart and King Sts., with a car driven by Roland Brier, Albertus Ave. Neither was able to stop when they applied their brakes and a collision resulted with minor damage.

Options Taken On 10 Farms In South Monaghan; May Seek Oil Or Iron Ore

Farmers Selling Options On Their Land In Dark About Reason For Shadowy Company's Interest

Options for purchase of approximately two square miles of farm land in South Monaghan, presumably for drilling purposes, appear to be repeated from the same source in Durham and Northumberland, and elsewhere in southern Ontario from Oakville in Halton county to Kingston in Frontenac. The nine or ten farms mentioned in the South Monaghan area include those of Stewart Darling, MacIntosh Bradshaw, Russell Crews, Percy Gainer, Arthur Vowels, Howard Brackenridge.

The Darling farm, opposite Wallace Point on the Otonabee River, comprises the northern boundary of the block which has been estimated at two square miles.

Mrs. Darling confirmed the optioning reports Friday afternoon.

"But, we haven't the least idea what they are after," Mrs. Darling said.

Enquiry along that stretch of South Monaghan introduced the name of John C. N. Currelly, Peterborough lawyer, and it was learned from him that similar options have been taken, probably by the same people in Hope township.

Refused To Give Option

Mr. Currelly said he had declined to give an option on property he owns in the Hope district.

"I refused when they wouldn't disclose their interest; and that was the end of it as far as I was concerned."

It was Mr. Currelly who broadened the local picture beyond Monaghan into Hope on the west and toward Grafton on the east, and elsewhere in both directions to the Kingston and Oakville sections. But, at that, information is sketchy, and at the base rests largely on conjecture.

"In my opinion, and I have nothing very definite, they are after either oil or iron. My guess is iron," Mr. Currelly said.

Herb Cardwell of Wallace Point said he had been offered an option on part of his property on the east side of the river. For a reason of his own, he turned down the intermediary of what is supposed to be a syndicate bidding for land titles during the last three or four weeks.

Talked It Over

"Talking it over with some of the South Monaghan farmers, we are inclined to think someone is interested in iron or oil at a depth," Mr. Cardwell said. "We recalled that last summer an airplane trailing what was believed to be a Geiger counter flew back and forth over that area. We wondered at the time what it was all about."

The only clue to purpose is said to be a clause in the optional agreement to the effect that any equipment which might be set up on a property could remain in place for six months after the expiration of the term of option.

Inference pointed to drilling machinery. Beyond that scrap of information, the flurry of curiosity both in South Monaghan and Hope townships has come up with nothing more than a mysterious background leaving property owners to their hazy surmising.

Option For One Year

Mr. Currelly said the option price was one per cent of the municipal assessment of properties. The time is for one year, with provision for its extension another twelve months at the same price for a second year.

Nothing in the agreement, it was said generally, prevents a farmer from pursuing his agricultural program and use of his land.

Some farmers are reported to have put prices on their properties fairly close to actual values. Others used the multiplication table up to ten times the sums they might expect to get otherwise in the present realty market. According to these rumors there was no haggling. Money appeared to be of slight concern.

The first news of these option deals to reach the Examiner mentioned something like $100,000 offered to one South Monaghan man who held out in reluctance to part with his farm. That sounded so fantastic that it nearly squelched interest in the story. The incident was quoted to Herb Cardwell.

"About half that amount in the odd instance might be correct," was his reply.

From Hope comes another incidental story of a farmer who somehow jumped to the glittering conclusion that the option was an agreement to purchase.

Began To Clear Out

He had to sign the document which included the sum to be paid for the place in the event of ultimate sale. And so, he began selling his stock and implements in preparation for moving out some time. Finally, he asked his neighbor to buy the tractor, then about the last piece of equipment left. The neighbor was interested in why the farmer wanted to sell the valuable machine, and was told that the farm was being sold. The story ends at that point, whether it is true or not.

The option provides for eventual purchase, if it is taken up within the specified time. Otherwise it lapses.

Information about these recent deals credits them with emanation from a reputable law firm in Toronto, and it was also said that a representative of the interests in the background has recently been staying some weeks in Port Hope. That was the centre of his canvass of the Durham-Northumberland country.

Tenders Asked For Cutting Trees On Reserve

Tenders are being called for the contract cutting of 150,000 board feet of pine on the stump on the Curve Lake Indian Reserve. Indian Agent Allen Adams said today that the contractor will be named some time in the near future after the tender date has been closed.

Money from sale of the timber will go into the capital revenue fund of the Department of Indian Affairs, Ottawa, and interest accrued will be posted to the current account of the Curve Lake Band.

Complete School

Mr. Adams expects that a one-room school and teachers' residence will be completed within the next three weeks. Although the school room will not likely be put to use before September of this year, living quarters will be used as soon as they are furnished. They consist of living room, three bedrooms, bathroom and kitchen. The school room will accommodate 30 pupils. An official opening date of the building has not been set.

Fire Committee Approves Mutual Aid Agreement

Approval of a mutual aid agreement in emergency fire protection between the Peterborough department and the volunteer brigades of Lakefield, Bridgenorth and suburban Smith was sent on to the city council by its fire, water and light committee on Thursday.

Chief George Smith explained that if Peterborough called on Lakefield for help, one of the Smith brigades would move into the village.

"This agreement provides for sending one officer, five men and pumper," Chief Smith said. "Alarms are to be sent only by the Chief or the Assistant Chief on duty. If Lakefield asked us for help, we would send them the quota of men and pumper, and we could call on a Smith detachment to take their place. Or, we could call in the Suburban Smith help and the other Smith or Lakefield men would be required to take their place."

The agreement also provides for a charge of $50 an hour for services rendered in fire fighting, and $25 an hour for men standing by waiting for instructions. Each Chief has authority in his own jurisdiction.

Chief Smith said there would be no delay in waiting for local permission to respond to an emergency call to any of the neighboring areas. Authority for immediate action rests with the Chief or Assistant Chief on duty.

Chief Smith said that Omemee was interested in this arrangement, but under the new county mutual aid plan that village would be associated with the fire departments in Victoria. The definite plan that is being set up for the Ontario municipalities will make Chief Smith District Fire Marshal for Peterborough county.

A request to the city council for drafting of a bylaw embodying the agreement with the three departments was moved by Alderman Graham and Mayor Waddell.

Short Mild Spell Relieves Arctic Chill

A temporary mild spell followed sub-zero temperatures earlier in the week. And early today a light rain fell in some parts of the city.

To most residents it was a welcome relief after braving cold winds and an artic temperature.

The mild weather will continue into tonight but the synopsis for Sunday is clearing and cooler.

For today: cloudy and mild with intermittent wet snow or rain, clearing Sunday morning. The low tonight will be 35 degrees.

The highest point reached by the thermometer Friday was 30, following a night-low Thursday of seven below zero. Last night the low was 30 degrees and it was 33 at 9 a.m.

Four and three quarter inches of snow fell during the last 24 hours in Peterborough.

Despite the snowfall there are no roads closed in the district, provincial police report.

All the highways are fit for travel and snowplows have been working all night in the northern townships to clear the roads. Road gangs are now sanding in anticipation of a freezeup that will once again make the driving treacherous. Only two or three minor accidents occur on slippery streets.

150 Take Part In Burns Nicht

Some 150 Scots of Peterborough and district Friday night turned out for the highlight of their year, the annual celebration of the birthday of Robert Burns, best-loved poet of Scotland.

In colorful ceremony Pipe Major Robert Webdale piped in the haggis and the Rev. A. E. Larke addressed the haggis.

Val Smith proposed the principal toast of the evening to "The Immortal Memory". Reviewing the life and poetry of Burns, he traced the influence on Burns by his father, a deeply religious man who daily read the Bible to Burns, and the influence Burns had on the people and the times.

He pointed out how in his poem, Death and Dr. Hornbook, Burns ridiculed the sham doctors of the day who preyed on the gullible and the ignorant with fake healing. His poems were also responsible for changes in the church. He was the only one with a voice that could be heard who stirred the bullying self-righteous leaders of the church and brought about a more humane church.

Mr. Smith reminded the Canadian-Scots at the gathering of the beauty of Burns' love poems. He said that Burns inspiration was at its best when he was at the plow where he was touched by nature and the animal life around him.

W. B. Gordon proposed the toast to "Twa Countries" Scotland and Canada. Mayor Hugh F. Waddell proposed a toast to the city and Roy Gilchrist toasted "The Lassies".

Illuminated addresses were presented to Dr. Harry G. Carleton who was made an honorary Scot, and Thomas Kay. The addresses were prepared by Fred Gray.

Dr. Carleton was honored for the help he had given to newly-comers to the city from many countries across the Atlantic, including Scots, until they were established in the city.

Mr. Kay was presented with his

Extra Month Coming Up

Year Of Dragon Brings Leap Year To Chinese Folk

By JEAN E. STENTON

When the clock strikes midnight tonight, the Chinese people will cross the threshold of the Year of the Dragon, a year that may hold difficult times. This Year of the Dragon is a two-in-one package, for it is also the Chinese leap year, which instead of adding one extra day, adds an extra month.

The lunar calendar has been used in China since the beginning of the Chou Dynasty which was first recorded in 1051 BC. Finding it easier to measure time from the moon rather than the sun, China's ancient sages observed that the planet Jupiter makes a circuit of the earth every 12 years and Saturn every 30 years. Once in every 60 years they meet almost in the same place in the sky as seen from the earth. So the wise men determined this 60-year period, corresponding to our century, from the stars. To each year of a cycle, they gave a name and these are the 12 terrestial branches which correspond to the Western signs of the Zodiac.

The Chinese cycle of 12 years, each year of which appears five times in the 60-year period are: the Year of the Rat, the Year of the Ox, the Year of the Tiger (1950), the Year of the Hare (1951), the Year of the Dragon (1952), the Year of the Snake (1953), the Year of the Horse, the Year of the Sheep, the Year of the Monkey, the Year of the Cock, the Year of the Dog and the Year of the Pig.

Only the very old generation in China recalls whether this year will bring good or bad luck. But though the Year of the Monkey is one of the worst, the Year of the Dragon has its own disquieting signs.

Record Not Good

The last time the Year of the Dragon paid a visit was in 1940. A review of historical events recalls that it was a year of trouble. Invasions made the headlines and included those in: Norway, Denmark, Belgium, the Netherlands; political crisis in Britain; defeat in battle; puppet government established in Nanking; Italy declared war on the Allies; a dictatorship established in Romania; miracle of Dunkerque; and the Atlantic Charter.

In 1928, the Year of the Dragon was comparatively quiet in Canada and Britain, but civil war raged in China as Chiang began his extermination drive against the Communists and there was trouble with the Japanese.

In 1916, the Dragon Year again featured war clouds with such events as the Battle of Verdun, the Battle of the Somme, the war in Mesopotamia, the Easter Rebellion in Dublin and the successful Arab Revolt. In 1904 the event of the year was the defeat of Russia by Japan. In 1892, another Dragon year, seeds of revolt were evidenced in China under the last of the Manchu Dynasty; labor troubles engulfed the United States and political events had an uneasy tinge in Britain. Gladstone was beset by Home Rule troubles in the Britain of that day.

It would seem that the Year of the Dragon 1952 brings with it a strong warning of crisis and wars. Nor does 1953 look too much brighter. It is the Year of the Metal Snake. Its last appearance in 1941 was a year of treachery. The Dragon Year will next appear in 1964 and in 1976.

The Chinese tell the story of how the order of some of the years was determined in the 12-year period. The Rat and the Ox were having a heated argument as to which should have the honor of leading off the years.

The Rat declared he should go first because he was the biggest and the Ox declared the honor belonged to him because he was the biggest. So to settle the argument, they decided to walk along the streets and let the people who saw them choose.

When they walked along the street, people looked at the odd pair and exclaimed "Look what a big rat," (meaning big for a rat.) So the Ox lost the argument and the Rat led the parade of years.

In this Chinese leap year, the extra month will be the Double Fifth Month—May. Their leap year comes every three years and the Double Month varies because of the different length of the Chinese year and it is also determined by the weather. The Chinese months vary, some having 29 days and some 30, which brings their year between 356 and 360 days. Every three years

Lindsay Cagers Win 2 of 3 In "B" Cage Tilts

PCVS Garnet and Grey "B" basketball teams salvaged one game, the junior contest, in three at the collegiate "B" basketball games Friday night with Lindsay. Jack Cullis' juniors triumphed 47-37 while the bantams were whipped 50-11 and the seniors passed up 54-42.

The fast-breaking Lindsay senior cagers were better ball-handlers and worked better in close under the basket enough to take the 12-point margin. They took a 13-8 score in the first quarter and were never behind from there in.

PCVS rallied to within four points in the second quarter but faded: Lindsay were up 33-16 at the half. They played on even terms in the third quarter for a 44-26 score and then PCVS again rallied: They gradually whittled Lindsay's lead down but not enough.

McDuffee for Lindsay easily topped the scoring with 17 points while teammate Graham, notched 14. Ted Sanders was PCVS' leading scorer with 13 points closely followed by Sandy Dewar with 12.

The return to form by PCVS' Doug Ash last year a bantam star, accounted for the Garnet and Grey junior win. The smallest player on the floor in any of the three games. Asr swept the night's scoring honors with a total of 24 points. These were evenly distributed throughout the game.

Lindsay jumped to a three-point lead, 12-9 at the first quarter, but gave way to PCVS in the second. The score was tied at 19-all at the half. From there the Garnet and Grey surged ahead 34-31 and whipped in 13 more in the final quarter.

Besides Ash's points, PCVS' John Boorman and Paul Davis each notched eight points. Truax led Lindsay with 16 points and Graham had 12.

Coach Bev Gouding's green bantams were too green for the experienced Lindsay bantams cagers and only poor shooting by the Lindsay cagers kept the score down. The PCVS boys dropped down 19-1 at the quarter, 27-3 at the half, 37-9 at the third quarter and were outscored 13-2 in the fourth.

Blackwell edged Truax for the game's scoring honors with 18 points, Truax accounting for 17. Allin was tops for PCVS with six. Lineups:

Bantam game, PCVS: Bell 1, Brown, Goldie, McKinney, Morton, Montgomery 2, Beck, Hollingsworth, Chesney, Parry 2, Malby, Allin 6.

Lindsay: Georgas 4, Laidley, Sinclair 4, Hunter, Bowry 1, Webster 6, Weldon, Blackwell 18, Truax 17, McLean.

Junior game, PCVS: Ash 24, Boorman 8, Counrneya 2, Davis 8, Heffernan, Keeting, McKinney, Palmateer 1, Parry, Stevens, Stewart 2, Smyth 2.

Lindsay: Truax 16, Graham 12, Rowland 2, Lightbody 3, Pickins, Bughton 2, McDuffee 2, Hadley, Thorton.

Senior game, PCVS: Sanders 13, Hayward 1, Dewar 12, Ash 2, Facendi 5, Frise 9, Adams, Graham, Bell, Lipsett.

Lindsay: Maidens 4, McDuffee 17, Graham 14, Taylor 2, McLean 1, Logan 6, Smith 3, Shank 6, Warden 1, Teel.

FIZZING FOG NOZZLES turn water into mist to conquer this sample oil fire at the 8th regional fire school held this week in Lindsay. Classes have been held at the week-long school sponsored by the Ontario fire marshal's office, and the school concluded Friday with a few practical demonstrations such as the one above. A fire-pit dug at one side of Lindsay's Mary St. was filled with oil and the oil lighted. Firemen then got a crack at dousing it. The one-inch hose with fog nozzles the firemen are using carry water at 500 pounds pressure per squgre inch. Firemen from Peterborough, Victoria, Durham, and Ontario counties attended the school.—(Fulton Stewart Photo).

Savitt Complains Spikes Unfair, McGregor Wins

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 26. (AP) — Dick Savitt, America's storm boy of international tennis, hit the headlines on Australia's front and sports pages today with his 13-minute sitdown protest against Ken McGregor's spiked shoes.

The incident happened Friday when Referee Frank Piper ruled that McGregor could wear spiked shoes after the fifth game in the fourth set of the McGregor-Savitt semi-final singles match.

Savitt, the defending champion, did not have spiked shoes. He claimed it was unfair for him to have to play in rubber shoes on a soft turf court against a player with spikes.

McGregor, wearing the spikes, went on to eliminate Savitt, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Discussions over the incident overshadowed today's all-Aussie finals in the doubles and women's singles. McGregor and Frank Sedgman, Australia's top player, retained their doubles crown by drubbing Mervyn Rose and Don Candy, 6-4, 7-5, 6-3. Thelma Long, after trying for years, won the women's title for the first time. She beat Helen Angwin, 6-2, 6-3. Sedgman and McGregor play for the men's title on Monday.

No Interviews

Savitt told Australian newsmen he was so upset by the spiked shoes incident he didn't want to give interviews, but in reply to questions said he didn't know whether he would ever come back to Australia. He said he wouldn't know his future plans until his return to the United States next week.

Australian tennis officials, almost without exception, had kind words for Savitt.

Sir Norman Brookes, president of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia, said that under the circumstances it was sporting of Savitt to continue to play.

Esca Stephens, who managed the Aussie Davis Cup team in 1950, said "Savitt acted unwisely, but contrary to what the public may think, I know Savitt to be a wonderful sport and fighter."

Harry Hopman, captain of the Aussie Davis Cup team, who writes for the Melbourne Herald and other Australian newspapers, wrote under his byline:

Years of Argument

"There may be arguments for many years on whether Savitt should have been scratched" when he disputed the referee's ruling "but there will be no further doubt that McGregor has what it takes for big occasions. McGregor remained fully concentrated on winning when Savitt showed temperamental lapses during the final few games."

Hopman expressed the opinion that the "Davis Cup problems of the US team rejection of Savitt as a singles player led to yesterday's incident. Savitt has never been keener to win a title than this Australian championship."

Hopman quoted Savitt's argument that it was unfair to permit McGregor to use spikes, then added: "The other side of the picture Dick could not see is that it would be unfair to penalize a net rusher like McGregor by preventing him wearing spikes because a base liner like Savitt did not have them and did not want them."

Peterborough Rink Wins In New York

UTICA, NY, Jan. 26 (CP). — John H. Joy's Winchester, Mass., foursome joined rinks from Lachute, Que., and Bathurst, NB, in the semi-finals of the Mitchell medal competition Friday night at the fifth international bonspiel here.

T. Lloyd Cross's Kingston entry and Mark Waterbury's Utica rink will battle for the fourth semi-final berth today.

The Lachute quartet skipped by harness-racing driver Del McTavish and Charles McArdle's Bathurst entry won their quarter-final matches earlier.

Lennoxville, Que., skipped by Rupert T. Atto gained the semi-final of Allen Medal competition yesterday by defeating Oshawa, No. 1, skipped by Andrew Mowatt, 11-7, in the quarter-final.

Fred Stenson's Peterborough rink won a third semi-final berth last night by defeating Dr. Emile Belanger of Nashua, NH, 9-6. Stenson will play the winner of a quarter-final match today between Elmer Billow of Chicago and William Broder of Ottawa.

City Rinks Place In Tankard Play

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP). — Finals in the two major double-rink events of the Ontario Curling Association will be held next week.

Quarter-finals will be staged on or before next Thursday. Semi-finals and finals in the Ontario Silver Tankard, the Governor-General's trophy, the Burden and The Globe and Mail competitions will be played here next Friday.

Following are the rinks in the quarter-finals:

Tankard

At Oshawa: Toronto Granites, Oshawa, Peterborough and Agincourt.

At London: Hamilton Thistles, Kitchener - Waterloo Granites, Wingham and London. London won the play-off to enter the Tankard semi-finals.

At Toronto Curling Club: Kingston, Orillia, Midland and Gravenhurst.

At Toronto Granite: Brampton, Port Elgin, Ottawa Curling Club and Owen Sound.

Governor-General's

At Oshawa: Kingston, Woodville, Peterborough and Agincourt.

At Guelph: Fergus, Tiverton, Mount Forest and Kitchener-Waterloo.

At Toronto Royal Canadians: Orillia, Elmvale, Allenford and Bala.

At Toronto High Park: Toronto Granites, Hamilton Thistles, Pembroke and Forest.

Warkworth Hockey

WARKWORTH, Jan. 26 (ENS) —In the first game of a double-header at Warkworth Arena on Thursday evening Bob Allen's team defeated D. Pearson's team 1-0; Bob Allen scoring the goal.

In the game between the Legion and the High School, the Legion won by 6-3 score. The Legion scored three goals in the first period, two in the second and one in the third. The High School scored two in the second and one in the third.

Marksmen for the High School were: Covert 2, McComb 1.

Goal-getters for the Legion were W. English 2, and A. Buchanan 1, J. Greenly 1, B. Edgar 1, and D. Grills 1.

Norham was defeated by the Legion here Monday night by 6 to 4.

Bob Allen's and Doug Pearson's teams also had a game with Allen's team winning by a score of 1-0.

Marmora Whips Wellington 7-4

MARMORA, Jan. 26 (ENS). — Wellington paid its first visit to Marmora in the TVL on Friday evening and retired beaten by 7 to 4 after furnishing good opposition for the homesters.

Play was somewhat mediocre in the first period when each team netted one goal. Marmora came from behind halfway through the second to obtain a lead which was little threatened for the rest of the game.

For them Trumble was top scorer with three goals, all obtained in the second. Lavender, Forestell, Stewart and Jones each got a single and although, not scoring himself, Mantle supplied three useful assists.

Platford, Scott, Greer and Twigg were the pick of the Wellington squad. The game was cleanly fought before more than 400 spectators. Just before the bell sounded at the close of the first, a spectator, Tom Gray, of Marmora, who is about 69 years of age, took a heart attack and died suddenly.

Bancroft Timbermen Defeat Tweed 5-3

BANCROFT, Jan. 26 (ENS). — Bancroft Timbermen won 5 to 3 over Tweed in a West Hastings-Lennox juvenile hockey game at the local arena on Thursday night.

Smarting from their 18 to 0 defeat from the hands of Madoc on Tuesday night the Timbermen played an entirely different type of game and had plenty of power, and speed when the going became rough. Two goals by MacMillan and Whalen put Tweed two up at the end of the first period, but the Timbermen found themselves in the second when Jeff, Vance, Coe and Parnell scored.

MacMillan scored early in the third to make the score interesting for Tweed, but Jim Vance came back right afterwards to account for the Timbermen's fifth and final goal.

For a time it looked as if the third period was going to develop into an amateur boxing tournament. Martin, Adams and Geraldi each drew five minutes in the cooler for their pugilistic efforts. Besides this, there were five other occupants in the sin bin in this frame for minors. In all there were 14 penalties. Lineups:

Tweed—Goal, LeSage; defence, Moon and Hunter; centre, MacMillan; wings, Fisher and Feeney; alternates: Whalen, Mulroney, Levedk, Geraldi, Larkin and Countryman. Mgr., Clark; coach, Wilkes.

Bancroft Timbermen — Goal, Andrews; defence, Adams and Bruce; centre, Vance; wings, Whyte and Coe; alternates, Wiggins, Griggs, G. Martin, Parnell, D. Martin, Sprackett, Landon and Jeff. Mgr., McKelvey; coach, Stuckey.

Referee, Leal of Tweed; linesman, Stringer of Bancroft; timers, McLaughlin of Tweed and Neuman of Bancroft.

Mercs Beat UK Team In French Cup Play

PARIS, Jan. 26 (CP)—Edmonton Mercurys Friday night smothered an English team 14-0 on the opening day of the Jean Potin Cup competition.

The Mercurys, touring Europe en route to the world hockey championships in Oslo, piled up a three-goal lead in the first period, added four in the second and seven in the third.

Frank Sullivan, Billy Dawe and Englebert Miller got three goals each. Louis Secco and George Abel counted pairs and Don Gauf got the other.

In last night's other match, the

Young's Point Wins

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 26 — (ENS)—The best hockey game of the season was played here Thursday between Buckhorn and Young's Point, the latter winning 6-0. The game got away to a fast start on an excellent ice surface.

Midway through the first period the local team broke into the scoring with a series of fast goals. The first went to C. Russelle, D. Heard getting the assist. J. Church scored and then D. Heard completed a passing play from C. Russelle and J. Church to make it 3-0. Two minutes later Heard again took a pass from Church for his second goal. The final goal of the period came from the stick of D. McIsaac to give the Point a five-goal lead going into the second period.

Buckhorn were pressing hard during the middle frame but Goalie Kyle proved unbeatable and handled some difficult shots brilliantly. At 19:05 D. Heard turned the hat trick with his third goal of the night.

The final period saw a lot of good fast hockey by both clubs but there was no further scoring by either team. The only penalty of the game went to G. Hall for boarding. The next meeting between these two clubs is scheduled for next Tuesday night at Buckhorn.

Buckhorn: Goal, J. Milligan; defence, B. Shearer, G. Hall; forwards, W. Wiliams, J. Armstrong, J. Barcroft; alternates, R. Northey, J. Barr, J. Northey, F. Barcroft, J. Powell, B. Clarkson, R. Taylor, P. Jopling.

Young's Point: Goal: B. Kyle; Defence: S. McNaughton, E. Tedford; Forwards: D. Heard; J. Church, C. Russelle; Alternates: R. Freeburn, J. Darling, D. McIsaac, D. Hogarth, P. Heard, E. York, B. McNaughton, C. Freeburn.

Referee: G. Chappell.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Peterborough Territorial Change

Most automobile policy owners know automobile insurance premiums are determined according to the district or territory in which the vehicle is operated.

Our population growth, as well as our accident experience, necessitates Peterborough being placed in Territory "B" along with cities comparable in size, i.e.: Oshawa, Kingston, Guelph, Ottawa, etc. Therefore our rates must be increased to conform with those above mentioned.

A new Policy Form has been issued with important changes beneficial to the Assured; some of the features are as follows:

If you car is used only for pleasure or business calls your Automobile Public Liability and Property Damage Insurance will now automatically include:

(1) Protection in respect of cars used as replacement while your vehicle is under repair.

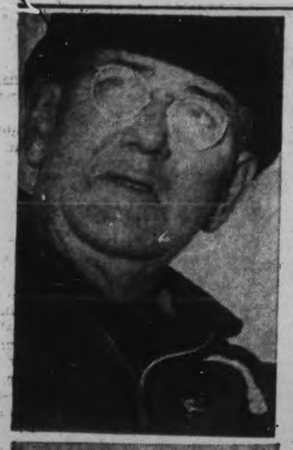
(2) Protection for you and your spouse while driving passenger type cars borrowed occasionally.

(3) Extension of your present coverage to the new car, in case of trade-ins, or if you buy a second car, for 14 days pending notification of your insurer.

When you purchase insurance protection against Collision or Fire and Theft, no specific request is required to cover car radios, other than two-way radios. Each coverage is automatically extended to the radio.

Until your present policy expires these extensions, if appropriate to your present insurance, will automatically go into effect.

Two new additional coverages may be purchased in the new policy as follows:



(1) Medical expense incurred by passengers who sustain bodily injuries caused by accident while in your car or an occasionally borrowed automobile driven by you or your spouse.

(2) Comprehensive coverage, which includes, in addition to Fire and Theft, protection against breakage of glass, loss caused by missiles, flood, vandalism (malicious mischief), and other perils (but not Collision).

Mrs. Charles Smith Legion Auxiliary Head

APSLEY, Jan. 26 (ENS). — The annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Apsley Branch of the Canadian Legion was held at Mrs. C. Smith's home. The newly-elected president of Apsley Branch No. 380, Mrs. Earl Trotter, installed the following officers: president, Mrs. Charles Smith; first vice-president, Mrs. Montgomery; second vice-president, Mrs. Robert Scott; secretary, Mrs. Martin Reddick; treasurer, Mrs. Burridge.

The branch has a splendid bank account to their credit. Some of their activities include: a party at New Year's for veterans' children; gave donation of $5.00 to Peterborough Cancer Fund. A number of quilt blocks were given in in preparation to making two quilts.

Heretofore the meetings have been held on the third Thursday evening of each month, now they will be held the third Friday of each month. February meeting will be held at Mrs. Walter Nelson's home. At conclusion of the meeting the hostess served lunch.

Interest Hike Needed Trust Official Says

TORONTO, Jan. 26 (CP)—Most trust companies have recognized the advisability of increasing the rate of interest in the last year, W. H. Gregory, vice-president and managing director of the British Mortgage and Trust Corporation of Stratford, said in his annual report.

"In July our rate was set at 3¼ per cent for a term of three or four years, and 3½ per cent for five years . . . We are now paying 4 per cent on guaranteed investment securities for four or five years," Mr. Gregory says.

Total assets in 1951 dropped to $16,162,124 from $16,188,812 in 1950.

NATO Should Help

LONDON, Jan. 26 (Reuters)—The Conservative daily Telegraph says today in an editorial on Friday's fighting in Egypt that Britain's North Atlantic Treaty Organization partners should help her defend the Suez Canal zone. The Telegraph's editorial — and those carried by most other British newspapers this morning—reflected the concern Britons feel over the increasing strife in Egypt.

Dams Abuilding On Lovesick

By NICK NICKELS

The only difference between the beavers and maintenance crews of the Trent Canal is that the beavers stop working at freeze-up.

Men of the Trent carry on with a thousand and one jobs. One of their largest undertakings at present is the building of seven dams, large and small, that connect the north shore of Smith Township with the south shore of Harvey.

Seven timbered structures were originally built in 1886 as a water level and navigational control. And when the present Burleigh Dam was erected it was planned to build it high enough to flood out the seven small dams on Lovesick Lake entirely.

But several expensive items would have resulted in this flooding process. The greatest would have been a complete new flight of locks at Burleigh, to say nothing of flooding Lovesick and Deer Bay shores under many feet of water.

It was decided that it would be cheaper to build permanent concrete dams on Lovesick and discard the idea of building new Burleigh locks. The timbered structures were re-timbered in 1928 and in 1948 it was decided to make the dams permanent in concrete. This work has been going on each year, except in high water seasons, and is progressing favorably.

At Edge of Shield

The site of the dams is situated in an interesting bit of Kawartha topography. The Smith shore side (south) is a limestone escarpment more than 100 feet high. The Pre-Cambrian granite shield is joined to its base a few yards from shore. A string of six islands, the largest, by far, Wolfe Island, it threaded with seven rapids. To by-pass them, Lovesick Lock No. 30 allows navigation to go up and downstream unhindered.

Number Two—South Gray Duck Dam—was finished in 1948 and Number One—Sunset—the following year. Number Four, the Main Dam at the Lovesick Locks, was started in 1950 and work is going on there at present. It is the largest structure of the entire project.

Number four is 250 feet long built in seven concrete piers that rise five feet above normal water level. In it are four main discharge sluices and two overtop spillways each complete with concrete aprons and stoplogs. Trent maintenance crews have used some unorthodox dam-building tactics, according to accepted engineering principles. And they have proven satisfactory.

Dig To Rock

The main innovation was pouring the concrete piers under water and building coffer, or protective cribbing, after this part was completed. This, their engineers found, resulted in a considerable saving of taxpayers' money. Water between the piers is 17 feet deep and debris was dug out down to bedrock by power shovels and underwater drilling and blasting by divers.

Diver Bob Allen of Peterborough, works in the cold water each day and puts in a normal day shift removing stubborn boulders in the stream bed. He talks to his helper by a throat microphone as he moves about in the gloom and finds the cold is no problem. In fact, he says he is better off, than the freezing timbermen who work far above him in the keen winter wind.

Sixteen men under foreman Jack McColl of Apsley live in two bunkhouses beside the Locks and eat hearty meals in the neat cookhouse. They are all men from various parts of the district and work long shifts through the week in order to go to their homes Saturdays and Sundays.

Found Stone Knives

Of historical interest at Number One Dam, is that excavation has brought up four Indian stone skinning knives that were embedded in the silt 12 feet below the mud floor of the main spillway. It is estimated that the knives spilled from capsized native canoes when the rapids was used as an Indian carrying place.

Number Four Dam will be completed this year together with a small dam at site three, shown on the waterways maps as North Gray Duck. Numbers Five, Six and Seven, all fairly small, will be built the following years.

In the words of superintendent Tom Ryan:

"I guess, we of the Silent Service (the Trent) will be forgotten if we are too silent. We think the Seven-Lovesick-Dams project is a considerable undertaking. We are proud of it and of the men who are bringing it to completion."

Decorated Soldier May Win Promotion

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 — (CP). — A soldier who gets a galantry decoration or an award for meritorious service may get an even more tangible benefit along with it—a promotion in rank.

A recent army order says that in exceptional cases where a further recognition is merited along with awards for meritorious service or gallantry a promotion in rank may be submitted for approval by the Minister of Defence.

Men recommended for this promotion must be judged as capable of carrying out the duties of the higher rank, but other qualifications normally required for the promotion may be waived.

Doubts Revival Of Canada Titles

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 — (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Friday his government has given "no consideration whatsoever" to the possibility of reviving the practice of recommending titles for Canadians.

He made the statement when a reporter asked him about a rumor that Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, the new Governor-General-designate, will receive a title from the King before taking office.

That is one rumor, Mr. St. Laurent replied, that he "had not even heard."

Mr. Ct. Laurent said he did not know whether Mr. Massey plans to give up his post as Chancellor of the University of Toronto. That is something upon which he would not venture any opinion or advice unless Mr. Massey asked him.

Great British Woman

Vaughan Williams. In 1949 she received one of the first degrees to be granted to women at Cambridge University when she was made a Doctor of Music.

It is difficult to name another woman pianist who has made quite the same impact on her time and generation since the days of Clara Schumann. There have been, no doubt, more spectacular players of her sex, more brilliant technicians even, but none who can have given the same impression of first class technique allied to profoundly thoughtful musicianship.

Nor does Myra Hess convey the feeling that she is the product of any narrowly applied theory of pianism, as some adherents of the famous Tobias Matthay sometimes manage to do. Her style has become quite personal, yet she has no mannerisms and no platform tricks. She has a wonderful poise and seems perfectly as ease from the moment she appears on the stage. Hence she puts her audience at their ease also, and one knows from the start that it is music and not an exhibition of pianism for its own sake that one has come to hear.

For that Myra Hess is among the fine, serious musicians of her time both her record and her performances are there to prove. She is what every great artist must be in addition to being a great player—a human personality immediately recognisable; and it is fair to say that none has been more truly loved and admired for her distinguished qualities.

Mr. Holliday is a gospel minister of wide experiences both in Canada and also overseas during the Second World War as chaplain.

Turnip Growers Find Fault With Own Crops

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP) — Friday was Turnip Growers' Day at the annual convention of the Ontario Soil and Crop Improvement Association. And the turnip growers found fault with themselves in discussions about their recent crop.

Although the lowly turnip has advanced from the state of cattle feed to a vegetable for human consumption, many of Ontario's turnip-growers think that a lot of turnips should still rate as cattle feed. They suggested that the "cow feed" should be kept at home and only the better turnips be put on the market.

The growers were reminded that consumers weren't always ready to seek out turnips, and that growers should make a point of having them ready when there was demand.

R. C. Thompson, of Lynden, suggested that producers put one-third of their crop on the market right from the field, one third before New Year's and one third after that date.

Mr. Thompson defended to some extent the spread between the 65 cents a bushel received by the grower and approximately $2 a bushel paid by the consumer. He said retailers were in the business to make a profit, and if they didn't make a profit they would switch to some other vegetable.

At the luncheon, growers heard G. R. Paterson, director of the agricultural commodities branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce, describe efforts of his department's representatives in 124 counties to sell Canadian produce.

The Soil and Crop Improvement Association also elected a new president. William Wallace, of Woodslee, will head the group in 1952. Woodslee is in Essex county.

Jim Doidge Heads Morganston YPU

The Morganston YPU met on Tuesday in the Sunday school rooms. Alex. McComb presented the following slate of officers: President, Jim Doidge; vice-president, Eunice Turney; secretary, Helen Hardy; treasurer, Wm. Turney; assistant pianist, Margaret Phillips.

Conveners—Faith and Evangelism, Wm. Turney; Christian Mission, Margaret Phillips; Christian Citizenship, Bruce McCobz; Christian Culture, Muriel Jones.

After the business period Alice Davidson, the Christian culture convener, conducted the worship service. The topic was taken by Marvin McComb. The program consisted of a reading by Jim Doidge; piano solo by Miss Myrtle Hardy; vocal solo by Margaret Phillips, and reading by David Turney. Recretation period was convened by Wm. Turney.

Five Happy Draftees Face Military Action

SINGAPORE, Jan. 26. (Reuters) —Five British draftees who played catch with dummy bombs to show their joy at going home—and alarmed an edgy town—Friday night faced military action for their exuberance.

It happened last night in Kuala Lumpur, Malaya's capital. For three years its citizens have been on the alert for a terrorist strike. They thought it had come last night, when loud explosions and violent flashes were reported in the compound of a police station.

Kuala Lampur awoke with a start. Road blocks were set up to trap the fleeing terrorists, reported to be in a truck.

Then the arrests were made. The culprits proved to be five British soldiers on their way to board a troopship for home.

The dummy bombs bang and flash, but are not loaded.

Convict Six Merchants On Holy Day Bylaw

MONTREAL, Jan. 26—(CP)—Six storekeepers were fined $40 and costs in Recorders Court Friday for ignoring a city bylaw prohibiting retail stores from opening on certain Roman Catholic Holy Days.

The six, of a total of 55 who appeared, either pleaded guilty or were fined in default for opening on the Feast of the Immaculate Conception, Dec. 8.

The case against three others was dismissed by Recorder-in-Chief Roland Paquette. The remaining 46 were ordered for trial in February.

New Air Flights To Boost Immigrant Flow

WINNIPEG, Jan. 26. (CP)—The Canadian Government has made arrangements to boost the flow of immigrants from the United Kingdom by increased air and sea transportation. Immigration Minister Harris announced Friday night.

Starting next month, the British Government will charter a BOAC stratocruiser aircraft to make one flight weekly to Canada carrying 70 immigrants each time.

In addition, the Canadian Government has arranged for an additional 38 sailings from United Kingdom ports to Canada this year.

The big problem in getting more new citizens from Britain in 1951 was transportation, Mr. Harris said in a speech before a Caledonians' Burns night banquet.

The BOAC passage will be in addition to the special TCA plan already in operation. This assisted air-travel plan is made available to immigrants at the tourist rate for sea-passage. About 7,500 Britons were moved to Canada last year in this way.

Mr. Harris said new citizens are helping to promote production and ease inflation in Canada. There was insufficient population in this country to provide the workers needed in the tremendous expansion being undertaken in a variety of industrial fields.

More workers were needed, but he would not estimate how much immigration he planned for 1952. Last year the government planned for and obtained 150,000. This year, the guide will be the "absorptive capavity of the country."

BIG BROTHERS

The Big Brother movement was started at Toronto in 1912 for the purpose of reforming delinquent boys.

Old-Time Songs Of Peterborough On Broadcast

The Leslie Bell Singers will include in their choral selections Sunday night on the Canadian General Electric radio broadcast several selection from Ontario music of a century ago.

Mr. R. F. Choate, of Toronto whose correspondence has been of special interest to Peterborough readers in its reflection of pioneer and later days in this county, directs attention to this usual Sunday evening program, 8.30 to 9 o'clock, on CFRB, CHML and CKTB.

"In response to enquiries of Dr Bell for authentic information regarding the scored music of a century or more ago in Ontario I prepared from my old books a listing from which I understand he is choosing several selections to be used in the way of interludes in a program of old Singing School music. Leslie Bell appears to be quite interested in this matter.

"As this is the outgrowth of what I wrote last year for the Examiner's centennial issue, it is interesting. I have done a lot of painstaking probing, and the material I now have confirms what I had thought — that our early Peterborough music was considerably ahead of most of any other in Canada, and of that in the Southern States. It had, in fact, a very favorable status as compared with anything else on the continent.

Little Known

"It is amazing how little even the musical leaders in Toronto know about our own Canadian musical history. This is an important and far-reaching subject which cannot be handled in little dibs and dabs. It has involved for me a lot of careful research regarding musical scores all over the continent, which has never been put together anywhere with any completeness.

"One melancholy fact is the lack of knowledge and appreciation among Peterborough people of the richness of their own treasures. If it were in the States, people would be up on their toes to establish their history before it is too late.

"Among some Toronto people there is a very considerable quickening of interest in these matters. Some of them would be glad to buy some of my books, documents, etc., but I have told them I have nothing to sell—even at a million dollars—though I may give them something.

"I want to put this matter into shape if I can in the interest of a broader and more truthful Peterborough history. This, as I see it, should remain in Peterborough, which I hope will some day be alive enough to claim its proper place of leadership."

A Full Night of Fun Found At 5th Annual Naval Ball

"Join the navy and see the world' 'is an old slogan now supplanted by "Attend the Peterborough naval ball and have a night of fun."

No other affair here provides five hours of dancing in one night and few start in the early evening with a pleasant social half-hour when the officers of the association entertain at a cocktail party. So, it is not surprising that the entire 300 tickets were taken up again this year though they were on sale for only two weeks in advance. The ball is set from year to year for the last Friday of January so couples can make it a standing date, and the orchestra is hired to play until two am.

Naval etiquette was somewhat in reverese as ordinary seamen, stokers, etc., were hosts to a captain. Special guest at the ball this year was Captain J. MacGillivray, deputy engineer-in-chief of Naval Service Headquarters, Ottawa, under whom the association secretary, Bob Graham, served in the later war years while on HMCS Uganda (the cruiser recently recommissioned HMCS Quebec). Another Peterborough naval veteran who first knew the captain as a senior officer on his ship is Tommy Heffernan who was also at the dance.

Navy signal flags hanging over the dance floor at Club Aragon pictured rolling waves and weathered seamen as stage scenery provided the nautical setting for a naval veterans party.

The main door prizes were a handsomely tooled ladies purse and a tooled leather wallet for the man, and the winners were Mrs. Bradley and Mr. Jack McGowan. The draws were made by Mayor Hugh Waddell. A lovely table lamp was won by Mr. and Mrs. Cec. Hunter and a special ladies' prize of cosmetics was won by Mrs. Gordon Neil. President Fred Kiff called on other special guests to make these draws.

Winners of the three spot dances were Miss Mabel Courneyea and Gord Hardie, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barnes and Mrs. J. Caravaggio and Art Hunter.

Special guests present were Mayor and Mrs. Waddell, the Hon. Harold Scott and Mrs. Scott, Mr. F. P. Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Hurrell Dodds, Mr. Harold Bailey, president Toronto Naval Association, and Mrs. Bailey. Captain MacGillivray was also accompanied by this wife.

Names in the "ship's log" for the evening are:

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Pilling, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kiff, Mr. and Mrs. Hurrell Dodds, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Graham, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Havelock United Church Hears Annual Reports

HAVELOCK, Jan. 26 (ENS)—Encouraging reports were received from all organizations of Havelock United Church at the annual congregational meeting Wednesday evening.

Following the devotional period the Rev. R. G. Newman was elected chairman and Carman Coon the secretary for the meeting.

The report for the Women's Association was presented by the treasurer, Mrs. H. Gerow, and showed that the auxiliary had had a very active year, with a balance on hand after expenditures amounting to $1,116.49. Eight hundred dollars had been spent on the parsonage in the repairing of walls, some new floors and a new electric refrigerator had been purchased for the parsonage. The Trent River WA pay a third of these expenditures.

A donatnon of $200 had been given to the church Board.

The WMS report was given by Mrs. G. W. Chiles, showing that the auxiliary had met its allocation of $330.

Mrs. Gerald Buchanan read the report for the Evening Auxiliary, which had forwarded its allocation of $75 and had also made a donation of $10 to the Mission Band.

The Mission Band reported that their allocation of $45 had been met.

James Watson reported for the Sunday School showing a substantial balance on hand.

Mrs. Cecil Anderson reported for the cradle roll department, saying in the last four years of her office 79 babies had been enrolled and 155 birthday cards sent out.

Plan Bazaar

The Young People's Union gave a balance on hand and made known that they were planning a bazaar for February 2.

The Bible Society report from the president, W. M. Platt, was read showing the canvass for Havelock, Trent River, and Belmont Lake district amounted to $145.00. Of this amount $49.80 was contributed by the United Church charge.

F. Rogers reported that $129.00 had been raised by Havelock and Trent River congregations for the Ontario Temperance Federation.

Young People's Choir

A report of the Young People's choir from the leader, W. M. Platt showed that the choir had raised $70 for work among the young girls who were associated with the Rev. Elda Daniels in the college at Seoul, Korea.

The senior choir report was given by Donald Pollock. A discussion arose about practice hours and the matter was left with the music committee to deal with.

The Rush Point Sunday School showed receipts of $134. Among the expenditures was a donation of $40.85 to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. There had been an average attendance of 25 at the vacation school held during the summer.

Fred Rogers gave the session report showing an average attendance of 80 persons at the four Communion services held. There were 19 baptisms, 13 marriages, and seven burials. Five new members were received on profession of faith following a communicants' class before Easter, and eight were received by certificate. There were four withdrawals by certificate and one by death, which leaves the membership at 234. Of these 38 are non-resident.

Mr. Newman reported that the anniversary services held in October were well attended, with the Rev. Dr. Robert Clarke of India as guest speaker.

The treasurer James Watson reported that the receipts for the year amounted to $8,512.36.

Gerald Buchanan reported that $978 had been raised for the M and M fund.

B & PW Club Invites Poster Entries

Artists of this district are invited to prepare entries for a province-wide poster competition that is being sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Ontario. For the Peterborough club, the convener of this contest is Miss Luella Knapp, from whom further details can be obtained.

The poster is to be used in publicising Business Women's Week, May 19 to 24, an annual observance by the club for 24 years, which has stimulated membership and also informed the communities of the work members do.

Slogan for the week is "Keeping Pace With Canada" and the poster is to be illustrative and to include the slogan. Judging will be disinterested, commercial advertising persons and their choice as winner will receive a cash award of $25.

Great-Grandmother Of 13 Celebrates 80th Birthday

Looking chipper as a woman 20 years younger, Mrs. Fluena Davis of Bethany took her 80th birthday in stride Friday afternoon by peeling potatoes for a family dinner party in her honor.

Although she still maintains her home at Bethany, where she has lived since 1879, Mrs. Davis spends a couple of months each winter with her daughter, Mrs. Rhoda Johnson, 649 Chamberlain St.

"I still knit quite a lot, although my eyes are bothering me a bit lately," she explained. Mrs. Davis attends Bethany United Church regularly but says she lets her daughter, Mrs. Hilliard Bristow who lives with her, take her place in church organizations in which she took an active part for many years.

Mrs. Davis was married twice. Her first husband died in 1893, and Dr. Jefferey Davis, well known Bethany veterinarian died 12 years ago. Mrs. Davis had one son, Harold McMahon, now living at Crawford's Grove by her first marriage and three sons and two daughters by her second marriage to Dr. Davis.

Two sons, Hilliard and Theodore Davis live in Peterborough. A third son died some years ago.

Her family has provided her with 18 grand children and 13 great grand children.

Mrs. Davis was born in Bobcaygeon on January 25, 1872.

Her mother died when Mrs. Davis was only 13 days old. At the age of seven, Mrs. Davis moved to Bethany where she has lived ever since.

Hon. L. B. Pearson Writes About Life At Manse

The Hon. Lester B. Pearson, minister of External Affairs, was moved to recall vividly the three years of his childhood spent in Peterborough by the recent magazine article of the Examiner's feature writer "Nancy Cleaver." The article is about "minister's children" and names six prominent "sons of the manse", two of whom have Peterborough connection—Mr. Pearson and Dr. G. P. Gilmour, president of McMaster University, Hamilton.

Mr. Pearson's sentiment prompted him to write a letter in which he says "I have vivid memories of the attic room at 541 Water St. and the good times my brothers and I had there when we were supposed to be asleep or studying. The three years spent in that house and in Peterborough were the happiest of our early life."

Many members of George St. United Church and citizens will remember Mr. Pearson's father, the Rev. Edwin A. Pearson, minister here 1907 to 1910, and there will be some who also recall his grandfather, the Rev. M. L. Pearson, minister at the same church 1888-1890.

Havelock News

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Dafoe, Mrs. Clarence King and daughters Darlene and Evaline and Mrs. Arthur King were at Fifth Lake north of Enterprise on Wednesday attending the funeral of the late Manson King a former resident of Belmont township. Burial was in the Tamworth cemetery.

Mrs. William Bullied has returned after a week in Peterborough Civic Hospital.

Dillon-Clark

WARKWORTH, Jan. 26 (ENS).—At a quiet ceremony in Calabogie, the Rev. J. Sullivan united in marriage, Mrs. Alice Maude Clark, daughter of William Taylor and the late Mrs. Taylor of Warkworth and Terrence Dennis Dillon, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dillon of Calabogie.

For her wedding the bride chose a biege-toned afternoon dress and model hat of pink flowers. Her corsage bouquet was of Briarcliffe roses.

Miss Dorothy Dillon of Ottawa was the bridesmaid and Maurice Dillion of Belleville was his brother's groomsman.

DOROTHY DIX

Selfish Suitor Cause For Much Petty Trouble

DEAR MISS DIX: For three years I have been going with a boy I love very much. He claims to love me also, but I think he is being selfish and unsympathetic. If I show love or concern for my mother or sister, he says I think more of them than I do of him. He tries to draw me away from my family; in fact, he disapproves of almost everything I do. He even objects if I want to give up an evening of fun to stay with my mother when she is ill. Do you think it is wise to continue going with him?

DEE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Any woman can—and in fact, should—be able to fulfill all the functions of normal, human relationships. She should, at the same time, adequately perform the duties of wife, daughter, sister and any other kinships within her scope. This is the balanced—the ideal—life. For a member of her family or a friend to try to break up any single link in this circle is potentially disastrous, mentally and emotionally.

He'll Make Poor Husband

Your fiance's attempts to draw you away from your family, especially at a time when they need you most, as in illness, are based on selfishness and an arrant possessiveness. Such qualities are not a good recommendation for a husband. Since you, yourself, question the advisability of continuing the association with your boy friend, the entering wedge of doubt has already crept into your friendship. A frank discussion with someone who knows you both and is well acquainted with your family problems would be the best way to reach a satisfactory solution.

While an inordinate devotion to one's family is not a healthy attitude, leading, as it does, to a childish dependence often lasting into adult years, it must not be confused with the affection and loyalty that should exist in every family. Interference in family attachments by an outsider, no matter how much in love with him you are, is a matter to be seriously considered.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 16 years old and would like to ask a boy to my school prom. He is five years older than I but about two years ago he dated my sister, who is now married. Do you think it would be proper for me to ask him to the prom?

PATRICIA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Extending an invitation to a prom would never be construed as being "forward" by a well-bred young man. He would be pleased at your thought. Of course this particular young man might still look upon you as the "kid sister," so don't be too disappointed if he doesn't accept your bid. By all means, however, do ask him. I hope he accepts and you both have a glorious time.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Which girl is better in this case? My friend is a young man 23, a college graduate and earning a good salary. The first girl is 21, a college graduate and has everything in common with my friend, but she lacks commonsense. The second girl also 21, graduated from high school, and is employed. She has personality, commonsense and is a good companion. My friend wants a partner in life, and doesn't believe in love.

DAVID B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: What your friend wants is a secretary, but doesn't want to pay her salary. Both the girls you describe sound altogether too good for him; what he needs is a cold-blooded fish like himself. The average girl wants a little romance with her marriage; your friend just wants a business proposition. Maybe he doesn't believe in love now; 23 is young enough to give him time to recover from cynicism.

Durham Churches Sponsor Mission

MILLBROOK, Jan. 26 (ENS)—The churches of Millbrook and Cavan district are uniting for a preaching mission to be held in the various churches from January 27 to February 3. The missioner will be the Rev. G. W. Gregson who came from England last fall to accept a position on the faculty of Wycliffe College.

Mr. Gregson is also serving as missioner at large. During the last war he was senior padre of the Royal Air Force where he held the rank of Wing Commander.

On January 27 Mr. Gregson will speak in Centreville Presbyterian church at 11 am, at Christ church, Bailieboro, at 3 pm, and at St. Thomas church, Millbrook, at 7 pm. The services through the week will be held at 8 pm on Monday at St. Andrew's United, on Tuesday at St. Thomas Anglican, Wednesday in Grace Presbyterian, Thursday, St. Andrew's and Friday in Grace Presbyterian church in Millbrook. On Sunday, February 3rd the services will be in St. Thomas' Anglican church at 11 am, in Fraserville United at 3 pm, and in St. Andrew's United at 7 pm.

A special children's meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 in St. Thomas' parish hall.

What's Right?

You are planning to take a small child on an outing in several days.

WRONG: Promise him absolutely that you will take him.

RIGHT: Don't make such a positive promise to a small child, who will not understand if something happens to prevent the trip.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: I have tried many of your recipes in the last few months, since I moved here from Toronto and have had wonderful success with everything except cookie recipes. I have a——— from which I have tried numerous cookie recipes, not to speak of all the ones I have cut out of magazines, but have never made a successful batch of cookies yet.

My husband kids me about my awful results, and says, if I ever have a success my cookies will be worth a hundred dollars a dozen.

My batter always seems too thin, although I make very careful measurements, the cookies run all over the sheet and come out looking like pancakes. I have tried increasing the flour, but this seems to make them hard and brittle. I measure the flour after it has been sifted. I don't know if this is where I make my mistake or not.

This cookie failure is getting me down, so any help you can give me will be greatly appreciated.

I enjoy your friendly column very much, and have learned a great deal from it. I hope you will be able to help me with my cooking problem, which I have been working on for six years. Thank you for your very interesting column. Alma Y.

ANSWER: There is a challenge! Hundred dollar a dozen cookies, eh?

Let us start with the most foolproof recipes I know—

Walnut Ice Box Cookies

1 cup best quality shortening, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, 2 teaspoon cream of tartar, ¾ teaspoon salt, ¾ cup brown sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla; about 1 cup chopped nuts. Sift together the flour, soda, cream of tartar and salt. Cream the shortening until very light, then gradually beat in the sugar. (The brown sugar when measured should be well-packed in cup.) This mixture of shortening and sugar should be very light and airy. Beat in the egg and vanilla. Sift the flour mixture over and stir until thoroughly mixed. Divide the dough into four parts. On very lightly floured table roll these pieces of dough into rolls about 2 inches or a little less in diameter. Have chopped nuts—very finely chopped—on large piece of wax paper. Roll the roll of dough in them. Roll up each nut-coated roll in two thicknesses of wax paper and chill in refrigerator 4 or 6 hours or overnight. When ready to bake have oven temperature at 350 deg. Fahr. (by the way—are you sure your oven temperature is accurate? If not the firm from which you bought it will check this for you). With very sharp knife slice roll of dough into cookies about three-sixteenths inch thick. Bake on very lightly greased cookie sheet for from 10 to 12 minutes. Do not overbake.

Foolproof Drop Cookies

Cream together thoroughly 1 cup shortening at room temperature, 2 cups brown sugar, 2 eggs and stir in a scant ½ cup buttermilk. Sift together 3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon each salt and soda, and stir these in. Chill dough. Drop from teaspoon onto cookie sheet, pinching the dough at top and perching a half nut on top of this, pressing it down just a little. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 8 to 10 minutes.

Try both of these. They will work if your oven thermometer is registering right and you are using measuring cup and spoons. Let me know how you make out, then I will give you other types of cookies. Good Luck.

NEW SILHOUETTE

THIS IS IT! The Spring 1952 Silhouette—in the newest of new date-frocks. The midriff is smooth and high, to give that Empire Look; skirt is flared but not bulky. You'll find the neckline is a fascinator, too—flattering scallop below the collar.

Patern R9324, Misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 16 takes 4½ yards 39-inch fabric.

This easy-to-use pattern gives perfect fit. Complete, illustrated Sew Chart shows you every step.

Hollywood Stars Have Tax Headache

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 26 (AP)—The moaning and groaning you hear from Hollywood is caused by movie stars faced with the income tax season.

Taxes are bad enough for us normal citizens, who barely scrape enough together to meet the deadline. But it's a much graver problem for movie stars, whose earnings are often uncertain and whose expenses are terrific.

The recent internal revenue scandals have also brought troubles to the stars. They face an even stricter application of tax laws. In the past, compromises have sometimes been arranged, under which the government settled for less but took all it could get after liquidating a star's assets, on the theory that he should have arranged for the payments while he had the money. These days, deals simply aren't being made.

One top star said this week he was faced on Jan. 15 with a $400,000 tax bill.

Unseen Stars

Still the polls come in. This week's was announced by Box Office magazine, which reported that June Allyson and Bing Crosby are the favorite film stars of the United States.

Yet Miss Allyson didn't appear in a new picture during 1951. Nor did she make the top 25 box office stars in the motion picture herald's annual pol. Confusing?

Cecil B. DeMille's circus epic, "The Greatest Show On Earth," got a rap from the legion of decency. The legion classified it "morally objectionable in part." The reasons: "The sinful act of mercy killing," "suggestive costuming and dialogue".

Church Re-elects Elders, Stewards

NORWOOD, Jan. 26 (ENS) — The annual congregational meeting of Norwood United church was held Wednesday evening. The Rev. H. K. Wright was chairman for the meeting. Reports were received from the different organizations of the church.

Two new organizations were started during the past year, the CGIT and junior congregation.

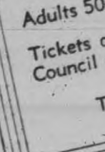
Retiring elders and stewards were re-elected. Elders are: J. F. Elliott, Frank Jenkins, Harry Wildman, Ross Legge, Ronald Webster, S. S. Breckon, David Starke, Roy Parker, Andrew McGee, G. A. Brethen, Roy Brown, J. Gordon Manley, H. A. Thistlethwaite, John Starke, David McNeil, John Marks.

Stewards are: Armar Weir, Maitland Kirk, Arnold Stevenson, A. E. Hogg, A. R. Atkinson, Gideon Brown, Stanley Flett, J. H. Caskey, W. G. Barrie, Franklin Webster, Lyle McMillen, Samuel Buck, William Garden, Max Scott, Alfred McMillen, Rork Ferguson, H. W. Hudson, Earl Hamblin, John McConnell, Earl Bongard, Edgar Buck.

Following the business meeting a film was shown. Refreshments were served by the Women's Association.

Havelock News

Rev. and Mrs. R. G. Newman and son David attended the funeral of the former's brother-in-law, Mr. Byron Newman at Spencerville this week.



Mrs. G. W. Chiles, Mrs. W. Forsyth, Mrs. H. Agnew attended the annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial of the WMS of the United Church held in Peterborough on Tuesday.

6—In Memoriam

DONNELLY—In loving memory of a dear father, Jack Donnelly, who passed away January 27, 1946.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
His happy face to see,
To hear his voice and see his smile
That meant so much to me.
—Always remembered by son Jack, daughter-in-law Judy and grandchildren Jane Donna and Michael.

DONNELLY—In loving memory of a dear father, Jack Donnelly, who passed away January 27, 1946.
We think of him in silence,
His name we oft recall,
There is nothing left to answer
But his picture on our wall.
—Ever remembered by son Ernie, daughter-in-law Norma and grandson Johnny.

DONNELLY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father Jack Donnelly, who passed away January 27, 1946.
When last we saw your smiling face,
You looked so bright and well,
Little did we think, dear dad,
It was our last farewell.
If we could speak with you today,
Joke with you in the same old way,
Hear your voice and see your smile,
Then life indeed would be worthwhile.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and daughter Margaret.

DONNELLY—In loving memory of father, Jack Donnelly, who passed away January 27, 1946.
You're not forgotten, father dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
—Always remembered by daughter Irene and grandchildren.

DONNELLY—In loving memory of father, Jack Donnelly, who passed away January 27, 1946.
Deep in the heart lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest,
In memory's frame we shall keep it,
Because he was one of the best.
—Always remembered by daughter Dorothy, son-in-law Len and grandchild Bobby.

GLEDHILL—In loving memory of a dear father, Oscar Gledhill, who died January 27, 1948.
Dear Dad, I'll be loving you
Until the farthest dawn
And after all the stars above
Are permanently gone.
—Ever remembered by Ernest.

GLEDHILL—In loving memory of a dear husband, Oscar Gledhill, who died January 27, 1948.
I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own,
And day by day I miss him more,
As I walk through life alone.
—Ever remembered by wife Millicent.

HANDLEY—In loving memory of John F. Handley, dear father of Mrs. Ira Lowe, who passed away January 27, 1947.
His smiling way and pleasant face
Was a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.

—Cards of Thanks

I would like to express my thanks to all my friends for the lovely flowers, fruit, cards and visits during my recent stay in Civic Hospital.—James Pickering.

Mr. Hymie Smith would like to thank attending doctors, sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital for medical attention and nursing care he received while ill; also to his many friends for the many flowers, fruit baskets and get-well wishes he received while confined to hospital.

Public Notice re Oil Burning Units

Following for information of all the Firms or Persons engaged in the Trade, Business, or Occupation of Installer of Oil Units or Oil-Burning Appliances, is an excerpt from City of Peterborough By-law No. 4941, passed 5th February, 1951:

(i) "range" includes an oil-burning apparatus or appliance used for heating brooder and tobacco kilns, whether connected to a flue or not, and any apparatus or appliance known as a range, stove or heater used for cooking or for heating one or more rooms in which it is situate, except:

(i) portable devices so designed and constructed as not to require connection to a flue and equipped with a wick or mechanical device the movement of which is essential to flame adjustment, and

(ii) portable devices such as blow torches and soldering irons.

This definition is published to ensure that any person or firm engaged in the Installation of any Units so defined above are properly advised that they, in addition to others affected under the provisions of By-law 4941, MUST OBTAIN A LICENCE IMMEDIATELY, at the Office of the City Engineer.

DATED at Peterborough, this 22nd Day of January 1952.

Nepalese Government Outlaws Commie Party

KATMANDU, Nepal, Jan. 26 — (Reuters)—The Nepalese government Friday outlawed the Communist Party, accusing it of "actively supporting and participating in the revolt" this week, which was staged by the Raksha Dal, or National Guard.

Prime Minister M. P. Koirala, in a radio appeal to the nation, said: 'Disorderly conduct will lead to Fascism, anarchy and foreign intervention which will be fatal to the country."

He congratulated the people and army of Nepal for "not taking the counsels of a gang of terrorists and self-seekers."

illuminated address for his long service to Scots in the city as president of the Peterborough Pipe Band, which he kept doing without help or sponsors for many years. He was also president of the Jolly Beggars Burns Club and vice-president of the Caledonian Society.

A. Elliott and Tom Nimmo sang solos and Bill Hammill led community singing. The Peterborough pipe band played a Scottish medley. Ross MacMillan played a violin selection and Mr. MacMillan and F. Bertrand played a violin and guitar selection. A trio of Bill Hammill, E. Caddell and Tom Nimmo sang.

And of course the evening ended with Auld Lang Syne.

BY-LAW NO. 18

The Board of Trustees of The Roman Catholic Separate School Board of The City of Peterborough.

A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS UPON DEBENTURES FOR BUILDING PURPOSES.

WHEREAS it is expedient to Borrow for the purchase of a School Site and the Erection of a School a sum not exceeding FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($430,000.00) upon the credit of the Board to issue Debentures therefor bearing interest at the rate of Four and One-half per cent (4½%) per annum payable (semi-) annually and to provide for discount and the expenses incidental to negotiation and sale of such Debentures;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to make the principal period of twenty years next after the date of issue of such Debentures, of such amounts respectively that, with the interest in respect of the Debt, the aggregate amount payable for principal and interest in each year shall be, as nearly as possible, the same: subject to the statutory proviso that each instalment of principal may be for an even $100.00, $50.0, or $1,000.00 or multiple thereof, and, that notwithstanding anything herein contained, the annual instalments or principal and interest may differ in amount sufficiently to admit thereof;

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Board, according to the last revised assessment roll thereof is $4,133,455.00.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing Debenture debt of the Corporation, exclusive of local improvement debts secured by special rates or assesments, is $118,300.00.

AND WHEREAS by By-law Number 18 as amended of the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board of the City of Peterborough at paragraph five, it was provided as follows:

5. Commencing in the year 1952 and thereafter in each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Board shall levy and raise the specific sum shown for the respective year in the fourth column of the said Schedule. Such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates, upon all of the rateable property in the municipality assessed for Separate School purposes.

AND WHEREAS it was intended that the said paragraph five should read as follows:

5. Commencing in the year 1952 and thereafter in each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Board shall levy and raise the specific sum shown for the respective year in the fourth column of the said Schedule. Such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates, upon all of the rateable property in the municipality assessed for Separate School purposes.

NOW THEREFORE the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the City of Peterborough, enacts as follows:

By-law Number 18 as amended of the Board of Trustees of The Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the City of Peterborough as enacted on 23rd October, 1951, is hereby further amended to read as follows:

1. For the purpose aforesaid the Board shall borrow upon the credit of the Board a sum not exceeding FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($430,000.00) and shall issue Debentures therefor in sums of not less than $50.00 each. Each Debenture shall bear interest at the rate of 4½% per annum (semi-) annually and shall have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest.

2. All the Debentures shall bear the same date, shall be issued at one time and within two years and shall be made payable in annual instalments during the period of twenty years next after the date of issue thereof, and the respective amounts of principal and interest payable in each of such years shall be the amounts so designated in Schedule "A" hereto annexed.

3. The Debentures shall be payable as to both principal and interest in lawful money of Canada and may be made payable at such place or places in Canada as shall be designated thereon.

4. The said Debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Board and signed by the Chairman of the Board or by some other person authorized by by-law to sign the same, and by the Secretary-Treasurer, and his signature thereon may be written, stamped, lithographed or engraved.

5. Commencing in the year 1952 and thereafter in each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Board shall levy and raise the specific sum shown for the respective year in the fourth column of the said Schedule. Such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates, upon all of the rateable property in the municipality assessed for Separate School purposes.

6. The said Debentures may contain a clause providing for the registration thereof pursuant to Section 336 of the Municipal Act.

7. Pending the sale of the Debentures, the Chairman of the Board and the Secretary-Treasurer may raise for the purposes aforesaid by way of loan on such Debentures any sum or sums of money not exceeding in all the sum hereby authorized to be borrowed and may hypothecate such Debentures for such loan.

8. The Board shall have the right, at its option, to redeem the said Debentures either in whole or in part on any date prior to maturity at the places where and in the moneys in which the said Debentures are expressed to be payable, upon payment of the principal amount thereof together with interest accrued to the date of redemption and upon giving previous notice of said intention to redeem by advertising once in the Ontario Gazette and once in a daily newspaper of general provincial circulation, published in the City of Toronto, and once in a local newspaper, such notice to be advertised as aforesaid at least thirty days before the date fixed for redemption. Notice of intention to redeem shall also be sent post at least thirty days prior to the date set for such redemption to each person, in whose name a Debenture so to be redeemed is registered at the address shown in the Debenture Registry Book. Where only a portion of the Debentures of this issue is so to be redeemed, such portion shall comprise only the Debentures that have the latest maturity dates, and no Debenture of this issue shall be called for such redemption in priority to any such Debenture that has a later maturity date.

Read a first and second time this 18th Day of December 1951.

J. G. McCARNEY,
Chairman.

J. F. HOULIHAN,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Read a third time and finally passed this 18th Day of December, 1951.

Rulebook Stops Boxer As Ref Halts Bout

NEW YORK, Jan. 26. (CP) — Never a dull night at Madison Square Garden—after the fights are over. If a manager doesn't slug a referee, a referee slugs a fighter with the rule book.

Friday night Referee Ruby Goldstein found Livio Minelli, 151 lbs., of Italy "no match" for Broklyn's unbeaten—25th straight —Johnny Saxton, 148, and stopped their bout after 1:27 of the seventh round. Minelli's purse was held up and a hearing was called next Friday.

Chairman Bob Christenberry of the New York State Athletic Commission said late last night he would rule it a technical knockout. Yet you'll search the New York rule book for weeks to find any mention of such a thing as a TKO.

Referee Goldstein said he stopped it under section three of the rules, empowering referees "to stop a bout or contest at any stage and make a decision if he considers it too one-sided."

ProgressiveEuchre

MOUNT PLEASANT, Jan. 26—(ENS)—A progressive euchre was held in the WI hall on Thursday evening under the auspices of the local Women's Institute.

Mrs. H. G. Best won the ladies' high score; Mr. Bruce Scott the gentlemen's high; Mrs. Ira Lowe and Mr. Eric McLean received low scores. Mr. Scott also won the prize for most lone hands. Mr. Stanley Tully won the "guessing contest" on the jar of beans, which has been on display in the local store.

The committee in charge of the evening's entertainment were: Mrs. Keith Morden, Mrs. Murray Fee and Mrs. Mervyn Best.

NHL Old-Timers Play Exhibition

BRACEBRIDGE, Ont., Jan. 26 (CP) — Two teams of National Hockey League old timers battled it out Friday night before 2,700 Muskoka district residents in an ex hibition that raised $2,500 for th charities of the Bala Lions Club and the Bala branch of the Canadian Legion. The Reds downed the Whites 8-5.

Despite a heavy snowstorm, hockey enthusiasts crowded the arena to capacity to see hockey talent that once would have commanded a value of $1,500,000. The game was filmed for televising next week over the NBC network.

The Conacher hockey family accounted for five of the 13 goals. Bert scored three and Charlie two, while Lionel drew an assist. Bert's only previous hockey experience has been as a junior and commercial player.

Lionel Conacher and Bucko McDonald, both members of parliament, got into a friendly wrestling match in the closing minutes of the game.

Lineups:

Whites—Goal, Phil Stein; defence, Flash Hollett, Dit Clapper, Jack Draper, Bucko McDonald; forwards, Nels Stewart, Herbie Cain, Yank Boyd, Whitey Farrent, Earl Robinson, Jakie Forbes, Doug Smylie, Bert Conacher, Windy O'Neil.

Reds—Goal, Roy Worters; defence, Cy Wentworth, Lionel Conacher, Jimmy Fowler, Rhys Thompson; forwards, Billy Taylor, Roy Conacher, Charlie Conacher, Red Heron, Andy Bellemer, Eddie King, Harry McQuestion.

Year Of Dragon

when they add an extra month, it brings it out to the number under the sun calculations.

Since there are no printed calendars in much of China, even today many of the farmers calculate their calendar by the moon. It determines when they plant their crops and the harvest etc. The first day of the month is the dark new moon; the 15th is the full moon. By such calculations, these people know approximately what day it is.

Calendar Tree

The Chinese have many stories about the development of the calendar. Among their legendary kings and emperors was a group divided into two classes. The first was a group of discoverers to whom are attributed the inventions which started the Chinese on their march to civilization. The second is a group revered as exemplars of conduct. One of these, the Emperor Yao was revered for his virtue and propriety.

The story of the Chinese Calendar Tree is a tale about the court of Yao. It is said that on one hand stood a tree which put forth a leaf for every day for 15 days as the moon waxed. Then as the moon waned, daily for 15 days it shed a leaf. Thus they measured months.

On the other side stood a tree which put forth a leaf once a month for six months and then shed leaves once a month till the year ended. Thus they measured years. This reign was called "the Golden Age".

It was to, Huang Ti, emperor famed through the centuries, however that the Chinese paid tribute for their lunar calendar. He is believed to have developed the calendar and the system of reckoning time by dividing the 60-year cycle into the Year of the Rat, the Year of the Ox etc.

12-Hour Day

The number 12 appears to have been a popular one in China. Instead of a 24-hour day, they used a 12-hour day, each of their hours representing two of ours. This system of 12 comes from basing time on the sun. In the older days when there were no clocks, the Chinese used to place a pole in front of their homes, on the same principle as the sun dial. The shadow from the pole gave the approximate time of day. The hours in China are considered much more important than they are to Canadians. Fortune tellers and marriage brokers believe it essential to have the exact hour of birth before making predictions or arranging marriages.

So, as the Chinese greet their New Year on Sunday January 27, they look with hope for something better in the land of their birth, but are prepared, with a knowledge of past Years of the Dragon, for some painful events. Little in the way of celebration is planned this year. The unhappy plight of their families in China has dimmed the desire for festive fun which calls up old memories of better times.

Plan 220 Houses In Trenton Project

TRENTON, Jan. 26.—An agreement for the development of 220 building lots at Trenton of which 25 are to be set aside for the construction of 25 single housing units has been made between the Federal Government, the Province of Ontario and Central Mortgage and Housing Corp.

The remaining 195 in the land developed will be sold to builders and individuals for residential construction.

Three quarters of the estimated total cost of $450,000 will be paid by the Federal Government with the province and municipality sharing the remainder.

The servicing of the area will be done by the municipality including the construction and installation of sewers, water lines, roads and street lighting. The Federal Government and the province will be responsible for the construction of the housing units.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Jersey Joe Walcott pleased nearly 3,000 fans Friday night in Saint John, NB, with a five-round exhibition against Jackie Burke, light-heavyweight from New York.

Later, in his dressing room, the heavyweight champion said he wanted the best show he could get for his title defence. Harry Matthews or Rocky Marciano would mean more money to him than Ezzard Charles, said Jersey Joe. As for a choice among the three as a fighter, it made no difference to Walcott.

"They're all good boys. I'm willing to fight any one of them, but I want the one that will make the best deal."

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, said, however, that Walcott was morally obligated to give Charles the first chance, and "that's the way it may turn out."

Enos Slaughter, St. Louis Cardinals' outfielder, signed his 1952 contract Friday at his own figure —reported to be about $25,000. "I handed him a blank contract and told him to write in the salary figure he thought he was worth," Redbird owner Fred Saigh said. "He signed and I signed. That's all there was to it."

The New York State Athletic Commission opened its campaign on "undercover" managers Friday in New York by revoking the licence of manager Frank Verna of Rochester, NY, and suspending the licence of manager George Rushmer pending further investigation. Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the commission, said Verna is the manager on record of Arthur Warner of Rochester, a middleweight but that Rushmer actually is managing him without any record of the arrangement in the commission office.

When the Rev. Bob Richards shoots for the world pole vault record—15 feet 8½ inches—in the Millrose games tonight at Madison Square Garden in New York, officials won't risk making the measurement with an ordinary ladder. A special electric lift truck will be used for the first time to raise the official wielding the tape.

The Chicago Cubs had exactly half of their 36-player squad under contract for 1952 with the signing Friday of pitcher Bob Kelly and rookie catcher Maurice (Toby) Atwell.

Oregon Mother Leads Police To Child's Body

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 26 (AP) —A 21-year-old mother, after leading police to a gas company waste sump where the body of her three-year-old child was found, told conflicting stories today of how the child met death.

The little girl, Sherrie Ellen Kader, was the object of a statewide search after her mother reported her kidnapped last Wednesday.

But Friday night, after seven hours' questioning, the mother, Mrs. Jada Z. Kader, suddenly screamed, "I didn't do it. I didn't do it. I'll lead you to her."

She then said Sherrie had been killed when Vickie, her four-year-old sister, struck her with a concrete slab, police said. They said Mrs. Kader explained she dumped the body in the sump and made up the kidnap story because she became frightened.

Later she changed her story again.

Detective Bob McKeown said Mrs. Kader now says she thinks her Chinese stepfather, Eugene Sing, with whom the family lived, killed the child. But she appeared to be extremely hazy how the child actually died.

She said it was Sing who dumped the body into the nearby gas company's sump, McKeown said.

He quoted her as saying:

She made up the kidnap story after Sing had threatened her and her other daughter with "hatchet men," if she told the truth about Sherrie's death.

She got Vickie to believe that a gray-haired man had kidnapped Sherrie by taking Vickie outside and showing her a man getting into a car. She said she told Vickie that the man was taking Sherrie away.

Vickie had told police she pulled away from "the kidnapper" before he snatched Sherrie.

Detective Captain William Browne said questioning would continue today.

Police said they were holding Mrs. Kader, Sing, 45, and Mrs. Kader's mother, Mrs. Dorothea Sing, 44, as material witnesses.

Senator Wounds Thug In Gunfight

ALBUQUERQUE, NM, Jan. 26 (AP).—Richard M. Krannawitter, former New Mexico State Senator, shot it out with an armed holdup man outside his home in Albuquerque Friday night. Both were taken to hospital in critical condition.

District Attorney Paul A. Tackett identified the gunman as Frank L. Disena, 30, of Albuquerque.

Tackett told this story of the affair:

Disena attempted to rob Krannawitter, a prominent lawyer when the latter left his home to attend a meeting of an army reserve unit.

Krannawitter was in uniform and carried a .38 calibre revolver.

The two grappled over the gunman's weapon, an Italian-made .380 calibre Beretta, which went off four times. Badly wounded, Krannawitter pulled his own revolver and shot the gunman once.

The gunman fled across the street, got into his car and drove two blacks before he collapsed.

Lakefield Boys Whip Hastings

HASTINGS, Jan. 26—(ENS)—Hastings was defeated Friday night by Lakefield 11-7 in a TVL game here.

Edgar, in the nets for Lakefield, couldn't have been better, as he stopped shot after shot, at point-blank range, while Hill had several bad lapses in the first period in the Hastings net.

The line of Blake, Herrington and Morrow went best for Hastings, Blake scoring three. Big John Peterson teamed up with Petticrew on defence and proved a good addition to the team.

Blewett played in his old smooth style and he, Reeve and the Wasson boys stood out for Lakefield.

Hastings started the scoring in the first period, Huard from Stevenson, but Fawcett tied it up. Herrington put Hastings out in front again on a nice play from Blake and Morrow. Play was fast and even then till Eady tied it up, and then the Hastings goal-light started flashing like a patrol car blinker, and the score at the end of the first 20 minutes read Lakefield 7, Hastings 3.

The second period saw both teams score twice, while in the third period Hastings outscored their opponents 3-2. Four penalties were handed out.

Hasting—Goal, Hill; defence, Petticrew, Peterson; centre, Blake; wings, Herrington, Morrow; alternates, White, Huard, Oliver, Stevenson, Jeffs, Colby, Nicholls, Taylor.

Lakefield — Goal, Edgar; defence, Miller, Eady; centre, Fawcett; wings, Casey, Quigley; alternates, Blewett, D. Wasson, C. Wasson, Hunter, Williams, Reeves.

Galt Trounces Barrie Flyers Guelph Defeats St. Michael's

By The Canadian Press.

Galt Black Hawks and Guelph Biltmores each came through with victories Friday night to preserve their second-place deadlock in the 10-team Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race. They trail the league leading Toronto Marlboros by three full games.

Galt trounced Barrie Flyers 7-4 right in Barrie while Guelph came through with a late-game surge to thrill a home town crowd and earn a 5-2 win over Toronto St. Michael's.

The only other junior game saw Kitchener Greenshirts drub last-place Oshawa Generals 9-2 to move back into fifth place in the standings.

In OHA Senior A play, Stratford Indians regained their 13-point lead in the six-city circuit with a 6-2 win over second-place Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen. Hamilton Tigers dropped Owen Sound Mercurys 7-2 and Sarnia Sailors got an overtime 5-5 tie with Brantford Redmen in the two other senior clashes.

Miners Nearly Out

Up north North Bay Black Hawks all but eliminated Sudbury Miners from playoff contention in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race with a 7-6 overtime victory. The winning marker came with only four seconds of overtime play left.

At Guelph, Dean Prentice scored twice for the Bilts while Andy Bathgate, Ron Murphy and Aldo Guidolin notched singletons. Butch Ratchford scored both St. Michael's goals.

Bill McIntosh led the Galt rush with two goals while Tony Poeta, Jim McBurney, Bud Horne, Tom Fyles and Ken Wharram came through with the others. Two of Barrie's goals came off Ken Collins' stick and the others were banged in by Johnny Martan and Danny MacDonald.

Gary Edmundson led the Kitchener charge with three goals while Orv Tessier and Joe Ingoldsby tallied two each. Jim Farelli and Red Novak added the others. Bobby Holden and Herve Dejordy were the Oshawa scorers.

Roth Scores Two

Stratford's six goals went to Mickey Roth, with two; Billy Flick, Danny Flanagan, Bill Walsh and Jack Thaler. Don Bauer and Ed Stankiewicz tallied the Kitchener-Waterloo markers.

Ab Conick was Hamilton's big goal-getter, banging in three markers. Ralph Toohy, of Montreal Alouette fame, notched two with Frank Liscombe and Clare Shillington adding the others. Roy Leckie and Bill McComb scored for Owen Sound.

At Brantford, Bill Shill scored two for the Redmen while Joe Holota, Don Oberholtzer and Bob Hewson got the others. Goose Goselin came through with three for Sarnia with Ken Gardner and Rollie Beauchamp getting the others.

Tonight's senior schedule will see Sarnia entertaining Stratford while Hamilton plays at Owen Sound. In junior play, Marlboros are at St. Catharines, Kitchener at Waterloo, Guelph at Galt and Windsor at Oshawa.

Sunday, Windsor will meet St. Michael's and St. Catharines play Marlboros in a Maple Leaf Gardens twin bill.

Says Republicans Glad For War With China

LONDON, Jan. 26—(AP)—Bertrand Russell said Friday night the Republicans in the United States would be "glad to see a war against China."

The British philosopher told a forum of Fleet Street journalists: "There is a great deal in American newspapers which is designed to provoke war, but there is a division. They want a war in Asia, not in Europe.

"The republicans—and the bulk of their newspapers are Republican—would be quite prepared to see Europe overrun by the Russians, for they would not mind the elimination of an economic competitor, but they do not want to lose Asia as a market, and therefore they would be glad to see a war against China."

Boys "Scared Stiff" InScarborough Holdup

TORONTO Jan. 26 — (CP) — Two little boys wandered confusedly through a suburban bank Friday while their mother lay on the floor alongside other customers and employees and three bandits looted the tills of up to $15,000.

The children were the sons of Mrs. Mary Madigan who had entered a Scarborough Branch of the Bank of Toronto to make a deposit. One is five years old, the other two.

"They were frightened," said Mrs. Madigan. "They didn't know exactly what was happening, but they were scared stiff. I just lay there hoping nothing would happen to them."

She said the gunmen seemed to ignore the children after first forcing them to lie on the floor with others in the bank. C. W. Keldie, an accountant, did not move quickly enough when ordered to lie down. One of the gunmen cursed and kicked him in the back before the robbers fled.

US Transports Dock After Sea Collision

HALIFAX, Jan. 26 (CP).—The United States transports Vermilion and Mellette tied up at Halifax dockyard today for inspection of damage suffered during a collision Thursday in the northwest Atlantic.

The vessels were part of a 35-ship force holding cold weather exercises off Labrador.

The Vermilion is believed to have damaged her rudder. She reported steerage difficulty and was escorted into the harbor by two tugs.

Psychopaths Recaptured

CONTOOCOOK, NH, Jan. 26 — (AP).—Two sex psychopaths who escaped from the New Hampshire State Hospital for the Insane Friday night were recaptured within an hour by state police, walking down main street, 10 miles from the hospital in Concord.

Guild Appeal Listed For February Hearing

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP) — Appeal by the American Newspaper Guild (CIO-CCL) against a lower court dismissal of five charges it brought against The Canadian Press has been listed for hearing Feb. 25 in York county court.

The charges, laid after a long collective bargaining dispute between the union and the national news-gathering agency, were dismissed last Nov. 9 by Magistrate Thomas Elmore at the conclusion of a three-day hearing. No witnesses were required to be called by the defence.

The main charge was that the CP failed to make "every reasonable effort" to negotiate a collective agreement. The other four related to alleged interference with the formation of a Guild unit. Similar charges against Press News Limited, CP's radio-news subsidiary, were withdrawn by the Guild.

Photographer Shoots First Pictures In Year

TOKYO, Jan. 26—(AP)—Fourteen months after being captured by the Chinese in North Korea, Associated Press photographer Frank Noel got a camera in his hand and went back to taking pictures.

The 1942 Pulitizer prize-winner is still held by the Communists. But his first pictures, taken inside enemy prison camps, came through to Tokyo today.

The pictures had to pass both Chinese Communist censors at Pyongyang and United States Army censors in Tokyo.

Communist correspondents told the AP's Robert Tuckman that Chinese censors withheld several photos.

Noel was captured Nov. 29, 1950.

Sails For Venezuela

ROSENEATH, Jan. 26 (ENS).—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cole, nee Betty Atkinson, Roseneath, sailed from New York on Thursday for Venezuela, South America. They will serve as missionaries sent out by the Fellowship Baptist Church, Cobourg, and the People's Church, Toronto.

Mrs. Cole is a daughter of Mr. Warren Atkinson and the late Mrs. Atkinson, Roseneath.

Some Questions Now Asked Before Building a Home

QUESTION: Apart from the unpleasing appearance of efflorescence on a brick wall, can this cause any actual harm to the wall?

ANSWER: Most serious aspect of efflorescence is that except in temporary cases with new buildings when an excess of water was used during construction, continued efflorescence is a symptom of moisture penetration into the wall. Wet walls result in decreased insulation value of the wall and in damp interiors, and may eventually lead to damage to the wall. Excessive moisture penetration must be prevented, and if this is achieved, then at the same time the possibility of efflorescence occuring will have been almost completely eliminated.

Colouring for Concrete Terrace

QUESTION: We are planning to build a coloured concrete terrace and would appreciate your advice regarding the colouring materials. Could you tell us if there is any appreciable benefit from using manufactured pigments over natural oxides?

ANSWER: Ordinarily, for dull colours, natural mineral pigments (natural oxides direct from the mines) cost less per pound than manufactured pigments and may be used where only dull colours are satisfactory. However, where brighter colours are desired, manufactured pigments produce much the best results. To get a given amount of colour, much more of the natural pigment is required than the manufactured pigment. It frequently happens that the smaller amount of higher-priced, manufactured pigment produces the desired results at a lower cost than the cheaper natural pigment.

QUESTION: What can be done to reduce excessive condensation in the bathroom caused by running bath water or shower?

ANSWER: First, make sure the walls are protected with vapour resisting surface such as oil paint, linoleum, tile, etc. Install mixing faucets for hot and cold water—and at all times avoid running excessively hot water. You could also install a ventilator to bring in outside air—cold drafts from ventilators can be avoided by careful installation.

Planning To Reduce Cleaning Tasks

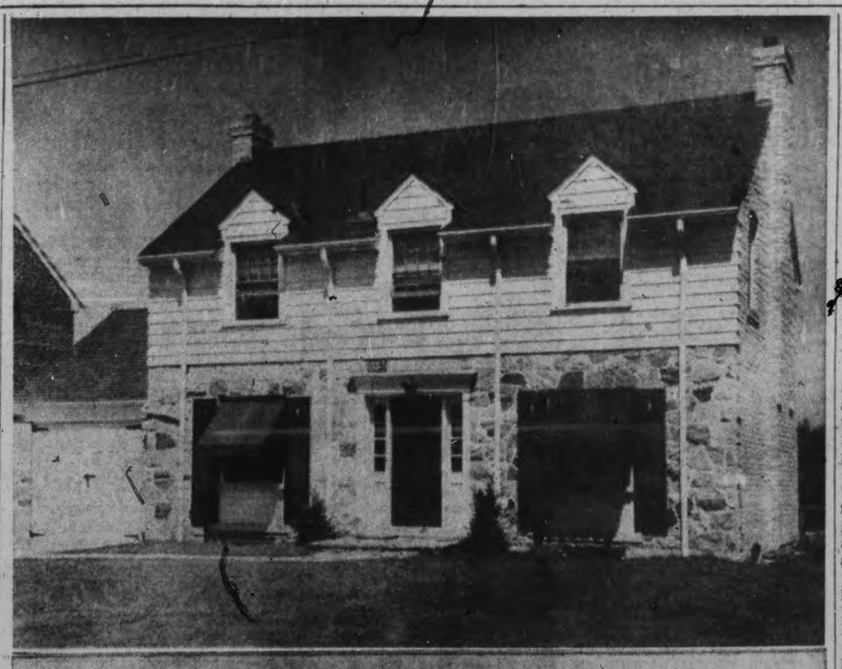
QUESTION: We are planning to build next spring and as a housewife I find myself particularly interested in planning features that will help reduce cleaning tasks. Would appreciate any pointers you could give me on this subject.

ANSWER: Modern homes still need dusting and cleaning—but thanks to today's builders and decorators, not as much as their predecessors of a generation ago, of two ways: (1) air-borne sound, and (2) through portions of the structure (conducted sound). Air-borne noises travel through

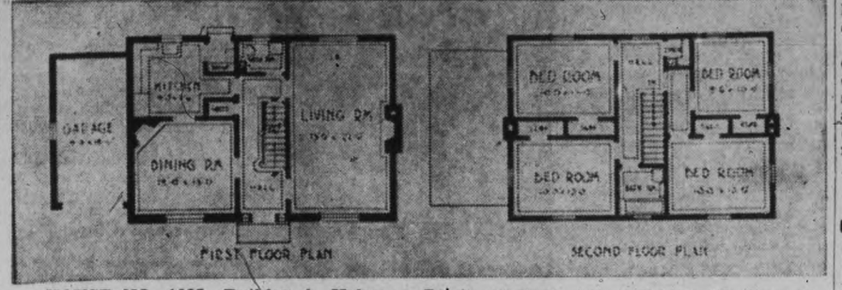
Here are nine effective means of dust and dirt control: ⇒

1. A short entrance hall, serving as a buffer between the outdoors and the interior of the house, greatly reduces the amount of dirt brought into the living areas. 2. A bathroom or lavatory on the first floor saves children's tracking through the house and upstairs. Finishing the walls and floor of the bathroom with material such as clay tile makes it waterproof and easily cleaned. 3. Good insulation reduces dust infiltration and so cuts down cleaning chores. 4. Windowsills can be made easily cleaned and waterproof by finishing them with clay tile. A tiled windowsill makes an ideal spot for an indoor garden, since tile is not affected by the "sweating" of flower pots. 5. Furniture of simple design with plain surfaces and rounded corners is easy to dust and keeps polishing to a minimum. Light woods are easier to care for than dark. 6. Light colours do not show dirt as quickly as very dark ones, and are therefore preferable for rugs and fabrics. Terra cottas, taupes, grays and sand shades are on this account good colours. 7. Gloss or semi-gloss paints collect less dust and thus make thorough housecleaning easier. 8. Porches finished with a waterproof material can be washed down with a hose. 9. A ventilating fan in the kitchen not only removes cooking odors but also dust which would otherwise accumulate on the walls.

How To Reduce Bathroom Condensation



QUESTION: Could you give us some suggestions as to means of sound control for the bathroom?



ANSWER: Undesirable noises are generally transmitted in one cracks, around doors, or through such easily overlooked spaces as access panels, laundry chutes, or ventilators. This type of sound can be reduced by applying acoustical material on the walls and ceilings near the source of the sound.

Noise can be isolated by the use of closets on walls between the bathroom and adjacent rooms or halls. A closet with its double wall plus clothes on hangers is approximately equal to a 4" double cord tile and plaster partition as a means of controlling the travel of sound. Heavy, tight fitting doors help in this. For a wall containing plumbing pipes, build a double wall—that is, a frame wall with two sets of wall studs independent of each other, and separated by a sheet of insulation board or by blanket insulation. Be sure that there is no brace, tie or anchor connecting the two walls.

ANOINTED GUESTS

In ancient Egypt it was the custom to anoint the heads of guests as they entered the house where they were being entertained.

HOUSE NO. 1025—Builder A. Holmes erected this fine home strictly in the Canadian manner. In the plans specially prepared here there are seven rooms. The living room is unusually large and attractive, as is the dining room with its fireplace and large window. Of interest too, is the first floor washroom at the end of the hall. Don't overlook the efficient "L-shaped" kitchen, or the fact that closet space has not been minimized. Using the suggested plan there are four small bedrooms upstairs, as well as the bathroom. All four bedrooms have cross ventilation. For working drawings write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Films On Telephone Shown In Coldsprings

COLDSPRINGS, Jan. 26 (ENS)—An open meeting of the Coldsprings Women's Institute was held Wednesday night in the township hall. Ross Van Dusen, manager of the Bell Telephone, Cobourg area, showed sound movie films relating to the telephone.

The three films shown were: "Alexander Graham Bell, Inventor," "The Telephone Hour" and a travel film in color, "Kootenay West."

Mr. Van Dusen was introduced by WI president Mrs. Keith Harper, who also announced the program: piano solo by Marlene Turk and Viva Minifie; vocal solo by Mrs. Albert Willis, accompanied by Bill Little; reading by Mrs. W. McMann, "The man who had all the diseases that was;" piano duet by Warren Buttars and Bill Little.

Mrs. Melville Dines, moved a vote of thanks to all those taking part in the program.

Mrs. Kenneth Grieve was convener in charge of the program. A silver collection was taken, about $14 being realized.

For Parents Only

Why Do Some Parents Dread Planning A Party?

By NANCY CLEAVER.

"Living through your own child's party is like a nightmare!" a mother said with conviction. "I dread my son's party celebration for weeks beforehand, and I am a wreck when it is over!"

Do you feel this way about your child's party? Why is it such a difficult experience? Is it your own youngster's state of feverish excitement? Perhaps the preparations for the party weary you? Or is it the noise and confusion of other people's children under your roof for even a short time for fun and food?

Careful planning for any party, but very especially for a child's party, can eliminate some of the headaches. Here is one venture which cannot be left to chance or to last-minute ideas. On the other hand, the mother in charge of a party must be flexible enough to alter her scheme of things on short notice. The important thing is that every child should have a happy time—not that a schedule of party events be carried out.

Parties for varying ages are very different. The fewer guests, the better in the early years! On his first birthday, a child is only confused by the presence of a number of other babies or tiny tots. Better make it a "Family Affair" with granny or aunty as special guests.

On the second or third birthday, invite one of two other good friends who have a young child too. Around the time a child is four, he graduates from enjoying parallel play beside another child, to co-operative play when he plays with his friend. He will appreciate having half a dozen little chums at his home for his party. But even when his is five or six, keep the number of guests to a small group.

School age children like to have a bigger party but there again the mother should limit the number invited. Having the games out of doors is a grand idea and does save on the wear and tear in the house. But what if it should rain? Mother must figure out how many she has room for in her home. She also must consider how many she can supervise at one time.

A parent should not attempt to "run" a party all by herself. She needs another person, preferably not a mother to be "second-in-command." Dad is usually away at work, but sometimes he can get home in time to help with the refreshments and farefell time. However, an acquaintance who is fond of children can be a great help— and also get a real "bang" out of proceedings. A girl in collegiate, who is a favorite evening baby sitter in your home, is a real find as a party assistant.

Sometimes an able, forceful mother forgets to give her child a vital part in planning the party. After all, it is his party, not mother's! The child will get a much bigger "kick" out of a party where he has shared both in the planning and the preparations.

Discuss with the child how many guests should be invited, and give him as free a hand as possible in selecting them. If he is old enough, let him write or phone the invitations— and do let your guests (or guest's mothers) know when the party begins and how long it lasts.

Naturally, a child wants to ask his own particular friends, to come to his home on his special day. Perhaps he has a chum from "the other side of the tracks" or one of different social background, or race or religion. These things don't loom large in a child's eyes. Snobbish distinctions should have no place in a family which has ideals about training children for democratic living.

A PARTY FOR YOUR CHILD is often considered a trying experience, but careful planning can eliminate some of the headaches. Parties for varying ages are different. On their second or third birthday like these two young Misses ABOVE one or two good friends who had a child of their own age are sufficient number of guests.

Commission Sees Paganism In Welfare State

LONDON, Jan. 26. (Reuters)—A Church of England commission today asked whether Britain's welfare state in the future will be mainly Christian or pagan, since former church duties such as caring for the sick and providing education now are provided by the government.

"For good or evil, all such state-organized work has subtle and far-reaching repercussions on the minds of those concerned with it," said a report from the commission on church and state.

It said no one knows yet whether the "temper and cast of mind" of those connected with government medical, school and air services "will be predominantly Christian or pagan."

Even today the Christian faith has been crowded out of many lives, the report claimed. "For a large part of our people the Christian faith, without being expressly rejected has been tacitly discarded."

To combat a steady decline in church-going, it urged that the church, subject to government safeguards, be allowed to break away from some parts of its ancient book of common prayer and revise certain forms of worship.

Young Marimbist, Choirs Please Audience At Church

A guest artist playing a novel instrument, talented local artists and the church choir presented an enjoyable and well received concert in George St. United Church Friday night.

Muriel Kilby, nationally known marimbist delighted her audience with her dexterous playing of this rarely heard instrument. Usually associated with modern music and the dance band, the marimba showed itself equal to more serious music under the nimble hands of this young artist.

Miss Kilby is to be congratulated for choosing a program that demonstrated the range of music that could be played on this instrument. The gay fresh crispness of the marimba tone as shown in the Hejre Kati by Hubay contrasted nicely with the poignant and rich organ-like tone brought out in Schumann's beautiful Traumerei. And back again to the quaint entrancing melody and rythm of Tambourin Chinois by Kreisler.

Equally enjoyable was the artists first group of selections, which included Rondo from Symphonie Espagnole by Lalo, Berceuse from Jocelyn by Godard and Burleska by Suk.

Back For Encores

Not content to let Miss Kilby retire following her listed program the audience brought her back twice to play Annie Laurie, and Marcia Alla Turca by Mozart.

Although Miss Kilby is noted for her marimba playing, she explained during intermission that the piano is her chosen instrument. She is at present a scholarship student of this instrument at the Julliard School of Music in New York.

George St. Church choir under the direction of Charles E. Allen pleased the audience with their usual competent ensemble singing.

A buoyancy and roundness of tone was present throughout all their numbers. If any criticism is to be mentioned it would be for the tendency of the sopranos to become a little prominent in some of the selections. Strict observance of time was also somewhat lacking on one or two occasions.

Good Selection

Here again there was a nice variety in choice of selection. Starting with excerpts from Mendelssohn's oratorio, Elijah, which included enjoyable solo performances by Robert Aspinall, baritone; Mrs. Chester Carson, contralto; and Mrs. James Goldie, soprano, the group entertained next with the unique beauty of Robertson's Nightfall in Skye—a song without words. The rollicking rythm and buoyancy of The Sleigh by Kountz Manney was followed by the full-bodied effects of Bueno's Nightfall in Granada.

Double Trio

Special mention should be made of the well-blended singing of the ladies' double trio. The ladies, Mrs. James Goldie, Mrs. S. Mitchell, Mrs. C. B. McKenzie, Mrs. C. Carsons, Mrs. S. Saunders, Mrs. A. R. Bennett gave a splendid example of musical and balanced group singing in the selections, O Lovely Night and Sunbeams, by Roland.

Young bass soloist J. Walter Dawson of Otonabee township was enthusiastically received for his renditions of the two rollicking sea songs, Sea Fever by Ireland and Nancy Lee by Adams.

The intermediate and junior choirs were competent in their presentation of unison and part singing in a special vocal arrangement of The Lord is My Shepherd.

Mrs. Ross Allen and Mr. Allen gave an effective piano and organ arrangement of Rachmaninoff's Prelude in G Minor. And Capt. Douglas Sharp of the Salvation Army ably rounded out the instrumental part of the organ by his trumpet playing in the choir's presentation Let the Bright Seraphim from Handel's Samson.

Cabbie At Death's Door

OTTAWA, Jan. 26 — (CP) — Harry Brading, 59-year-old Brampton taxi operator, underwent an emergency operation in an Ottawa hospital Friday in an attempt to save his life. Doctors give him little chance to live. Police say Brading was brutally beaten on a Brampton street last week. His 26-year-old wife, Eileen, and James Hutchinson, of Brampton, an employee of Brading's taxi firm, have been arrested and are at liberty on bail in Brampton as material witnesses in the case.

Effective Feb. 18

TORONTO, Jan. 26 — (CP) — Premier Frost said Friday that Louis O. Breithaupt, of Kitchener, likely will be sworn in as Ontario Lieutenant-Governor Feb. 18, the day his appointment becomes effective. The new Lieutenant-Governor's first official duty will probably be the opening Feb. 21 of the first session of Ontario's 24th legislature.

New Evidence

MONTREAL, Jan. 26—(CP)—City police director J. Albert Langlois said Friday the Missing Persons Bureau had uncovered evidence "which may possibly help" in locating Lieut. Elizabeth Sansom, missing Kingston army nurse, and Mrs. Hugette Lemay, who disappeared in Florida Jan. 4. But how far the investigations have progressed "concerns the bureau itself," Director Langlois said.

US Index Boosted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26 (AP)—Rising food prices boosted the US government's living cost index to a new high Friday. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported the index went up three-tenths of one per cent between mid-November and mid-December.

No Segregation

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 26 — (CP) — Sixty plainclothesmen were included in a non-segregated audience of 2,000 which heard Marian Anderson sing here last night. It was the first concert ever held in Miami to which both Negroes and whites were admitted. The noted Negro contralto has a clause in her contract specifying that she will not sing before segregated audiences.

Braithwaite Heads Telephone Co.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 26 (ENS)—Earl Braithwaite was re-elected president of the Alnwick Rural Telephone Co. at their annual meeting held Wednesday in the township hall. Other officers re-elected were: manager, Herbert J. McCracken; secretary-treasurer, Rupert B. Nichol; directors, Dawson Timlin, Leo Timlin; auditors, C. W. Varcoe, Andrew Brown.

The annual financial statement presented by the sec.-treasurer Rupert Nichol showed total receipts $8,025.64, with a balance on hand of $378.61. The auditors, C. W. Varcoe and Andrew Brown confirmed this report.

Given Three Years

ROCKLAND, Ont., Jan. 26 (CP) — Stanley Stevens, 51-year-old camp cook, Friday was found guilty of stabbing a 24-year-old truck driver with an 18-inch butcher knife and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. Magistrate Labrosse, in passing judgment, said it was extremely fortunate that Stevens was not guilty of murder.

Canada-US Agree To Co-operate On Applications

OTTAWA, Jan. 28. (CP)—Canada and the United States have agreed to co-operate in preparing applications to the international joint commission for approval of plans to develop power in the St. Lawrence River. This was disclosed today with the publication of an exchange of notes Jan. 11 between the two governments.

The United States government agreed to a request by the Canadian government that the appropriate officials of the two countries open a series of meetings to discuss the steps to be taken in proceeding with a reference to the joint commission.

This will open the way for the construction of power facilities on the St. Lawrence by the province of Ontario and an appropriate US authority and will also further the plans for the development of an all-Canadian seaway.

May Have Started

It could not be determined immediately whether the meetings already have started, though the notes indicated they would get under way sometime this month.

The International Joint Commission is the body to which the two governments refer boundary and other such problems. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton is the Canadian chairman and Hon. A. O. Stanley the American chairman.

The Canadian note, sent to State Secretary Dean Acheson by Canadian Ambassador Hume Wrong, said:

"The Canadian government is prepared to proceed with the construction of the seaway as soon as appropriate arrangements can be made for the construction of the power phase of the St. Lawrence project as well."

Mr. Wrong said, however, the preparation of applications to the commission will " in no way" prejudice the possibility of proceeding with the over-all project on a joint basis should Congress approve a Canada-US construction.

"On the other hand, it is desirable to seek the approval of the International Joint Commission as soon as practicable in order to avoid any further delay in the event that the Congress does not approve the 1941 agreement early in the present session."

Mr. Acheson replied that the US government noted "with satisfaction" that the Canadian parliament at its last session adopted bills providing for development of the power phases and establishing a St. Lawrence Seaway authority to construct the waterway either with US co-operation or as a solely-Canadian undertaking.

Warn Aggression In Asia Bring UN Action

PARIS, Jan. 28—(AP)—The United States, Britain and France today formally announced that they would demand United Nations' action in the event of Chinese Communist or Russian aggression in southeast Asia.

John Sherman Cooper of the United States said such aggression would be a matter for "most urgent and earnest consideration by the United Nations." Selwyn Lloyd of Britain immediately declared that his government associated itself with this "important statement".

Francis Lacoste of France said his country would demand immediate and effective intervention from the UN if the Chinese Reds moved against Indo-China.

The three western spokesmen made their declarations in the UN Political Committee during a debate on the question of condemning Russia for allegedly violating her 1945 treaty with Nationalist China.

Cooper called the commitee's attention to implied threats against southeast Asia made earlier at this assembly session by Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky of Russia.

Cooper said he had been instructed by the US Government to "state clearly that any such Communist aggression in southeast Asia would in the view of my government be a matter of direct and grave concern which would require the most urgent and earnest consideration by the United Nations".

All Concerned

The American spokesman said he was "sure that all of the peace-loving states represented here must share the concern of my government over the threat of further Communist aggression in Asia which may be latent in the Soviet representative's statement of Jan. 3."

Invite Adenauer Visit Canada

HANNOVER, Germany, Jan. 28 —(AP). — Finance Minister Abbottof Canada said today hei nvited West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to visit Canada.

Abbott and Justice Minister Garson concluded a four-day visit to West Germany today with an inspection of the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade.

Earlier the ministers stopped over in Bonn where they met the West German Chancellor.

"I said to the Chancellor: 'After you have seen England it is high time you come to Canada,'" Abbott told reporters. Asked whether this was a formal invitation he added: "If the Chancellor considers it a formal invitation, it is one."

Abbott stressed that the entire expenses of the Canadian Brigade would be paid by Canadian government and would not cost German taxpayers a cent.

Bewdley Man Killed In Car Crash

Hitch-Hiking Home As Truck, Car Meet In Collision

A Bewdley trucker was killed early Sunday when a car in which he was riding crashed into a milk truck, three miles east of Newtonville on Highway 2.

Dead is 47-year-old George Oulds, father of four young children.

Seriously injured and in Bowmanville hospital is the driver of the car, Donald J. Smith, 20, of Cooksville. Smith has a broken arm, broken leg, and possible concussion. His condition is serious.

The accident happened Sunday morning on Roseberry hill when the drivers became confused after the five-ton stake-body truck swung over onto the wrong side of the highway.

Meet Headon

When the westbound milk truck, driven by James Holtby, 41, RR 3, Bowmanville, crossed the centre line of the road, Smith swerved to the left and the two vehicles finally met headon in the north lane of traffic.

Oulds was killed almost instantly and Smith was taken by ambulance to Bowmanville hospital.

Holtby is suffering from severe shock and he has body bruises and a cut on his upper lip.

Both the milk truck and the car were wrecked.

Oulds was a hitch-hiker in Smith's car. He was employed with Charlton Transport Ltd., Oshawa, and had been in the trucking business for 23 years. When fatally injured he was travelling back to his home, south of Bewdley in Hamilton township a few hours after driving a car-transport from Sudbury to Oshawa.

OPP Constable Lorne Galbraith, Bowmanville, investigated the accident.

Left are Mr. Oulds' wife and four young children—Burnie 7, Darlene 5, Danny 4 and Wayne 18 months. Danny is ill in the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and celebrated his birthday Sunday.

The Oulds have lived in Hamilton township for about four years. Mr. Oulds came from Chatham originally.

Funeral details have not yet been arranged.

Brampton Cabbie Dies From Beating

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 — (CP) — Harry Brading, 59-year-old Brampton taxi operator, died in an Ottawa hospital early Sunday from injuries police say were inflicted in a brutal beating on a Brampton street a week ago.

Brampton police have since arrested Brading's wife, Eileen, and James Hutchinson, of Brampton, an employee of Brading's taxi firm, as material witnesses. They have been released on bail.

In Bhampton, Crown Attorney A. G. Davis said Sunday night:

"I will confer with Police Chief Keates of Brampton first thing Monday morning and one of two charges, either murder or manslaughter, will be laid against Hutchinson."

Asks Authorization

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP) —President Truman asked Congress again today to authorize the St. Lawrence seaway and power project but Senator Tom Connally, a key lawmaker in the situation, gave the request a cold reception.

No Troops Unless Join NATO—Germany

Surprise Membership Demand Comes As Shock To Western Delegates

PARIS, Jan. 28—(AP)—The West Germans say they will not furnish troops for Western defence unless they are allowed in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Their surprise demand for NATO membership, made Sunday night at a meeting of West European foreign ministers, interrupted the six-country talks on a unified European army.

The snag came as the European diplomatic chiefs announced agreement on broad outlines and fundamental principles of a one-uniform army to function within the North Atlantic set-up.

The West German delegate, State Secretary Walter Hallstein, insisted Germany should either be brought into NATO immediately or be given a pledge of membership later.

His demand, brought up during discussions of the proposed European army's relationship with NATO, rocked the foreign ministers from France, Italy, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. They shelved the demand temporarily, pending study of the German bid by their home governments.

The ministers had hoped to finish a draft treaty for the European army at this meeting. Now they face another conference some time before Feb. 18, when the NATO Council opens its sessions in Lisbon.

The German problem was lumped with other matters still unsettled, including the duration of the army treaty and supervision of the army's common budget.

At this meeting Belgium won out on her insistence that each member should have a veto in the unified army set-up to protect its sovereignty. All major policy decisions now must get the unanimous approval of the organization's six-man council of ministers. The limitation takes away virtually all of the army's supra-national character.

The proposal to bring the Germans in is certain to arouse strong opposition in France, which fears a revival of German militarism.

Thousands Flee As Ohio River Begins Flooding

MARIETTA, O., Jan. 28 (AP). —Thousands of persons in Ohio and West Virginia moved to higher ground today as floods caused by heavy rainfall sent the Ohio River and other streams out of their banks.

At least three persons were dead or missing.

The high water also hit portions of western Pennsylvania and northern Kentucky.

The turbulent Ohio struck hardest at Wheeling Island, a section of the city of Wheeling, W. Va. Partial evacuation of the island's 10,000 population was underway.

Most of the island's streets were impassable early today. If the river continues to rise as expected the entire island will be covered.

At Powhatan Point, O., 15 miles south of Wheeling, the tow boat Chief Powhatan broke its moorings on the Ohio site, hit a pier at a railway bridge and sank. No one was aboard.

Only Beginning

The mass evacuation of Ohio River residents is only the beginning if the river's rise continues. It was expected to hit 12 feet above flood stage in at least a dozen Ohio and West Virginia communities. Many of them were isolated when high water covered nearby highways.

Governor Frank J. Lausche has ordered National Guard units to stand by.

All along the Ohio River residents awaited word from Pittsburgh on what to expect. At Pittsburgh, where the Allegheny and Monongahela Rivers merge to form the Ohio, the Ohio crested at 29.7 feet early today—five feet above flood stage.

3 Children Die In Flames As Father, Neighbors Make Frantic Rescue Efforts

FRUITLAND, Ont., Jan. 28. (CP) — Sixteen-year-old Donald Sykes shouted to his father that he wasn't getting out "until I get the kids out." Then he died in the fire which early Sunday swept through his parents' Saltfleet township home. A brother, 11-year-old Leonard, and sister Arlene, 15, also died. Donald's father, Russell Sykes, told today how he tried to fight through the flames to rescue the three children. Heat drove him back, forcing him to escape through a window after rescuing the younger daughter, Caroline, three.

Mr. Sykes heard Donald cry from upstairs: "This house is on fire." He shouted back: "Break the back window and get out."

It was then Donald called that he wasn't getting out "until I get the kids out," meaning his brother and sister. His body was found at the head of the stairs. Leonard and Marlene are believed to have died in their beds.

Mr. Sykes, 45-year-old cement contractor, said it was about four o'clock when he awoke. The room was terribly hot and he smelled smoke.

He helped his wife through a window, then handed Caroline out to her. He tried to run up the stairs but was driven back by smoke and fire. He jumped out the window and awakened his next-door neighbor, Jerry Watson. Then he climbed to a garage roof and tried vainly to reach an upstairs window from there.

Couldn't Enter

Peter Taderson and Harry Clark, who arrived next, also tried to get into the house but were unable to do so. They restrained the frantic father from dashing back into the flames.

Meanwhile the Saltfleet township volunteer fire department, summoned by Mrs. Watson arrived after a dash over icy roads. The

Lord Alexander Winds Up Affairs

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP).—Lord Alexander, no longer Canada's Governor-General and no longer a Viscount, today attacked a pile of letters from friends thanking him for work he did during the last six years.

His term expired at midnight Sunday night. Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret was sworn in as administrator early today to do the duties of Governor-General pending the swearing in of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey.

Lord Alexander—he will still be addressed as Lord even though he has been elevated to an Earldom by the King—is planning a farewell CBC broadcast to Canadians before he leaves Ottawa Feb. 15. He sails from Halifax Feb. 17.

Announcement of his appointment as Britain's Defence Minister is expectly shortly, possibly today.

Government House officials said the Alexanders will spend the next two weeks cleaning up their affairs.

More than 20 official engagements, running all the way up to Torontos King's Plate horse race in May, have been cancelled.

There are, however, a few functions the Alexanders will attend, including the state dinner traditionally given by the government to a retiring Governor-General.

New Government Receives Unanimous Support Of Parliamentary Bodies

UK Staff Chiefs Hold Emergency Session As Situation Critical; New Premier Promises Continue Policy

CAIRO, Jan. 28. (CP)—The Chamber of Deputies tonight approved maintenance of martial law in all Egypt for a period of two months. Martial law was imposed Saturday after rioters ran wild in Cairo, burning and looting buildings and causing the deaths of more than 60 persons, many of them foreigners. Today's decision was made shortly after the new independent government of Aly Maher Pasha, won a unanimous vote of confidence in both houses of parliament.

Egypt's new "strong man" Premier, given the helm of government by King Farouk in the wake of wild anti-western rioting said he won support of four political parties, including the powerful Wafd.

The Wafdist government, headed by Mustapha Nahas Pasha, was ousted Sunday night.

The new government was sworn into office in a shift viewed by some observers as a step which might ease the bloody dispute between Britain and Egypt.

Support With Strings

In the Senate, Fouad Serag El Din, secretary-general of the Wafdist party which governed Egypt since 1950, said his party would support the new government " as long as it follows a national policy laid down by the whole nation."

The new Premier already had pledged himself, in a radio address, to fulfill the "Independent unity of the Nile Valley and maintain stability and peace." This indicated he stands, like the Wafd, for getting the British out of the Suez Canal zone and the Sudan.

Maher Pasha said that in talks Sunday and today he not only won over the dominant Wafd, which has 80 per cent of the seats in the lower house, but also gained a "spirit of co-operation" from the Saddist and Liberal parties and the Nationalists.

Today's Egyptian press said police closed the headquarters of the Socialist party. Ahmed Hussein, nominal leader of the Socialists, is under arrest. Some sources said the former Premier, Nahas Pasha, was convinced that Socialist leaders were behind Saturday's rioting, backed by money which "must have come from some foreign legations." The former Premier is said to have described the riots as a "well-organized plan which got out of hand."

Fire Raging Uncontrolled In Sudbury Hotel

SUDBURY, Jan. 28 (CP)—Fire early today broke out in the three-storey Ledo Hotel and more than three hours later firemen in 12-below-zero weather were still battling to bring it under control.

The 30 guests in the newly-remodelled building, formerly the Sudbury Hotel, escaped without serious injuries.

Some fled down stairways to the lobby and street and others lowered themselves from second and third-storey windows by escape ropes.

The fire, of unknown origin, started about 8 a.m. on the third floor.

The building was valued at $150,000. Firemen said it would be a total loss before they could bring the blaze under control.

Power Cut Off

Power to a large part of the city was cut off for 64 minutes. The switches were pulled at the request of the fire chief to prevent possible electrocution of firefighters working near high tension wires adjacent to the building.

William Poisson of Sturgeon Falls lowered himself from his third-floor room by a rope which only reached as far as the second floor. He hung on to the rope for about 15 minutes in the bitter cold until firemen rescued him with a ladder.

He had been awakened by a crackling sound which seemed to be coming from the next room. He opened his door and was driven back by a wall of flame. He threw a suitcase out of his window and decided to lower himself with the escape rope in his room.

Two Russians Reach Halifax

HALIFAX, Jan. 28 (CP).—Two Russian diplomats, believed en route to the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa arrived here today aboard the liner Empress of Scotland.

They are Anatoli Cousanov, 30, accompanied by his wife and four-year-old child, Sirene, and Nicolai Chiriaveva, 43, travelling with his wife and daughter. Neither speaks English.

The Empress, making her first call here in some years to disembark 383 passengers, is en route to New York.

In Ottawa, a spokesman at the Russian Embassy said the newcomers are not "diplomats." They are "just clerks."

Brave Souls!

MONTREAL, Jan. 28. (CP) —Members of the Polar Bear Club at nearby Dorval Que., flirted with pneumonia or worse on Sunday when they took their annual dip in Lake St. Louis through holes in the ice. Men and women stewed for 20 minutes in a steam bath at about 180 degrees, dunked themselves in the lake, rolled in the snow and staged snowball fights clad only in bathing suits. The temperature was a warm 30 degrees.

Investigate Poor Showing

College Failures Alarming U Of T President Reveals

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP). — The failure rate of some freshmen at the University of Toronto is alarming, Dr. Sidney Smith, university president, says in his annual report.

Results of examinations throughout the whole university, he notes, were not a matter for self-congratulation.

Dr. Smith said the poor results were despite the fact university entrance requirements were stiffened in 1950. He asked whether the criteria for admission should include something more than examination records.

"We must ask whether many of these candidates who failed should have been admitted to certain courses, or whether the instruction has been adequate, or the examination papers too difficult, or the grading too severe, or whether sufficient care has been taken to assist high school students in forming habits of study necessary for success in university work. . . ."

An investigation in one faculty will be started soon to find the answers, Dr. Smith said.

First-year engineering had one of the largest failure groups. Of 410 students enrolled, 147 either withdrew or failed the examinations, a loss of 36 per cent.

The results of a test in spelling, punctuation, vocabulary and expression, Dr. Smith reported, showed 65 per cent. of the 650 students who wrote the test failed. The test was given only to those students who take English, not compulsory in most courses.

Dr. Smith said no move was made in the last year by the Law Society of Upper Canada to grant full recognition to the university's law school.

Dr. Smith also recommended establishment of junior colleges and technical institutes throughout Ontario as an aid and auxiliary to universities.

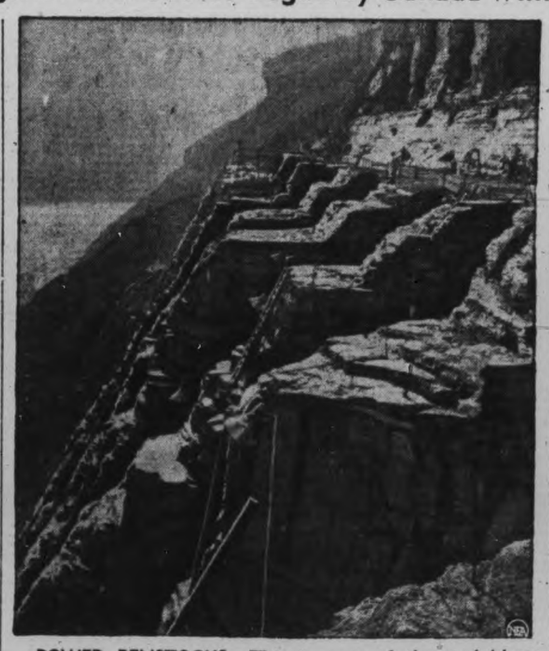
Build 5½-Mile Tunnel Under Niagara

World's Second Largest Power Source Begun By Canada While U.S. Arguing

By JAMES MONTAGNES

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. — (NEA)—Deep under the honeymoon city of Niagara Falls, workmen are blasting through rock and sand to build a tunnel that will be as high as a four-story building.

The tunnel will bring water from above Niagara Falls to a point far below on the Niagara River, and by 1953 it is expected to add 700,000 more horsepower of electricity for the kilowatt-hungry industries of southern Ontario.



The project on the Canadian side of the border is going ahead under a US-Canadian agreement to expand power facilities at the Falls. Development on the US side is still in the argument stage among federal and state power authorities and private power companies.

Ontario's $182,000,000 project, which includes new generating stations being built into the solid rock wall of the river, required an entire new townside for the 5,000 men on the job. Many of these are hard-rock miners brought down from the gold mines of northern Ontario for the tough blasting job.

Will Take Water

The development will take water as it rushes toward the brink of the Falls and drop it through a 45-foot-diameter tunnel to 250 feet below the river surface. Then, for 5½ miles, the water will run gradually uphill again to an open canal which will carry it two miles to the seven penstocks of the new generating station.

The new 700,000 horsepower will be added to the 525,000 horsepower already generated on the Canadian side of the Falls.

POWER PENSTOCKS—This is part of the rock-blasting being done on the shore of the Niagara River (seen faintly at left) for the seven penstocks that will bring water from Niagara Falls to a new generating station to create 700,000 horsepower.

Under the International treaty the scenic value of the famous Falls will not be harmed. The flow of the water over the Falls will be tapped in greatest quantity in the Fall and Winter months when tourist activity is at a minimum and when power needs are highest.

The tunneling job under the city of 40,000 people is being done from five shafts sunk from the surface at an angle. These shafts are about 50 feet in diameter and are being built off-center so they can be used later for building a second tunnel for the final power development on the Canadian side in about 1960.

Major Factor

The vast industrial development in southern Ontario since the end of the war has been a major factor in the need of more power. There are many new factories in the area immediately north of Lakes Erie and Ontario today, and more factories for defence industries are now being built by US, Canadian, British and European capital.

The population has been increased by about half by the 500,000 immigrants who have come to Canada since 1945. For the Niagara Falls power development alone, Ontario has imported over a thousand skilled workmen from Great Britain, as well as unskilled labor from western Europe.

When completed in another 10 years, the Canadian side of Niagara Falls alone will be the second largest power development in the world, next to Grand Coulee Washington. With the power to be developed on the American side of the Falls, Niagara will be the biggest power source anywhere.

Visits Marlborough House

New Governor-General Has Tea With Queen Mary

LONDON, Jan. 28 — (CP) — Canada's governor-general-designate, Vincent Massey, visited Marlborough House today and had tea with Queen Mary.

Earlier, the first Canadian appointed as governor-general called on high commissioner Dana Wilgress and discussed plans for Massey's return to Canada early in February.

For the next few days, a Canadian spokesman said, Massey will be hard at work on personal correspondence—stacks of cables and letters received since his appointment was announced last week.

Massey's meeting with Wilgress was in Canada House, the Dominion's nerve centre in London. The massive grey-stone building, overlooking Trafalgar Square, also was Massey's headquarters when he was high commissioner from 1936 to 1946.

It was understood that the talks concerned arrangement for the governor-general-designate's departure for Canada early in February. Massey will go first to his home at Port Hope, before proceeding to Ottawa.

Buckingham Palace last Friday announced that Massey will replace Viscount Alexander as the King's representative in Canada.

Massey had an audience with the King at Sandringham Friday and spent the weekend privately.

Canadian sources here say precedent bars Massey from giving interviews or statements while he is still a private citizen.

Canadian Killed In Cairo, Protest Planned

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP).—Canada will make an official protest against rioting which led to the death of Joseph Macleod Boyer, 54, Canadian trade commissioner, killed in Cairo Saturday, diplomatic officials said Sunday.

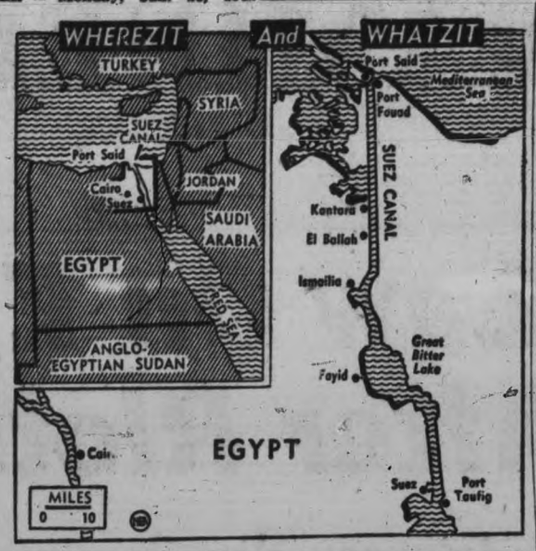
Since Canada has no direct diplomatic link with the Egyptian Government, the protest will be made through the United Kingdom, officials said.

But, outside of the protest, no other action is being planned against Egypt.

H. W. Cheney, acting director of the trade commissioner service said the report of the death was a shock. Officials in Cairo had expressed confidence only a short while ago that they thought they could ride through the uprising without being molested.

First In History

It was believed to be the first such killing in Canadian trade commission history. There had been other deaths in the world-wide service, but none involved the same set of circumstances which saw a Canadian become a victim in a split between two other powers.



Mr. Boyer, a veteran of two world wars, was not the kind of man to incite hatred or ill-feeling, his trade department colleagues said. Tall and spare, he was reserved and hard-working, ever mindful of his duty.

Reports from Cairo said Mr. Boyer, native of Victoria, NB, was among three men who died when the rioting mobs burned the fashionable British Turf Club in the centre of Cairo.

The body has been identified by C. E. Butterworth, 27, of Ottawa, assistant trade commissioner at Cairo. He will take over the trade commissioner's duties until a new appointment is made.

The body may be brought back to Canada for burial.

Mrs. Boyer was in Cairo with her husband, but is reported here as being safe.

THE SUEZ CANAL, "jugular vein of the Empire," doesn't belong to Britain at all, but to a private British and French firm, the Suez Canal Co. But, the Suez has been controlled by Britain since the time of Victoria. The "big ditch"—in effect a toll road between the Mediterranean and the Red Sea, gateway to the Indies—was dug in 1859-69 by a great French engineer, Count Ferdinand de Lesseps. De Lesseps viewed the 104-mile, sea-level waterway as his contribution to "peace and progress." Recently the Suez has contributed heavily to world tension, as Egypt, acting in the feverish new tradition of Moslem "nationalism," tore up the 1936 treaty under which Britain keeps troops in the Canal Zone. The British stood firm, and when ugly riots broke out, bringing threats of a "holy war," rushed heavy reinforcements to the area. Prime Minister Churchill's recent proposal that the US, France and Turkey send troops to the Suez was greeted by Egypt with cries of "aggression" and threats to invoke the Arab League's seven-nation defence pact.

Beaten And Robbed Detroit Man Dies

DETROIT, Jan. 28 (CP)—Alphonse B. McIntyre, 59, who was beaten and robbed Thursday by three men who saw him cash his pay cheque, died Sunday.

McIntyre's wife, Margaret, lives in London, Ont.

Police said three men who saw McIntyre cash his $87.50 pay cheque in a bar, followed him and attacked him in an alley. He was robbed and beaten about the head.

He was treated at the Dearborn medical centre hospital for head lacerations and bruises and allowed to go home. Sunday he complained of feeling ill and a doctor was called. He was dead when the doctor arrived.

Police said they had no leads on the three attackers.

Driver Flees Bus As 41 Killed, 6 Hurt

ATLIXCO, Mexico, Jan. 28 (CP)—Forty-one persons including six small children were burned to death Saturday in a bus fire and explosion. Six passengers escaped with severe burns.

Survivors said the fire broke out when the driver lit a cigarette and tossed the burning match to the floor near a leaking gasoline tank.

The gasoline caught fire. The driver dived through the window and the bus crashed into a tree. An explosion followed and the bus caught fire. Police are searching for the driver.

Lifting the burden of fear

Is there a way to be free from fear — for oneself, one's health and welfare, and concerning those one loves?

A mighty and increasing multitude can answer "We have found the way!" Men and women in all walks of life, in heartfelt thankfulness testify that Christian Science is showing them how to replace fear with confidence and assurance unshakable.

Through the thoughtful study of "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy they are proving step by step, in a plain and practical way, what real understanding of God does for man. Rambling Reporter

PANHANDLER.

There are rumours going around coffee clubs that Charlie Pilon has a horse. Charlie lets the rumours float over his head and admits it, even saying that a dairy company boards his horse for him. The cat crawled out of the bag today, though. About 10.15 a handsome black and white beast stopped in front of Charlie's store on Simcoe St. He dragged a milk cart behind him. Charlie rattled the door latch and the horse pricked up his ears and nodded his head vigorously until Charlie stepped out with a couple of lumps of sugar. The horse nuzzled the treat and moved away as the driver climbed into the wagon. "He does it every day," said Charlie. "He's my pal."

10 Die In Bush Fire In South Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 28 — (Reuters)—Ten persons have been burned to death and two firemen were missing today as bush fires raged unabated in southern New South Wales and the State of Victoria.

Sligh train over the weekend failed to quell the blaze, though a wind change saved several towns in the fire-stricken Riverina district, rich agricultural area of New South Wales. Among them was the township of Carabost, earlier reported "no longer on the map."

Two persons were burned to death in the Carabost area, where fires have raged for six days.

Communications with Bega (pop. 3,000) were restored today. Earlier the town was cut off by flames which devoured thousands of sheep and cattle and acres of crops.

In the speech to which Cooper referred, Vishinsky accused the US of preparing aggressive measures against Communist China along the South China borders. The Soviet diplomat then declared:

"These illegal—flagrantly illegal—acts of the United States, we can be quite sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression whenever events beging to take their course on the southern borders of China, in Thailand, Burma and Yunnan province (of China)".

King Makes Alexander Earl

LONDON, Jan. 28 (CP). — The King has granted an Earldom to Viscount Alexander on his retirement as Governor-General of Canada, it was announced Sunday night.

The increase in heraldic rank came amid speculation that Alexander, wartime supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean theatre will become Britain's Defence Minister.

The Earldom is one step up and is hereditary. His eldest son, 16-year-old Shane, will become Viscount Alexander.

Alexander may choose his own title or he may retain his present one and become Earl Alexander of Tunis.

He may also retain his present coat of arms or change it by arrangement with the College of Heraldic Arms.

His insignia now has the crest of an arm in armor holding aloft a sword. This is supported by a piper of the Irish Guards—Alexander's old regiment—holding a bagpipe, and an Indian soldier holding a rifle.

POW Proposal Handed To Reds

MUNSAN, Korea, Jan. 28 (AP) —A detailed working draft of a 14-point United Nations plan for exchanging prisoners of war in Korea was handed to Communist truce negotiators today.

The Reds promised to study the proposal.

The prisoner-exchange plan incorporates all basic points of the Allied proposal submitted Jan. 8, including voluntary repatriation which the Reds have said they never will accept.

It is a companion piece to the detailed draft on truce supervision given the Communists Sunday.

Staff officers were scheduled to start work on this Allied draft on Monday, but the Communists asked for and got a 24-hour postponement.

Help Family

Neighbors immediately rallied to help the family. Clothing donations came first. Two hundred neighbors met in a church and donated $196 to start an emergency fund.

Taderson, a contractor, offered to build a new house for the family with volunteer labor, using materials pledged by lumber companies.

Stoney Creek firemen, who had helped fight the blaze, donated an additional $100 and said they would give proceeds of their annual dance Feb. 13 to the emergency fund.

Sykes, a cement contractor, had been out of work since Christmas. He was scheduled to start on a new job today.

Weekend fires elsewhere in Canada claimed six other lives. Four children were burned to death in their frame home at Dauphin River, Man., 200 miles north of Winnipeg, late Friday night. Two died when flames swept a dwelling at Yarmouth, NS.

New Diet

BARCALDINE, Australia (Reuters).—Recent drought and bush fires in Queensland have forced foxes to turn vegetarian. Foxes have been seen eating melons on farms.

47 Holsteins Killed In Crash

PISA, Italy, Jan. 28. (CP)— American cargo plane carrying Holstein cows from Canada to Italy crash-landed in flames Sunday night. Forty-seven of the 50 cows were cremated but the five members of the crew escaped injury.

The plane had been chartered from Seaboard and Western Airlines of New York to fly the cows from Toronto to Milan, Italy. It left Toronto last Friday.

A company spokesman said the plane ran off the end of a slick runway and burst into flames. Field firemen and rescue teams rushed to the craft and the crew managed to get out and run to safety. Three fear-crazed cows also broke out and ran safely through the flames. The others were burned.

In Toronto, the herdsman was identified as Bob Cooper, of Brampton.

One of the bulls in the shipment had been sold by David R. Stevens of St. Mary's, Ont., and the other from the farm of George Henry at Todmorden, Ont. The heifers were from herds of 25 other Ontario Holstein breeders.

Italy Ordered Leave NATO

LONDON, Jan. 28—(Reuters)— Russia has told Italy she is prepared to revise the Italian treaty with her—provided Italy leaves the "aggressive Atlantic bloc", Moscow radio said Saturday night.

Italy must also promise not to permit the stationing of military forces and the establishment of military bases by foreign states on her territory, the Soviet Foreign Office said in a formal note to the Italian Government.

The United States, Britain and France earlier promised "favorable consideration" to a request by Italy for a revision of the peace treaty to remove "certain restrictions...which do not accord with her status as an active and equal member of the democratic and freedom-loving family of nations".

The Russian note to Italy rejected Italy's plea. It asserted Italy's intention was "not to obtain equality, but the even more active participation of Italy in the aggresive North Atlantic Treaty".

New Government

Strict Censorship

Indications were that the new government would apply strict censorship measures against the leftist newspapers which, for more than six months have been attacking "imperialism of the west and the ruling classes."

The new Prime Minister and his cabinet took the oath at Abdin Palace, where they were received by the King.

Farouk Sunday night turned Mustapha El Nahas Pasha's Wafdist party regime out of office, after the government's Nationalist campaign to drive out Britain, culminated in a wild eruption of bloodshed and burning Saturday. The Nahas government termed the outbreak an attempted revolution.

Meanwhile in London, Britain's three chiefs of staff were summoned to an emergency meeting to discuss the dangerous situation in Egypt.

Anthony Head, war minister, and James Thomas, navy minister, were also present. A junior minister represented the RAF.

The meeting, summoned by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, had before it the latest reports from the British ambassador in Egypt, Sir Ralph Stevenson.

The ministers discussed the new situation created by King Farouk's dismissal of the Nahas Pasha cabinet.

Meanwhile, Nahas Pasha said he has "his word of honor" that the new premier "will pursue my policy towards the British".

A group of 25 young Wafdists (Nationalists) gathered today in front of Nahas Pasha's house shouting: "We don't recognize your dismissal".

Ask To Be Relieved

Nahas told the demonstrators he had asked Farouk to relieve him of his post.

"I have been in touch with the new premier," he said, "and he has given me his word of honor that he will pursue my policy toward the British".

One of the new premier's first acts was to amend the newly-imposed curfew hours to run from 9 pm to 6 am, instead of from 6 pm to 6 am.

No Details

No newspapers here have printed details of Saturday's rioting. There was no official casualty figure, although deaths may run to scores, including many trapped in burning buildings. Preliminary police estimates were that about 20 persons were killed and 80 wounded in the outbreak by mobs, infuriated by the deaths of more than 40 Egyptian auxiliary police in a clash with British troops at Ismailia in the canal zone Friday.

The British reckoned their dead, injured and missing in the rioting at more than 15. The embassy reported nine bodies found in the burned British Turf Club. More may be in the club's flooded basement. At least eight Britons were reported missing.

Cairo was quiet this morning, although some scattered shots were heard. Egyptian soldiers were deployed at crossroads, along avenues and around embassies and big business concerns.

Businesses reopened, some with half-lowered steel shutters. Almost all were open. Barclay's bank, gutted by flames, announced it would open soon as possible.

Pledged To Unity

The new Premier in a radio address pledged himself to fulfill the "independent unity of the Nile valley"—to get Britain out—and to maintain "stability, security and peace."

Maher Pasha, 69, before the Second World War expressed pro-British sympathies, but during the war was interned at British insistence because he had talks with Britain's Italian enemies. But recent public statements have indicated he advocates a pro-western policy.

Can't Preserve Peace

Farouk, in his letter dismissing Nahas Pasha and his Wafdist party regime, said Saturday's orgy of rioting, killing, burning and pillaging here "indicated the government over which you preside has not been able to preserve peace and security."

Western observers here anticipated that the new government would be more inclined to work for a compromise settlement of the bitter dispute with Britain than had its predecessors, whose Nationalist campaign to drive Britain out of the Suez and the Sudan touched off the rising wave of often-uncontrolled violence

One diplomat termed the shift in the cabinet the most hopeful sign in months.

(British sources in London were more cautious, however. Although some said the new Premier definitely is pro-British, others termed him "more anti-British than Nahas." These sources said they could not yet regard the change as a move toward a settlement with Britain.)

With martial law still in effect throughout Egypt, Cairo continued to count its dead, wounded and damage from Saturday's violence. Police estimated that about 20 persons had been killed and 80 wounded in the outbreak of mobs infuriated at the killing of more than 40 Egyptian auxiliary police in a British siege in Ismailia on Friday. The British reckoned their dead, wounded and missing at 15.

Police rounded up ringleaders in the rioting and others suspected of fomenting the violence. A spokesman said 300 had been arrested.

A smoke pall still hung over the city, where 150 fires were set by the mobs, destroying Egyptian as well as foreign-owned property. The walls of Shepheard's Hotel, famous place for world travellers, finally caved in yesterday.

JOHN A. NORTHEY

John A. Northey, a prominent farmer in Smith Township all his life, died Saturday following an illness of 11 years.

Born in Smith Township, Concession 11, Mr. Northey was the son of the late A. B. Northey and Mary McIlmoyle. He was a member of Wesley United Church and after serving as an active elder of that church for many years was made an honorary elder. He was a member of Wesley LOL.

He leaves his wife, the former Florence Blewett, two daughters, Mrs. Donald McEwen (Olive), of Callander, Ont., Mrs. Ralph Garbutt (Irene), RR 1, Lakefield, two half-brothers Cecil and Wilson, both of Peterborough, and his stepmother, Mrs. A. B. Northey, Peterborough.

The funeral was held today from the Hendren Funeral Home, Lakefield. Mr. Kenneth Stewart of Wesley United Church conducted the servite. Burial was in Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield.

SIDNEY COOK BELFRY

A farmer in Otonabee township for the past 35 years, Sidney Cook Belfry, 69, concession 14, lot 22, died at St. Joseph's hospital Saturday following a short illness.

Mr. Belfry was born in Vasey, Ont., son of the late Peter Belfry and Laticia Love, moving to Otonabee township 35 years ago. He was a member of the United church of Canada, and a member of Vasey LOL.

He leaves his wife, the former Queenie Matchett; one daughter, Mrs. Jack Everatt (Alice), Shackleton, Sask.; three sons, Keith, Toronto; Jack and Harold, both of Peterborough; three sisters, Mrs. Robert Scarlett, Midland; Mrs. James Bowles, Barrie; Mrs. Samuel Brown, Toronto, four brothers, Ira, Toronto; Albert and Peter, both of Midland; Stewart, Vasey, Ont.

The funeral was held today from the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark St. United church conducted the service. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Czechs Lured To Alberta By Cheap Fuel

MEDICINE HAT, Alta.—(CP) —Medicine Hat has added paper weights, figurines and flower vases to its $35,000,000 a year production of such things as bottles, pottery, sewer pipes and agricultural produce.

And it can thank a group of Czechosiovakian immigrants. In a hangar at the airport, under guidance of John Furch, who has been in the glass business for 25 years, these men are turning out paper weights, intricately spun little figurines and even have the equipment to make glass buttons.

The business was first located in Stratford, Ont., but was moved to Medicine Hat because of the cheap natural gas available here. Mr. Furch said he can run the plant here for a month at the same cost of a day's operations in Stratford.

An engineer, he designed three furnaces and he also makes his own glass. Each evening after the day's work is done he mixes the silica sand and chemicals and leaves it to melt overnight to be ready for the next day's operations.

Mr. Furch makes 300 pounds of glass each night and is hopeful of soon having a furnace that will handle a couple of tons.

Interesting Work

The operations are intriguing. A man puts a rod in a furnace and by twirling it builds on the end red hot glass about the size of a light bulb. When it is to the size wanted, it is placed in a cast iron vise which gives it the design of ridges.

To make the opening at the top, tweezers about the size of pliers are inserted and the bowl spun on the rod. The molten glass is handled much as a youngster blows bubbie gum.

The article then goes through an oven, the colored glassware moving along a converyor belt as tongues of flame lick at it. The oven starts at 1,200 degrees and cools 100 degrees every five feet. The glassware moves four inches every minute and when it comes out the far end it is at room temperature.

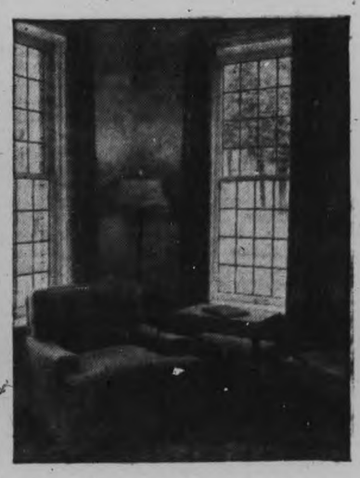
Mr. Furch left Czechoslovakia in 1938 when Hitler entered his country. He went to Yorkshire, England, to work in glass factories, and later came to Canada.

The intricate figures of deer, swans and other animals and birds are made by hand. The buttons are made by hand. In Stratford the factory concentrated on buttons but it has branched out since moving to Medicine Hat.

Base Metals Push Ahead On Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP).—Base metals pushed steadily upward to a record high on the exchange's index in today's afternoon stock market dealings. Irregular support eased other sections.

While western oil speculation dominated exchange dealings, a growing list of mining issues drew interest. A base metal—Lake Dufault—drew most attention. The stock jumped about 25 cents in a turnover of more than 150,000 shares following reports of copper ore developments.



Volume for the first three hours was 1,714,000 shares.

Papers formed industrials strongest section while utilities, constructions and refining oils drew firm support. Foods and miscellaneous issues weakened while liquors and textiles dipped sharply.

Base metal leaders were strong. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, International Nickel, Labrador, United Keno Hill and Labrador posted gains ranging to about $1.

Western oils were mixed. Calvan Consolidated, Jupiter, Pacific Petroleum and Western Leaseholds strengthened but Calgary and Edmonton, Home Oil and Security Free weakened.

Senior golds were firm. Dome, Hollinger, Malartic and McIntyre showed advances ranging to 75 cents. Secondary issues edged upward.

Two Men Held, Smart Work Lindsay Police

LINDSAY, Jan. 28—(ENS)—Quick work and co-operation of three police forces resulted in the apprehension of two men Saturday who are charged with the theft of a diamond ring. Carl Brown, local jeweller, reported to police that two men had entered his store just before closing time. They had asked to see some diamond rings. One of them also asked to see some bracelets and the proprietor went to the back of the store for the bracelets. Apparently while he was at the back of the store, the ring was stolen. The two men said they would be back next week.

When the ring was discovered missing, value $140, police were called and discovered the men were working for the Bridge and Building Company, stationed at Grasshill. CNR Constable Ray Morden was contacted and informed Constable Percy Mark that the men from the gang were entraining for Belleville, their home, on the eight o'clock train. Constables Bailey, Mark and Carl Brown, junior and senior, went to the station, the men were identified by Carl Brown Jr. and taken into custody. Questioned they admitted the theft and told police the ring had been placed in a dunnage bag belonging to Donald Sinclair. The ring was recovered and as a result Douglas Fox 18, Belleville and Desmond Burton 22, Belleville, have been charged with theft. While local police were checking the train Ontario provincial police were checking all busses that left town after six pm.

Find Bodies In Ruins

WESTFIELD, Mass., Jan. 28 (AP)—The bodies of two women were found Sunday in the charred ruins of a six-storey building destroyed by a $1,500,000 fire Jan. 6 with a loss of six lives. Latest victims—bringing to three the number removed from the fire-wrecked structure—were identified as Miss Ellen Armstrong and Mrs. Christine Broughton, 48.

Ladies Give Donation Toward YP Projector

NORWOOD, Jan. 28—(ENS)—The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church held their January meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Baker. The president, Mrs. Douglas Baker, led in prayer. Mrs. A. Anderson read the scripture. Mrs. R. Armitage sang a solo, "Hushed was the Evening Star". Mrs. Douglas Baker gave the topic, "Paths of Peace". Mrs. William Hubble took charge of the business. It was decided to give the young people a donation toward buying a projector. A box of fruit was sent to a sick member.

Yalta Pact Grave Error Tsiang Says

PARIS, Jan. 28. (AP)—Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang said Saturday the whole postwar history of China and Korea would have been happier without the Yalta agreement and "the part played by President Roosevelt at Yalta in hard to explain or justify."

Chiang Kai-shek's government accepted the Yalta agreement under US pressure and signed a treaty of friendship with Russia which the Russians quickly broke, Tsiang told the UN political committee.

Presenting a resolution which in effect condemns Moscow for breaking the treaty, he said at the end of a two-hour speech:

"In other words, in the struggle of the Chinese people for freedom, we ask of this great organization some measure of moral support and moral judgment."

He called the Yalta agreement —which brought Russia into the war against Japan in return for concessions within China — "a great mistake."

The agreement was reached by President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Prime Minister Stalin Feb. 11, 1945, at the Crimean resort city of Yalta.

Makes Charges

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik who had made a show of reading a book and newspapers and talking while Tsiang spoke, attacked Tsiang's charges as lies and slander. Malik urged the committee to have nothing to do with what he called "this Kuomintang pettifoggery."

The committee adjourned debate until today. US delegate John Sherman Cooper is expected then to voice US support for Tsiang's resolution.

Backers of the resolution expressed belief they can get a majority in the political committee, but said they did not believe they could get the necessary two-thirds majority to pass the Assembly.

Accepts Prize

KYOTO, Japan, Jan. 28 (AP)—Ikuo Oyama, Socialist member of the Japanese Diet who was one of six $25,000 Stalin peace-prize winners last month, announced Sunday he had written his formal acceptance to Moscow. He said it was only good manners to accept. The former Northwestern University teacher said he would apply for a visa and added: "I would like to visit Moscow as soon as I can."

IT TANGLED WITH A TRAIN but this was all the damage. Three persons escaped uninjured when the car rammed into a westbound CNR freight train at a level crossing Saturday night five miles west of Campbellford when the driver mistook smoke from the train for fog. Brethen Elected President Of Norwood Fair

NORWOOD, Jan. 28 (ENS)—Annual meeting of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society was held in Norwood town hall Thursday night. The president, G. A. Brethen, was in the chair.

The president said the success of any fair could not be measured solely by the service it rendered the district which it served. Judged by this yardstick the 1951 Norwood Fair had not only, in spite of weather, shown in its financial statement presented to the meeting the highest receipts in its history, but more than half its returns were paid out to its members for prizes. By comparison, the record shows that many agricultural societies devote up to 90 per cent of their receipts to entertainment features and a comparatively small amount upon the highly important work agricultural societies are organized to do.

F. A. Lashley, superintendent of Ontario Agricultural Societies, was guest speaker. By way of introduction, Mr. Lashley said from the history of the Norwood Fair as from its organization in 1868, as found in the records in his office, and from the publicity it gained throughout Ontario during the past few years, he came well informed as to the success and merits of the fair and was quite convinced that all he had heard and read of its activities was true.

He assured his audience that his department would do everything within its power to assist the Norwood Fair to secure a Class B rating.

Quoting from the earliest record in their office, Mr. Lashley gave the following information: At the first fair held by the East Peterborough Agricultural Society at Norwood, some 80 years ago, the total prizes offered for all classes, which included yokes of oxen, hand-made farm implements, etc., was $470, while 1951 prizes totalled $3,880.

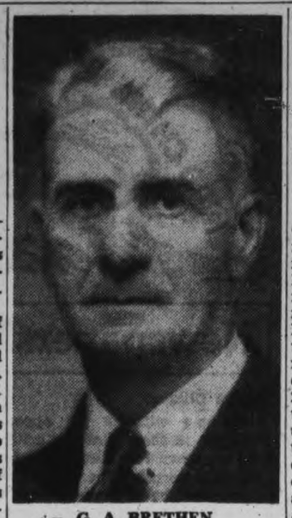
The earlier fairs the society held rotated annually, between Norwood, Keene and Warsaw, some years later agreeing upon Norwood as the permanent location. The stronger West Peterborough society located in the town of Peterborough, in those earlier years showed considerable interest in its younger companions and made frequent overtures to bring the East Peterborough Society into their fold. Apparently this effort at centralization was reciprocated by a few of the earlier officials of the Eastern Society. However, the more virile directors of the day turned down all such efforts toward cetnralization.

Following Mr. Lashley's address Agricultural Service Diplomas were presented to Samuel H. Buck, chairman of the grain committee, and Col. F. E. Birdsall for their long and valuable contributions to the fair. The gold watch donated by Canada Packers to the winner of the 1951 Norwood Fair Beaver Oat project was presented by Mr. Lashley on behalf of the society to Lyle R. McMillan, Hill-Crest Farm, Norwood.

By resolution of the annual meeting and by consent of the superintendent of Agricultural Societies, the board of directors was increased from 12 to 18. The newly-elected directors are: Golden Andrews, Jim Hope, Orland Brown, Keith Ross, Art Andrews, and George Shoniker.

The lady directors elected as their 1952 officers: president, Mrs. C. Copp; secretary, Mrs. Gordon Parker.

At a meeting of the 1952 directors' following the annual meeting the following directors were elected: president, G. A. Brethen; first vice-president, Rod Webb; second vice-president, Robert Hope; secretary-treasurer, Gordon Parker.



At the close of the meeting Earl Hamblin was present and showed a film of pictures taken by him at the 1951 and 1950 fairs.

Counties Change Accounting Setup

COBOURG, Jan. 28 (ENS.) — New bookkeeping set-up for the financial operation of Northumberland and Durham counties, as explained at last week's session of counties council, is based on payment by cheque, with the exception of a special bank account for the purpose of paying court witnesses. The newly-appointed firm of auditors, called in to investigate the books of the former clerk and treasurer, is of the opinion that the old bookkeeping system left much to be desired.

The new books will include a special set for the counties home, to be kept by the superintendent, in order to record proceeds etc. from the counties home farm. These books will have a link with the regular counties books in the clerk's office in order to provide convenient checking for audit purposes.

All payments are to be by cheque except a petty cash account of $50, and all cheques except for county fees must be signed by both the warden and the clerk-treasurer. The cheques will be numbered and the stubs must be accounted for. Receipts will be numbered and in duplicate. As it is not always convenient to have the warden in Cobourg in order to sign cheques for payment of Crown witnesses, there will be a special account for this purpose against which the clerk may issue cheques bearing his signature only.

Extra Newsprint Quota Allowed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28—(Reuters)—An emergency allocation of 6,150 metric tons of Canadian newsprint to six countries was announced Sunday by the International Materials Conference.

Under the plan, West Germany and Yugoslavia each are to get 2,000 tons; Spain 750 tons; Turkey and Ecuador 500 each; and Israel 400.

The six countries will have to pay more than earlier recipients of emergency allocations. Canada served notice before the conference that there will be no more bargain prices for newsprint.

The pulp-paper committee of the conference said Canada "has reserved the right to consider a price policy, for the present and future allocations, which would result in newsprint plices closer to levels prevailing in the recipient countries".

Earlier emergency allocations had been supplied by Canada at the North American newsprint price of about $117 a ton. This compares with $184 a ton Britain pays for newsprint from Sweden and Australia.

The committee also disclosed that it has agreed upon a broader newsprint program for 1952 which "would centre upon encouraging trade in newsprint through normal commercial transactions."

Killed By 'Teen-agers

LENOIR CITY, Tenn., Jan. 28 (AP)—A rookie policeman was fatally wounded Sunday when he and another policeman were fired upon from an automobile carrying six 'teen agers. Four boys and two girls were arrested shortly afterward and held without charge. The victim was James Hildreth, 31. Sheriff James Thomas said Hildreth and Ed Littleton surprised two youths trying to steal an automobile.

Frost Damage, Washouts Cost $42,000

COBOURG, Jan. 28—(ENS)—County road program for the near future rules out the taking into the Northumberland and Durham counties road system of any more roads. Following the recommendation of the Department of Highways, an effort will be made to hard surface as many miles of road as financially feasible. Total county road mileage in 1946 was 229.7 and in 1951, 297.1 miles. Of the 239.4 miles of gravel road in use in 1951, 24.6 are bituminous treated gravel. In addition the counties are to maintain ten miles of county road connecting links and etxensions in urban municipalities making a total of 307 miles.

Washouts and frost damage was a very large item in the county road costs for 1951, the total being $42,000 last year as compared to $27,700 the year before.

The road appropriation for 1952 totals $353,300, of which the counties share, after government subsidy has been paid, will be $159,900. Road construction has been set at $25,100 and bridges $46,000. Maintenance of roads totals $220,200 and of bridges, $4,000. New machinery, $5,000; repairs, $5,000. Miscellaneous, $20,000; Trenton suburban road commission, $15,000; contribution to urban municipalities, $13,000.

Car Hits Train, Three Unhurt At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 28 — (ENS) — Three Campbellford people escaped uninjured Saturday night when the car in which they were riding ploughed into the side of a westbound CNR freight train at a level crossing on the Campbellford-Hastings road, about five miles west of this town.

Jim Owens 46, driver of the car, and two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. William Heenan of Doxee Avenue, Campbellford, were driving to Hastings and approached the crossing, which passes through a small valley.

On the grade to the crossing, Mr. Owens said he thought he saw fog in the vicinity of the tracks. He noticed, too late, that what he mistook for fog was smoke from a passing train.

He applied the brakes but the light 1939 model car slid into one of the box cars, striking the train with the left front fender.

The moving train then slammed the left side of the car into a box car and threw it off to one side where it came to rest on its side in the ditch on the north side of the roadway.

As the caboose crossed the roadway, conductor Jack Hogan glanced out the window and saw the people climbing out of the wrecked car. He immediately pulled the signal cord.

The crew, engineer Charlie Sleep, fireman Jack Nesbitt and conductor Jack Hogan, all of Lindsay, took the particulars of the accident, saw that Mr. Owens and his companions were taken back to Campbellford by a passing motorist, and continued on their way.

The car received extensive damage to the left side but the three occupants escaped without a scratch. Provincial Constable George Rose of Campbellford investigated.

Small Safe Removed From Feed Company

LINDSAY, Jan. 28—(ENS)—Lindsay police reported two break-ins in town, both within a block of each other.

The Lindsay Flour and Feed Company building was entered through a rear window and a small safe was moved from the office to the back door, then moved back into the office again. The thieves, according to police, had moved it out and then found it unlocked and nothing of value inside it. Then, they had gone to the trouble of moving it back in again. An office till had been opened and six coppers in the drawed had been taken.

The other break-in was at the CPR freight sheds just across the lot from the feed company on Queen St.

Entry was made through an office door which was forced open by a large iron bar. The office gave access to the freight sheds and some parcels were damaged. Two freight cars on the tracks were also entered. Police report nothing stolen. It is the second time within a month that the freight sheds have been entered.

Stole Fuel Oil

CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 28 (AP)—The theft of 3,000,000 gallons of fuel oil from the Sun Oil Company refinery at nearby Marcus Hook, Pa., was disclosed Sunday night with the arrest of three men. Police said the oil was drained from refinery tanks into trucks which carted away 4,300-gallon loads as often as 30 times a month.

Transit Strike Ended In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28 (AP) — An 18-day-long transit strike was officially over today and buses, streetcars and trolleys were to start rolling again Tuesday morning.

The walkout that had hobbled, but not crippled, the city since Jan. 10, ended Sunday night when 3,200 striking drivers voted 2,461 to 100 to accept a three-year contract giving them a total wage increase of 21 cents an hour, plus other benefits.

Negotiators for the union—the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees (AFL)—and the Baltimore Transit Co. reached agreement early Sunday.

Their 10-hour session came after an ultimatum by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin to reach accord by noon Sunday or he would call a special session of the state legislature to meet the emergency.

Company representatives planned to go before the public service commission today to ask for two-cent transfer charges and elimination of slack-hour bargain rates. Company officials indicated this request would be followed by another to "adjust the entire fare system."

Prior to final agreement, the company had conditioned all of its offers on PSC approval of higher rates, a condition the union refused to accept.

Present fares are 15 cents within the city.

The contract provides a nine-cent hourly wage increase with resumption of work, raising the base pay to $1.72.

Take a good look at the certificate that hangs on the wall in your drug store. Placed there by your druggist, it is tangible evidence of one of the proudest moments of his life. Signed, sealed and dated for all to see—his professional recognition as a registered pharmacist.

What does this mean to you?

Think! Without the years of training and study . . . without this qualification by law . . . without the personal "interested-in-you" service . . . your druggist would not hold your high regard. Your justifiable faith is evidenced in the precision equipment in his prescription department—in your appreciation of the convenience of his friendly store where you buy such a wide variety of specialized merchandise. Truly, your drug store is a centre of professional service . . . that's why—

you can depend on your DRUG STORE

A 1952 Model Factory For Ashburnham?

The Canada Bread Company is proposing to buy a large vacant field in East City and build thereon a half-million dollar central baking plant to serve its customers in south-east Ontario. Residents of the area north of Hunter Street, particularly those living on and near Rogers Street—which the vacant lot faces—are in divided minds about the bread plant. Some have petitioned the Planning Board against it; more, taking second thought, petitioned in its favour. The City Planning Board has recommended to the City Council that the area be re-zoned and that the site be made available to the Company for its plant. Last Monday a deputation from the area appeared before the Council to protest against the bread factory on the Ashburnham lot. The Council is to consider the situation in committee this evening.

* * *

It is possible that the people in the area are unduly apprehensive. The industry is a first class light one, not smoky, heavy and smelly. (Bakery smells do not hover incessantly over the same company's big plant in Toronto; in fact, pleasant though such smells may be, there are none at all in the area.) A company of this kind would be anxious to erect an attractive building. We envisage a handsome, well-designed plant set gracefully in the large lot, surrounded by pleasant trees, lawns and shrubs. Factories which are being built today, even by heavy industries, are not dour, dispiriting blotches on the landscape as they were in the 'nineties. We have only to compare the old Nashua Paper plant with its new one at the south end of the city to realize that the proposed baking centre might be an asset to the appearance of the district, not a detraction.

* * *

It is a mistake to talk about re-zoning the area. It has never been legally zoned, for the zoning by-laws have unfortunately not been passed. On the admirable city plan the area is classed as third density residential. The district looks neither more nor less residential than any other corner of the city which is a hodge podge of empty lots, corner stores, gas depots, houses in various sizes and states of repair. From its appearance it would be difficult to say whether the district was residential, light industrial or commercial. We dislike any tampering with the zoning proposals, but in this instance we believe that the planners made a mistake in zoning it as even third density residential. It is flanked by the Quaker Oats Company and has a railway line running through it, between Rogers Street and the river. If ever the planners' design to re-route the railways takes effect, that C.N.R. spur will become the main line to the north and west, bearing all the traffic which Bethune Street now has north of the station. The site is a natural industrial plot, and before the turn of the century both sides of the river were a principal industrial area of the town.

* * *

The lot was once an unsightly, disused gravel pit. Over the years the gouges have been filled with debris—it was used as a city dump. Now the city-owned property is level, but in its present state is merely a rough, unkempt field. A fine new factory operating in a first class industry such as baking, would complete the process of reclamation.

* * *

In their concern about the industry, residents of the district are mindful not only of the possible annoyances but also of sure financial benefits. A half-million dollar factory bears a heavy assessment. Taxes based on this, and also business taxes, would be a considerable annual increase to the city's budget. There is this further consideration: the plant will offer some employment, and help to diversify the city's industries.

New Parlour Game In Washington

The favourite parlour game in Washington nowadays, if reports are accurate, is somewhat malicious. It is based on the assumption that Robert Alphonso Taft will be the next President of the United States, and the players then proceed to choose a Cabinet for him. This is done by the usual method followed in the United States, by making selections from among the leading men who have given Senator Taft the most valuable support. Three such elections should be sufficient to support our contention of maliciousness.

The Secretary of State in this Cabinet would be General Douglas MacArthur. He has been most prominent in the pre-convention campaign for Senator Taft, and is said to have contributed more than anyone to the Senator's present theory of foreign relations. Since he is regarded as the leading thinker on world affairs in the Republican Party group favouring Senator Taft, he should be first choice to head the State Department.

The post of Secretary of Defence is even more readily filled. Colonel Robert Rutherford McCormick is the unanimous choice. The Chicago colonel admits that he invented the rifle, and he doesn't need to admit that he owns the Illinois delegation. He has been an ardent and consistent supporter of Senator Taft—and he would expect a Cabinet post.

Favourite for Attorney-General is Senator Joseph R. McCarthy. It must be admitted that his slanderous campaigns against alleged Communists in the Government have greatly strengthened public support for Senator Taft—and the latter has shown himself not averse to alliance with his fellow Senator from Wisconsin. As Attorney-General, Senator McCarthy's methods of weeding out and rejecting Communists might be new and startling, but they would probably be approved by all who have been impressed by his tactics in viciously attacking civil servants from behind the screen of immunity raised by membership in the Senate.

We do not suppose this game will seriously affect Senator Taft's chances of winning the Republican nomination or of being elected President if nominated. Other issues will have predominant influence. Contemplation of at least two of the three appointments noted above, however, should be sufficient to cause an impartial political observer to shudder.

A Shrinking Liberty

Like everybody else who is not influenced by some violent prejudice, we regard the U.S.A. as one of the great guarantors of liberty in the modern world. But there are aspects of life in the States which cause us a little alarm and a great deal of grief. For instance, we were sorry to read that the Attorney-General, Mr. Howard McGrath, had announced that the U.S. government was building "detention camps" for "subversives," in case these should be needed. Detention camp means, of course, prison camp; it is a rare thing for a nation to build such a thing and then find no use for it.

Nor were we happy when read that Mr. J. Edgar Hoover, the head of the F.B.I., had written to the National Association of Taxicab Owners, asking that all cab drivers report anything they heard in the course of their work which might suggest subversive activity. If taxi drivers are to become spies, why not barbers, streetcar men, or anybody else? Good citizens report anything that is obviously wrong, without being urged; why encourage people to spy on one another?

It is not at all hard to decide that somebody is a "subversive." Suppose that a taxi man were to hear somebody in his cab saying any, or all, of these things:

"A little rebellion, now and then, is a good thing, and as necessary in the political world as storms in the physical . . . It is a medicine necessary for the sound health of government."

"What country can preserve its liberties, if its rulers are not warned from time to time, that this people preserve the spirit of resistance? Let them take arms . . . The tree of liberty must be refreshed from time to time, with the blood of patriots and tyrants."

"The late rebellion in Massachusetts has given more alarm than I think it should have done. Calculate that one rebellion in thirteen States in the course of eleven years, is but one for each State in a century and a half. No country should be so long without one."

These are quotations from the letters of Thomas Jefferson, one of the founders of the U.S.A.; they are available to any American citizen, and who would suggest that they are dangerous or subversive reading? But they might fall strangely upon the ears of a taxi-driver; they might even be confusing to some legal authorities who were not entirely sure who Jefferson was.

A nation is in danger when its liberty begins to shrink, and when it prepares prison camps for people who might not toe the line. It seems a shame that the U.S.A., which was cradled in rebellion and suckled on subversion, should come to such a pass.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Not the least of Mr. Massey's troubles as Governor General will be the painful drawings of him which have begun to appear in the press, from the pens of earnest but inept artists.

Fewer farmers than city men get married, we read. Could this account for the steady flow of farmers into the city, and the yearning of the city slickers to get back to the land?

A contemporary asks, "Who is an intellectual"? Well, it often means some fellow whom you despise because he earns less than you do, and hate because he knows more than you do.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

AT Music Festival time we hear a good deal about the adjudicators. It is almost as if they came to be judged, rather than the opposite. Comparisons are made with previous adjudicators and frequent complaints are made by parents and teachers. This is by no means extraordinary. Adjudicators are subject to error like other human beings, and from time to time they make an inexplicable decision. Teachers and parents, naturally enough, are apt to have a keen nose for such decisions when their own pupils or children are involved. At some festivals, such as the one in Peterborough, the music teachers are given an opportunity to meet the adjudicators to exchange ideas. This is a very sound scheme, provided that the adjudicators do not allow themselves to get sidetracked into irrelevant details.

✧ ✧ ✧

MY attention has been drawn to an article in an English periodical by Sidney Harrison, professor of the piano at the Guildhall School of Music, London. Sidney Harrison, not to be confused with Julius Harrison, the conductor and composer, has been doing some adjudicating, and sums up his impressions of the music festival in Jersey, the largest of the Channel Islands. Much of what he says would apply equally well in the smaller centres in Ontario. According to Mr. Harrison one of the greatest difficulties that an adjudicator has to face is the unscientific nature of musical notation, a difficulty on which I have spoken at length in a previous article. "How loud is loud How strong is an accent?" he asks rhetorically, and answers his own questions in the following way: "A good local teacher knows as much about this as I do, and a naturally gifted student has intelligent disobedience to the text among his divine gifts. But the bad local teacher and the ungifted student have only their fears to guide them. So; wallop it when it says forte, tinkle it when it says piano, pull up with a screech of the brakes when it says rallentando, and ignore all the immeasurably important things which are seldom marked."

✧ ✧ ✧

STILL harping on the subject of music festivals word reaches me of the untimely demise, at the age of two years, of the Kingston Music Festival. I intend to hold an inquest into the manner of death and will be grateful for evidence submitted by my readers. The findings will be published in due course. Meanwhile the Peterborough festival, the only one of its kind between Toronto and Ottawa, will shortly celebrate its sixth birthday. It has passed through a number of ailments, and fears for its survival have been expressed from time to time. In spite of forebodings the child promises to be bigger and better than ever before. Now that Kingston is, for the time being, at least, without a music festival, Peterborough must look to its laurels, in case a strong contingent from Kingston comes in and collects all the first places!

I NOTICE that credit restrictions on the sale of musical instruments, to which I referred on December 24, have now been lifted, and purchasers will be allowed easier terms of payment where necessary. Whatever one's personal views may be on the subject of credit buying there is no doubt that it is very strongly engrained habit amongst a large section of the population of North America. It is useless to point out to some people that it is actually the most costly method of purchase in the long run: if a man wants something badly and has not the ready cash, what can he do? Go without it? Unthinkable!

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE of the recipients of the C.B.E. in the New Year's Honour's List is William Primrose, the distinguished viola player, who gave a recital in Peterborough some four years ago. The history of the viola, the least spectacular of all the stringed instruments, is long and distinguished. Like the rest of the violin family it can trace its ancestry back to the Arabian rebab, which was introduced into Europe during the Middle Ages, probably through Spain, when that country was in the hands of the Moors. It is strange that bowed instruments were unknown to the Greeks and Romans. During the renaissance the "chest of viols", as a set of the instruments in various sizes was known, was as important a part of the furniture of a reasonably well-to-do household as is a television set nowadays. The viols were constructed with sloping shoulders, a shape this is still preserved by the double bass, and had a softer tone than their modern counterparts. The bows were shaped more like a shooting bow.

✧ ✧ ✧

DURING the eighteenth century it was customary for the viola to be played in orchestras by unsuccessful violin players. The standard of viola playing was therefore wretchedly low, and composers were, in general, careful to give the viola the easiest possible "filling-in". Towards the end of the century, however, viola playing improved, and Mozart must be given the credit for realizing the capabilities of the viola as a solo instrument in his Sinfonia Concertante for violin, viola and orchestra and his trio for clarinet viola and piano, not to speak of his mature string quartets and quintets, in which the viola takes a prominent and distinctive part. But even Mozart was not sure enough of the viola to "let it off the lead", so to speak: it had to be chaperoned by the violin or clarinet. To Berlioz belongs the credit for the first real step in the glorification of the viola, when he wrote "Harold in Italy" for solo viola and orchestra.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE cause of the viola has prospered in recent years, very largely because of the work of Lionel Tertis, who devoted his career to propagating the idea of the viola as a solo instrument. Many leading British composers have been prompted to write solo works for the viola, of which William Walton's viola concerto is an outstanding example. Many arrangements have been made in recent years of violin music for the viola. I remember hearing a very striking performance by Tertis of Bach's chaconne for unaccompanied violin arranged for the viola by the simple expedient of transposing the whole thing a fifth lower. Thus, apart from the greater stretches for the fingers the fingering would be exactly the same.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT is significant that the thematic germ, the acorn, from which many mighty works have grown, is often quite insignificant in itself. The first few notes of Beethoven's third and fifth symphonies are classical examples in more than one sense. It seems as though a well-rounded melody, being complete in itself, does not as a rule lend itself to the unfolding process of symphonic music. Grieg's piano concerto succeeds for all the wrong reasons. Even so, the development section of the first movement smacks more of the midnight oil than the midnight sun.

Newspapers View The Appointment

Ottawa Citizen

"It now will be his opportunity and challenge to show that the critics were unduly apprehensive, that he can be as acceptable as Governor-General as the majority of those who have come from the United Kingdom on behalf of the crown.

"It may very well prove to be so. Nevertheless, it is to be hoped that the new departure does not mean the automatic selection of a Canadian as Governor-General of Canada in the future. The Commonwealth, including Britain itself, is large enough to offer a wide scope for selection. Only considerations of the narrowest sort of nationalism would preclude ventures into this wider arena."

Hamilton Spectator

"As long as there has been a Canada we have had one especially intimate link with the country across the sea to which we owe our freedom, our institutions, and our independence . . . On Jan. 24, 1952 this tradition was abruptly and harshly broken . . . no matter how it is dressed up it is from now on frankly a domestic matter. The throne is to be O'ttawa."

✧ ✧ ✧

The London Free Press

"The Free Press has not been in favor of naming a Canadian. We feel that it is another step in the apparent policy of Ottawa to cut all possible moorings from Great Britain. There will always be the danger of Rideau Hall becoming involved in politics.

"However, if we have to have a Canadian, and the present government is determined on this policy, there could be no better choice than Mr. Massey."

Montreal Star

"Since the Government has taken the decision for a Canadian Governor-General, then it is our belief that the best possible choice has been made in the appointment of the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey as the first Canadian on whom this distinction has been conferred. There is no other Canadian so well endowed with the qualifications needed to occupy this high post.

The Government, in advising His Majesty to break with the tradition of the past and appoint a Canadian, is well aware that the prospect of such an innovation aroused much controversy in Canada. Voices were raised—that of The Star among them—in protest against such a change. It was felt by some, indeed by many, that no step should be taken which contained within it the risk of weakening the deep and affectionate respect in which the Crown and the person of His Majesty were held in Canada. The fear was expressed in these columns that any change in the traditional system of appointment raised such a risk.

Two facts should now be made clear. The first is that these fears are in no way strengthened by Mr. Massey's appointment. The choice is in that respect an excellent one. He has spent almost all his life in the public service, he has won the regard and esteem of the nation as a whole. He and the late Mrs. Massey served Canada during the perilous war years with distinction and, during those years, he became friend, confidant and counsellor of King George VI.

The other fact is this. The action now taken by the Government does not in any respect tie the hands of this Government or its successors. A Canadian has been appointed, but the appointment does not create an irrevocable precedent. The Government's sole duty will be to advise such appointments as will ensure that the future official occupants of Rideau Hall shall be men of the calibre and character of such distinguished predecessors as Lord Alexander, Lord Tweedsmuir and Mr. Massey."

Ottawa Journal

"Here, the Journal suggests, lurks one of the chief dangers in the plan to have a Canadian as our Governor General: We shall begin—apparently there is intention to begin, with appointment to Rideau Hall of a supporter of the Government—a former president in fact of the Liberal Federation of Canada—and we shall go on in that way until the post of the Governor General, representing the Crown in Canada, will be looked upon as "just another party appointment."

Not a pleasant thing to contemplate."

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

"In naming Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey to succeed Viscount Alexander, the government made a commendable choice since he is one of our outstanding citizens. Mr. Massey is a statesman, a distinguished educator and a diplomat. He was chairman of the royal commission of arts, letters and sciences and wrote a report which many believe may mark an important milestone in the development of the national life of Canada.

The Record can see no reason for getting worked up over the appointment of a Canadian, especially in the case of Mr. Massey who can be relied upon to be completely impartial as regards Canadian politics.

In all the other dominions of the Commonwealth the vice-regal post is held by native sons. So it cannot be said that Canada initiated the move. There is no question whatever of its weakening our connection with the crown. The viceroy whoever he may be, remains the link.

But there must never be grounds for suspicion that the post is reserved as a reward for faithful party supporters.

The change is tinged with one keen regret. It means that Viscount Alexander is leaving us. Without doubt he has been one of the most popular Governors-General we've ever had. It is a reminder of the marriage at Cana where the good wine was left to the last. The high standard set by Viscount Alexander makes it more difficult for his successor."

Toronto Telegram

"This appointment . . . will be resented by many Canadians and regretted by many more because the door has now been opened to the eventual degradation of the high office of Governor-General to the level of an avidly sought political plum, a reward for party service . . . having determined to make this break with tradition and sentiment, the Dominion Government could have made no better choice in Canada than that of Mr. Massey."

✧ ✧ ✧

Toronto Star

"It took a long time to happen, but Canada has at last taken a step in self-determination which forward-looking autonomy-living Canadians have anticipated for many years."

✧ ✧ ✧

Windsor Star

"It took courage for the Canadian Government to decide on it, and probably it has alienated many Canadians who have a high and sincere regard for tradition. Mr. Massey was the logical choice as the first Canadian to become Governor General . . . (his appointment) does not mean . . . that all his successors have to be Canadians."

✧ ✧ ✧

Edmonton Journal

"The change . . . perhaps was inevitable, with the growth of national feeling, but it does represent the breaking of a tradition which had much value. The timing of the move, too, is distinctly unfortunate. It comes at a moment when Britain's post-war difficulties are at their height . . ."

✧ ✧ ✧

Calgary Albertan

"This fine scholar and great Canadian (Massey) well knows that the office of Canada's Governor-General is not merged in the man but the man in the office. He will prove a worthy and acceptable tenant at Rideau Hall."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. (Gen. 1: 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty. Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain . . . Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever. (Ps. 104: 1, 2, 5.)

Susan Hayward, From Starlet To Top Actress In 10 Years

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 28 (AP)—In her scrapbook of press clippings, Susan Hayward has two items from Variety, the show business Bible.

One was dated over a decade ago. It was a review of a vaudeville unit of movie hopefuls. It reported that a more or less obscure starlet named Susan Hayward had "stopped the show".

The second clipping is just a few weeks old. It reported that Susan Hayward was the top money-making actress in 1951. She had appeared in four pictures that grossed an estimated $12,525,000 in the United States alone.

Despite her success, the public and Hollywood itself knows little about Susan. She is known as the wife of actor Jess Barker and the mother of twin boys. But her news and views have never figured as prominently in the papers as have those of such gals as Lana Turner and Liz Taylor.

What is she like?

She is hard working. "When I am vacationing, I want to vacation. When I am working, I want to work. I don't like a picture on which I work a couple of days and them am off a couple. I want to work every day. I'm jealous of the other actors. Some day I'll do a picture in which I play all the roles."

She has a temper. "When I don't like how things are going, I simmer. Then I blow up. I always feel sorry later. But I feel better for it."

She has a sense of humor. When the San Francisco critics voted her performance in "David and Bathsheba" the worst film in 1951, she said: "This year we're in business for money, not art." "David" was the top grosser of the year.

Susan has five years to go at 20th Century-Fox, where she is supposed to make three pictures a year. I asked if she has script approval.

"Certainly," she replied. "I can say yes or no. If I say yes, I get paid. If I say no, I don't get paid." She has said no only once. That was to a script called "Stella", which Ann Sheridan later did. Susan doesn't regret having made the choice.

Banks To Close

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP). — Chartered banks in cities with population over 50,000 will remain closed on Saturdays starting Feb. 16, it was learned Saturday. The move is being made to give bank employees in those centres a five-day week. Banks are expected to keep open longer on Fridays to take care of late depositors. They would close at the usual closing hour and then re-open for one or two hours in the evening.

174,715 People Admitted In '51 As Immigrants

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 — (CP). — Canada admitted 174,715 immigrants in the first 11 months of 1951, more than in any year since 1913.

The immigrants were drawn from countries in all parts of the world, but the largest increase—331 per cent—was shown in the movement from Northern Europe.

The 1951 total compared with 66,851 immigrants for the corresponding 11-month period in 1950, an increase of 161 per cent.

From the United Kingdom came 28,929 compared with 12,374; the United States 7,339, compared with 7,252; Northern Europe 65,182, compared with 15,123; other countries 73,265, compared with 32,102.

The last time the total passed the 100,000-mark was 1948, when 125,000 immigrants were admitted. Not since 1928 has the total pased the 160,000 mark. In that year 167,000 immigrants were admitted. The record was set in 1913 when the number of new citizens totalled 400,000.

Former Enemies

Former enemy countries and countries behind the Iron Curtain supplied many of the imimgrants in 1951. From Germany came 27,844 compared with 4,900 in the corresponding 11 months of 1950. Italy sent 21,312 compared with 8,258. Only three came from Japan compared with nine the previous year. A total of 2,453 Chinese were admitted compared with 1,536.

From Iron Curtain countries were these totals, with the figures for the corresponding period of 1950 in brackets:

Czechoslovakia 2832 (1,268), Yugoslavia 3,310 (832), Russia 1,960 (540), Romania 835 (343), Poland 11,262 (6,137), Lithuania 1,112 (859), and Latvia 2,482 (1,667).

The department's report showed that heaviest movement of immigrants came in October and November. A total of 22,588 arrived in October and 22,242 in November. The previous high was 20,000 in May.

Obituary

GEORGE H. BARLOW

MARMORA, Jan. 28 (ENS). — George Henry Barlow, veteran of the First World War, died in Belleville General hospital Friday after an illness of approximately six years. He was born in Belleville 59 years ago a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George H. Barlow.

He enlisted with the 59th Battalion, Canadian Infantry, in 1915 and was seriously wounded in action as he served with another unit to which he had been drafted. For many years following his discharge, he was employed with the freight department of the Canadian National Railways.

He was an Anglican in religion and was also identified with Oxford Lodge, Sons of England.

Surviving are his widow, the former Elsie Deane, two daughters, Mrs. Frank MacDonell, Napanee, and Mrs. Edison Starrs of Belleville. He is further survived by one brother Clinton Barlow, Deloro, and two sisters, Mrs. Fred Stafford, Napanee, and Mrs. Geo. Wright, Belleville. The funeral took place in Belleville this afternoon.

SHIP MODEL FOR PRINCE — Prince Philip has commissioned Edmond Lecouvie, 65-year-old Quebec policeman, to build a model of the 19th century ship, Cosmo. The master model ship-builder is shown studying a piece of West Indies red mahogany which will be the hull. More than 1,000 hand-carved pieces of ebony, ivory and black walnut will go into the four-month job. The distance from the chisel at right to the up-lifted hand at left represents approximately the length of the model.

Witnesses Lose Hall Rental On Technicality

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., Jan. 28 (CP). — Nearly 1,000 members of the Witnesses of Jehovah left here Saturday night and Sunday for their homes in various parts of the province after losing out on a technicality, in their Superior Court fight to try and force the owner of a hall at nearby Deauville to rent the place for a three-day congress.

Mr. Justice Maurice Lalonde decided Saturday that the representatives of the Witnesses' group had failed to pay the balance of $250 rental for the hall on the date mentioned in the lease.

He rejected a petition for an interim injunction to force Wilfrid St. Germain to rent them the hall.

Two memebrs of the group, Neil Sutton and Paul Couture, leased the hall last fall for a convention to be opened December 14. Later, Couture and Sutton induced St. Germain to postpone the use of the hall until Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

Dates Changed

Dates for use of the hall were changed by the parties. Sutton and Couture had paid a deposit of $50 on the $250 price for rental of the hall. But when the convention dates were changed the date of December 14 for payment of the balance of $200 was not changed.

Last Wednesday, when organizers of the convention went to Deauville to prepare for the meeting, St. Germain refused them the use of the hall.

Glen How, Toronto lawyer, then went to Superior Court with a petition for an interim injunction to force St. Germain to rent the hall to the Witnesses. The proceedings were declared void when it was discovered the petition did not bear the necessary legal stamps.

Friday, Attorneys How and Samuel Bard of Quebec returned to Superior Court and the petition was taken under adviseme.t by Mr. Justice Lalonde.

Muzzle Missionairies

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP).—The Rev. John Bell of Toronto said Sunday the Chinese Communists have organized a giant system to "muzzle" missionaries forced to leave the Red-run country. The deputation secretary for Eastern Canada of the Interdenominational China Inland Mission told a missionary conference that the Communist regime insists that missionaries being evacuated go back to their home country.

Still China's President Li Tsung-jen Declares

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Li Tsung-jen, who has insisted rather futilely for the last two years that he still is president of Nationalist China, has quietly been learning to adjust to American life.

Li is a short, amiable man of 61, with thinning black hair and a strong, athletic figure.

He keeps in shape by daily exercises which are a combination of wrestling and boxing except he uses no opponents. He simply goes through the movements.

Li lives with his wife, her sister-in-law, and a maid in a big, Tudor style house in the excusive Riverdale section of New York. He rents the place for $300 a month and lives on money supplied by friends in Hong Kong and elsewhere.

His Chinese salary was stopped immediately on Chiang Kai-shek's sudden resumption of the presidency on Formosa. This was on March 1, 1950, and requires some explaining.

Opposed Chiang

Li, a long-time opponent of Chiang, was elected vice-president in 1948. A year later he succeeded to the presidency when Chiang resigned. Li held the actual reigns of office from Jan. 21, 1949, until the following December during a period when the retreating Nationalists still clung to the mainland.

That December, Li came to New York for an abdominal operation. He left the hospital in January, 1950.

"Late in February," Li recalled, "President Truman invited me to lunch. Chiang learned of this immediately. That is why he usurped the presidency on March 1, two days before I was to see your President. But on March 3, Mr. Truman still received me as a chief of state.

"Chiang and his gang of terrorists and grafters had absolutely no right to return to power. There is nothing in our constitution that gives them the right. I am still the legal president of China and will be until my term expires in 1954."

Li was formally disowned this month by the Komintang, the ruling party of Nationalist China, on the ground he had failed to re-register as a member when the party reorganized in 1950.

Li says he spends most of his time corresponding with Liberal Chinese in the United States, Hong Kong, Singapore, the Chinese mainland and Formosa. His mail from China and Formosa, he said, has to be smuggled out and reaches him indirectly.

"I don't plan to stay here indefinitely," he said. "I can't disclose my plan now, but there is a plan. If I were to try to enter Formosa now, it would have to be by force and that would start civil strife which would immediately invite invasion by the Communists."

Not Co-operating

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP). — Russia's senior diplomatic representative in Canada, L. F. Teplov, 42, Russian Charge d'Affaires in Ottawa, told 2,300 persons Sunday at a Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society rally that Great Britain, France and the United States are taking "all possible measures" to see that Russian peace proposals are not accepted by the United Nations.

CNE Midway Contract Renewed

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP)—Renewal of Conklin Brother's Midway contract to 1956 was approved at Saturday's executive meeting of the Canadian National Exhition—with some changes.

The midway buildings, hitherto tax-free, will be liable to city taxes. The city no longer will have responsibility of policing the midway area. The bingo concession was removed from the Conklin contract.

Earlier this week Mayor Aljan Lamport charged that the CNE policy of awarding contracts to two big operators rather than by open tender was resulting in "midway millionaires being made at the expense of Toronto taxpayers.

OPEN-AIR JOB—Chester C. Hyland, taking his dog, Ginger, for a spin, says his 1903-model jalopy is just right for the weather and roads in St. Louis Park, Minn. Even in 15-below cold, there's no starting problem—because the car has just one cylinder to warm up. What's more, the ample road clearance takes it through snow drifts that would stall today's low-slung autos. Hyland would make only one improvement—addition of a windshield.

Serving Canada's Communities

The Story of a Vital Factor in Your Community's Welfare

Benefits for Canadians living in communities from St. John's to Victoria are highlighted in the 65th Annual Report of the Manufacturers Life.

Dollars paid to living policyholders, and to the beneficiaries of those who have died, provide incomes that help to maintain good living standards and guarantee financial independence.

Premium dollars held in trust for Manufacturers Life policyholders are invested in public and private enterprises essential to community progress.

1 In thousands of typical Canadian homes elderly people are enjoying happy and comfortable retirement with guaranteed monthly incomes provided by their Manufacturers Life policies.

2 The Manufacturers Life has made available millions of dollars in mortgages for those buying or building new homes . . . helping to meet an urgent need in many communities.

3 Financed in part by Manufacturers Life funds, new schools, hospitals and public utilities create better facilities for education and community health.

4 Each month the postman delivers Manufacturers Life cheques to thousands of widows and children . . . guaranteed incomes that represent food, clothing and shelter.

Highlights from the 65th ANNUAL REPORT of the Manufacturers Life

410,000 CLIENTS IN CANADA and over 30 other countries around the world are now entrusting substantial amounts of their savings to the Manufacturers Life to protect their dependents and their own retirement.

$1,443,927,793 OF INSURANCE and retirement protection is provided by the policies they own.

$449,783,836 IS SECURELY INVESTED to guarantee payment of the benefits promised under these policies. The interest earned on these funds — which are principally accumulated premium deposits — reduces the cost of insurance.

$198,033,779 OF NEW INSURANCE WAS PURCHASED IN 1951 by over 35,000 clients, many of whom were already owners of Manufacturers Life policies.

$26,193,997 WAS PAID TO LIVING POLICYOWNERS, and to the families of those who died. The Life Insurance programs under which these payments were made have been carefully arranged by trained Life Underwriters — one of whom is available to perform the same service for you.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The Examiner's weekend pictures magazine had a good piece on Jack Dempsey, written by Andy O'Brien with pictures by Jack Carroll. Probably most readers saw it but "Sports' One Indestructible Idol"—heading of the article—is always worth another para. Pix were shown of his visit to Peterborough a few months ago, one of Jack with a friend, Mrs. Hugh Campbell, and another of the old Manassa Mauler chatting with Dick Ouimet and wife in their eating house. Seems that Dempsey was paid $5,000 for the five nights he spent in Ontario, including the evening here. He proved quite a hit as mat ref that night. The ex-champ, going on 57, averages four hours sleep a night. He's worth all kinds of dough and travels constantly. Loves people.

Belleville Hawks tangle with the Eagles tonight at 8.30 in Civic Arena, an OHA senior "B" fixture. The way Eagles were flying against the Petes here Friday—winning by a 7-2 score—the leading Hawks are in for a hard evening of hockey. Ned Vitarelli's pack could climb the loop ladder right rapidly the final month of the schedule if they keep hustling in that Friday night form. But they have their "off" nights, too, and the fast-stepping Quinte squad is no pushover in puck play at home or on the road. It shapes up as a fine senior fray to start off the week, and should draw well.

Too Much Money, Huh?

We note where the local parks' foreman has said that outdoor hockey rinks in the city "cost too much money for all they are worth." Some figures purport to back this idea with a mention of 87 minor teams shrinking to a mere 40, despite an increase in population here. That top figure of 87 must have been taken years ago ere Civic Arena was built and artificial ice installed. This arena now takes care of dozens of minor teams, school, church, PMHA, peewee and so on. Also many new citizens here came from Europe and their kids never did play hockey. Sponsors of minor teams, too, must hestitate when they recall last winter. The rinks were closed up early due to a mild spell—yet there was a month or more of fine hockey weather later.

* * * * * *

Even if the present figure of 40 teams is right—and we have our doubts as to that low number—that would mean 500 or more young boys using these half-dozen outdoor puck rinks. Is the comparatively low cost of operating these rinks for three months a year too much money to pay for this healthy outdoor recreation? Should these 500 or more boys be kept from hockey to save a few thousands of dollars when that money could be put into, say, planting more shrubs and flowers about the city? Youth's animal spirits seek some outlet, so why not on ice rinks, rather than on downtown streets or back alleys? Is it a civic trend—like parking meters—to invest only in that which makes a profitable financial return? We think healthful activity and fun pay off, too.

Doings In The District

Glancing around at some of the district puck circuits, we note where Havelock took a TVL 10-7 tilt over Trenton while Belleville Glens beat Norwood 14-12. Games tonight: Hastings at Belleville, Lakefield at Trenton, and Havelock at Norwood. In the East Peterborough League, Warsaw invaded Keene and flew home with a 10-3 victory. St. Peter's tangle tonight with Keene, as Wednesday sees Keene at Lakefield. Otonabee loop jousts tomorrow e'en in Keene are: Indian River vs. Hiawatha, and Keene vs. Downer's Corners. Some of these district schedules wind up within two weeks, with hot playoff series following. With more and more Peterborough players showing up in these lineups, the calibre of play has improved considerably, and fans are viewing some tidy tussles.

PCVS junior OABA entry opened provincial playdowns with a 65-53 cage win o'er Oshawa Irish here Saturday, first of a two-game series. A prelim tilt at Collegiate saw St. Peter's on the short side of a 43-25 count against PCVS junior "A" crew. Murray Grafstein led the OABA victors in this opener with a fine all-around showing, and he racked up 16 points. An Eastern Ontario hoop loop tussle same night at the YMCA saw Gord McIntyre's Marines trounce Picton A's 80-29 to take over undisputed possession of top spot in the standing, the schedule winding up in a week. It'll be Marines and Belleville in group playoffs. Neil Thompson led 'em at bat with 18 points. An exhibition prelim went to Y-Knots by 41-39 o'er Port Hope High.

PCVS Cagers Beat Oshawa By Score Of 65-53 To Commence OABA Series

The Garnet and Grey junior basketball team started down the Ontario playdown trail successfully Saturday night. Actually being Bev Goulding's senior "A" COSSA cagers, the juniors outscored and out-roughed Oshawa's Flying Irish 65-53 in the first game of the two-game points-to-count OABA series. In the preliminary game, Jack Cullis' junior "A" squad easily dropped St. Peter's juniors 43-25. The Saints were overpowered by the Garnet and Grey's experience and depth.

For the senior "A" team, the win against Oshawa was their best showing this year. The COSSA-headed Garnet and Grey indicated plans for further OABA play when they passed better, shot better and rebounded better than the Irish.

But the Flying Irish could fly when the odds were down. In fact, they took the lead early in the quarter, only to give way to PCVS cagers who broke quickly up the floor to take the lead. From there until the final five minutes there was never more than four points separating the teams.

Had the Lead

The Garnet and Grey had a two-point lead, 18-16, at the first quarter, and extended it to 35-32 at half-time. But they began to finish strong late in the third quarter which ended 47-41 as several Irish regulars were noticed breathing heavily from the fast pace.

PCVS took a nine-point lead early in the quarter and finished off in the last minute by increasing the margin to 12 points.

During the last quarter the Irish were gradually losing their manpower. First loss by the Irish was Booth in the third quarter, and in the fourth he was followed by Mackness, Corse and the top scorer Harris.

Hempstead of Peterborough and Bilksy of Oshawa, the referees, handed out 29 personals to Oshawa and 23 to PCVS, the Irish having slightly more than 50 per cent of the foul shots good. But they were booed in the fourth quarter several times by the 200 fans for poor calls, especially the cheap fouls, violations of the three-second and 10-second rules.

Muray Shone

Murray Grafstein again led the homesters, both offensively and defensively. The stocky guard was death on rebounds throughout the game as well as checking good with short, quick jabs. With nifty one-hand push shots from fairly close in and clever work under the basket, he totalled 16 points.

Dave Langhorne, recovering after an ankle injury, whipped in 13 for PCVS, Don Ash 11, and Byron Young 10.

But the game's scoring honors went to Oshawa's Harris with 17 as PCVS had trouble stopping his accurate shots and work on the rebounds. Mackness sank 11 points.

Johnny Lynch's Saints pushed the Garnet and Grey juniors during the first half of the preliminary game. Quinlan, Galvin, and Simmons racked up 16 points in the first half, but PCVS' Danny Griffin led the Collegiate to a one-point lead.

The second half was all PCVS, with Griffin continuing his first half pace backed by his teammates who began to find the range. They easily outscored the Saints 26-9 in that half.

Griffin totalled 16 points for PCVS, his closest rival, Saints' Doug Galvin with 10.

The lineups:

Preliminary Game

PCVS 43 — Corbett, Roberts 6, Griffin 16, Boorman 4, Armstrong 5, Allen 2, Marshall 2, Carleton 6, Eastwood, Fowler, Foote 2, Burgess.

SPS 25— McGillen 3, Galvin 10, McTeague 1, Simmons 5, Legros, Quinlan 6, O'Rourke, Ryan, Finn.

OABA Junior Game

PCVS 65 — Grafstein 16, Langhorne 13, Ash 11, Young 10, Hempstead 7, Hendry 4, Brown 2, Cranfield 2.

Oshawa 53 — Harris 17, Mackness 11, Mroczek 9, Hill 6, Corse 4, Armsted 3, Booth 3, Lambert, Bradley.

BILL STACK, above, who will get his severest test Tuesday at the Brock when he meets the powerful German grappler Hans Hermann in the semi-final. Hermann is a well-built giant and rated one of the best matmen in the game. The main bout is a tag team affair bringing together Bobo Brazil and Pat Flanagan versus Lord Athol Layton and Lou Pitoscia. There will be plenty of fireworks in this match. Another topnotch wrestler, a newcomer here, Sandor Kovacs clashes with Stan Mayslack in the opener. This is the best card to show here this season and rates a record crowd.

Weekend Stars

By The Canadian Press.

George Gee, Chicago, who scored once and garnered two assists as the Black Hawks downed Detroit Red Wings 3-2 Saturday.

Tod Sloan, Toronto, who scored the equalizer as Leafs tied New York Rangers 3-3 Saturday.

Terry Sawchuk, Detroit, who chalked up his 10th shutout of the season as the Red Wings blanked Chicago 3-0 Sunday afternoon.

Bernie (Boom-Boom) Geoffrion of Montreal, who scored three times Sunday as Canadiens dumped New York 5-3.

Toronto goalie Al Rollins who chalked up his fifth shutout of the season as Leafs blanked Boston 3-0 Sunday.

Marines Lead With Win Over The A's

For the fourth time this season, Marines are in first place in the Eastern Ontario Basketball League and there's only one week before the schedule runs out.

Gord McIntyre's Marines broke a first-place tie with Belleville Glen Roys on Saturday night when they whipped Picton Athletics 80-29 at the YMCA gym. This was worth four points, including a postponed game in Picton and the Marines' home tilt, by arrangement between the teams.

In their two appearances this year at the YMCA, the Athletics have suffered severe beatings. Marines went on a rampage in the first appearance, rolling up 96 points. Meanwhile the Athletics have been able to total only 60 points in the games.

Marines Saturday again used strategy; they ran the legs off Athletics, then sent their more experienced players out to clean up.

Use Strategy

Neil Thompson, Hugh Dibben, Ab Stewart, Harold Grafstein and Bill Trimm were sent out in the first quarter and stayed there for the duration. They ran, ran and ran while at the same time rolling up an impressive 19-6 score. Then the veterans took over in the second, along with Thompson, and racked up a 36-15 score at the half.

The younger lads started the third off and went through up to a 60-23 score at the three-quarter mark. By this time Athletics were soundly beaten and Marines settled back to roll up the score further.

Neil Thompson hit his stride for the first time this season by leading his team with 18 points mostly from one-hand shots from the left side. But he also saw that his teammates had a chance to score and set them up throughout the game.

The Stewart brothers, Joe and Ab, tallied 13 points, Joe working from under the basket and Ab on the set shots. But Warren Smith topped both with his season's top performance of 14 points which came on two-hand set shots in the fourth.

Ron Colliver, Thompson and Kitchen each scored six points for Athletics who were bothered by the stiff zone defence thrown up by Marines. Besides playing well offensively, Harold Grafstein and Hugh Dibben controlled the backboards, leaping high for rebounds to start quick attacks up the floor.

Marines have one game left, that next Saturday with Trenton Flyers who are in third place. Then playoffs in the Quinte section of the Eastern Ontario intermediate playdowns begin with Belleville Glen Roys.

Lineups:

Marines (80)—J. Stewart 13, A. Stewart 13, Thompson, 18 Trimm 5, Smith 14, Dibben 9, Grafstein 8.

Picton (29) — R. Colliver, 6, Hepburn 4, Chalmers 2, Monlow 3, B. Colliver, Cole 2, Thompson 6, Kitchen 6.

Y-Knots Victorious

After Port Hope High School cagers had led throughout most of the game, Fraser Wade's Y-Knots pulled out a last-minute win 41-39 in a preliminary fray at the YMCA gym Saturday night.

Port Hope went ahead at the first quarter 12-11, then were up 21-19 at half-time and were still ahead at the three-quarter mark 31-29. The team remained within one point until the last minute when Port Hope were up 39-38. Batchelor flipped in a hook shot, followed by a foul shot by Butcher for the win.

Lenahan, of Port Hope, smooth worker at both ends, took the game's scoring honors with 15, closely followed by Batchelor with 14 and Butcher with 10.

Lineups:

Y-Knots (41) — Butcher 10, Londry 2, Jamieson 3, Stewart 6, Batchelor 14, Cunningham 6, McMartin.

Port Hope (39)—Welde, Rose 5, Jordon 11, Lenahan 15, Trewin 8, Ashton, Anderson, Gordon.

The Inter-City Lacrosse League has moved in Vancouver to set up an Eastern-Western (Ontario and British Columbia) Senior Lacrosse League.

At a meeting Friday it was proposed that senior clubs in Canada secede from the Canadian Lacrosse Association and set up another association which run its own affairs and conduct the Mann Cup play-offs.

The resolution was tabled until next meeting. In the meantime the Ontario Senior Lacrosse Association will be approached on the question.

The resolution is the result of criticism of the CLA's handling of the Mann Cup playoff in Vancouver last year.

The Inter-city League is made up of Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster and Nanaimo teams.

Frank Gabl, Canadian Olympic ski candidate, Sunday won the international slalom event at Geilo, Western Norway, in one minute, 57.7 seconds. Runner-up to the director of Mt. Norquay Ski School, Banff, Alta., was Norway's Gunnar Hjelinks 2:01.6.

Lloyd Mangrum, golf's leading money winner last year, took his first 1952 victory in the $10,000 Phoenix (Ariz.) open golf tournament. He came in five strokes ahead of his nearest competitor as he bettered par for the fourth straight day. He won $2,000.

Edmonton Mercurys Saturday night tucked away the Jean Potin Cup with an easy 6-3 victory over the United States Olympic hockey team in Paris. Mercurys, touring Europe en route to the championships next month in Oslo, Friday night beat the British entry 14-0.

The Amateur Softball Association of America Saturday in Chicago chose Toronto as the site of the 1952 World Women's National Exhibition. The men's tournament will be held at Bridgeport, Conn., beginning Sept. 13.

Tom Dennie, 29-year-old Quebec City chauffeur, Saturday won the world championship one-mile and three-mile races at the 44th annual International Snowshoe Union's Congress in Manchester, NH.

Walter O. (Spike) Briggs Jr., 40, once a college second baseman, took over as president of the Detroit Tigers Sunday. He succeeded his father who died nine days ago.

The University of Western Ontario wrestling team won its fifth straight dual meet Saturday night in London when it edged the strong Ontario Agricultural College Aggies 21-18. It was the second straight Western win over the Aggies from Guelph this season.

GREEDY FISH

The pike, most voracious of freshwater fish, will devour all kinds of smaller fish including the young of its own kind.

Women's Consolation Win For City Badminton Players; Exhibitions Thrill Big Crowd

Peterborough badminton players' only consolation at the Central Ontario Badminton Association's tournament in Belleville Friday and Saturday was winning the women's consolation Friday night. In all the other events except the women's doubles, the Peterborough club entrants were ousted in the quarter finals.

Peterborough's only hopefuls for a district championship were Mrs. R. Charlton and Miss Verna Rose in the women's doubles. They worked their way into the finals after wins in the quarter finals and then the semi-finals over a Bowmanville and Port Hope duo on Friday.

Another Port Hope pair, Mrs. Dorothy Harvey and Miss A. Armstrong, revenged the earlier trimming of their club mates by the Peterborough women. They won the championship over Mrs. Charlton and Miss Rose in two straight games, both by scores of 15-11, to retain their doubles championship won last year.

Win Consolation

The club's only win came in the women's consolation Friday when Miss R. McKee and Miss C. McHugh defeated Miss Jean Allen and Miss Dorothy Harvey in the finals.

History repeated itself not only in the women's doubles but in the men's singles, women's singles and men's doubles.

Ernie Neilson, of Bowmanville, is again men's singles champion after three games were required to declare a winner. He defeated Gordon Kerr, of Belleville, 17-16 in the first, lost 17-15 in the second and won the third decisively 15-7.

Miss Esther Martin, Port Hope, needed only two games to dispose of Miss Ruth Thompson, of Bowmanville, in the women's singles, winning 11-1 and 11-8. She held the championship last year.

In two games, Bob Kent and Ernie Neilson, both Bowmanville, defeated clubmates Tighe and Burgess, to build their men's doubles championships. They won by scores of 15-11 and 15-9.

Port Hopers Win

The mixed doubles championship fell into new hands when Mr. and Mrs. Al Harvey, of Port Hope, turned back the efforts of Ernie Neilson and Miss M. Nickols, of Bowmanville. They also won two straight, 15-12 and 15-9.

Apart from the championship events the highlight Saturday night was the exhibition games. Don Smythe, Toronto, Ontario singles champion, and Gord Simpson, Kingston, each won a game in the singles. Smythe teamed with Bill Purcell, of Toronto, and Simpson, with John Johnstone, of Kingston, in the doubles, Smythe and Purcell winning two straight.

The tournament was larger than expected. More than 220 players from various clubs throughout the district took part.

After the presentation of prizes, lunch was served in the mess, followed by dancing.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Been out of circulation for the last few days and consequently we are out of touch with curling activities. However, we will scrape the bottom of the old oaken bucket and see what we find.

The Ontario Ladies' Tankard games are being played in Hamilton today. Play began this morning. The ladies' club is represented by two rinks:

Mrs. H. Worton, Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. G. Wood, Mrs. T. Doughty, skip.

Mrs. H. Scott, Mrs. M. Holt, Mrs. J. Watts, Mrs. V. Selkirk, skip.

Dr. R. Clark, Dr. R. Morgan, V. Selkirk, and Z. Levine are playing in the Quebec City bonspiel today. They are accompanied by Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Morgan.

Notice came through Saturday morning that our Tankard and District Cup rinks will play the next round in their respective competitions on Thursday, January 31, at 9 am at Oshawa.

The ladies' Club began its annual leads and seconds competition this afternoon.

The draw for Wednesday night is posted on the notice board. These will be Neill consolation games and vice-skips' games. Curlers act accordingly.

We received a wire late Sunday afternoon from Utica, NY, and it read: "Stenson's rink reaches finals in second event."

And that about cleans out the barrel: In the meantime we will try and hunt up some news for tomorrow.

Hornets Down Cincinnati 3-2

By The Canadian Press.

Pittsburgh Hornets continued to hold sway in the American Hockey League's western division and Hershey Bears still pace the eastern section.

Pittsburgh downed Cincinnati Mohawks 3-2 Saturday. Hershey played to a scoreless tie with Cleveland Indians Saturday but bowed to Buffalo Bisons 4-3 on Sunday.

In other Sunday games, Providence Reds outscored Syracuse Warriors 7-4 and Cleveland downed Indianapolis Capitals by a similar score.

A scheduled tilt between St. Louis Flyers and Cincinnati Mohawks will be played at a later date.

In other Saturday games Providence beat Syracuse 6-1 and St. Louis ran roughshod over Buffalo 9-1.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Today's column could be entitled: "What Price Glory?" an old, ironic sports theme. This is the story of Jim Thorpe, a great amateur, winner of the 1912 Olympic decathlon and penathlon, though you'd never know it by scanning official amateur hand-books and manuals.

Twice, in the last two years, I met the great Indian athlete, the story of whose phenomenal Olympic feats were ruthlessly swept from the record-books as if their presence there would constitute an abomination. This bit of far-fetched inquisitorial intolerance and small-minded bigotry was inspired doubtless, by a churlish thought that with no printed record, Thorpe's greatness would soon be forgotten, that later generations would be unaware such an athletic great ever existed.

I met Thorpe one night in Montreal. He was trying then to eke out a living as manager of an Indian wrestler, and professional promoters, who owed him nothing except pity for his lowly estate, were more kind to Thorpe than were those who hounded him from the ranks of amateurism. For his wrestler was not a very good wrestler, and didn't last very long. But for a year, he got employment at his trade, for the sake of Jim Thorpe and his memories.

I asked Jim Thorpe if he thought he had been dealt with unfairly when his records were expunged from the official books. "It doesn't matter now" he answered quietly. But you could sense that here was an embittered man. And that was all he would say, about the loss of his trophies, sent back to the men he had defeated fairly on Sweden's Olympic field, and the garrotting of his records: "It doesn't matter now."

I met him again, only a few weeks ago, in Jack Dempsey's New York restaurant. He was but recently out of hospital, and a great plaster covered his lower lip, hiding the marks of an operation for skin cancer. He was shabily dressed, his hair unkempt, as if he no longer cared, even though at that very moment, a modern sports world was seeking to prove that Jim Thorpe hadn't been forgotten. And he conjured up a smile as some youngsters, who had been dining with their parents, clustered round him, seeking his autograph. I doubt if they knew much, if anything about him, but the parents had said: "That's Jim Thorpe", and that a younger generation was interested enough to get his autograph made Jim Thorpe happy.

"Jim is bitter" his wife said "he feels that his own generation forgot him. He feels he was hardly dealt with. Jim was truly an amateur when he won the Olympic honors, an amateur in spirit. He was, indeed, just an ignorant Indian boy off the reservation, who had played baseball because he loved the game, saw no harm in accepting a few dollars payment for his services. He was an amateur in the Olympics, which had nothing to do with baseball. He feels bitter about being forced to return his trophies, bitter that his records were deleted from the books. It is, to him, as if he had never lived."

But Jim Thorpe hadn't been forgotten after all. Funds were started. Dollar donations poured in. For the present, Jim Thorpe won't face poverty.

But what price glory? It's a pitiful thing that the greatest athlete of the first half-century should be forced, in his declining days, to depend on charity for the very necessities of life. Stranger still, (or is it?) that professional sport should feel impelled to rally to the aid of a man whose greatest fame was achieved in amateur competition. There's something of mockery here.

What would make Jim Thorpe happier, even than money, we think, would be to have his amateur status returned to him, as a good-will gesture, his Olympic records placed back in the official books. After all, how long can a man's sentence last, for a trivial technical offense? Must it be a life sentence? Or is the quality of mercy completely unstrained?

Sullivan Scores Two Goals As Bruins Bow To Habs; Leafs Chalk Up Win, Tie

By The Canadian Press

Although the weekend was a busy one as far as the National Hockey League was concerned, the full slate of six games—three of them played Saturday night, one Sunday afternoon and the other two Sunday night—did little to change the six-team standings. Montreal Canadiens, the only team to win both of its weekend encounters, gained a point on Toronto Maple Leafs, their current rivals in the quest for second place. The Leafs, who came up with a win and a tie in their two games, lead the Habs by only three points.

Saturday night, the Montrealers downed the fifth-place Boston Bruins 5-3 and then clipped the fourth-place Rangers by the same score Sunday night in New York. Toronto had to settle for a 3-3 deadlock with the Rangers Saturday, but Sunday blanked fifth-place Bruins 3-0 in Boston.

Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks split their weekend fare. Saturday night at Detroit, the tail-end Hawks came through with their 13th victory of the season and surprised the league leaders 3-2. Sunday afternoon, the Wings bounced back before 13,904 Chicagoans for a 2-0 decision.

Cal Gardner sent the Maple Leafs into a 1-0 lead at 6:48 of the first period of Saturday's game against New York. Reggie Sinclair tied it up while his team was short-handed at 18:50, only to have Harry Watson put the Leafs back into the lead 32 seconds later.

Good Hockey

Some of the best hockey of the season saw the Rangers take over the lead in the second period as Edgar Laprade came through at 8:41 and Ed Kullman scored at 13:21. Tod Sloan gave the Leafs their tying marker at 17:22 of the period while Gaye Stewart was sitting out a New York penalty.

Montreal's rookie contingent led the Habitants' Saturday night parade, scoring four of the club's five goals. Paul Meger, Bernie Geoffrion, Dollard St. Laurent and Dick Gamble shared the limelight while Veteran Floyd Curry banged in the other.

Scores Two Goals

Red Sullivan slapped in two of the Boston markers while Milt Schmidt lit the red light on the other.

George Gee, Bill Mosienko and Jim Peters garnered Chicago's goals in their Saturday night victory while Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe came through for the Red Wings. Howe's tally was his 25th of the season.

At Chicago Sunday afternoon, Metro Prystai broke a two-period scoreless tie with his goal at 2:35 of the final. Detroit's other goal came when Ted Lindsay grabbed a loose puck and skated in on an empty Chicago net at 19:40 after Harry Lumley had been pulled in favor of an extra forward.

Bernie Geoffrion was the hero of Sunday's Montreal victory in Madison Square Garden. Banging in three goals—two of them with two minutes of each other in the first period—the Canadiens rookie led his team to the victory over the Rangers.

Paul Meger and Dickie Moore scored Montreal's two other tallies while Edgar Laprade, Wally Hergesheimer and Reg Sinclair banged in the Rangers' three goals.

Harry Watson, Ted Kennedy and Cal Gardner shared in Toronto's 3-0 win at Boston with a goal in each of the three periods. The shutout was Rollins' fifth of the season, his third against the Bruins.

Toronto Buys Ezinicki Again

BOSTON, Jan. 28 (CP)—Boston Bruins Sunday night sold right-winger Bill Ezinicki back to Toronto Maple Leafs for duty with the latter's farm club in Pittsburgh.

It was reported as a straight cash deal arranged by general-manager Art Ross and Toronto's Conn Smythe.

Smythe had said earlier that the Leafs would call up right-winger George Armstrong from Pittsburgh to play against the Canadiens in Toronto Feb. 9. At that time he said he was searching for a right winger to take Armstrong's place in Pittsburgh.

Ezinicki has been inactive the last eight games because of a groin injury.

The Bruins got Ezinicki from Toronto a year ago last November.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Defenceman Eddie Shore returned to the Boston Bruins line-up 18 years ago tonight after a 16-game suspension from the National Hockey League following the historic Ace Bailey accident. Bailey, Toronto right winger, had suffered a fractured skull in a collision with Shore at Boston and was in serious condition for some days. The injury forced Bailey's retirement from hockey.

McGregor Pulls Big Upset, Whips Sedgman

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 28 (AP).—Big Ken McGregor pulled a startling upset today when he whipped Frank Sedgman, 7-5, 12-10, 2-6, 6-2, to win the Australian tennis championship.

In the battle between the two Aussie aces, McGregor staged two brilliant rallies to win the first two sets against Sedgman, generally regarded as the top player in the world.

Sedgman led 5-2 in the first set and seemed to have it in the bag. But then he started to make errors and McGregor reeled off five straight games to take the set.

This loss seemed to shake life into Sedgman, and he took a 3-0 lead in the second set. But, again, McGregor, playing like a demon, pulled up to 5-5 and finally won the marathon, 12-10.

Sedgman flashed his attacking game and won the third set with ease, 6-2.

But after an intermission, McGregor came storming back to take fourth set and the championship. He never gave Sedgman a chance with his powerful drives, and finished it off with a sweet placement that caught Sedgman on the wrong foot.

The crowd, realizing they had seen a big upset, stood and gave McGregor a rousing applause.

Sweet Victory

It was a doubly sweet victory for McGregor. He not only won the title which just eluded him last year, but he showed the cup selectors that they may have been mistaken when they failed to give him a singles berth in the recent challenge round against the United States.

McGregor played only doubles against the US, the singles berths going to Mervyn Rose and Sedgman.

In junior play, Aussies Ken Rosewall and Lewis Hoad held their title by defeating Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Victoria Neil Fraser, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Nancye Bolton and Thelma Long retained their women's doubles crown with an easy 6-1, 6-1, victory over Alison Baker and Mary Hawthorn.

Believe Vishinsky Losing Punch Both Physically, Politically

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

PARIS Jan. 28 (AP)—There is widespread feeling among United Nations people that Andrei Vishinsky is losing his punch—physically and politically.

He went back to Moscow last week; some delegates expressed belief this may be his last UN general assembly. Before too long, they said, Andrei A. Gromyko, his first deputy, may succeed him as Russia's foreign minister.

There are three good reasons, these delegates point out, for the old fire-eater, Vishinsky, to be slowing down physically:

1. He is 68 and his last few years have been full of turmoil in international relations.

2. He can't stop going. He insists on taking heavy loads of work and he does more than any other man in his delegation.

3. He has been a sick man for some time. Some say he is suffering from diabetes.

Other Reasons

There are also three reasons, delegates say, to back up feeling that he is slipping politically:

1. His boner of scornfully laughing at western arms-limitation proposals from the platform of the general assembly. This shocked several delegates, even professed neutrals, who said humor on such a subject was out-of-place.

2. His added boner, a short time later, in tossing aside the western proposals as not worthy of consideration and offering in their stead a warmed-over hash of Russian proposals already beaten by general assembly votes.

3. His slip of the tongue when he apparently lost his temper and said the four United States aviators who landed in Hungary "received due attention from our border authorities and I hope that due attention will be given them by our military and judicial authorities."

Openly Bragging

The word "our" meant Soviet control to everyone who heard him; it appeared Vishinsky was openly bragging that the Russians were running the Hungarian show. The quick trial in Hungary after Vishinsky spoke seemed to some delegates to confirm his remarks.

Vishinsky uses sarcasm, too, as he did in hitting back at a speech by Canada's Justice Minister, Stuart Garson. He called Garson "garçon", the French word for "boy" or "waiter".

Delegates who watched Vishinsky's various manoeuvres during this assembly speculated that he wanted some concrete achievement to take back to Moscow. But all of his propositions so far have been voted down or shunted aside with one possible exception and that may by a slim strip of bacon to place before Premier Stalin.

That was the resolution in which the assembly recommended to the security council that it hold a high-level meeting whenever the council felt such a meeting would be useful. Vishinskly originally proposed that the security council hold such a meeting, without delay, and consider what it could do about helping end the Korean truce talks successfully.

The west refused because of the open attempt to bring the Korean armistice issue into the veto-ridden security council and because it would upset the negotiations in Korea. The resolution finally approved by the assembly called for meetings whenever the council felt the time was ripe.

Ministers Elect Rev. E. W. Rivers

HAVELOCK, Jan. 26 (ENS)—The Havelock Branch of the Campbellford and district Ministerial Association met Friday afternoon at the United Church parsonage when the following officers were elected for 1952:

Chairman, the Rev. E. W. Rivers; secretary, Pastor L. Bigelow; treasurer, the Rev. R. G. Newman.

A gratifying report from the treasurer was accepted.

The advantages of audio-visual aid for Sunday school advancement will be demonstrated at a meeting in the Havelock United church on January 30, at 8:15 pm when film strips will be shown. Records will be played in connection with the showing of these films which will give them a similar effect of a talkie.

A youth rally for Havelock and district was planned for February 8, in the Pentecostal Church. Hearty singing, musical selections, and a youth speaker will be features of the meeting.

FEELING ALL DRAGGED-OUT?

Do you wake up in the morning feeling tired and dragged-out? Do you have a dull head, and force yourself to keep going at a job that seems to be just plain drudgery?

It may be there's just one thing preventing you from feeling fit as a fiddle with a happy outlook on life. Like as not your trouble is due to sluggish kidneys, or just a case of plain constipation. Kruschen Salts is specially made to help correct those very conditions. Kruschen contains laxative and diuretic ingredients similar to those found in well-known mineral springs. Which means that Kruschen helps both bowels and kidneys to get rid of waste matter—gently, yet effectively.

It's worth trying anyway. Half a teaspoonful is all you need in a tumbler of hot water each morning before breakfast when needed. Millions of people use this aid to better health. Try it yourself. Get a package of Kruschen Salts today.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

12-YEAR-OLD WINNER.

Twelve-year-old Betty Ann DeNoble, 140 Robinson St., won third prize of $150 in the Canada Corn Starch contest held recently. Betty is in Grade 8 and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DeNoble.

MACHINE INJURES FINGER

Frank Whitton, 40 Manning Ave., was given out-patient treatment at Civic hospital Saturday noon for a lacerated finger on his left hand. Mr. Whitton's finger was caught in a joiner machine he was working on.

EXECUTIVE OF BOYS' WORK.

J. A. Hunter, of 309 Mason Ave., was elected vice-chairman of the Ontario Boys' Work Board at their annual meeting in Toronto Saturday. Mr. Hunter, who is president of the alumni of the Ontario Boys' Parliament, is a member of George Street United Church.

ROLLS TRUCK OVER.

Rene Lavalee of Warren Ontario, emerged uninjured from his three-ton truck after rolling it over in the ditch Saturday. The truck went out of control while Lavalee was driving west on Highway 7, five miles east of Havelock. The right door and fenders were damaged.

HURT SKATING

Two children were given out patient treatment at Civic Hospital Sunday for injuries received while they were skating. David Perkes, 10, 530 Gilmour St., received a cut on his left eye when he fell on the ice while skating, and Sandra Calabrese, 9, 14 Mill St., was treated for a cut on her chin.

MASONIC SERVICE

Members of Corinthian Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 101 paid their last respects to Bro. Howard Blewett at a short masonic memorial service held on Sunday night at the Kaye Funeral Home. Mr. Blewett was a member of Corinthian Lodge and an officer until ill health forced his retirement.

Flew The Coop

A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush; likewise, a suspect in the wagon is worth two outside it. City police learned this lesson the hard way recently. Two youths entered a Downie St. house, whose owner was away. Passers-by, friends of the owner, noticed an extra light burning. Police were notified, and came to the house with the Black Maria. One suspect was caught in the house, taken to the wagon and shut in. The door wasn't locked, and when the officers returned to the house, the suspect's companion nipped out of the bushes and released the catch on the door.

Too Frightened Youth Says, Flees Accident

"I was too scared to stop."

This was the explanation 18-year-old Robert Yeomans gave in police court today after pleading guilty to leaving the scene of an accident and driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Yeomans was driving east on Highway 7 about 3 am Sunday, when he sideswiped a westbound car, forcing it off the shoulder of the highway.

Magistrate W. R. Philp fined Yeomans $50 and $2.50 costs on the driving while impaired charge and $40 and $2.50 costs for leaving the scene of the accident.

The Magistrate also ordered Yeomans' driver's licence suspended for 60 days.

Shouldn't Drive

Commenting on Yeomans' statement that he was "too scared to stop," Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said in speaking to sentence, "Insurance companies have found they have to charge higher premiums for drivers under 25 just because they do panic as exhibited here. The accused is financially incapable of standing any expense and had no business driving at all."

Magistrate Philp ruled that if the two fines were not paid immediately, the two alternative jail sentences of one month on each charge are to run consecutively, one after the other.

After Yeomans had collided with the car, driven by Christy Steenborough, 1053 Western Ave., and continued driving east, the provincial police were notified.

OPP Constables Thomas Armitage and Thomas Armstrong, on patrol near Havelock, set up a road block on the outskirts of the village and began checking eastbound cars.

When they stopped Yeomans' car, Constable Armitage said they saw the left rear fender of his car was damaged and the left side of his car was covered with black paint (the same color as the Steenborough car).

Constable Armitage testified that Yeomans first said he had hit a tree coming out of Peterborough. Then, after the car had been taken to a garage, he said he had been in collision with a car and had not stopped.

Yeomans' breath "smelled strongly of alcohol," Constable Armitage said but he said Yeomans refused to tell where he had obtained the liquor.

Damage to the Steenborough car would be approximately $250, Constable Armitage said.

KENNER COLLEGIATE CORNER STONE was laid Saturday by Mrs. Mary Kenner, widow of Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, after whom the new collegiate was named. In a brief ceremony attended by the city council, board of education and interested citizens, Mrs. Kenner (above) plied the trowel as the corner stone was eased into place by A. Paddock (left), superintendent of the Eastwood Construction Company, and Ted King (right), an employee. Dr. Kenner was principal at the Peterborough Collegiate for 35 of his 50 years on the staff.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

New Collegiate Cornerstone Laid By Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner

The corner stone of the new Kenner Collegiate, Monaghan Rd. south, was laid Saturday afternoon as some 50 people—members of city council, county council, board of education and other interested citizens—looked on. Mrs. Mary Kenner, widow of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, after whom the new collegiate was named, plied the sliver trowel as the corner stone was eased into place.

In a 15-minute ceremony Mayor Hugh Waddell, Chairman W. B. Gordon and Mrs. Kenner each made brief addresses.

The blessing was given by the Rev. Charles Boyd, president of the ministerial association.

The $650,000 collegiate should be ready for classes this fall. The foundations were laid some months ago; the roof is now on and the building is in the bricking stage.

Members of the board of education decided that the new collegiate should be named after the late Dr. Kenner who was on the Peterborough staff, as teacher and principal, for 50 years.

Records of Planning

A copper container holding pertinent records was inserted in the brickwork of the wall underneath the corner stone.

Included in the records were a 1952 map of the city, editorials and news stories leading up to the bylaw authorizing construction of the collegiate, an historical sketch on the planning that went into the job, a list of city council and various committees, a copy of the board's bylaws and regulations, a list of members of the board and committees, and press accounts of Dr. Kenner's retirement.

Mrs. Kenner, now a Toronto resident, was special guest of the board of education. She thanked the trustees on behalf of herself and her son, Hugh, for honoring the memory of Dr. Kenner.

Mrs. Kenner also said she hoped that the ideals of her late husband would be furthered in the new collegiate and approved by the citizens of Peterborough.

Hubert Eastwood, contractor, presented Mrs. Kenner with a corsage after she finished speaking.

"This building is another progressive step taken by the board of education in its long range plans for education in Peterborough," said Chairman Gordon.

Mr. Gordon thanked both the present and past city councils for their co-operation in approving the collegiate. This co-operation had helped ease the task of the board, he said.

Mr. Gordon also thanked the chairman of accommodation and the past chairman of finance (G. Wilson Craw) for the work he had put in during the planning stage.

Mayor's Congratulations

"I congratulate the board of education, first, on choosing this section of the city for a new high school," said Mayor Waddell. "This . . . was a popular decision on your part as the people in this section of the city have long waited—and patiently too—for some of the advantages shared by other more fortunate areas."

Mayor Waddell said he also thought that the board should be congratulated on the choice of a name for the collegiate.

"It is a privilege to represent the people of Peterborough at such a time," said Mayor Waddell. "But today I say it is an honor when we are gathered to pay tribute to a man who left his mark on so many people—students and staff — particularly anyone who came within his sphere and had anything to do with him."

Dr. Kenner received an LLD. from the University of Toronto for his work as an educationalist. He came to Peterborough as a classics master in 1893 and became principal in 1908.

Union Certified At Campbell's

The Textile Workers' Union of America was today certified as bargaining agent of the employees of Campbell's Dairy Products Ltd. by the Ontario Labor Board.

No vote was taken and the company did not oppose the application of the union to represent the 34 workers of the dairy.

This is the second dairy in the city whose workers have joined the Textile union. The first were the employees of Silverwood's Ltd.

DriverProducesPermit For West Germany

When Constable William G. Scott asked Tadeus Kurowski, 56 Robinson St., one of the drivers involved in an accident Saturday afternoon for his driver's licence, Kurowsik produced a permit issued in West Germany.

Kurowski arrived in Canada in December and his German licence is valid for three-months in Germany.

The accident occurred when Kurowski in crossing the intersection of George and McDonnel Sts. was in collision with a southbound George St., car driven by Donald Mathews, Young's Point.

Damage to Kurowski's car was estimated at $65. The left side of Mathew's car was damaged to the extent of $100.

Truck, Car Collide $185 Damage Done

Damage estimated at $185 resulted when a car and truck collided at Lansdowne and George Streets Saturday night.

W. J. Wakeford, 95 Lansdowne St., going south on George St. stopped for the traffic light at Lansdowne St. when the light changed, the car ahead of him drove ahead, but before Wakeford could get going, his car was in collision with a truck making a right turn from Lansdowne St.

The truck was driven by John C. Clements, 6 Princess St.

An estimated $135 damage resulted to the front end of the car and the left front of the truck was damaged to the extent of $50.

Local Women Have Success At Bonspiel

HAMILTON, Jan. 28 —(CP)— Two district rinks—from Peterborough and Bobcaygeon—won in the first draw at the annual ladies' Tankard play in Hamilton today, playing on Victoria and Thistle ice.

Winning rinks were those skipped by Mrs. Vern Selkirk, Peterborough, and Mrs. J. R. McIntosh of Bobcaygeon. Mrs. McIntosh was one of the pre-draw favorites, along with Mrs. L. Wolley of Toronto Granites and Mrs. H. F. Gorrie of Hamilton Thistles.

Mrs. Selkirk's rink won 12-8 over a Midland rink skipped by Mrs. J. Irvine. Mrs. McIntosh's won 12-6 over Mrs. H. Turner's rink from Welland. Mrs. C. B. Perkins of Lindsay lost 9-6 in the first round to a London rink skipped by Mrs. E. Lindsay.

Nature Club Elects Executive For 1952

Lewis Bird was elected president of the Peterborough Nature Club at an annual meeting Friday night in the YWCA.

Others elected to office were: Honorary president, Mrs. Frank Morris; first vice-president, E. Whiteley; second vice-president, K. Strasser; secretary-treasurer, Miss Margaret Lees; executive committee, Miss M. McIntosh, Miss Lewers and J. M. Burns.

It was decided to continue the Audubon lectures for the 1952-53 season. It was reported that Public school children were showing interest in junior Audubon societies being organized.

Reports covering the year's activities were read.

Walt Disney's picture, "Beaver Valley," was shown and a brief social hour was held.

Man, 68, Dies Two Weeks After Struck

Autopsy Performed To Determine Cause Of Death

Seriously injured when struck by a car on Otonabee St. on January 12, Murney Martin, 68, 267 Simcoe St., died in St. Joseph's hospital.

Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton said that an autopsy was performed today on the body by Dr. C. B. Waite, provincial pathologist, to determine the cause of death. Dr. Carleton added that he and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw would decide later today whether an inquest would be held.

On Sunday, January 13, Mr. Martin regained consciousness in hospital but still suffered from a broken left leg, concussion and cuts on the forehead and chin. His condition then was described as reasonably good.

Dr. Carleton said today that Martin "seemed to be getting along well until just recently."

The accident occurred just past Short St. and Otonabee St. intersection. Martin had been walking along the north side of the street at 11:30 pm when he was struck from behind by a car driven by Elwood McIlmoyle, 33 Armour Road.

Pulled Out To Pass

At the time McIlmoyle told police that he was driving east and pulled out to pass another car and did not see the man until it was too late to avoid hitting him.

The accident occurred near the home of Police Chief John Thompson who was one of the first to arrive at the scene after the accident. Martin was taken to the hospital and treated by Dr. R. E. Pow.

A veteran of both world wars Mr. Martin was born in Tweed the son of Mrs. Amy Martin (Woodcock) of Tweed and the late Harvey Martin. Before coming to Peterborough 30 years ago he lived in Sault Ste. Marie and Blind River.

During the Second World War, he served with the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment overseas for a time and also served overseas in World War One. He was a member of the Red Patch Club and St. James United Church.

Besides his 91-year-old mother surviving him are: Harry of Peterborough; Russell and James of Lakefield; Harland of Apsley and William of Oshawa; sisters, Mrs. Marie Friedley of Toronto, Mrs. Irene Heard, RR 9, Peterborough, and Mrs. Lillian Vilneff of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2 pm from the Bellegham funeral home, the Rev. H. D. McCormack, St. James Church, officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Curler Trips, Falls Cracks Two Ribs

A veteran curler, Alexander Aitkenhead 66, 527 Sherbrooke St., was injured Saturday while curling at the Peterborough Curling Club.

He is in Civic hospital, with two broken ribs and suffering from internal chest injuries as well.

Mr. Aitkenhead was backing down the rink ahead of his stone, when he fell backwards over another stone, falling on the handle.

The Innocents

The old stuffed bear in front of Lech's fur store had his morale raised a few notches on Saturday. He frightened a small boy and his even smaller sister. The pair were walking down the street with their mother when the boy spotted the bear leaning against the tree trunk prop. He was convinced. He let out a shriek and stopped in his tracks. His sister stopped with him Mother did a little explaining and the party edged cautiously along the curb and past the wild beast and walked safely on.

2 Breakins Net $700 In Cash, Adding Machine

Investigation of two breakins during the weekend revealed an adding machine had been taken from J. K. Hughes Water St., garage and $700 in bills missing from Fisk's Tobacco Shop on Hunter St.

Constable Pat Gillis on patrol on Water St., shortly after midnight Sunday saw a window broken at the rear of J. K. Hughes garage.

Constables Ed. Patterson and William A. Scott arrived and assisted in the investigation. At first, it was believed nothing had been taken, although the cash register appeared to have been tampered with and desk drawers looked as if they had been ransacked. Later, it was discovered an adding machine was missing.

A window between the stockroom and garage had also been broken.

At 1.30 am, Saturday morning, Constable Eldon McDonald saw that a window at the rear of Fisk's tobacco store had been broken.

Seven hundred dollars in bills left in the store are missing and three cartons of cigarettes were taken.

Detective Sergeant Bud Clarke is carrying out further investigations today, into both breakins.

Freak Freeze Frustrates Frantic Folk

Bouncing Mercury Keeps Ahead Of Amateur Forecasts

Peterborough citizens continued today to struggle helplessly along in the wake of capricious weather trying to decide what was coming next and what to wear for it.

At noon today the temperature was 13 degrees, four degrees below the lowest point during the night.

Many a citizen was completely taken off guard. After Sunday's mild and sunny treat, they could hardly expect the thermometer to start skidding. At least one man was caught trying to hurry the the spring along. He was wearing a light raincoat today and trying bravely to appear unconcerned about the chilly breeze.

Cold Wave

The weatherman doesn't offer much cheer. "Most of Canada and the north-central States," he says, "lie in the grip of an intense cold wave. Ontario's cold spot, White River, with 45 below, lowest reported on the continent this morning.

"Although there will be sunshine in most localities on Tuesday, the weather map shows no immediate relief from this extensive cold spell."

The quick change after Sunday's brief thaw, turned streets into ice rinks. Then a brief flurry of snow came down early this morning to add to the slipperiness.

City drivers are managing however to keep their cars under reasonable control even on the ice. Few accidents have been reported and none of them have been very serious.

The mercury is expected to keep dropping until it hits 10 degrees during the night. The sun Tuesday will warm the air slightly to about 15 degrees.

However, spring is due to arrive in just under two months on March 21.

Soviet Farmers Meet Grain Production Record

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Soviet Union—according to official figures on its grain yield last year—is going to be in a position to make a number of foreign trade arrangements in 1952.

The Minister of Procurements, P. Ponomarenko, has let it be known that the government grain collections last year were finished ahead of schedule and that more wheat and rye were procured than the year before.

In a report to Stalin, Ponomarenko said that the collective farms and the state farms carried out the grain harvest better in 1951 than they did the year before and fulfilled the state plan ahead of schedule.

This is big news in a country such as the USSR, where grain is highly important both as an internal factor and as a much-sought-after medium of foreign exchange.

Harvest Record

By Christmas day, the collective farms completed their plan and on the same day the state farms had a harvest record of 106 per cent of their target.

That gave both of them six more days to go.

What's more the report showed the collective and state farms turned in 159,000,000 more poods of wheat and rye than they did in the year before. (A pood averages about 36 pounds).

There are two kinds of farms here, the state and the collective. The state farm is a large enterprise owned by the state and farmed by state employees at regular wages. A collective farm is a large farm made up of a number of smaller farms and small farmers.

Each year goals are set for state and collective farms.

In recent years the Soviet Union has sold or traded grain to Britain, Egypt and India among other countries.

High Demand For Fuel Depleting Sources

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP)—Dr. K. H. Kingdom, technical manager of General Electric's Schenectady, NY, atomic power laboratory, Saturday told the Royal Canadian Institute that if the world's demand for fuel and energy continues to grow at its present rate, new energy sources will be needed within a few decades.

He told the meeting that oil and gas reserves cannot be considered a major source of energy for the future.

He said that intensive research now is being carried out covering the conversion of known uranium supplies into sources of fuel and power.

To Name NATO Commander

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters)—The Atlantic pact deputies in London will appoint a supreme comander for the North Atlantic Ocean at their meeting next Wednesday, usually well-informed quarters reported today.

The command was expected to go to United States Admiral Lynde McCormick.

A British deputy supreme commander will probably be appointed at the same time. This was expected to be Vice-Admiral Sir William Herrard Andrews.

Prime Minister Churchill withdrew his earlier opposition to an American supreme commander during his recent talks with President Truman.

Should Prevent Public Services Striking, Board Head Declares

TORONTO, Jan. 28—(CP)—J. Gerald Godsoe, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, said today that strikes "should never occur" in public services when they "endanger health and safety."

Addressing the board's annual meeting, he asked if some other privilege or benefit could not be made available to workers in such public services, and added:

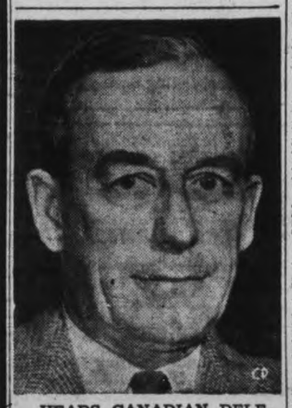
"Conditions in these services are basically different than they were 50 or even 25 years ago, and public opinion would never permit the worker to be exploited. This being so, the strike weapon, valuable as it is, is not as important as it was, particularly if steps were taken to otherwise ensure labor of its full bargaining rights." Also:

"The premature or unnecessary calling of strikes adversely affecting society at large cannot in the long run serve the best interests of labor."

(Toronto recently had a 19-day street-car strike, and a strike of gas workers was narrowly averted.)

Bar Work Stoppage

Mr. Godsoe further suggested that the Ontario government consider legislation which would authorize it to require settlement of a dispute "by arbitration or otherwise without stoppage of work" in cases where "apprehend-work stoppage would create a state of emergency endangering health or safety."



Such legislation, he stated, "would avoid the disadvantages which are involved in a genral system of compulsory arbitration." He commented that "in many places police and firemen are denied the strike weapon and in others we can be assured they would never employ it; nor is the right to strike available to members of the armed forces."

Speaking of "illegal strikes and illegal picketing," Mr. Godsoe said:

"The number of strikes in violation of the labor relations legislation is too great and their recurrence should not be permitted. An important cause of the recurrence, I am informed, lies in the failure of Crown attorneys to assume responsibility for the carriage of charges for striking illegally, as they do in the case of violation of other laws.

"If our laws are wrong or unfair, then let us have them corrected, but so long as they are on our statute books they should be rigidly enforced—otherwise a very dangerous principle is established.

"Also . . . illegal picketing should be restrained by local police. Unfortunately they do not always meet this responsibility. If their forces are inadequate, the municipality should call upon the provincial police."

5 Of 21 Fatalities Caused By House Fires

By The Canadian Press

Fires that destroyed homes accounted for five of the 21 fatalities reported in eastern Canada during the weekend. Three children died in a blaze near Hamilton and two in a fire at Yarmouth, NS.

A Canadian Press compilation early today listed, in addition, eight deaths in traffic, two in a logging mishap, two in shootings and one each in a drowning, a train accident, a fall and an asphyxiation.

Ontario reported 14 violent deaths, Quebec four, Nova Scotia two and New Brunswick one.

An early-morning fire at Fruitland, Ont., in the Hamilton district, took the lives of Donald Sykes, 16; his sister, Arlene, 15; and brother, Leonard, 11.

The fire victims at Yarmouth were two young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Jacquard.

Near Brownsburg, Que., a train struck a stalled automobile at a level-crossing and killed Mrs. Jeanne Roy, 35, of Ville Marie, Que., and Park Sharko, 36, of Hawkesbury, Ont.

Killed In Collision

A freight train collision near Montreal fatally injured Leopold Olivier, 56, conductor on one of the trains.

Robert Ahrweiller, 25, died at Ouocherville, Que., when crushed between two cars.

Allan Campbell, 47, was found fatally injured on a highway after being struck down by a car near Newcastle, NB.

Frederick Day, 71-year-old blacksmith, was killed by a car near Barrie. A collision about 25 miles northwest of Toronto proved fatal to Charles F. Mavety, 54, Palomino horse breeder and theatre owner. George H. Oulds, 37, of Bewdley, was killed near Oshawa when a car in which he had been given a lift was involved in a crash. Owen Burtch, 67, of Lansdowne, Ont., suffered fatal injuries when struck by a car while checking road conditions.

Fatally Shot

Terry Taylor, 3, was fatally shot at Oakville by a rifle his 15-year-old uncle was cleaning.

Police at Mildmay said George Whittacher 42, of Kincardine, shot himself while in a detention cell.

A logging-machine accident at Caramat in Northwestern Ontario cost the lives of Ralph Guitard, 22, of Tiergon, NB, and Dollard Tremblay, 29, of Bury, Que.

The body of Walter Palluk 45, of St. Catharines, was recovered from Toronto Harbor Sunday.

Ted Kennedy, 29, died at Sault Ste. Marie of a skull fracture reported suffered in a fall down a restaurant stairway.

Roy Sleeman, 52-year-old salesman, was found asphyxiated in his car at Guelph.

Living High On A Low Income

For eighteen years, their income has averaged $1600 per annum . . . Yet they own their own home, have money in the bank, even take long winter vacations.

In February Reader's Digest, an ingenious couple show how they live a happy, carefree life by stretching a tiny pension. Here are practical tips on how they do it—how others can do the same, even at today's high prices.

Be sure to read "Living High On A Low Income" in February Reader's Digest. It's just one of 45 articles of lasting interest, condensed from leading magazines, current books.

A HOLIDAY SPOT for convalescing veterans is being built by the Red Patch Club on Eel's creek north of Burleigh Falls. Here veterans just out of hospital and old-timers who have to stretch their money to make it go around, will have a chance to spend a holiday under ideal conditions. The Red Patch Club has already put $3,000 in cash and great deal of work into the camp and only need more money to build individual cabins to give more veterans a chance for a holiday. The main lodge is shown here and one of the club members, George Foster, is at the lower right.

Red Patch Holiday Camp For Veterans Forging Ahead

This spring members of the Red Patch Club hope to have hydro-electric power in their 18-acre convalescent camp at Eel's Creek. And work will be started on building individual cottages for veterans and their families.

The three-room main lodge is completed except for a few minor finishing touches.

Red Patchers—veterans of the First Canadian Divisions in the First and Second World Wars — are proud of their camp which is being built in Burleigh-Anstruther, 28 miles north of Peterborough, near Highway 28.

They say there is no other project like it in Canada.

Purpose of the camp is to have a place where veterans and their families can go for a vacation. Primarily it is for veterans who have just come out of hospital and need fresh air and pleasant surroundings to regain their health.

Elderly ex-servicemen, just making ends meet with their small pensions, would also benefit.

$3,000 Invested

Already the Red Patchers have invested $3,000 in the project. But this sum of money is no indication of the value of the property or the work that has been done there.

The proud boast of the club members is that all the work has been done by volunteer help. Nobody got a penny for putting up the attractive lodge that overlooks a small waterfall by Eel's Creek.

Money has been raised by lucky draws and other club projects.

The 18-acre property was donated by the Department of Lands and Forests. After clearing the site the Red Patchers, working mainly on weekends, built a main lodge.

The lodge consists of a main room, 40 feet by 24 feet that can be used as a dining-room, for dancing or recreation. There is also a kitchen and a store room, both 12 feet by 12 feet. Along the front of the lodge is an enclosed verandah, 40 feet by 12 feet that overlooks the Eel's Creek valley.

Of wooden frame construction, the building has imitation stone siding and red asphalt shingles. It is a little more than 100 yards in from the highway.

Individual Cottages

Individual cottages will be 12 feet by 12 feet, and club members hope to build anywhere from six to a dozen this year. Progress will depend chiefly on the amount of money available.

Also on the agenda for this year is a playground. The Red Patchers hope to clear a suitable area and equip it for a children's recreation ground. Swings, teeter-totters, and a baseball diamond will be included.

One veteran pitched his tent on the site last summer and took advantage of about three weeks of the best holiday weather. Others are expected to follow suit this summer.

Eventually club members hope to have the buildings insulated so they can be occupied even in the coldest part of winter.

Many willing hands are available to do the work, and there is lots of enthusiasm. The biggest snag is the limited amount of money in the treasury.

Believes High Salaries Bad For College Graduates

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP)—A high starting salary for graduates fresh out of university has its dangers, Dr. Sidney Smith, University of Toronto president, said in his annual report.

A false sense of values might be engendered. The high salary might cause the graduate to believe he is fully equipped for life when actually he is not.

"...I have observed many graduates who, on receipt of a large salary, have never moved upward from their position."

He also reported a decline in the enrollment in mining and metallurgical engineering, despite an increased demand for graduates in both fields.

Dr. Smith noted that Dean K. F. Tupper, dean of the faculty of applied sciences and engineering, had suggested the rugged life of adventure and uncertainty associated with the mineral industries has lost its appeal. "He is reluctant to believe that young Canadians are looking for a security that includes no risks," Dr. Smith said. "The frontiers of Canada were not pushed back by men of that kind."

Invite Firms To Check On A-Energy

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—The government is planning to invite certain industrial and other firms and organizations to keep in close touch with Chalk River's attempt to harness atomic energy for power purposes.

Production Minister Howe has already suggested to the Ontario Hydro Commission that it might be interested in the months ahead in studying what the Chalk River project is doing in its studies of the possibility of harnessing the atom.

Exploration of power possibilities is one of the major features of the project and when a new $30,000,000 reactor is finished within the next two or three years these studies will have been considerably expanded.

Mr. Howe himself predicted recently that electricity from atomic energy will be in use within the lifetime of adult Canadians today.

Atomic officials feel that Canadians may benefit from some forms of atomic power within 10 years.

Shot In Cell

MILDMAY, Ont., Jan. 28 (CP). William Whittacher, 42, of Kincardine, was found dead in jail here Saturday shortly after he had been arrested. Authorities said he shot himself with a .22-calibre rifle. An inquest has been ordered. Provincial police are investigating how the rifle came to be in his cell.

Enjoy English-type Dances

There were about 50 couples having a great deal of fun Saturday night at the Anglo-Canadian Club dance in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room. These parties are very different from the usual Canadian dances but when Canadians get acquainted with the program they look forward to the next as much as anyone. The chairman announces each dance and gives it a special name, whether it be a fox trot or waltz or one of the lively English dances, among them the "Hoky Poky", the Lambeth Walk, Military Two-step etc. All of the music is recorded. There are a number of spot dances with prizes given, and there is a special door prize. The winner of the latter Saturday night was the treasurer of the Club, Mr. John Barnes. The president is Mr. Robert Faulkner and Mr. Dave Oliver is secretary. The dancers enjoy an ample buffet lunch before closing the evening. These club affairs are held on the last Saturday evening of each month. The next will be on February 23rd.

Why Do Americans Attempt To Remove Fashion Capital?

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS, Jan. 28 (AP)—Madame Else Schiaparelli, Paris' most famous Italian-born dressmaker, accuses the Italian fashion industry of hitting below the belt.

Madame Schiaparelli said she was most reluctant to criticize her countrymen, "but the Paris fashion industry is going through very hard times indeed, and it is not nice to hit someone when they are down."

Italian fashions, she added in an interview, owe everything to Paris inspiration, "just as American and English fashions do."

Describing the Franco-Italian fashion war "a lot of noise about nothing," Madame Schiaparelli said she thinks talk of competition with Paris "has been put in the Italians' mouths by someone else." She declined to say by whom, but commented "American buyers have been put on the scent of finding something new."

"Why do they keep trying to take the fashion capital away from Paris?" the designer asked.

"Paris is the only place that has the right creative atmosphere. It is the only place in the world where I can work. Paris designers are the only ones who don't go elsewhere for inspiration."

To Italy she conceded, "wonderful materials, excellent tailoring, sports clothes and accessories," but otherwise she compared the new industry to a newborn baby trying to compete with a lovely woman in a beauty contest. Italian designs, she said, lack fantasy and some are too close to copying historical costumes.

Of the French fashion industry's current hard times, Madame Schiaparalli said "they are entirely financial." Citing "savage government taxes," she said only a subsidy or relaxation of taxes and social security costs can save the situation.

There are too many Paris fashion houses, she declared bluntly, and many of them will have to close. The government should select "five or ten houses to help."

Royal Couple Leaves Thursday Kenya-Bound

LONDON, Jan. 27. (Reuters)—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip spent a quiet weekend at home—the last they are to have with their two children for six months.

Next Thursday the Royal couple takes off for Kenya to spend a week there before going on by ship for a city-by-city tour of Australia and New Zealand.

They arrived back in London Saturday night after a vacation at Sandringham, the Royal residence in Norfolk.

The King and Queen, along with their younger daughter, Princess Margaret, will come here from Sandringham today to see them off.

The Princess and Duke will fly to Nairobi in a 40-seater Argonaut of the British Overseas Airways Corp. The plane has been refitted for the flight and can cruise up to 20,000 feet between 230 and 260 mph. It is pressurized and has two private compartments for the Royal couple.

The Princess and the Duke are expected to leave London airport at about noon Thursday if the weather is good. They are scheduled to arrive next morning at Nairobi and will spend a week at Sagan, Kenya, before embarking on the 15,000-ton liner Gothic at Mombasa, for the sea voyage.

They have two official engagements before they take off on their trip, which will keep them away from Britain until the summer.

On Monday they have a tea party date with the Ceylon high commissioner, E. A. P. Wijeyeratne, and next day will dine with the high commissioners of the three dominions they are to visit —Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand.

Most British newspaper Saturday printed pictures of the Royal travellers.

Canuck Hoedown Hit On Tyneside

NEWCASTLE, England (CP)—Canadian square dancing has hit this Tynside area in a big way.

Early in the new year a Corn Cobblers' Club was formed for the teaching of Canadian square dancing, to raise funds in aid of the Poor Children's Holiday Association.

Dances were instantly a huge success and more than 700 would-be club members had to be turned away. Now a 400-member club is being formed at nearby Wallsend.

"We never expected such a crowd," said band-leader Spud Pickering. "Square dancing is one of the best things for making friends and we're going to spread it around."

School "Fun Nite" Draws 500 People

In spite of poor weather, a record crowd about 500 people jammed the halls and class rooms of Confederation School on Friday evening to enjoy an evening of fun. Those attending could easily believe the statement, that one quarter of the population of this city lives south of Lansdowne St.

Conveners of Fun Night were Mrs. D. H. Wood and Mrs. H. Sutton, assisted by the executive of the Home and School Association the teaching staff and a number of the fathers. There was entertainment for young and old.

Films, supervised by Mr. J. Nichols were the high light for the children.

Mr. C. Porter, Mr. A. Omstead and Mr. G. S. Cobb, were in charge of the bingo games. A home baking table including candies and candied apples was in charge of Mrs. C. Porter, Mrs. D. Melville and Mrs. J. Grierson. Card games were another port of the entertainment. Euchre was directed by Mrs. Moore and Mrs. C. H. Crouter and bridge by Mrs. E. Poole and Mrs. F. Williams.

Messrs. D. Melville, H. Sutton and W. H. Powell who served hot dogs and soft drinks were the busiest trio of the evening. Doughnuts and coffee were served by Mrs. W. Hall and Mrs. Gardner.

Square and round dancing were also enjoyed with music provided by friends of the Home and School Association.

Children's door prizes were won by Shirley Devall and Barbara Parks, and Mrs. G. Head won the adult door prize. Bridge prizes went to Mrs. Kuntz and Mr. Jeffries and the euchre prizes to Mrs. F. Sanders and Mr. G. Smith

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity. controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Glitter Of Costume Jewelry Attracts Eye Of Parisiennes

By PEGGY MASSIN

PARIS (Reuters)—Parisiennes who have never worn costume jewelry before have suddenly become conscious of the smart effect of its concentrated glitter on dark winter clothes.

Pearls and rhinestones set the keynote, supplemented by endless variations of sparkling crystal and colored glass—a kaleidoscope of ornate clips, necklaces and earrings.

Couturier Jacques Fath favors large rhinestone arrows piercing the shoulder of a black sweater.

Newest trends feature blatantly imitation stones set like real jewelry with silver settings, invisible prongs and skilful jewel cuts and planing. Using colors to play up the season's couture shades, emerald, sapphire and ruby are duplicated in inexpensive glass. Aquamarine, amethyst and amber stones are both used and extensively imitated. Bronze and gunmetal pearls are smart with the new dark greys and the range of brown tones.

Pearls continue to be popular, necklaces ranging from one to eight strands. Color combinations include various shades of the same hue, or feature contrasting tones. Bronze and amber pearls are effectively intertwined with white ones, or may be interspaced with bits of clear crystal.

Such objects as champagne corks, gambling chips and nuts have gate-crashed the jewelry scene, especially on chunky collars or charm bracelets.

Finally, there is the latest thing in finger nails—which are slip covered for evening wear with gold filagree frames, highlighted with twinkling diamond chips.

October Is Replacing June — As Top Month For Marriages

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP).—Even in the depth of winter honeymoon couples are coming every day to Niagara Falls and the official "honeymoon certificate" is credited with boosting the attraction of the historic resort.

The first of these certificates, tinted baby blue, was issued in the summer of 1949, and A. W. S. Bennett of the Greater Niagara Chamber of Commerce is already preparing for a gala celebration when the 10,000th certificate is issued, sometime in the spring.

During these wintry days when regular tourist travel around Niagara Falls is light, an average of four or five honeymoon couples daily register for the certificates. In summertime, the daily average is more than 50.

The chamber's statistics incidentally show that October is gradually replacing June as the top month for marriages. June, however, remains the leading month by a slim margin.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor M. Exner of Cleveland received the first honeymoon certificate in June, 1949. Bennett said they have been back for a "second honeymoon" since then. It's not unusual for the chamber staff to receive visits from other couples, some with their new families.

Friendly Link

The official honeymoon certificate apparently develops a bond of friendship between the couples and the chamber staff. Last Christmas more than 200 Christmas cards were received from former honeymooners, some of whom said the certificate had been framed for display in their home.

The statistics on the certificates of course do not reflect accurately the number of honeymooners visiting Niagara Falls. Although the word is widely spread, many visitors come and go without applying for one.

Even so, the certificates have resulted in three large volumes of data on the couples receiving them. They come from all sections of Canada and the United States and from overseas. England, France, China, Cuba and Panama, and South American countries are frequently listed.

The certificate is signed by the mayor and the president of the Chamber of Commerce. It congratulates the newly - wedded couple and expresses wishes for a happy marriage.

Says Art Classes Stress Individual

REGINA (CP)—Art is not just a curriculum frill in Regina; it's a vital part of the school system.

Miss Elsie Dorsey, art supervisor, says the old formalized teaching af technique has been discarded. The new system relies on the creative urge and feeling of accomplishment to achieve its ends.

"The art program through grades one to eight is designed to do two things," says Miss Dorsey. "It is to give the child confidence in his own ability and to instill a sense of achievement and satisfaction in what he is doing.

"Children are individuals who must develop at their own speed. Pushing a child results only in frustration which affects all sides of his life both in and out of school.

Just what then does the art program do for the average child, the one who has little talent?

"I have never seen a child's picture yet that hasn't something good in it," says Miss Dorsey.

The work of an untalented child is never compared to that of a talented child. Who has the right to say, "This is wrong, it should look like this?" asks Miss Dorsey.

Only the child knows exactly what he means and therefore he is right in the way he draws it. Miss Dorsey says this gives the child a sense of satisfaction because his work is not compared to that of others but to his own work.

Thus today's picture may be compared to last week's. The colors may be brighter, the strokes heavier, the figures clearer. To the small child it is continual improvement, a feeling of "I am really good."

Crowd Turns Out For Ice Carnival

NORWOOD, Jan. 28 (ENS). — In spite of the unfavorable weather a fair crowd turned out to the carnival sponsored by the Norwood Lions Club, held in the Norwood Arena Friday evening.

Two of the highlights of the evening were the tug-of-war and a broom ball game between men from the Peterborough Lions Club and the Norwood club. Both drew bursts of laughter and cheers from the crowd. The tug-of-war was a tie while Peterborough won in the broom ball, 1-0. Referee was Robert Garden.

Prize winners were as follows: Fancy dressed girls, 14 years and under, 1 Eleanor Kavanagh, 2 Juliette Barrett; comic girl 14 and under, 1 Ann La Brash and Marlene Ranson, 2 Judy Fisher; boys' fancy dress 14 and under, 1 Bobby Fisher, 2 Bobby Ranson; boys' comic 14 and under, 1 Ronnie Wilford, 2 Jimmy Fife; youngest child in costume, Brenda Warner, two years old; men's fancy costume, 1 George Shoniker, 2 Robert Garden; men's comic costume, 1 Earl Hamblin and William Roberts, 2 Leo Herr; most original costume, Miss Beverly McNab; largest family in costume, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ranson (tied, three each); races, girls eight and under, 1 Catherine Hudson, 2 Judy Fisher, 3 Joan Fisher; girls nine to 12, 1 Ann Kavanagh, 2 Dorothy Delaney; girls 13-16, 1 Lorraine Hie, 2 Eleanor Kavanagh; Boys eight and under, 1 Jimmy Fife, 2 John Stewart; boys nine to 12, 1 Bruce Mullins, 2 Percy Long; boys 13-16, 1 Delvin Rusaw, 2 Danny Smith; ladies' open, 1 Lorraine Hie, 2 Jean Waldon; men's open, 1 Kenneth Cuthbertson, 2 Delvin Rusaw.

Judges for the evening were the Rev. C. J. Carroll, the Rev. H. K. Wright, Mrs. Dean Kelly.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Veal Served Viennese Style Requires Help From Butcher

"Mr. Jones I never seem to see any veal on your meat counters any more".

"We have veal in the refrig. Mrs. Moore if you want me to cut you some".

"Yes I would. I'd like you to cut me a one-inch thick steak from the shoulder weighing about 1½ pounds and then I want you to pound it with the flat of your cleaver until it is not more than one-quarter-inch thick".

At that he gave me a suspicious look but I stared right back, as if I knew what I was talking about, so he went off to the refrig. reluctantly, for the veal carcass.

I hope you have as good luck as I, for Mr. Jones did exactly as I asked. He cut a one-inch thick steak from a shoulder of veal, then placed it on his block and gave it some mighty swats with the side of his cleaver and it spread out about twice its size and became thinner and thinner. It was exactly what I wanted. So you stand your ground if you are going to buy veal for

Veal, Viennese Style

One and one-half pounds veal from shoulder or round pounded to ¼-inch thickness, 1 beaten egg, fine crumbs, salt and pepper, about 3 tablespoons butter. Cut the pounded veal into 4-inch squares. Dip in beaten egg which has been diluted with 2 tablespoons of water. Dip in fine sifted crumbs. Dredge with salt and pepper. Have butter hot in frying pan, but do not have it smoking. Quickly fry veal in it—turning it all of the time. Butter should never smoke but it should be kept hot. The Viennese do not serve gravy with this but it is good made from butter in pan, added flour and vegetable liquor.

Veal Schnitzel

This is made from the more expensive cutlet in inch-thick slice. Cut meat in 1-inch cubes. To 1 lb. allow 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Mix, roll each piece of meat in this. Panfry 3 slices salt pork or side bacon until crisp, then panfry veal about 10 minutes. Remove meat. Add 2 tablespoons flour and brown it. Pour in slowly 2 cups tomato juice, add 2 slices onion, 1 slice carrot, 2 bayleaves, ½ teaspoon mace, ½ teaspoon salt. Replace meat in pan, cover cook gently until meat is tender. Remove meat to platter and strain the sauce over it. This is perfect inside of a border of fluffy cooked rice.

The famous "veal paprika" requires 1 cup cream. Some cooks, especially the ones with cooking know-how, use sour cream. But if the thought of sour creams "sours" you, use sweet cream—but you are missing something.

Veal Paprika

One and one-half lbs. veal steak cut 1¼ inches thick then cut into 6 pieces for serving. Remove the stringy connective tissue from the veal. Mix together flour, salt and pepper and cover all sides of the meat with it. Cook in butter in heavy frying-pan until brown on all sides. Add ¼ cup water, reduce heat, cover and simmer 15 minutes. Add 2 cups tomatoes, and ½ teaspoon salt, and 1 cup sour or sweet cream. If desired add anywhere from ¼ to 1 cup sliced mushrooms, cover and simmer 15 minutes longer or until veal is tender. Remove meat to platter, thicken gravy and pour it over.

You will see the above dish could be varied endlessly—by adding such vegetables as peas, carrots, celery, onion to the dish—or tiny potato dice, or new potatoes when they come on the market.

What's Right?

Your school age child seems to have forgotten to tell her hostess that she had a nice time.

WRONG: Say: "Haven't you forgotten something, Dorothy?" in a tone of voice everyone can hear.

RIGHT: If you do remind her, do it quietly so as not to embarrass her in front of others.

DOROTHY DIX

Woman Told To Re-Marry Fine Man Who Loved Her

DEAR MISS DIX: While in my teens I married George, whom I did not love but who loved me very much—and still does. He has always been good to me, given me a wonderful home and everything I wanted and is a wonderful provider. Our child and I come first in everything. I also was very good to him but, being a good housekeeper and mother wasn't enough. As a result of this incompatability, he began going out with other women. After fourteen years of marriage, we separated. Then I met and fell madly in love with Herbert. He showered me with all the love and attention I craved. I divorced my husband. Though Herbert wanted me to get married right away, I decided it would be better to wait until we had saved some money. He became very possessive and jealous; we quarrelled constantly and in one of our bitter quarrels, broke up.

Since then, I have been going out with George, to dinner, shows etc. He has asked me to go back to him. He says he doesn't mind if I don't love him as long as we're together.

In my heart I know I love Herbert very much. Shall I go back to George who will be good and kind to me, or shall I marry Herbert and accept his quarrels and bad disposition for the sake of love?

J. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are now, I judge in your early thirties which is old enough to have sense and outgrow some of the childish ideas you've carried around for years. Lady Luck must have a very special fondness for you, as you're getting a second chance at happiness you didn't deserve in the first place. Few women are so fortunate.

He's a Rarity

You have, in George, a man of such loyalty, fidelity and long-suffering as is not encountered too often. You have done everything to exhaust his patience, yet he is willing to give you another chance. You have taken everything from your marriage with him and contributed nothing except, perhaps, good housekeeping, which is poor comfort to a man longing for the love and companionship of a happy wife. Having entered marriage with no love for your husband, you proceeded to acquire a martyr complex and put all the blame for your unhappiness on him. The least you could have done was try to love him, and make him see that at least you did want to love him, instead of putting on a misunderstood-wife act.

If your romances followed a natural sequence, you'd marry Herbert and live to regret every minute you ever spent with him. Your good fortune lies in the fact that George stepped back into the picture before you made this fatal step.

If you want happiness in your future, re-marry George but bring to your home, this time, love and understanding. You're old enough to know that love isn't always an emotion of burning passion and high ecstasy. More often it is companionable, comfortable feeling compounded of mutual respect and admiration. Accept it as such, and give George the affection, devotion and consideration he has a right to expect.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: At 18 I am married and have one child. My husband tells me he loves me, but recently quit his job and went to another state to live. He sold all our furniture, took all the money and never sends me a cent. The baby and I are with my parents. He's been gone since June, comes to see us occasionally and always has to borrow money to go back.

MEG

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are very young to be the wife of so irresponsible a man and you are in need of expert advice. Your husband can be made to support you and his child. Get in touch with the Legal Aid Society or Family Service Association nearest you. They can be located through the telephone book, and will be glad to assist you in forcing support from your husband.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am one of a group of married women in their late twenties and early thirties. Most of us feel we are not included often enough in our husband's plans. We enjoy hunting and fishing as well as other sports, and would like to be included in the expeditions they go on. We feel this companionship would build happier marriafes.

WIVES' CLUB.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Rarely can a woman go off on a sports expedition and accept all the inconveniences and hardships with the same joy as a man. It's most unlikely that a group of you could all be of that category. If you are, persuade your husbands to take you along occasionally so you can prove what sportsmen you can be. Don't make the attempt, however, unless you know you can enter wholeheartedly into all phases of the venture. If fishing is the order of the day, be prepared to do the whole job, from baiting to cleaning. Camping out is no luxury, either, but that, too, must be cheerfully and enthusiastically accepted.

English Women Are Blamed For Drab Clothing of Men

By ROBERT F. S. JONES

LONDON, Jan. 28—(AP)—The Englishman is slowly waking up to the fact that as far as clothes are concerned he's pretty dull.

And—as usual—it's the woman who gets the blame.

For more than a century now John Bull has been hiding himself beneath drab suits, topcoats and derbies.

But now—prodded gently by his tailor — he is beginning to go glamorous. The first touches of color are starting to make apprehensive appearance around London's smart West End and in exclusive clubs.

One leading London tailor says:

"The Englishman is a staunch conservative. We have to sneak up on him quietly and push a new fashion on him before he knows what's happening."

At the moment, John Bull's sartorial daring stops at fancy and brocaded vests and occasional plum-colored dinner jackets. A return to the gay male plumage of two centuries ago is a long way ahead.

Four Years' Work

It takes at least four years to launch a new male fashion, according to Frederick Stanbury, chairman of the men's fashion council. "We have to win over the women first—but we think we've done that now."

Stanbury says men's fashions took a long count from drape suits and hand-painted ties imported from the United States.

"Most men shied away from these exaggerated styles," he said, "and because of that they went even more conservative for a time."

The theory that Mrs. John Bull is the cause of her husband's drabness comes from James Laver, curator of London's Victoria and Albert Museum and an authority on bygone fashions.

Decided By Women

"All clothes are decided by the unconscious desire of the opposite sex," he says.

"In earlier days, women wanted their men to look like aristocrats. So men developed the complicated dress of the 17th and 18th centuries.

"Then women suddenly decided they wanted security instead of glamor. So just over 100 years ago men switched and began to look like bankers instead of aristocrats. Now women are earning their own living so they are starting to change back again from security to glamor."

London's latest 'Edwardian look' for men, with peg-top trousers and high buttoned jackets, is merely John Bull's last effort to dig in his conservative toes before his wife turns him into a butterfly, Laver says, then adds, "but women will win in the end."

It's good news that between 1935 and 1948 the loss of babies in Canada, during the first year of life, dropped from 71 to 44 per thousand and of mothers, following childbirth from 4.9 to 1.4 per thousand.

BUT we all have much to learn yet, because . . . Canada lost over 15,000 babies in their first year and over 500 mothers after childbirth during 1948.

6—In Memoriam

COOPER—In loving memory of George Cooper, who passed away one year ago today.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here.
And who, though absent is just as dear.
—Loving wife Joyce and children.

COOPER—In loving memory of George Cooper, who passed away one year ago today, January 28, 1951.
I cannot say, and will not say
That he is dead, he is just away.
From pain and suffering he now is free,
For he is gone to be with Thee,
And we who are left, shall trust and pray,
That we shall meet, on high some day,
And until then we both shall say,
He is not dead, he is just away.
—Sadly missed by mother, grandma, Helen, Jim, Bub and Margo.

SANDIFORD—In loving memory of Mrs. William Sandiford, who passed away two years ago today, January 27, 1950.
—Remembered by Fran, Alfred and children.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

6—In Memoriam

GRAHAM—In loving memory of William Leslie Graham, who passed away Jan. 28, 1951.
He has gone across the river,
To the shores of evergreen,
And we long to see his face
But the river flows between.
Some day, sometime, our eyes shall see
The face we loved so well.
Some day well clasp his loving hand
And never say farewell.
As angels keep their watch up there
Please, God, just let him know.
That we down here do not forget
We love and miss him so.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

3-Year-Old Son Wounds Policeman

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP) — Robert Hall, 26-year-old rookie Toronto policeman who was getting ready for his first day on duty, was wounded slightly early today along with his three-year-old son when the child accidentally discharged his father's service revolver.

The boy shot himself in the foot when he found the gun lying near a sofa. The bullet richocheted and lodged in the calf of his father's leg.

Mrs. Hall said her husband told her that the gun wasn't loaded and that Bobby must have put a bullet in and pulled the trigger.

Dedicate Window At Murray St. Church

A stained glass window was dedicated at Murray St. Baptist church Sunday in honor of the late T. Frank Matthews. The window was unveiled by his widow, Mrs. T. Frank Matthews during a ceremony conducted by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan.

Mr. Matthews came to Peterborough when a boy in 1881 and later became head of the George S. Matthews Company and the president of the Canadian Packing Company. When the firm changed to the Canada Packers Company, Mr. Matthews was made vice-president and resided in Toronto.

While in Peterborough Mr. Matthews took an active interest in Murray St. Baptist church and when the present church was built in 1911-12 was chairman of the building committee. After he moved to Toronto Mr. Matthews served on the building committee of Yorkminster Baptist church, the largest Baptist church in Canada.

Gov't To Assist Maharajah's Family

NEW DELHI, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Indian government plans to provide for the family of the late Maharajah of Jodhpur, killed Saturday in a plane crash, until his four-year-old heir reaches majority, an official said Sunday.

The official said the government will negotiate with the maharjah's widow. The 28-year-old maharajah is also survived by two daughters.

Heir to the title is the infant prince, Maharajkumar Sri Gaj Singhji. The Indian government took over the maharajah's state in 1947 when the country gained its independence. At that time, the maharajah's income was cut from $4,200,000 a year to a pension of $210,000.

The maharajah died with two other persons when his plane crashed and burned 60 miles from Jaipur, capital of Rasjasthan State. He had been campaigning against the party of Prime Minister Nehru in the current Indian elections.

Honest Youth

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., (CP)—When 17-year-old Wayne Cress found a wallet containing a large sum of money he promptly returned it to its owner, Verne Prout. The latter said he was happy to reward the youth with $10.

JULES DEROME, CLU, of Montreal, was elected president of the Life Underwriters Association of Canada at the Association's annual meeting in Toronto.

Youths Steal Car Abandon It, Cause Collision

LINDSAY, Jan 28 (ENS). — Two youths of Omemee led Ontario Provincial Police a merry chase on Saturday night and are still at large after stealing a car and causing an accident.

Pieced together by police, the story is this: Two young men were seen hitch-hiking out of the village of Omemee. Unable to get a ride, they stole a car parked at the bottom of the hill going east out of Omemee. They drove it up the hill, stalled it, couldn't get it going, and left it in the centre of the road.

Another car, driven by Fred Binnington, Reed St., Lakefield, came up the hill and was unable to avoid hitting it. Damage to the Binnington vehicle, a new car, was $800, and to the stolen car, an old model car, $100.

As soon as the accident happened the two in the stolen car took to the fields and were believed to have doubled back onto the road and then disappeared.

Five passengers in the Binnington car were badly shaken up. They were Dorothy Wilford of Lindsay, who received severe face and head lacerations, requiring forty stitches; Derrick House and Betty Hill of Lakefield, bruised, and Clair Hill of Lakefield.

Spent 45 Years In One Congregation

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP)—Rev. W. E. Hodgson, 70, minister of Temple Baptist Church here since its founding 45 years ago, is to retire in May. A past president of the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec, he became pastor at Temple Church while a student at McMaster University, Hamilton.

Strive For Goodness Peace, Joy Will Follow

"To be a good Christian, you should always keep the person of Jesus on the focal point of your immediate consciousness."

This statement was made Sunday by the Rev. Philip Duncan of Erskine United Church, Toronto, at the morning service of the 117th Sunday School anniversary of George St. United Church. The topic of Mr. Duncan's address was The Motto You Need.

Preaching to a capacity congregation, the guest minister said that the motto that should be hung on the wall of everyone's heart is found in Matthew 6: 33—But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness: and all these things shall be added unto you.

In analyzing these words taken from Jesus' sermon on the mount, Dr. Duncan explained that they coincide with the proverb, first things first. What the Christian must do is decide is what are the first things in life.

Chief Aims

Directing his remarks to the children, he said that often during school days, the most important thing in life is often thought to be cleverness. Along with being clever great wealth and the popularity are often set up as the chief aims in life.

"But many clever people make a failure of life," he said. "As for wealth, the only money you have is what you give away, which gives you spiritual wealth. To aim at popularity may either lead to doing wrong or in encouraging others to do wrong. All these aims are secondary and have to be left behind at death, but goodness will live long after you are gone and it is the only thing to present in the spiritual world where the others are as nothing."

In choosing an aim of goodness, Dr. Philip explained that the Christian is also trying to be God-like. And this goodness has been personalized for us in Jesus Christ. Even atheists and agnostics agree that His earthly life was beyond all reproach. His example shall be our guide.

Rest Will Follow

Turning back to his text, the minister concluded by saying that Christ had said that if the Christian chose goodness as found in the Kingdom of God as his aim all the other secondary goods of life will be granted him, and he will gain peace, joy and satisfaction.

Special music was presented by the Junior and Intermediate choirs, directed by Charles Allen, organist, who sang Brother James Air by Jacob and Living for Jesus by Lowden. Soprano soloist Mrs. James Goldie, sang If God Forgot for Just One Day, by O'Hara.

At the evening service Miss Phyllis Hart and Miss Ruth Grady sang a duet, Abide With Me by Jerome and the choir sang the anthem, Not Unto Us, O Lord by Quilter.

Ask Chiang's Army Leave Burma

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 28 — (Reuters) — The United States government, at Burma's request, has asked Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists to withdraw their troops from the Burma border, it was disclosed today by Henry B. Day, US interim charge d'affaires here.

The Formosa government agreed to co-operate, but its troops were still present on the border, he said.

Day suggested it was open to the Burmese government to bring the continued presence of these troops to the notice of the United Nations.

(Recent reports reaching here from the frontier have said that reinforcements with American arms were moving daily from Formosa through Thailand to join Nationalist Gen. Li Mi's forces, preparing for an April offensive against the Chinese Communists. (Burma's new ambassador to Peiping, Hla Maung, said recently in Hong Kong that American officers were leading them.

(The US secretary of state, Dean Acheson, denied this in Washington Jan. 23 and said the US is not giving any assistance to the Chinese Nationalists in Burma.)

Believe Farouk May Ease Egyptian Crisis

By The Associated Press

King Farouk gave the boot to an old foe when he fired Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha.

Now the western world is wondering whether this is the moment Farouk will choose to step into the sizzling Middle East situation as a strong leader capable of restoring calm negotiations with Britain over the bitter question of the Suez Canal and the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. There are many in the western world who think Farouk, though known as something of playboy, has the stuff to do it.

Violence and bloodshed spurred Farouk in dismissing Nahas Pasha, nominal head of the powerful Wafd Party, and appointing Aly Maher Pasha, an Independent and former premier once jailed by the British for being pro-axis. There have been reports, outside Egypt, that Farouk was looking for an excuse to get rid of Nahas.

Charges of corruption have been hurled at the party by opposition groups, but its control over the political situation remained firm.

First Rumble

The first rumbling of discontent from the throne over the party's leadership came last December, when Farouk named two men to his royal cabinet in a move seen by many as a slap at Nahas Pasha. Hafez Afifi Pasha, known to be pro-British, was named chief of the royal cabinet. Abdel Fattah Amr Pasha, ambassador to London, was designated the King's adviser on foreign affairs.

Maher Pasha, the new premier, has been a friend and adviser of Farouk since the King ascended to the throne at the age of 16. He was a member of the Egyptian delegation to the Palestine conference in London in 1939. Despite his pro-axis stand in Second World War years, some regard him now as sympathetic to Britain and capable of bringing about a period of calm negotiation.

Fears Communists

Farouk is said to be well aware of the Communist danger in the Middle East. He realizes his own country is a fertile field for Communists to sow their seeds of discontent. The flow of Communist propaganda literature has increased steadily in the country. Farouk's best bet for security lies with the west.

Besides, there's a human interest angle in the picture. Farouk has become the father of a boy for the first time. He waited a long time for a son. Like any father, he's concerned about his son's future.

Now—with a throne to safeguard for his son—Farouk may be what the west sorely needs in the Middle East—a leader who knows hatred of the west is no excuse for rushing crazily into Communist slavery.

GEN. SIMONDS IN JAPAN — Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, Chief of the Canadian Army General Staff now visiting Canadian troops in Korea, called on Gen. Matthew Ridgway, United Nations commander in the Far East, at U.N. headquarters in Tokyo. Gen. Simonds, left, is following up a recent visit of Defence Minister Claxton to implement ministerial suggestions and ideas.

Child 4 Brings Mother's Arrest

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 28 (AP) —A four-year-old girl stood beside an oil sump Saturday and in calm innocence told police a story that led them to charge her 21-year-old mother with first-degree murder.

From the water-filled bottom of the sump police already had removed the body of three-year-old Sherrie Ellen Kader, who had been missing since Wednesday.

The mother, Mrs. Jada Z. Kader, for two days insisted little Sherrie had been kidnapped. Under long questioning she abandoned the story and led police to the body Sunday.

Then in varying versions she accused her Chinese stepfather, Eugene W. Sing, 46, and her daughter, Vickie, of accidentally killing Sherrie.

So police turned to Vickie, and she told them her mother walked both children across a vacant lot to the oil sump Wednesday evening. "Mommy put her hand over Sherrie's mouth and dropped her in," Vickie told Detective Capt. William Browne.

Browne said no motive yet had been determined.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe of Detroit chalked up a goal and an assist during weekend play to retain his narrow, one-point lead in the individual scoring race in the National Hockey League.

Howe had 46 points, made up of 25 goals and 21 assists, but Elmer Lach of Montreal figured in two scoring plays to give him 12 goals and 33 assists for a 45-point total. Howe leads the league in goals and Lach in assists.

Sid Smith of Toronto garnered one assist to give him a tie with ailing Maurice (Rocket) Richard of Montreal who didn't play during the weekend. Both now have 39 points, Richard's made up of 24 goals and 15 assists and Smith's of 16 goals and 23 assists.

Don Raleigh of New York went pointless but holds on to fifth spot with 14 goals and 24 assists for 38 points.

Ted Kennedy of Toronto and Ted Lindsay of Detroit have 36 points each and share seventh spot. Kennedy picked up one goal and Lindsay two and both now have 15 goals and 21 assists.

St. Andrew's United Church Rededicated At Service

"There are two marks by which a church may be recognized as a living Church— a sense of conviction and a sense of vocation."

This statement was made by the Rev. Henry Cotton Sunday morning at the rededication service of St. Andrew's United Church and Sunday School on Sunday morning. The topic of Mr. Cotton's sermon was The Marks of a Living Church.

The preacher pointed to Paul, Luther, Knox and Wesley as men of conviction who helped to make their church a living church.

From this sense of conviction evolves a sense of vocation, Mr. Cotton said. And whoever genuinely believes, becomes a propagandist. A world-wide example of this is Communism.

Danger of Apathy.

"Christians must always have the conviction that they have good news to proclaim which exceeds that of any other," Mr Cotton concluded. "Our danger is not that the church will die but that it will become likewarm and hesitant. If we give ourselves to the cause of Christ as others gave themselves to causes less worthy, the winds of God will blow through this church and we shall be blessed."

During his sermon, Mr. Cotton paid tribute to the men who built St. Andrew's Church in 1885. And also those who have restored its beauty through its historic life.

Open house will be held at St. Andrew's Church Wednesday night bewteen 7 and 8 p.m. At this time historic relics including baptismal records of 100 years ago and the silver trowel used by Mrs. Robert Nicholls to lay the cornerstone will be on display.

Following open house the annual congregational meeting will be held.

Obituaries

ALBERT VALOIS

A familiar figure on the city's streets in past years when he was a teamster, Albert Valois, 252 Woodbine Ave., died today in hospital after a long illness. He was 80, and had been retired for a number of years.

A member of St. John's Anglican Church, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Valois. Born and educated in Peterborough, he spent a lifetime here.

Surviving are two sons, Leslie James, of Peterborough, and Norman Joseph, of Quebec City, and one brother, Charles Valois, of Toronto.

Funeral will be held Wednesday, at 3 pm, at the Comstock funeral home. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

ALBERT I. MILLIKEN

Albert I. Milliken, 72, 219 Charlotte St., died today at Civic Hospital. Mr. Milliken was admitted to hospital Thursday after suffering a weak spell and falling while leaving the Legion Hall.

Mr. Milliken was born in Ashburnham, son of the late Samuel Milliken and Ovelia Campbell, and has lived in Peterborough all his life. He was an employee of the Peterborough Lumber Co. until his retirement a year and one half ago.

A veteran of the First World War, he served in France with the 26th and 18th Batteries CFA and was a member of the Canadian Legion and Hiawatha Encampment of the IOOF.

The funeral will be held Wednesday, at 2 pm, from the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. Walter Gilling, of St. Luke's Anglican Church, will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MRS. SAMUEL F. FEE

Mrs. Samuel F. Fee, 76, lot 12, concession 5 of Emily township, died Sunday at the residence of her sister, Mrs. M. Madill, Uxbridge, following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Fee, the former Annie Helen Faux, was born in Asphodel township, daughter of John Faux and Elizabeth Lynn. She had lived in Emily for 35 years. Following the death of her husband in 1930 she resided in Hamilton and Vancouver. She was an adherent of the United Church of Canada.

Mrs. Fee leaves four daughters, Mrs. J. Fontaine (Gertrude), and Miss Mary Fee, both of Vancouver, BC; Mrs. W. Riddell (Irena), Hamilton; Mrs. Kay Bleakly (Helen), Peterborough; three sons, Vincent, Omemee, Ray, Detroit, Michigan, Victor, Peterborough; one sister, Mrs. M. Madill, Uxbridge, and one brother, William Faux, Edmonton, Alberta; and 16 grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Wednesday, at 2 pm, from the Kaye funeral home. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, of Omemee United Church, will conduct the service. Burial will be in Emily cemetery.

GEORGE LONGMUIR

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 28 (ENS) —A farmer and active church worker in west Seymour township, George Longmuir, was buried today in Centre cemetery. He died Friday night at the age of 88, having been in failing health for several years.

A son of the late James Longmuir and Amelia Nichols, he spent a lifetime in Seymour township. He was a member of Polmont LOL, and in earlier life had been active in various offices of Trent River United church.

Surviving him are his widow, the former Ellen Brown, two daughters Mrs. Ray McCulloch (Kathleen) of Campbellford, Mrs. Harold Thompson (Reta), Norwood, and two sons, Marshal of Campbellford, and Fred at home.

There is one brother Charles, of Campbellford and one sister, Mrs. George Barrie (Sarah) of Westwood. A son, Edmund, died in the First World War. Mr. Longmuir was one of eight children.

The Rev. R. G. Newman of Trent River United church conducted the service at the Longmuir home at 3.15 p.m. Burial was in Centre cemetery.

Pallbearers were: Harold Brown, Alfred Brown. Earl Gillespie, of Trent River, William Longmuir and Roger Lane, both of Campbellford and Roy Longmuir, of Havelock. Flower bearers were: Charles Sullivan, Emmerson Glenn, Bill Gillespie, Earl Dunham. Knowlton Waters, Tom Cardwell, and Bruce Longmuir.

GEORGE BROWNSELL

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 28 (ENS) —Bridge-tender at Trent River for the past 28 years, George Brownsell, 57, died Friday night. Funeral service was held today at Trent River United church, with the Rev. R. G. Newman officiating.

Born in Marylebone, England, he was an adopted son of the late Charles and Margaret Killbanks. For 10 years he was a member of the board of Trent River United church, and was generally active in the community. He was a veteran of the First World War.

Surviving are his widow, the former Kreathys Robison, two daughters, Viona and Elaine, both of Peterborough, three sons, Craig and Paul at home, and Rae of Peterborough.

The body is resting in Maple Grove vault, awaiting burial in the spring.

Pallbearers were: Frank McLaughlin, J. R. Lucas, Clarence Glenn, Donald Carnrite, Maclean Donald, and Clifford Dunn. Flower bearers were Earl Greenly, Melville Lane, Harry Wannamaker, Raymond Free, Claude Hoard, and Harry Mann.

JAMES MAHER

James Maher, 55, Windsor, and formerly of Peterborough, died suddenly at his residence Sunday.

Mr. Maher was born in Peterborough, son of M. J. Maher and the late Agnes Gillogly and has lived in Windsor for the past eight years. He was for many years a druggist in Toronto. Educated in Peterborough, De LaSalle College, Toronto and University of Toronto he was a pharmaceutical chemist in the laboratories of the Stirling Products Co., Windsor.

He leaves his father M. J. Maher, Peterborough; two brothers the Rev. G. J. Maher, Cobourg; Joseph, Peterborough; and two sisters, Reta, Toronto, and Monica, Peterborough.

The body will be resting at the residence of his father, 270 Rubidge St. upon arrival of the noon train Tuesday until Wednesday when requiem mass will be celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral at 10 am. Burial will be in St. Peter's Cemetery.

Trinity Church Observes 79th Anniversary

The Rev. S. McLean Gilmour, principal-elect of Queen's Theological College, Kingston, and one of Canada's most prominent clergyman was guest preacher at Trinity United Church 79th anniversary services Sunday.

A native of Dauphin, Man., Dr. Gilmour graduated from the University of Manitoba in 1928. He received his BD degree and also a travelling fellowship from Union Theological Seminary, New York. He continued his theological studies in Berlin and Marburg, Germany, and later received his PhD. degree at the University of Chicago.

He is a past president of the Canadian Society of Biblical Studies and is an Associate in council of the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis. He is the author of several publications and has contributed numerous articles to journals and encyclopedias.

The topic of Dr. Gilmour's sermons Sunday were, The Religion of Jesus, and The Religion About Jesus.

William Perry, Lindsay, was the guest soloist for the services. He sang Only Be Still, by Bach and Hear Me When I Call, by Huhn at the morning service, and Fear Not Ye, O Israel, by Buck and, Now the Day is Over by Speaks at the evening service.

Special music for the two services was also presented by the choir under the direction of Donald Kennedy, organist. Mrs. H. A. Mitchell was soloist for the anthem, The Nicean Creed, by Gretchaninof, sung at the morning service.

West Indies Takes Match

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 28— (Reuters)—West Indies required 304 runs with eight wickets standing to beat Australia at the end of the third day's play in the fifth and final test here today.

Australia, 216 for four wickets at Saturday's close, were all out 40 minutes before tea today for 377, leaving West Indies needing 416 runs. At the close of play the tourists had scored 112 for two wickets.

Australia lost their remaining six wickets today for the addition of 161 runs. Keith Miller added 20 to his overnight score to become top scorer with 69.

He and Graeme Hole put on 71 for the fifth wicket before Miller fell to Valentine.

Hole re-established himself as a test batsmen with 62.

Gerry Gomez, who wrecked the Australia first innings, had three second innings wickets for 58, giving him match figures of 10 for 113.

Allan Rae, who rose from a sick bed to bat, and Jeff Stollmeyer gave the best display yet by West Indian openers against the spin bowlers. Rae appeared well set until he fell to a fine catch inches off the ground by Neil Harvey after the stand had realized 48.

Stollmeyer was undefeated with 64 when stumps were drawn.

Lifesaving Cup Awarded To Trinity

TORONTO, Jan. 28—The Ontario branch of the Royal Lifesaving Society awarded 1,759 bronze medallions and 4.075 certificates for passing lifesaving tests during the past year, according to the society's 43rd annual report. The Cochrane Cup was won by Trinity College school with 990 points, and Camp Oconto won the Chapman Cup for the third successive year.

Society officers for 1952 are: president, M. G. Griffiths; vice-presidents, J. E. McCutcheon, Dr. R. W. I. Urquhart; honorary instructor-in-chief, A. L. Cochrane; honorary medical officers and lecturers, Dr. Gordon Bates, Wills MacLaughlin, Dr. J. H. Ebbs; secretary treasurer, Mrs. J. M. Pretty.

Mother, Four Children Feared Dead In Fire

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 28 (AP)— A mother and her four children were feared burned to death today in a fire which swept through a three-storey business and apartment building on the edge of the Minneapolis loop district.

Eight other occupants of the buildings were accounted for but firemen believed they had taken refuge with friends to escape 15-blow-zero weather.

One man was badly burned and the father of the four children was taken to general hospital in an incoherent condition from shock.

Missing and feared dead are Mrs. William Lahti and her four children—Nancy, 9, Barton, 8, Avalon, 6, and Donald, 3.

IRFU Suggests Allowing 8 US Imports

HAMILTON, Jan. 28 (CP)—A 12-hour Saturday session, of the longest Interprovincial Rugby Football Union meeting in history, decided to go along with the Western Interprovincial Football Union on the import problem and recommend to the Canadian Rugby Union that eight United States imports instead of seven be permitted in 1952 play.

Linked with its request for an additional import for each club, the Big Four decided to cut from 35 to 27 the number of Canadians on each team, with the Canadians to be declared on Sept. 1 and the Americans by Oct. 1.

On the question of split gates, Hamilton and Ottawa asked for a 25-per-cent cut for visiting teams, but were opposed by Montreal and Toronto. Eric Cradock cast the deciding vote against the cut and instead a league pool will be developed to assist any team which is losing at the gate.

The Big Four again voted to recommend to the CRU a two-game Grey Cup series with one game in Toronto and the other in Montreal. It would be a total-points-to-count affair.

Accept Postmark

The meeting passed a motion to accept the legal postmark on envelopes as time on player registration certificates. They also granted the junior Big Four Union $500 for the 1952 season.

Dr. J. J. O'Connor of Toronto and J. P. McCaffrey of Ottawa were nominated to represent the Big Four at the next CRU annual meeting.

Substitution rules were also discussed. The IRFU voted to recommend a change which would eliminate the one-play wait on the sidelines before a player can enter play. They would also like to see the time allowed players entering a game to be extended from 20 to 25 seconds.

The group also recommended that caught screened passes be ruled complete when they do not cross the line of scrimmage. They would also like to see the ball put in play 15 yards in from the touchline instead of the present 10.

Named Chairman

W. C. Foulds, of Toronto, was named chairman of a disciplinary committee which will consist of Lew Hayman of Montreal, Frank Bliss of Hamilton, Cecil McFadden of Toronto and J. P. McCaffrey of Ottawa. The group will draw up a report to be submitted at June's semi-annual Big Four meeting and have authority to discipline coaches, players, officials and club executives.

In future, rough play will be subject to a $50 fine for the first offence. The fine for each subsequent offence which does not rate a suspension will be $100.

New numbers for teams were passed. They are: centres, from 40 to 49; inside wings, 50 to 59; middle wings, 60 to 69; outside wings, 70 to 79; all backfielders 80 and upwards.

In discussing 1951 financial reports, it was disclosed that the Ottawa Rough Riders, the Grey Cup champions, were the only ones who failed to at least break even on the season. Even with their east-west final split, they lost about $2,000. Montreal and Hamilton cleared about $20,000 while Argos made money too.

TCS And Saints Divide Double Bill

AURORA, Jan. 28—Trinity College School, of Port Hope, split a hockey-basketball doubleheader with St. Andrew's College of Aurora here Saturday.

TCS won the hockey game, 4-2 but the unbeaten Prep League leaders from SAC took the basketball contest, 76-41.

Bob Arnold and John Long gave Trinity a 2-0 lead while SAC was a man short in the hockey game's first period, but Baden Cosbie got one back for St. Andrew's before the period ended. Hugh Watts scored for Trinity and John Auld for St. Andrew's during the second period. Bob McDerment added the final TCS goal in the last session.

Coulter Osborne's 28 points and Barclay Ryall's 21 helped SAC in the basketball game. Hugh Walker sank 21 for TCS.

Young's Point Wins

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 28 — (ENS) — Saturday night saw a good hockey game at Apsley between Young's Point and Apsley, with the Point boys winning 3-2.

Play was fast, with both teams striving for the first counter which D. Heard scored for the Point, but after much discussion it was disallowed as apparently the goal judge did not see it enter the net. However, C. Freeburn gave the Point the lead and D. Heard put the visitors in front 2-0.

At 10.18 of the second, B. Howden netted one for Apsley. C. McNaughton got the first penalty of the game for tripping and D. Tucker and D. Jacobs went off together for roughing as play began to open up again. Another double penalty went to D. Heard and K. Delahaye for roughing later.

In the third, Apsley pressed hard but Young's Point held them off and G. Russelle put the game on ice with a nice goal to make the final score 3-2 for the Point. Next Saturday night Young's Point plays host to Apsley.

Apsley—Goal, G. Spencely; defence K. Delahaye, D. Tucker; forwards, S. Jeff, L. Smith, B. Delahaye; alternates, A. Wagner, D. Jeff, Martin, J. Watson, B. Howden, B. Houle. V. Tucker, T. Wilson, K. Brown.

Young's Point—Goal, B. Kyle; defence, C. Freeburn, S. McNaughton; forwards, C. Russelle, D. Heard, J. Churchill; alternates, D. McIsaac, J. Darling, D. Jacobs, D. Hogarth, E. York, R. Freeburn, E. Tedford, D. Nicholson.

Referee, G. Chappel; linesman, M. Brown.

Point Teams Split

YOUNG'S POINT, Jan. 28 — (ENS) — Friday night saw two lively hockey games between Lakehurst and Young's Point junior boys, and the girls' teams in the Buckhorn rink.

Due to the snowstorm the teams were late and each game was limited to two periods. For the youngsters, Art Hutchinson opened the scoring for Lakehurst early in the first period, but Gary Jones tied it up shortly afterwards on a pass from Earl Dunford. In the second, D. Lloyd was given five minutes for arguing, making the game's only penalty. Shortly after Pete Heard gave the Point boys their second goal, and minutes later Heard got his second goal to give the Point the game, 3-1.

Lakehurst—Goal, Walter McIlmoyle; defence, Doug McIlmoyle, Bobby Hunt; forwards, Archie McIlmoyle, Art Hutchinson, Charlie Hutchinson; alternates, Bill Hutchinson, Orville Barcroft, Roger Jackson, Johnny Weisse.

Young's Point—Goal, Dunford; defence, Doug Lloyd, Bob Clark; forwards, Gary Jones, Earl Dunford, Wayne Heard; alternates, Jim Dunford, Pete Heard, Elmer Garrett, Fred Dunford, Ed Dunford, Jack Godfrey, Keith Freeburn.

Referee, Bob Shearer.

In the girls' game play was good, but heavy ice made it difficult to carry the puck. The first period ended in a scoreless tie. In the second Mary Easson got Lakehurst's first goal about midway through the period. Joan Townsend tied it up about two minutes later on a nice pass from Helen Dunford. Each team played well for the rest of the period but Donna Flynn netted Lakehurst's second goal near the end of the period to give Lakehurst lasses the game, 2-1.

Young's Point—Goal, E. Barrett; defence, M. Dunford, M. Spencer; forwards, Joan Townsend, Helen Dunford, S. Abbott; alternates, R. Wilson, A. Wilson, M. Abbott, M. Jones, H. Traynor, M. Garrett, E. Freeburn, E. Traynor.

Lakehurst—Goal, Bethel Calvert; defence, Ruth Flynn, Isabel Fulton; forwards, Mary Easson, Donna Flynn, Glena Calvert, Doris Barcroft.

Referee, Doug Heard.

Havelock Defeats Trenton By 10 to 7

HAVELOCK, Jan. 28 (ENS) — Havelock defeated Trenton Taxi, by a score of 10 to 7, in a hard fast game in the TVL series in the Havelock arena Friday. Despite the stormy weather a large crowd was in attendance.

The first period commenced with rather rough play, with two penalties early in the period. Jones for tripping and Wilson for cross checking. Trenton took the lead with two quick goals by Scott and Watson with Schmitt getting one assist. Near the end of the period Havelock put on the pressure and tallied three goals within five minutes. The scorers were Reid two goals (with assists from Berardi and Crowder) and a goal by Laing from Hamilton.

Early in the second Jones tied it up. Laing with an assist from Hamilton then put the locals in the lead again. Trenton made a comeback for two goals by Jones from Scott, and Fink from Fileon. Hamilton quickly tied the score once more and it was followed by three more for Havelock by Wilson from Hamilton, Willshaw from Reid, and Pace from Willshaw. Penalties were called against each team, Crowder and Beale went off together for slashing. Wilson soon followed for tripping and Johnson for hooking. Wilson and Scott went off earlier for roughing.

Rough Play

Rough play continued in the first half of the third period with penalties to Berwick for boarding and Barr for tripping. Hamilton scored on an assist from Reid making it 9 to 5 for the locals. Trenton then put on a desperate attempt to catch up and succeeded in netting two goals—Watson from Scott, and Scott from Watson and Johnson. Levey of Trenton then got the gate for boarding and Schmitt of Trenton soon after for crosschecking. Schmitt also received a 10-minute misconduct penalty near the end of the game. Reid scored for Havelock on an assist from Willshaw to make the score 10 to 7 for the Havelock team.

On defence for Havelock, Pace and Wilson stood out with their hard checking throughout the game. Hamilton and Reid stood out at front in the scoring line, the latter getting three goals and two assists and the former two goals and three assists. Willshaw played a steady game with a goal and two assists to his credit. Bill Laing played a splendid game at centre between Caravaggie and Hamilton scoring two goals. Bill a 17-year-old boy up from the juveniles has now a total of eight goals in seven games.

Scott, Jones and Watson were the top scorers for the visitors. Scott got two goals and two assists, Jones, two and Watson two and one assist.

Says Basketball Good For Figure

VANCOUVER (CP).—Want to stay slim? Play basketball.

That's the prescription of Mrs. Kay Jarvis 28-year-old mother of three children. Mrs. Jarvis is playing for a team in the Vancouver Women's Senior B League.

She first came back to basketball last year after a 10-year rest. It was pretty tough going.

"But I felt I was putting on too much weight," she says "and diets always scare me. So I decided to play basketball."

Sons Rickie, Flip and Mack, ages 8, 7 and 5 respectively, are proud of their slim mother, and her husband Peter is giving full support to Mrs. Jarvis' efforts.

Millbrook Loses

MILLBROOK, Jan. 28. (ENS)—Millbrook Lions played the final game of the regular OHA junior "D" schedule on their home ice on Friday evening, losing 9-6 to Sunderland. The game was clean and fast-moving from end to end. The difference in play showed in the scoring. Both teams had many chances at goal. Sunderland capitalized on shots whereas Millbrook was less accurate near the net. The Ginn-Wright-Handley line was best for Millbrook, scoring four of the six goals. H. Fox and B. Lunn put in the other two.

Cameron was outstanding for Sunderland, scoring four goals, Nicholson put in two, and Lee, Shier and Till accounted for one each.

Sunderland was one goal ahead at the end of the first period when the score was 3-2, and at the second when it was 5-4. In the final period they got four to Millbrook's two.

Millbrook Lions will be in the play-offs but it is not yet known whom they will meet first.

Sunderland — Goal, Josephson; defence, Johnson, Beech; forwards, Cameron, McGuckin, Nicholson; alternates, Fairman, Lee, Middleton, Shier, Till, Miller, Tully.

Rutledge Rolls 420

In convincing fashion, Madill and Post of the Men's City Bowling League made a clean sweep of individual honors this week as they amassed a total of 3739 to take away the 3696 high rolled by Anthony's a few weeks previous. Two other leading scores were also shattered by this same team as their single team game of 1490 is tops to date; and Bill Rutledge took the high single to date from his teammate George Walton (who had previously rolled a neat 412) with a near perfect game of 420 which aided greatly in giving him high triple for the evening of 866.

This great team performance put Madill and Post well out in front for the league leadership and was rolled against the previous second place squad McGillis, who now share this spot with the upsurging Clapper's Sports aggregation, who put a whitewash job on the luckless Kawartha Club for a 6-0 point win, and 4-2 margins were racked up by Sunocos, Anthony's, De Laval and Madill and Post over their opponents Moores, Bonds, Bassel's and McGillis Hotel respectively.

Fred Martin, of Bassel's, is beginning to hit some of his old-time form in hitting a neat 859 triple that included a 343 single to closely follow Rutledge on the evening's performance. Good single games were rolled by Claude Cornwell, 349; Jack Murray, Jr., 311; Bert McCarroll, 311; and Vern Ferguson, 310.

Bartholomew Top Skater

By HOWARD KAPLAN

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 28 (AP) —Ken Bartholomew conceded defeat to the stork after a vain all-night wait for its arrival and then went out and won his third consecutive senior men's national speed-skating title.

Just before he entered the first race on Lake Como Sunday, he was in formed that he had become the father of a third daughter.

The veteran Minneapolis skater then breezed to victory in the 220-yard speed test, adding to his three consecutive wins in sweeping Saturday's events.

Sunday's initial victory set him up to score a possible clean sweep in the meet. But the sleepy-eyed speedster's corridor-pacing of the previous night began to tell. He lost to Art Longsjo, of Pittsfield, in the 880 and the mile.

Bartholomew then withdrew from the five-mile event — the first time he had skipped a race in his skating career. He blamed it entirely on the slow stork that cost him his shut-eye. It delivered a 6½-pound Beverly Jean after he had left the hospital.

Old Country Soccer Scores

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters). — Portsmouth, crack South Coast team, Saturday lost its two-piont lead at the top of Division 1 by an inglorious 2-0 defeat on its own ground from Sunderland.

Manchester United, Portsmouth's nearest rival, jumped to first place with Portsmouth after defeating Tottenham Hotspurs, 2-0, at home.

Arsenal, with 37 points, is one point behind Portsmouth and Manchester United after a 2-2 tie with Manchester City.

Most Scottish teams played in the first round of the Scottish Cup tie, and there was little change in Scottish League tables. Falkirk's 3-0 victory over Queen's Park gave it 31 points, with Clyde at the top of Division B.

Snow covering most of Britain caused many games to be postponed or abandoned.

MacPhail Tries Hand At Track

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28—(AP)—Larry MacPhail, the man who put sparkle into big league baseball diamonds with amazing success, was set today to brush off some of his magic on Maryland's horse racing turfs.

The "Barnum of Baseball" heads a New York syndicate which Sunday contracted to buy a controlling interest in Bowie track.

It appears that racing at Bowie is in for the same razzle dazzle, hoop-te-do treatment that dressed up the Cincinnati Reds, Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees and led the last two to pennants.

MacPhail said from his vacation spot in Naples, Fla., he would be executive head of Bowie, and added:

"I don't expect to be working as manager, but I will accept the responsibility for management and my ideas will be behind it."

Big league ball fans know about his ideas well. They include such things as arc lights, fashion shows and gilded saloons for plush-pocketed box seat holders.

It will mark MacPhail's first return to active sports since left the Yankees in 1947.

Teepees Hand Marlies Drubbing In Two Weekend OHA Games

By The Canadian Press.

The weekend was a good one for St. Catharines' surging Teepees. The high-flying Niagara Peninsula club marked up two important victories over the league-leading Toronto Marlboros pulling themselves into fifth place in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A standings.

Saturday night they drubbed Marlies 6-4 in St. Catharines and Sunday afternoon trimmed them 5-3 in the second game of a doubleheader at Toronto.

The hottest club in the 10-team circuit, St. Catharines is only one game behind fourth-place St. Michael's who held their present spot by walloping ninth-place Windsor Spitfires 8-3 in the opening game of the Sunday twin bill.

In other Saturday games, Galt Black Hawks disappointed a capacity home town crowd by bowing 9-6 to Guelph Biltmores. The win broke the second-place tie between them. Windsor edged Oshawa Generals 4-3 at Oshawa to hold ninth spot and Kitchener Greenshirts came through with a 7-4 overtime decision against Waterloo Hurricanes at Waterloo.

Hold Lead

In OHA Senior A play, Stratford Indians held their league lead with a 4-3 win at Sarnia while Owen Sound Mercurys climbed into a fourth-place tie with Brantford with a 6-3 win over Hamilton Tigers, still in third place.

Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds continued their mastery over the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A race with a 6-4 win against Sudbury Wolves. North Bay Black Hawks all but clinched third and last playoff spot when they downed Sudbury Miners 6-3.

Dinny Flanagan led Stratford against Sarnia with two goals while George Aitken and Jack Thaler added singletons. Don Emms, with two and Ken Gardiner with one, were the Sailor scorers.

Andy Grant notched two Owen Sound goals while Mike Bukacheski, Tommy Burlington, Buck Forslund and Bill McComb sniped the others. Murray Dunnette, Johnny Conick and Polly Miocinovich scored the Hamilton goals.

St. Catharines spread their Sunday afternoon tallies across the board with Pierre Pilote, Gerry Foley, Al Kellogg, Orrin Gould and Charlie Marshall lighting the red light. Parker MacDonald banged in two of the Marlies' markers while Earl Balfour clicked on the other.

Score For Irish

Ron Wallace, with two, and Ed Plata, Bob Sabourin, Paul Knox, Jimmy Logan, Murray Costello and Bob Schiller were the St. Mike's scorers. Bob Brown, Jack Miller and Johnny Lumley connected for the Spitfires.

Saturday at St. Catharines, Bill Haas, Pierre Pilote, Carl Boone, Frank Martin, Ken Myles and Brian Cullen came through for the Teepees while Wally Maxwell, Danny Poland, Rod McElroy and Parker MacDonald scored for Marlboros.

At Galt, Bill McCreary banged in three Guelph goals while Dean Prentice scored two and Ray Ross, Ken Laufman, Ron Murphy and Jim Connolly added singles. Pete Conacher and Tom Fyles notched a pair each for Galt with Jim McBurney and Neil McDonald scoring singles.

Bobby Brown scored three of Windsor's Saturday goals while Elmer Skov added the other. Herve Dejordy, Bob Holden and Bob Attersley tallied for Oshawa Generals.

Last year, life insurance companies paid out $240 million in benefits to Canadians.

Out of this vast sum widows and other beneficiaries received $90 million in death benefits. For many of these people, life insurance payments made all the difference between being supported by relatives or charity — and being financially independent. Through life insurance they can still live in their own homes, keep their children at school and pay their bills!

But a much larger portion — $150 million — was paid to living policyholders! It provided income for people in their later years, enabling them to live comfortably and keep their self-respect . . . sent sons and daughters to college . . . paid for long-dreamed-of trips and helped people reach many other goals.

2. Today, more than ever, Canadians rely on life insurance as the easiest, surest way to provide financial security for themselves and their families.

A record total of almost $2 billion in new life insurance was purchased by Canadians in 1951. This brings the value of life insurance owned by the nation's policyholders to another new record sum of $17 billion.

Their confidence in this form of security is well founded. For, through a whole century of wars, depressions and epidemics, life insurance companies have kept faith with all of their policyholders.

3. Canadian communities from coast to coast continue to progress — thanks in part to the investment of life insurance dollars.

Last year, more than $225 million were invested by life insurance companies, on behalf of their policyholders, in mortgages, bonds and other sound securities.

In this way, life insurance dollars helped to build more new schools, homes, highways, power plants, waterworks, oil pipelines, industrial plants and other aids to better living for all Canadians.

4. Life insurance dollars help to check inflation!

One of the most powerful forces at work to protect the value of your dollars is the sum of money entrusted to life insurance companies by their policyholders. This "money for the future" helps check inflation and thus strengthens Canada's economy.

United Church In Marmora Reviews Work

MARMORA, Jan. 26. (ENS)—That the past year was a prosperous one for St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, was indicated by the reports given at the annual congregational meeting held in the church hall on Thursday. Upon motion of H. W. Sabine, a senior member of session, the pastor Rev. G. D. Young, BA, BD, was with Mrs. Young, tendered a vote of appreciation with the earnest desire that they remain another year. The attendance of church members was good, a pot-luck supper served by the WA preceding the reports. Rev. G. D. Young presided. G. S. Jarvis acted as secretary.

S. Sanderson reported as clerk of session that four communion services were held in the past year. Twenty-one members had moved away, there had been eight deaths and four new members added. The pastor had officiated at 14 baptisms, 11 weddings and 16 funerals. The relations of sessions with minister had been excellent and church attendance had been very satisfactory. The minister reported he had made 460 pastoral ''s. He referred to the boys' wo. of the congregation; the Tyro group led by Don Marett; the summer vacation schools at St. Andrew's and Zion; the Boys' camp at Quin-Mo-Lac and religious instruction which he was giving in the schools of the district.

Mrs. F. R. Wells reported that the Women's Association sustained activities yielding good income for the payment of more than $900 of church expenses.

The report of the Sunday School was given by the superintendent, E. C. Prentice. There were 99 on the roll exclusive of teachers with the highest attendance of the year being 64. He paid a tribute to his able staff and their regularity of attendance.

Mrs. E. C. Prentice, as president of the WMS, reported a membership of 17 and 10 associate members.

The average monthly attendance for 1951 was 12. Mrs. G. S. Jarvis gave the financial statement of the organization showing that $124 had been sent in to the Presbyterial treasurer.

Mrs. Jarvis reported for the Mission Circle and its nine members.

Mrs. T. J. Bateman gave an encouraging report of the Mission Band.

For the Cradle Roll, Mrs. F. Sweet reported that it had the names of 24 babies on it.

Girls' group activities were narrated by Mrs. G. D. Young. There are 26 on the roll of Explorers and CGIT. She paid tribute to the help given by Mesdames B. McKenzie and G. Madgett.

For the choir, Mrs. H. C. Barlow as treasurer reported finances to be in a healthy condition.

A. W. Drew gave the report of the church treasurer; more than $7,000 were raised and besides meeting other obligations, annual and extra, it was possible to wipe $650 off the church debt.

James Sproul reported that there were 92 contributors to the Missionary and Maintenance fund with $950 received and $940 sent to the M and M treasurer in Toronto.

Members of the board of stewards, appointed for three years were E. C. Prentice, A. W. Drew, A. F. Fraser, F. R. Loveless, K. Stubbs, A. Campion and M. Stonehouse.

Members of session for three years are H. C. Barlow, H. W. Sabine and S. Sandham.

Mrs. Charles Sopha gave the report of the Glee Club—young ladies whose ages range from 60 to 86. The membership is 22. Their year ends in February. Nine meetings have been held with an average attendance of 12. Two members died during the year. Mrs. A. Gano has the distinction of not missing a meeting. Before the meeting closed with the benediction pronounced by Rev. J. E. Glover, the pastor announced that installation of all officers would be carried out during the morning service Sunday, Jan. 27.

Roseneath United Church Reviews 1951 Activities

ROSENEATH, Jan. 26 (ENS)—The annual metting of the Roseneath United Church was held in the township hall, beginning with a dinner served by the WA. At the conclusion of the dinner, a large fruit cake was cut and served to the 76 persons present.

The Rev. R. C. White, pastor of the church, was in charge, and opened by asking for silent prayer in remembrance of the four members who died during the year and also for the members of the congregation hospitalized at the present time.

Mr. White presented a resume of the year's work which included 10 baptisms, three marriages and four funerals. There had been an increase in church attendance and a large new sun porch had been built on to the parsonage.

Mr. Fred G. Lewis, church treasurer, reported the objective of the thank-offering of $900 was exceeded. There had been an increase in the envelope-giving. All expenses had been paid and there was a balance of $257.

The Sunday school report presented by the treasurer, Norman Sherwin, showed receipts $274 and a balance on hand of $24. Sunday school was held on 50 Sundays with an average attendance of 62, teachers and pupils.

Mrs. Fred Norris, treasurer of the WA, reported 33 members, total receipts $773, a balance on hand of $415.

Mrs. J. A. Nichol in presenting the WMS report said they had met their allocation of $225 in full.

The YPU report was presented by Mrs. R. C. White, owing to the absence of their secretary. The report showed $369 had been raised during the year and a baptismal font had been purchased and installed in the church.

The Mission Band with Mrs. Louis King as leader, had 20 members during the past year and twelve meetings held.

Owing to the absence of the superintendent of the Baby Band, Mrs. Isabel Brown, the report was presented by Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, showing a membership of 50.

Rev. R. C. White, who is completing his eighth year, spoke of the work done through the years and compared the figures of his first annual meeting here in 1945 when the 1944 reports were presented. Total membership of three congregations in 1944 was 230, in 1951, 285 members. In 1944, gave to M and M found $290, in 1951 gave $435. Total receipts in 1944 were $2,814; in 1951, $4,-594.

During those years all three churches on the charge have been re-decorated, hydro has been installed in two, extension work done on the parsonage.

A motion of appreciation was tendered Mr. and Mrs. White for their work and co-operation during the year. Both made appropriate replies.

Votes of thanks were given the members of the WA for their dinner; to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis for their work as church treasurer; to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brown for looking after the communion and to the church decorating committee for flowers for the church during the year.

Three members of the board of stewards were re-elected: Fred Lewis, Rae Brown and Orra Robins.

During a brief program period Mrs. Oscar Adams and daughter Yvonne contributed an instrumental duet, violin and piano. Mrs. J. N. Lovelace gave a reading "The Weaver."

The meeting colsed with prayer.

'Teen-Age Traffic Court Successful In Baltimore

By BOB McHUGH

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28 (AP)—A court which convenes here every Saturday morning opens with a movie. Its official actions range from paying compliments to passing out jail sentences.

It's the only court in the United States that deals exclusively with 'teen-age traffic violators, according to the man who brought it into existence, Chief Magistrate Stanley Scherr.

The effects, since the court's inception last Oct. 6, have been profound.

When 'teen-agers were tried in regular traffic court along with their elders the youngsters were inclined to enter pleas of innocent. In fact, about 90 per cent of the defendants between the ages of 16 and 21 pleaded innocent, according to Scherr.

Those figures now are reversed. About 90 per cent plead guilty, Scherr says.

Before the new court was created, 20 to 25 per cent of traffic violations in Baltimore were charged against 'teen - agers. Scherr hopes the court and the program he has instituted will cause a drastic reduction in those figures.

Different Approach

Scheer used a psychologist's approach when he organized the new court. An old court room was renovated, its walls plastered. The seating facilities repaired.

On the walls were hung pictures of violent death on-the-spot shots of traffic accidents.

"A bit gruesome, but mighty effective," said the magistrate.

Traffic violators are rarely fined in 'teen-age traffic court.

First offenders guilty of relatively minor breaches of the law are placed on probation.

This means reporting to the court twice a month at night to hear traffic lectures and see movies designed to show the serious consequences that can come from illegal driving. The same films are shown regularly as a part of each court session.

Scherr's "probationers" escape the stigma of a police record. The probation course is regarded as an education in traffic safety.

Imports Slashed Heavily Under New British Austerity

Elderly Couple Homeless As House Burns

An elderly couple lost their frame home today at 2 pm on the southeast outskirts of the city when the husband, William J. Wannamaker, 82, stoked up a "real hot" fire in a coal stove in the dining room and left the drafts on. Volunteers who fought the fire until heat drove them away managed to clear all the downstairs furnishings including the linoleum on the kitchen floor. Upstairs only a bed and some clothes in a closet were saved. The house, valued at about $3,000, was partially covered by insurance.

City firemen were called, but were unable to respond because the house in Otonabee township is across Highway 7 from the city limits and about 100 yards east of Armour Road.

At 2.15 flames broke out and leaped 30 to 40 feet into the air consuming the six-room frame home.

Eating Lunch

Mr. Wannamaker and his wife, Sophrana, 81, were eating their lunch in the kitchen.

Mr. Wannamaker said: "It was a cold day and so I put a real hot fire on and I guess I left the drafts on."

The fire started between the floors and volunteer firefighters—employees from Moldaver's lumber yard and passing truckers and motorists—were unable to locate it before it had gone too far.

Until they had to abandon it, men straddled the roof of the back kitchen and poured water along the eaves from a pump behind the shed.

The couple went to the store of Joe Slattery where Mr. and Mrs. Slattery were looking after them until they could get a permanent place to stay.

Valuable papers in a trunk upstairs were also saved and the volunteer firefighters even managed to get coal out of the back shed before they had to leave.

The fire was first discovered shortly after 1:30 pm, and by 3 o'clock it was all over.

Hint Red China Won't Touch Armistice Duties

MUNSAN, Korea, Jan. 29 — (AP). — The Communists hinted today that Communist China would wash its hands of direct participation in administering a Korean armistice.

The hint was cryptic and indirect. It came during a meeting of staff officers on truce supervision at which the United Nations command reported "progress was being made."

In another truce meeting, however, the Reds rejected an Allied plan for exchanging prisoners. The Communists were promptly told they "must contribute something" if an agreement is to be reached.

The Chinese hands-off hint was made by a North Korean during discussion of an 18-page UN program for supervising the truce. The Allied plan provided that civil administration of the Red half of a demilitarized zone would "be the joint responsibility of the supreme commander of the Korean people's army and the commander of the Chinese people's volunteers."

The Reds tentatively agreed to the first 12 paragraphs of the 54-paragraph Allied draft. But they raised objections to the 13th, the last considered before they adjourned for the day.

Protest Rotation Plan

Reds protested proposed rotation of 75,000 UN troops a month during the armistice. The Communists said they were astonished at the figure. Reds originally had objected to any rotation, but later agreed to 5,000 a month.

When the Reds balked in an armistice sub-committee session at the Allies' "complete solution" for the prisoner problem, Rear-Admiral R. E. Libby said:

"We have tried every means to reach agreement. We have come to the end of our ingenuity. If we are to make any progress, your side must contribute something to this progress."

Bad Blunder Changes Veto

NORTH BAY, Jan. 29 (CP) — Lawrence Hemphill, admitting that he had made "a horrible blunder," backtracked today. As a result, women members of the Northern Ontario Outfitters Association will be permitted to vote.

The burly resort owner from Elsas—a married man, at that—Monday night was the only one to vote against a motion that women be given equal status with men in the association. Unanimous approval was necessary and Hemphill's upraised arm was an effective veto.

Fifty outraged women pursued Hemphill to his hotel room. Cornered, he said:

"I didn't realize what I was doing. I was sitting at the front and couldn't see that I was the only man to put up a hand."

Today, he moved an amendment to the association constitution that would permit women members to have a vote—the same one he defeated last night. It passed unanimously.

Mayor Cox Labels Ballot Inquiry Hoax

PORT ARTHUR, Jan. 29 (CP)—Mayor C. W. Cox Monday night termed a recent investigation into spurious civic election ballots a "fantastic hoax." He asked city council who will pay for costs of the inquiry.

The ballots were found on city streets following the Dec. 10 municipal election. An inquiry into the incident ended last Thursday. Judge Arthur H. Bowler, who conducted the investigation on instructions of city council, is not expected to report for a month.

City solicitor J. F. V. Ross said the ballots found had no apparent effect on the election. All were proved to be printers proofs blown by a strong wind out of the printing-shop trash box.

At the council meeting Monday night Mayor Cox said "those gallant gentlemen" who started the investigation should foot the bill. He said he was the one most affected by the hearing as "there are a few people in this city who want to embarrass Cox or trap him."

Head-on Crash Injures Eight

DIXIE, Ont., Jan. 29—(CP)—Gordon Mallett, of Hamilton, was killed and eight persons were injured today in a head-on collision of two trucks on the Queen Elizabeth Way at Dixie Road just west of Toronto.

Arrigo was shaken up. His father, Augustine Arrigo, 45, riding with him, suffered a severe head cut.

Derwyn Hill, 23, of Hamilton, driver of the other truck, suffered a fractured shoulder. Others injured: George Morris, Norman Leach, Norman Plumbley, Peter Nysaki, Edward James and Edward Lee, all of Hamilton. Lee suffered brain injuries and his condition is critical.

Officially Deny Rumor Massey To Remarry

LONDON, Jan. 29—(CP)—A source close to Vincent Massey, governor - general - designate of Canada, said today there is absolutely no foundation to any rumors that Massey may remarry.

The quotation was authorized by official Canadian quarters in London amid mounting speculation in Canada of a possible marriage announcement.

Members of the Massey family also have denied there is any basis for the rumors.

Massey's name was linked in reports published in Toronto Monday with that of Baroness Ravensdale, beauty of the 1920s. In a statement Monday night Lady Ravensdale said "there is no truth in the rumor".

Motor Fumes Kill Irondale Man

Parked Car Seen At Night, Body Found In Morning

HALIBURTON, Jan. 29.—Carbon monoxide fumes claimed today their fourth Haliburton victim this month when Wesley Wright, 22, of Irondale, was found dead in his car at the hamlet of West Guilford, Haliburton county, about 90 miles north of Peterborough.

Police termed the death today as "accidental" and Coroner Dr. Donald Warren, Haliburton, said there would be no inquest called.

Wright, son of Homer Wright of Irondale, was last seen in the car on Monday night at the same spot where it was found today at 6 am. Travellers along the road noticed the parked car which had its lights on but passed by thinking that the driver was waiting for someone.

Bush workers, starting into the camps today, noticed the car sitting in the same place and the lights still on and investigated, finding Wright dead. They notified the provincial police detachment at Haliburton.

Key Still On

When the police arrived they found the car out of gas and the key still on. They believe that Wright became tired and stopped the car to rest for a while. During that time he left the car running to keep warm in below zero temperatures.

Police found the car muffler was badly in need of repair and a number of holes in the floorboards where the gas leaked through into the car. All the windows were tightly closed.

Provincial Constable Gordon Langton of Haliburton investigated.

On January 13 two Coboconk youths, George Weaver, 23, and Gordon Hannivan, 21, were found asphyxiated in a car near Fenelon Falls. Their car was stuck in a snowbank. Twenty-four hours later the third victim, William Thomas Barr, 43, of Gooderham, was found dead after his car got stuck in a snowbank.

Get Big Haul Of Cigarettes

MONTREAL, Jan. 29—(CP)—RCMP made one of the biggest hauls of smuggled cigarettes during the weeken in raids at Quebec, Montreal, St. Hyacinthe and Sherbrooke, it was learned today.

More than 1,100,000 cigarettes and five automobiles were seized and at least four persons were arrested. Another six or seven persons will be prosecuted, police said.

Two of the largest seizures were made with the arrest of Adalbert Veilleux, 28, and Alcide Veilleux, 43, both of Sherbrooke, charged with having 192,000 cigarettes on which no duty was paid.

Veilleux also was charged with having another 162,000 cigarettes. Both men pleaded innocent and trial was set for Feb. 5.

In Quebec, Arthur Dallaire, 52, Jean-Claude Baillargeon, 25, and Marcel Trepanier were found guilty and fined for smuggling more than 100,000 cigarettes.

Churchill Names Alexander For Defence Minister's Job

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced today he has chosen Earl Alexander to take the job of defence minister off his shoulders.

Alexander, 60, has been governor-general of Canada since 1946. Vincent Massey has been appointed his successor in that job and Alexander will return to Britain in mid-February, assuming the defence ministry March 1.

Churchill also announced the King will make Alexander an Earl.

The defence ministry was created by Churchill when he became prime minister in May, 1940. Alexander then was commanding the 1st division of the British Expeditionary Force, which he led off the bloody beaches of Dunkerque after the Allied defeat.

Later he was named British commander in Burma. There he directed the long retreat from Japanese invaders. Alexander then became deputy commander-in-chief of the North African campaign, serving as right-hand man to Gen. Eisenhower.

After the North African victory —from which he later took his title of Viscount Alexander of Tunis — he commanded Allied ground forces in Sicily and finally was top man—supreme allied commander—in the latter stages of the Italian campaign.

Alexander is to sail for home Feb. 17 from Halifax, NS.

Born Harold Alexander, he is the fourth son of the Earl of Caledon of county Tyrone, Ulster. He married Lady Margaret Diana Bingham in 1931. Lord and Lady Alexander have two sons and two daughters, one of whom they adopted in Britain.

Severe Cold Helps Check Flooding Ohio

MARIETTA, O., Jan. 29 (CP)—Snow and ice joined the flooding Ohio River today to plague between 8,000 and 10,000 Ohio and West Virginia refugees.

A blizzard struck before noon and bitter cold temperatures made roads and streets a maze of ice.

Nine persons are dead from the series of floods in three states caused by the rampaging Ohio. The cold weather slowed the rise of the water slightly today.

But while the freeze kept the river from reaching its expected crests, many persons who had planned to stay in upper floors of their homes were forced to evacuate for lack of heat. Water froze in gas pipes and basements. The cold snap covered roads with ice, but transportation already had been brought to a near standstill by the flood.

An estimated 30,000 workers couldn't get to their jobs. Production losses are expected to run into hundreds of thousands of dollars, although the plants themselves were not hard-hit.

Swollen waters stopped most cross-country traffic in many sections of the state. The Ohio highway department said more than 100 roads were closed.

Areas where the flood hit the worst were the area from Steubenville, O., south to Wellsburg, W.Va., where more than 2,000 fled their homes; Wheeling, W.Va., where 2,000 more were chased out and Marietta, where another 2,000 were being evacuated.

Army personnel, state national guard units, the Red Cross and other rescue crews helped in the relief in the heavily-hit districts.

At Steubenville, water was in the open hearth plant at Wheeling Steel, which employs about 7,000 persons. Steubenville evacuees were planning to return to their homes late Wednesday and Thursday and start cleaning up.

Hundreds Injured In Fiji Hurricane

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Jan. 29—(Reters)—At least 12 Fijians and Indians were killed and hundreds injured in the 150-mile-an-hour hurricane which ripped across these South Pacific islands Monday, incomplete casualty lists indicated today.

This battered capital city, on Viti Levu, largest of the British colony's 322 islands, is without newspapers, electricity or industrial activity. Radio services have been suspended.

The northern, eastern and southeastern coasts of the island, where gales blasted a swath of destruction, are threatened with famine.

Property damage is believed to total about $3,000,000.

With a population of 285,000 the islands lie about 1,000 miles off New Zealand in the South Pacific.

Army Nears Target

OTTAWA, Jan. 29—(CP)—The army—its recruiting offices booming in this period of slack employment—is the first of the three services to draw near its target in the campaign to get 115,000 Canadians in uniform. The target of 50,000 may be raised in the next few months.

Eden Says Britain Ready Renew Efforts With Egypt

LONDON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today Britain wants to reach agreement on defence of the Suez Canal which "would meet Egyptian aspirations." The foreign secretary told the House of Commons Britain's offer to negotiate with Egypt still stands.

"I have always believed that it should be possible to find a solution of the differences between this country and Egypt which satisfies the legitimate national aspirations of the Egyptian people and at the same time does not jeopardize the security of the free world."

Eden came to the House of Commons from a Cabinet meeting presided over by Prime Minister Churchill and devoted to the grave situation in Egypt.

Eden said the defence of the Suez Canal zone was not "exclusively an Anglo-Egyptian interest but one in which we have an international responsibility." His statement added:

Must Look Ahead

"In these last weeks there have been many violent episodes with their accompanying loss of life. Memory of them, bitter though it must be in both countries, should not prevent us from looking and working towards a better future.

"It remains our hope that the passions will cool and that it will then be possible to reach a settlement in which each side will respect the sincerity of the other's point of view."

In Cairo, five more bodies were found in the ruins of the British Turf Club and Shepheards Hotel today, high police sources said, bringing to at least 67 the total dead in Saturday's rioting and burning by mobs.

Fire brigades still played hoses on the smouldering ruins of some fires. Flames still were flaring from Shepheard's. The dead included J. Macleod Boyer, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Cairo. Business sources estimated the fire losses at more than £100,000,000.

Cairo, still under martial law, was quiet.

Strong squads of soldiers and police kept up a patrol of the streets, where charred debris from the dozens of fires still lay untouched. Barbed wire barriers kept crowds back from major damage areas. Tanks and armored cars patrolled the streets.

Monday night's 9 pm to 6 pm curfew was effective everywhere.

Leading newspapers meanwhile underlined the view that Egypt's new premier Aly Maher Pasha will keep majority support in parliament only if he follows up the old government's widely-popular drive to oust British troops from the Suez and unite the Sudan with Egypt.

Keep Martial Law

Parliament approved the new non-party cabinet Monday night with only one dissenting ballot and voted to keep martial law in force for the next two months.

King Farouk had ousted Wafdist Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha and installed Maher Pasha after unchecked mobs rioted and set fires through Cairo Saturday.

Loaded US Bomber Explodes Near Tokyo

TOKYO, Jan. 29 — (AP) — A United States B-29, believed carrying a full bomb load for Korea, crashed and exploded with an earth-shaking roar tonight south of Tokyo.

Three hours after the accident, 12 of the crew reported they are safe, two with slight injuries. The air force said it believed all 13 aboard had bailed out.

There were reports that the big bomber exploded in mid-air.

The explosion was so massive that thousands of people thought it was an earthquake. The blast shook South Tokyo.

The four-engined Superfort apparently developed engine trouble just after taking off from Yokota air base west of Tokyo.

US Coal Purchases Down By $7,000,000; Cut Travel Funds By 50%

10,000 Civil Servants To Be Dismissed, Channelled Into Defence Work; Tobacco Imports Pared By £22,000,000

LONDON, Jan. 29. (Reuters)—Brtiain will slash imports by another £150,000,000 a year in an effort to solve its money troubles, Richard Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, announced today. With cuts announced last November, this would represent a total savings of about £500,000,000 a year, Butler told the House of Commons. In a statement heralding more austerity for near-bankrupt Britain, he said the allowance for foreign travel up to next November will be cut from £50 to £25.

He said purchases of US coal would be cut by $7,000,000.

There would be no reduction in import of American films, as there is an agreement lasting until next September, but the situation will have to be reconsidered after that date.

The House of Commons, reconvening after a seven-week recess, was packed to hear Butler's economy proposals.

Ask Supreme Effort

The government called on the British people for a supreme effort to step up production and export earnings.

Butler said Britain's economic plight is so grave it threatens the stand of the free world against Communist aggression.

"We are entitled, if others think it worth while, to receive help for our defence program in a common cause," he said. "But for the rest, if we are to maintain our position and independence and stand on our own legs, we must pay our own way."

Tobacco imports will be cut to the extent of £22,000,000, he said.

The chancellor said there would be no further restrictions on imports from Europe because he wanted to maintain the flow of trade between Britain and the continent.

Lists Restrictions

Restrictions on imports from other countries, however, would include clothing, shoes, toys, fruit and food.

About 10,000 civil servants will be dismissed and will have to find jobs elsewhere—probably in defence industries. This would save about £5,000,000 a year.

Government information services budgets will be cut by £1,200,000 a year.

The structure of the state-run health service will be maintained, with some modifications, prescriptions, hitherto free, now will cost a flat one shilling. Patients will have to help towards the cost of wigs, surgical belts and boots and hearing aids. Up till now, the only extra charges have been for spectacles and dentures.

Send 623,000 Pension Cheques

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 — (CP) — More than 623,000 cheques totalling approximately $25,000,000 will be delivered later this week to persons qualifying for the Federal Government's new old-age pensions of $40 a month.

The cheques, first to be issued under legislation passed at the last session of parliament, will go to 314,000 persons not previously in receipt of a government pension. The remainder will go to persons who received a pension under terms of federal-provincial legislation, in effect until Jan. 1.

From now on, the Federal Government will pay $40 a month to all persons 70 and over, regardless of means, who have lived in Canada for at least 20 years. Previously, persons 70 and over had to prove their need for a pension before they could qualify.

The Federal Government will pay the entire cost of the pensions out of taxation. Under the old program, the Federal Government paid 75 per cent of the cost and the provinces paid the remainder.

The Federal Government will share on a 50-50 basis with the provinces the cost of pensions to needy persons between 65 and 70.

Jailed Two Years

BOSTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Denis W. Delaney, ousted Collecter of Internal Revenue for Massachusetts, was sentenced today to two years' imprisonment and fined $10,500 on convictions of receiving $7,500 in bribes and falsifying that $180,000 in tax liens had been satisfied.

Federal Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. sentenced Delaney to two years in prison on each of three counts in an indictment which charged he received $7,500 to influence tax decisions. The terms will be concurrent.

Peers, Cabinet Minister Guests At Massey Dinner

LONDON, Jan. 29. (CP)—Peers of the realm, two knights, an archbishop and a high-ranking British Cabinet minister will be among the guests Wednesday at a dinner for the Governor-General-Designate of Canada, Vincent Massey.

The dinner is being given by the Canadian High Commissioner, L. Dana Wilgress, at his official residence in Upper Brook St., Mayfair.

Two former governors-general of Canada, the Earl of Athlone and the Earl of Bessborough, will attend along with Lords Salisbury, Jowitt, Swinton, Courtauld-Thomson, Camrose and Herbert, and Sir John Anderson and Sir Alan Lascelles.

Other guests include the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Housing Minister MacMillan, Anglo-Canadian trade expert James Duncan, Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto, J. B. Bickersteth, former warden of Hart House, University of Toronto and two Canada House officials, Frederic Hudd and Campbell Moodie.

The Governor-General-Designate's sons, Lionel and Hart, will also attend.

Massey went to Canada House in Trafalgar Square today to deal with correspondence.

He posed for cameramen. But declined to comment for publication. A spokesman explained to reporters:

"He has some papers to deal with and is not seeing anyone in particular. Mr. Massey doesn't wish to be interviewed before going to Canada. He is still a private citizen. He will take up his new appointment sometime early next month, but the date has not yet been fixed."

Alexander Made Member Of Privy Council

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP)—Earl Alexander was sworn in today as a member of the Canadian Privy Council and later told reporters he is "very highly honored and very deeply moved that this honor should be given to me."

At the same time, the former governor-general declined to comment on his appointment, announced in London Monday night, as defence minister in the British cabinet.

"I'd better wait until I take up my job and see what its all about," he said. He assumes his new cabinet post March 1.

He spoke to newspapermen briefly as he emerged with Prime Minister St. Laurent from the Privy Council chamber in the east block of the parliament buildings.

Lord Alexander, whose duties as governor-general ended at midnight Sunday, was sworn in by Norman Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council, in a 15-minute ceremony. No reporters or photographers were permitted to record the function.

He became one of the few non-Canadians—the Duke of Windsor and Prime Minister Churchill are others—admitted to membership in the Privy Council which, in theory, constitutes the King's advisers in this country.

The other 70-odd members of the council are present or former members of the Canadian cabinet and others who have given high service to the state.

Today's ceremony means that Lord Alexander becomes a member of the Canadian Privy Council before he takes his place in the British Imperial Privy Council as a member of the United Kingdom cabinet.

Ontario Colder Than Arctic

By The Canadian Press

Ontario was the coldest area on the North American continent Monday night, the weatherman reported today. The outlook is for more frigid weather before it warms up Wednesday.

Most extreme cold was felt in the northern part of the province. At White River, the temperature dropped to 43 below. Sudbury recorded 42.

At Chesterfield Inlet, near the northwest entrance to Hudson Bay, the reading was just 14 below. A point within the Arctic Circle reported 16 below.

The weatherman said temperatures won't be as cold tonight and warmer weather is expected Wednesday.

Torontonians experienced the coldest night since Feb. 20, 1950, when the thermometer dropped to five below zero.

Overheated Furnace Blamed For 3 Deaths

HAMILTON, Jan. 29—(CP)—An overheated furnace at the home of Russell Sykes was given today as the cause of the tragic fire Sunday morning that took the lives of three of Mr. Syke's teenage children.

C. P. Depew, chief of the Stoney Creek Saltfleet Township fire department, said today that the coal furnace had a blower attached and that the furnace was too close to the wooden floor joists.

"There was a space of about only one-inch between the furnace and the joists," he said. "Once the furnace got overheated and the joists caught fire, the blaze had clear sailing."

US Gives Britain $300,000,000 Emergency Grant

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Dollar-short Britain is being given an emergency $300,000,000 slice of mutual-security funds to prevent a threatened cutback of its defence effort. The grant was announced Monday night by mutual security director W. Averell Harriman, who said that without it Britain would be forced to reduce its contribution to the western arms buildup by twice as much. The money will be used up to July 1 to buy "raw materials and components" which have to be paid for in dollars. The purchases will be made largely in the United States.

For the purpose President Truman approved a dip into military aid funds which otherwise might have been used for arms and supplies made in the United States. The shift was necessary because Congress made no specific provision for aid to Britain in the new $7,328,903,976 arms aid legislation, although authorizing an emergency transfer.

Started Earlier

The action came less than two weeks after Prime Minister Churchill assured Congress "I have not come to ask you for money."

Actually, Harriman disclosed, negotiations for assistance were in progress before Churchill sailed for the US.

Except for an assist of some $40,000,000 last month, the aid was the first extended the British since Britain voluntarily waived further Marshall Plan help more than a year ago. That was when things were looking up and British dollar reserves were rising.

However, in the last half of 1951, Harriman said, "a very serious drain" reduced the reserves by $1,532,000,000 to $2,355,000,000 at the end of the year. He said it was due in large part to inflation resulting from the efforts of the West to shore up defences against the threat of Communist aggression.

The allotment was only half of what Britain originally sought. France expects to get some $600,000,000 in direct grants and in dollars spent by the US there for military installations and similar purposes.

Fatten Forest Fire Waifs, Deerburgers Next

VANCOUVER, Jan. 29 (CP)—Deerburgers next?

Two University of British Columbia scientists reported Monday they have discovered a diet that could put deer on the same level as sheep as meat producers.

Zoologist Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan and animal nutritionist Dr. Alex Wood have found that the wild quadrupeds can be pastured in relatively useless alder and willow bottom lands.

In five months of study the animals at UBC have grown from normal seven to eight pounds at birth to 80 pounds, 30 or 40 pounds more than in the wild state.

Use Fire Waifs

The experimenters are using waifs from several British Columbia forest fires. The tests will continue for five years under sponsorship of the National Research Council of Canada.

One packer said he thought venison could be produced cheaper than other meats and could possibly replace the conventional beef, lamb and pork on Canadian dinner tables.

One drive-in manager envisioned deerburgers—or better still, buckburgers at half-a-buck apiece.

There are several snags to be overcome, but the possibility remains that the Canadian housewife may be buying venison roasts from her butcher by about 1957.

Base Metals Climb Higher On Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 29 — (CP) — Base metals climbed steadily to another record high today in early afternoon stock market dealings but other sections made little headway.

Trading was brisk as western oils shared speculative interest with selected base metal and penny gold issues. Industrial dealings spread slowly from leading issues and boosted volume for the first three hours to 1,568,000 shares.

Consolidated Smelters jumped $1.50 to a new high of $200 while Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, International Nickel, Noranda, Quebec Manitou and Steep Rock posted gains ranging from pennies to about 50 cents.

Constructions and foods formed industrials strongest sections. Utilities, steels and manufacturing companies drew firm support but banks weakened while papers, textiles and retail stores dipped.

Western oils were mixed. Calumet, Calvan Consolidated, Central Explorers, Gridoil and Sapphire strengthened while General Petroleum A, New British Dominions, Okalta and Scurry weakened.

Senior golds showed little trend and secondary issues made little headway.

Sued For Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 29 (AP)—Joe Pasternak, 48, producer of musicals, was sued for divorce Monday by his wife of 10 years, former actress Dorothy Darrell. She charged cruelty stating they separated two weeks ago. They have agreed on a financial settlement and joint custody of their three sons, she said.

MONTREAL, Jan. 29 — (CP) — The United States dollar today opened at par with the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Monday's close.

The pound sterling was $2.78⅛, up 1/16 from Monday.

US-Canada Exchange Atomic Data

Believe Washington Told Secret Of Heavy Reactor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. — (AP)—The United States has given some hitherto secret atomic information to Canada and has received some in return under an agreement declared "beneficial" to the United States.

Chairman Gordon Dean, of the US Atomic Energy Commission, announcing this late Monday, did not disclose the nature of the information given by either country.

He said only that "it's classified (secret)" and "within an area" of atomic development.

But there are grounds for speculation that the United States may be getting new details on Canada's unique heavy water atomic reactor—a device which conceivably could be the model for explosives—producing reactors now in prospect at the projected American H-bomb plant.

Most Advanced

American atomic experts have publicly rated the Canadian device as the "most advanced" in design and performance among all known reactors.

And, while the Canadians say their present reactor can not make plutonium—an A-bomb explosive—in "production" quantities, the Canadians have claimed that plutonium can be produced at a faster rate from a given amount of uranium in a reactor of the heavy water type than it can be produced in reactors employing graphite in conjunction with the uranium.

American reactors for producing plutonium employ graphite intead of heavy water.

Any atomic reactor which produces plutonium can also produce "tritium," one of the possible ingredients for the proposed American hydrogen bomb.

Dean told a press conference that the new "interchange" of atomic information with Canada was made possible only by the recent passage of an amendment to the American Atomic Energy Control Act.

That amendment provides for freer exchange of "resricted" atomic information with friendly nations—although the information to be given by the United States still is limited to "circumscribed" areas, and excludes information regarding the design and fabrication of atomic weapons.

Produce, Livestock Markets

TORONTO FRUIT.

TORONTO, Jan .29 —(CP) — Wholesale fruit and vegetable prices here today were unchanged from Monday.

Potato prices also remained unchanged.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Jan. 29 — (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

Farouk also made Maher Pasha military governor under martial law. In addition to the premier's post, Maher Pasha took over the foreign ministry, control of the army and navy, and the radio.

Maher Pasha declared Monday night his policy would be to fulfill "evacuation (of the British) and unity of the Nile valley under the Egyptian crown."

Political observers saw little chance for Maher Pasha to soften the attitude toward Britain and seek a compromise without bringing down widespread political wrath.

Sudan Strategic Territory In Western Bloc Defence

By M. SIVARAM

KHARTOUM, Sudan, Jan. — (Reuters)—Competent observers consider the Sudan an important strategic territory, a potentially vital site of air bases protected by deserts, mountains and sea.

These observers, here and in Cairo, say the Sudan would form the pivot of any Mideast-Africa-Mediterranean defence strategy evolved by Britain and the western bloc.

British staff officers at Khartoum and Allied military personnel who served in the Mediterranean theatre during the Second World War believe that the Sudan would be a "major staging base" for any large-scale operations in this part of the world.

They consider that in any future war the party which controlled the Sudan would have a tremendous strategic advantage. Egypt has unilaterally revoked the treaty providing for joint Anglo-Egyptian control of the Sudan.

These observers believe that Britain's attitude towards the political future of the Sudan will be largely guided by considerations of over-all regional strategy, especially in the present context of uncertainties in the Middle East.

In the event of a major crisis of Sudanese officers is increasing fear, Britain's military establishments in Cyprus, Iraq, Palestine and the Suez Canal zone might prove to be "just outposts of dubious value, from the long term point of view."

Natural Barriers

But the Sudan could become a well defended base, protected as it is by natural barriers, and well-equipped with a string of large airfields built during the last war.

The Sudan has been, for centuries, the meeting place of the Mediterranean, Asia Minor, Africa and Europe. It proved its military importance in the Second World War when it became a major base for aircraft coming from the United States to the battle lines of the Middle East.

The Wadi Saiedna airfield, in the desert 20 miles from Khartoum has 8,000-foot runways, modern hangars, fuel pumping systems and well-equipped barracks and clubs capable of accommodating several thousand men. A number of other airfields, large and small, are scattered over the country.

During the last war, nearly 30,000 Sudansese volunteered for military duty. They served with the British and American forces in Eritrea, Abyssinia and Egypt.

The Sudan also supplied food and agricultural products, vital to the Allied war effort, including cotton for aircraft tires, barrage balloons, parachutes.

The largest prisoner-of-war camp at the city of Omdurman, on the Nile, where thousands of Italians were interned, is being used as a training camp for Sudanese troops.

Kaid (commander-in-chief) of the Sudan defence force, potentially one of the best armies on this continent, is Maj. Gen. R. L. Scoones. The top ranking officers are also British, but the number of Sodanese officers is increasing.

Apartment Dwellers Seek Peace—Or Else

LONDON — (CP). — Families in a large apartment house in the working-class district of Camberwell say that noise from the neighbors is driving them mad.

"When we quarrel with our husbands, kiss the children goodnight, or even stir a cup of tea, three other families in the building can hear us," says Mrs Eva Roberts, leader of a delegation appointed to protest the situation.

Lack of sound-proofing in the building was reported more than a year ago. Since then, a doctor is quoted as saying, 75 per cent of his cases on the estate result from the strain on the nerves caused by the noisy flats.

Couples who lived happily say they now quarrel easily. Many cannot sleep nights. When friends visit, they bring their slippers.

Experts who have examined the building are baffled. Experiments in sound-proofing made by a research department have proved futile. Meantime, the delegation has promised—with ominous calm—to "wait for a fortnight."

Sow Experiments Described To Breeders

TORONTO, Jan. 29 —(CP) — Aberdeen Angus cattle breeders, one of several livestock associations meeting here, Monday discussed the effect of artificial insemmination on export sales.

Delegates said that United States authorities might not recognize artificially bred cattle because the method is authorized in the US only within herds. In Canada, small breeders often use the services of a central unit.

Other speakers said that a registration honored in Canada will be accepted in the United States.

A packinghouse representative told the breeders that imports of US cattle into Canada were likely to drive down the price of beef.

The Shorthorn Cattle Breeders held their annual sale at which 30 females were sold for an average of $768.83 and four bulls brought an average of $778.33.

Describe Experiments

Livestock Commissioner W. P. Watson told the Ontario Swine Breeders' meeting of experiments now under way with Large White sows imported from England.

Of 10 sows taken to Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, 100 pigs had been weaned. The 97 still living averaged 80 pounds at 91 days of age. They were fed selective for nutrition and taste.

The Ontario Jersey Cattle Breeders' Association heard Floyd Johnston, of Columbus, O., call for more cows producing more milk.

Mr. Johnston, secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Club, said: "We know we have the high butter fat content; but we want more quantity."

Jersey cattle in Canada have reached a yearly average of 7,387 pounds of milk and 404 pounds of butter fat—an average of 5.47 per cent. The need now was for cows producing 8,000 to 10,000 pounds of milk a year.

Toronto Rink In 3rd Round

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

QUEBEC, Jan. 29 (CP)—A Toronto Royal Canadian rink, skipped by N. Findley, the defending prize-winner, today advanced to the third round of the Chateau International Competition, one of the top events in the 39th Quebec International Bonspiel.

The Toronto quartet came from behind to defeat Baie Comeau, Que., skipped by John Darby, 11-9.

Dave Aboud of Smiths Falls, Ont., was the second Ontario skip to advance to the third round of the event with a 9-8 win over J. S. Moffat of Montreal Caledonia.

Paul Chaput led his Quebec Jacques Cartier "Habitants" to a thumping 15-1 victory over Ralph Lyman of Moncton, NB, Beaver.

The double entry from St. Johns, Que., also advanced. M. Trahan tripped T. H. Delany of Quebec, 13-6, in the Chateau while J. A. Ross, dropped A. Demers of Quebec, 10-5, in the second round of the Omega International.

Soviet Visit Causes Uproar

TORONTO, Jan. 29 — (CP)— The visit of a Soviet Embassy representative to Mayor Allan Lamport's office has stirred up a teapot tempest in Toronto Board of Control.

Controller David Balfour said today he will question at the Wednesday meeting of the board the visit Monday of Leonid Teplov, charge d'affaires at the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa.

"I could not possibly receive them with graciousness myself," said Controller Balfour. "It does not appeal to me."

Said Mayor Lamport: "The Mayor's office is a public one and they paid me a courtesy visit, that is all."

The visitors were Mr. Teplov and Vladimir Bourdine, first secretary of the Embassy.

SLAIN IN CAIRO — Joseph Macleod Boyer, Canada's trade commissioner in Egypt, was slain during weekend rioting in Cairo by anti-British mobs. Canada will make an official protest to Egypt. Mr. Boyer, 54, was a native of Victoria, NB, and a veteran of the Trade Commission Service. Mrs. Boyer was in Cairo during the rioting but is reported safe.

Condemn Russia For Failing To Honor Treaty

PARIS, Jan. 29. (AP)—With almost half the member countries declining to vote, the United Nations political committee today condemned Russia as having failed to honor its 1945 treaty of friendship with the Chinese government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The vote, 24 to 9, with 25 abstentions, came shortly after Soviet delegate Jakob A. Malik charged that under the direction of two United States generals there is being built up in Burma a Chinese Nationalist "shock force, armed to the teeth, which at any moment can provoke aggression."

The US has repeatedly denied similar charges raised by the Chinese Reds. Before Malik spoke the US again rejected such charges and implied it would not aid Chinese Nationalists in Burma.

The resolution was a watered-down version of one presented by T. F. Tsiang of Nationalist China and supported by the US to condemn Russia for violating the treaty.

The "yes" votes came from the Latin American countries, the US, Nationalist China, Iraq, Liberia, Thailand and Turkey. British Commonwealth nations, including Canada, France, Mexico, Belgium, Holland and the Scandinavian countries, abstained.

India, Indonesia, Burma and Israel voted with the Soviet bloc against the resolution.

Renewed Charges

The debate brought out anew the Soviet-Chinese Communist charges that the US was aiding Chinese Nationalists in Burma.

Malik claimed seven American colonels and 27 American majors were also attached to Chinese Nationalist troops which took refuge in Burma after the fall of Chiang Kai-shek.

The Russian delegate, speaking before the UN Political Committee, did not identify the generals and the other officers.

American delegate John Sherman Cooper earlier had asked Malik if his previous charges of American interference in Southeast Asia meant the Soviet Union is actually planning aggression in that area herself. He denied "categorically and specifically" the Soviet charge that the US is aiding the Chinese troops in Burma.

Denies Support

Nationalist China's delegate, T. F. Tsiang, in turn denied that the Chinese troops in North Burma were supported from Formosa, present seat of the Chiang government, and said they were operating as independent raiders.

Malik claimed the Chinese troops in Burma were being supplied by parachute drops from US planes and said they are "girding for aggression under the leadership of American generals."

He labelled the troops a "shock force, armed to the teeth, which at any moment can provoke aggression."

The Soviet delegate was seconded by Poland's Julius Katz-Suchy, who asked Cooper to confirm or deny each of Malik's charges and demanded to know whether the US, Britain and France have decided to bomb Communist bases in Manchuria and open full-scale war against the Chinese mainland.

Wants To Know Policy

Burmese delegate U Myint Thein told the committee Monday his country is "undoubtedly facing Kuomintang (Nationalist Chinese) aggression" by these troops. He asked Cooper directly whether the US would oppose this aggression just as the American had said earlier Monday it would resist Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

The charges and countercharges arose in the debate over the Chinese Nationalist demand that the UN condemn the Soviet Union for breaking its 1945 treaty with Chiang Kai-shek and thus enabling the Chinese Communists to take over.

Little support for the Nationalist Chinese position developed in the committee.

Boy Runs Into Truck Knocked Over, Bruised

APSLEY, Jan. 29 — (ENS — Murray Montgomery, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hector Montgomery, Apsley village, was knocked down and bruised when he ran into the side of a truck Monday afternoon.

The boy was walking home from school with several friends when he suddenly darted out into the road. He ran into the side of a half-ton pickup truck that was being driven slowly through the village by Joseph Tucker.

Young Montgomery was bowled over, shaken and bruised. He was taken to the Red Cross hospital, Apsley, for observation but was later released.

Dr. Lloyd Bailey of Lakefield attended the boy.

No charges will be laid against Tucker, OPP Constable Bert Howden said today.

Water Tank Saves Family

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 29 (Reuters)—A young settler told today how he pushed his wife and four daughters into a water tank when the bush fire raging in New South Wales swept across his homestead.

Ronald K. Schumaker, 29, told his story after a 50-mile dash to safety.

When the fire raced towards his home he made his family get into the water tank while he tried to beat out flames near the house.

"I sheltered in a billabong (stream channel) while the main fire swept past, then I fought my way back with a wet rag over my head.

"As I got near the house I saw the blazing wooden tank collapse and the tank overturn. I pulled my wife and kids clear from the mass of flames, water and ashes.

"Then we ran for it."

None of the Schumakers were injured.

Emergency fire fighting crews raced to Pambula township on the south coast following a radio SOS but the area was later reported out of danger.

Fires swept the rich Riverina agricultural district for the fifth straight day.

Tens of thousands of cattle are being evacuated from the scorched area.

Contempt Proceedings Against Grunewald

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—(CP) —Contempt proceedings were started today against Henry (the Dutchman) Grunewald and his lawyer, William Maloney.

The action was taken by a House of Representatives subcommittee after Maloney was forcibly removed from a hearing and Grunewald refused to answer questions put by tax-scandal investigators.

Maloney was ousted by capital police for shouting objections to sub-committee efforts to make Grunewald answer questions.

Investigtors wanted to find out what, if anything, Grunewald knows about a purported $500,000 tax shakedown attempt against Chicago lawyer Abraham Teitelbaum.

Grunewald, a kind of "mystery man" about town, refused in four previous appearances to answer questions. Today Maloney, as his lawyer, advised him in shouting, arm-waving fashion to follow the same course.

Chairman Cecil King several times ordered the lawyer to be quiet, and finally ordered police to eject him.

King gave Grunewald one hour to get another counsel.

McKeel Elected C of C Head In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 29 (ENS). — The Campbellford Chamber of Commerce held its first annual meeting in the parish hall Monday evening. Ernest C. M[illegible]sident of the chamber, reviewed what the chamber had accomplished last year, and also outlined the things it didn't do.

He pointed out that the chamber had circulated 4,000 tourist folders and almost as many maps of the locality in its efforts to establish the town as a tourist centre. He said that the information booth the chamber erected at the corner of Bridge and Front Sts. in the town did not operate mainly because the chamber did not receive the co-operation of the members, the citizens and the summer resort operators.

Mr. McKeel was nominated and re-elected as president of the organization for 1952. Other officers elected were as follows: 1st vice-president, David Ness; 2nd vice-president, George Vice; secretary, F. G. DeCarrol; assistant secretary, Paul O'Sullivan; treasurer, Austin Putnam. Committee chairmen: civic, Wm. Nicholas; membership, Paul O'Sullivan; industrial, R. D. McDonald; tourist, Doug Maybee; retail affairs, Hector MacArthur; publicity, Franklin Linton; agricultural, F. M. Rutherford.

Speaker for the evening was Herbert Purdy, assistant manager and district representative of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Purdy told of his experiences in the work of the chamber.

There are about 700 Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce in Canada today. The two names mean the same thing and are part of the same parent organization. Mr. Purdy revealed that 89 per cent. of the towns in Canada with more than 1,000 population have a Chamber of Commerce. Also, about 250 towns with a population of less than 1,000 have established chambers. He pointed out that contrary to what a number of individuals believe, the Chamber of Commerce is not a representative of big business. All forms of business, large and small, and a number of private citizens who wish to see that their particular town goes ahead, are members of various Chambers of Commerce. All told, there are more than 100,000 members in the Canadian organization.

The speaker likened the meetings often held in the old fashioned general store to the modern Chambers of Commerce. They accomplish much the same thing. The executive of the organization recently met with the prime minister when they presented a brief outlining the policies of the organization and its plans for the future. At that time, Mr. St. Laurent said "the work of an organization such as the Chamber of Commerce is essential to the successful operation of a democratic system of government."

Mr. Purdy also outlined the need for a return to religious principles in our every-day living. There is also a strong need for self-discipline, he said, as we cannot play our proper role in a democracy until we can discipline ourselves.

The Chamber of Commerce was first established in Europe and later in the British Isles and Canada. The first Canadian C of C was in Halifax in 1750. The Montreal chamber received it scharter in 1882 and the movement developed westward with the growth of the country.

President E. C. McKeel thanked the speaker on behalf of the members.

Austin Putnam, treasurer, gave the financial report which showed a credit balance of $82.75.

CANADIAN DESTROYER CAYUGA is well and warmly known to the inhabitants of a number of islands off the north coast of Korea, whose protection has been one of the Cayuga's principal tasks in recent months. Asks For Term In Prison, Request Refused

COBOURG, Jan. 29 (ENS) — Keith Thompson, 19, Port Hope, was sentenced to two years less a day in the reformatory Monday when he appeared on several housebreaking charges. The sentences are to run concurrently.

He pleaded guilty to theft of money in Port Hope from milk bottles during December; breaking into the residence of Lloyd Pengelley in Hamilton township, Nov. 15, 1951 where he stole a rifle and some shotgun shells; breaking and entering the residence of Dr. R. P. Vivian in Port Hope in December, and breaking into the home of L. Brickle, Port Hope, in the same month. Chief Constable C. W. Graham of Port Hope testified that the accused ransacked Dr. Vivian's residence, and besides stealing some household articles, broke an antique clock of great value, by pushing it over on the floor.

Wants Prison

"Tack on that extra day," suggested Thompson when the magistrate gave him the reformatory term of two years less a day. "I want to go to the pen."

"I am sending you back to the reformatory. I don't know what your reason may be for wanting to go to the penitentiary. Sometimes a prisoner may boast to a guard that he will never be back. As I say, I don't know what your reason is for not wanting to return to the reformatory but it doesn't alter my decision any," said Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Ariel Langstaff of Kendall was fined $50 and costs on his plea of guilty to a charge of driving while his ability to do so was impaired by alcohol.

Pleading guilty to theft of two tires, tubes and rims from a new truck parked in front of a local garage, Bryan Eggleton, 19, Cobourg, was allowed on suspended sentence for one year. He was directed to report once a month during that period to Lieut. D. W. Rea of the Salvation Army and to attend church regularly. The youth stole the tires and put them on his own car. It was his first offence.

Trial By Judge

A long list of break-ins was read against Harold Spafford of Hamilton and William Bright of Colborne. Spafford elected trial by judge and Bright pleaded not guilty and elected trial by magistrate. Both were remanded until Feb. 4. They were charged with theft of a chain-saw from Oran Day of Cramahe township; theft of $240 worth of accessories from Barton's garage in Cramahe township; theft of $600 worth of wire from Brighton Public Utilities; breaking into Thomas Motors in Cobourg; breaking and entering the Salvation Army hall here where a large quantity of used clothing was stolen; breaking into Waite's garage at Wicklow and breaking into Goody's garage at Grafton. All the alleged offences took place this month.

Pleading guilty to theft of an exposure meter from the store where he worked during the Christmas season, John Worden of Cobourg was remanded out of custody to appear when called upon.

St. John's 1951 Activities Reviewed At Vestry Meeting

St. John's Anglican Church annual vestry meeting was held on Monday evening in the Parish Hall and was conducted by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson.

The annual report of the church wardens was given by E. Vernon Morphet, Rector's warden, and reports from the church organizations were presented.

Finances of the church were reported by the wardens to be in fine condition.

Mr. Morphet was appointed for a fifth year by Archdeacon Robertson as his warden for 1952.

Fred E. Hooper was unanimously elected by the congregation for a second term as people's warden.

Resolutions of thanks were tendered to Walter Dyer as vestry clerk for his work over the year and to D. J. Lawrie, CA, for his services on the annual financial statements.

Archdeacon Robertson presented the incumbent's report on matters of importance to the church on which discussions took place on accomplishments of 1951 and activities for 1952.

Lay delegates elected to the Synod are: Dr. G. S. Cameron, W. R. L. Blackwell, C. Coleman, C. Sootheran, and A. L. Killaly with alternates E. Vernon Morphet, F. D. Kerr, W. C. Ackerman, J. Blake Bell and C. K. Lech.

The advisory council will be composed of John Hornabell, H. Chate, Walter H. Howell, G. H. Cutmore, W. R. L. Blackwell, P. A. Martyn, J. Blake Bell, G. W. Hodgson, O. C. Simmers, Leslie F. Dyer, F. Battle Lines Drawn In US For Primaries

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (CP)— Battle lines were drawn today for the New Hampshire presidential primaries—the first of a series of elections-with-in-an-election that will go far towards determining the nominees for the voting next November.

March 11, New Hampshire residents will go to the polls to select delegates to the national convention of the political party of their choice. Each delegate will be committed to support a designated candidate for the presidential nomination.

A three-way race appeared to be developing in the Republican campaign as Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's supporters filed a list of delegates committed to him Monday and backers of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio and former governor Harold Stassen of Pennsylvania were expected to do the same before Wednesday's deadline.

Only Candidate

Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee is the only avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination. With President Truman not expected to announce his intentions before the New Hampshire vote, the Democratic primary there is not likely to be of great political significance.

Almost all potential Democratic nominees are expected to await Truman's decision as to a possible third term. Friends of Kefauver said yesterday that the Senator, too, will back the President if he seeks renomination.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur Monday withdrew his name from the New Hampshire Republican primary with a letter that was widely interpreted as a boost for Taft and a slap at Eisenhower.

The letter told state Republican leaders that in selecting a national leader the voters face a demand for a man with demonstrated capability in "the science of civil government."

Child 7 Interrupted Prayers

Parents Held Responsible For Daughter's Slaying

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29 (CP) — A Winnipeg couple was held responsible by a coroner's jury last night for the bludgeon-strangulation slaying of their seven-year-old foster daughter.

Hundreds of spectators jammed the courtroom to hear witnesses testify of the strange events surrounding the death of Martha Louise McCullough. Her foster parents, Gavin McCullough, 51, former office manager for the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce, and his 52-year-old wife, Lillian, jointly have been charged with murder.

A statement given police by McCullough was read at the inquest revealing how he and his wife beat and strangled the child to death "to drive the evil out of her."

Body In Home

The body of the tiny, brown-eyed, brown-haired girl was found last Friday surrounded by religious tracts in the McCullough's residential Elmwood district home. A heavy, squat bottle, partly filled with cleaning fluid was found nearby.

The slaying was discovered by chance when police investigated reports that her foster parents had taken part in an outdoor prayer session in a vacant lot.

Neither of the accused appeared at the inquest. Both are in hospital: McCullough suffering from frost-bitten feet; his wife in a psychopathic ward.

Crown prosecutor C. W. Tupper said McCullough will probably be remanded for preliminary hearing Friday. He said it will be some time before Mrs. McCullough can appear in court. Previously they had been remanded to today.

Interrupted Prayer

In his statement to police McCullough said the girl entered the couple's bedroom the night of the slaying while they were engaged in prayer. He said his wife threatened to kill her and "started banging her head on the floor."

"Then she grabbed the bottle and hit her over the head with it several times. She called on me to help her because she did not have strength enough.

"I took the bottle and hit her several times but even then she was still breathing. Then I took my two hands and choked her and kneeled on her chest and finally stopped her breathing."

Detective Inspector George Blow testified when he questioned Mrs. McCullough at her home she said:

"We had to finish her off as she was mocking God. She wouldn't get down on her knees and pray."

3-Day Fasting

The inspector testified McCullough told police he and his wife had been fasting and praying for three days under God's instructions. God was coming to establish "His kingdom in Winnipeg. . . . And would be delivering the milk and other things."

Inspector Blow said the name of the Rev. A. C. Valdez, 37-year-old "faith-healer" from Phoenix, Ariz., repeatedly was mentioned in McCullough's statement.

In the statement, McCullough told how he and his wife had attended a series of "faith-healing" meetings held recently in Winnipeg by the Rev. Valdez and his father.

Had Visions

After the meetings, McCullough said his wife had visions and believed she was possessed with some divine healing power.

Lorne McCullough, the couple's 20-year-old son, testified he left his home the night before the slaying to get away from his parents' religious fanaticism.

In his address to the jury, Dr. Athol Gordon, deputy coroner, warned them not to make any recommendations in their verdict which would threaten religious freedoms.

He said the jury would wonder "whether stirring up of the emotions of unstable people by others who come and go with a sizeable collection is religion or not."

"To some of you doubtless, such demonstrations will appear little better than a circus side-show. If a down payment of $3,000 were demanded of a circus performer like Ringling Brothers or Barnum and Bailey, perhaps fewer would take advantage of coming in the name of the Lord."

Plan Newsprint Mill Use Sugar Cane Waste

MEXICO CITY, Jan 29 (CP)— 38,000,000 peso ($4,500,000) plant would have a capacity of 30,000 tons of newsprint. Saenz said a for a newsprint mill to use sugar cane waste.

Aaron Saenz, head of the Sugar Producers' Association, said the pilot plant with an annual capacity of 5,000 tons is already producing pulp for Monterrey box factories.

The new plant, to be built at El Mante in the sugar area, will use bagasse, the cane waste, mixturer Monday announced plans Mexico's leading sugar manufaced with a type of reed called otate.

Protest Light Sentence In Manslaughter Case

TORONTO, Jan. 29 — (CP).— The executive board of the Canadian Polish Congress in a statement Monday said that anti-Communist as well as Communist groups protested against a light sentence given in a Vancouver manslaughter case which arose out of the death of a Polish-born immigrant.

The Polish Congress statement emphasized that all its member organizations are anti-Communist.

Joseph Dillane, 51, was sentenced to three hours in jail plus a $250 fine for killing Polish-born Stanley Deren, 53, in Vancouver last July 15.

Rude Drivers

SAINT JOHN, NB (CP)—Police have again asked motorists here to give consideration to pedestrians at traffic crossings. Violation of automobile stop signs at crosswalks was called "one of our most common city annoyances."

Cobourg Builder Dies Aged 73

COBOURG, Jan. 29 (ENS). — The death occurred during the weekend of Reuben Jackson, retired Cobourg contractor, in his 74th year. He was born at Rhyl, Wales, and married Mabel Burgess at Oldham, Lancashire, in 1900. He was in the contracting business with his father in the Old Country before coming to Canada in 1904.

Taking up residence in Cobourg on arriving in Canada, he worked for Martin Jex, contractor, until 1908, when he went into business for himself. During the first war he served with the 2nd Cobourg Heavy Battery from 1916 until 1919. On his return he resumed his contractor's business, and up until he retired in 1940 he constructed 250 houses in Cobourg, as well as a number of larger buildings.

Mr. Jackson served on Town Council from time to time from 1912 until 1941. He was a member of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Masonic Lodge, and was a past president of the Cobourg Legion. Funeral will be Wednesday from St. Peter's Church, with interment in St. Peter's Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, Charles of Cobourg and Reuben Jr. of Dayton, Ohio; five daughters, Mrs. Harry Erskine (Lily), Mrs. W. C. Wakelin (Eveline), Mrs. Thomas Young (Grace), Mrs. C. Millward (Mabel) of Cobourg, Mrs. H. L. Duncan (Dorothy) of Pittsburg. Two brothers live in Oshawa, Sam and Harry.

Rotary Club Sponsors Boys' And Girls' Week

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 29 — (ENS) — The Campbellford Rotary Club has taken the local lead in sponsoring National Boys' and Girls' Week in Canada April 26 to May 3. The local club will arrange wtih the high school to have a representative group of students, numbering about 30, to conduct the meeting for that week.

The Campbellford town council may issue a proclamation declaring the local observance of Boys' and Girls' Week.

Four new men were admitted to membership in the club. The induction charge was given by Rotarian P. C. Denyes, to Hector Macmillan, Murray Stephens, David Ness and William Dawson.

Three members of the Cobourg Rotaary Club were present at the Monday meeting.

Board Of Parks Elects Carl Brown Chairman

LINDSAY, Jan. 29 — (ENS) — At ther first meeting of the new year the Lindsay Board of Parks management re-elected local jeweller Carl Brown as the chairman of the board.

In his remarks the chairman stated that they had been allowed $8300 by council last year but had only asked for a credit of $7500. He thought that in the future the board should ask for all their allotment from council.

Secretary R. A. Magahay announced that the board had a slight deficit of $72 over the year's operations. Mr. Brown was returned for his second term as chairman. At a short meeting of the town water board on Thursday, Lewis Gordon was again elected chairman of the board for his third consecutive term.

Expensive Claims

NEW YORK, Jan. —(AP)— The Long Island Railroad has paid out $6,700,000 in the last two years to settle damage claims resulting from two major wrecks, Federal Judge Harold Kennedy disclosed today. He said all but 16 of the 238 claims resulting from a wreck at Rockville Centre, NY, in February, 1950, had been disposed of. Out of 635 claims involving the later wreck, at Richmond Hill, Queens, on Thanksgiving Eve the same year, 518 had been settled.

Ford, Union Talks Mostly Exploratory

TORONTO, Jan. 29 — (CP).— Labor Minister Daley said Monday that talks between union and company negotiators attempting to settle the contract dispute at the Ford Motor Company plant at Windsor were mostly exploratory.

At the end of the six-hour meeting he said he had advised the parties to be patient because they might be spending a number of days in his office.

Company officials and representatives of Local 200, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) said only that they would meet again at 10 am today.

Budget Pared

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) — Mobilization chief Charles E. Wilson disclosed Monday night that the proposed United States $51,000,000,000 military budget for the next fiscal year was pared down from $85,000,000,000. Wilson said government officials thus rejected the idea advocated by "some people" of rearming in "one mighty but brief effort."

Exceed Targets

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP) — Soviet industry as a whole exceeded 1951 production targets by three-fifths of one per cent, said a report by the council of ministers of the USSR broadcast early today by Moscow radio. This was a drop from the 1950 showing, when production as a whole was rated at two per cent above the goals.

Business Conditions and Investments

Our "January Review and Securities List" draws attention to some factors which may affect Canadian business conditions in 1952 and discusses the adjustments in security price levels which took place last year.

The "Review" includes comments on the development of a sound investment policy and the place of convertible debentures in investment portfolios. Information is given concerning eight convertible debenture issues.

In addition, some 65 representative Government, Municipal and Corporation securities are listed, which provide many attractive investment opportunities.

A copy of our "January Review and Securities List" will be forwarded gladly upon request.

Unrest In Egypt

The disturbances in Egypt during the last several weeks and culminating in the week-end riots are a symptom of inadequate government and the basic problems of overpopulation, poverty and social disequilibrium. These basic problems are discussed by Robert Stephens in the special article elsewhere on this page. The change of government on Sunday and the imposition of martial law yesterday do not mean that the real troubles are even being faced. So many are the troubles and grievances of the peasantry that the anti-British demonstrations may be a devise of the Government to direct the attention of the people away from their distress. By setting up the British bogey, they divert discontent and save themselves the need to carry out reform. The change in government on Sunday does not mean that there is a change in attitude towards the British and Suez. But order is being restored and the land-owning classes may realize that the demonstrations—no matter who inspired them—have backfired and got out of hand of the nationalists, the Wafd party.

* * *

The Wafd developed as the main vehicle of Egyptian nationalism, and until recently was the only broadly-organized political group in the country. But power corrupts, and other groups, dissatisfied with the corruption in Wafd government and with the lack of social and economic change, formed splinter parties. Their chance of power depends largely on the amount of political and financial backing they receive from the Palace. The new government of Aly Maher Pasha has got that support now. He may be less anti-British than the deposed Premier Nahas Pasha, but has already pledged himself to fulfil the nationalist policy of independence for the Nile Valley, including the Suez and the Sudan.

* * *

Both the new and the old governments are dominated by land-owning interests. Anti-British sentiments can be touted in order both to maintain and to hide those interests from the people. Governments of land-owners will not readily undertake radical measures of land reform and reclamation and industrial development. And it is easy for them to blame foreign influence for the social and political corruption, the hunger and the hovels. They can say that the foreigners are debasing Moslem character and ways of life. Drive the foreigners out! is a popular slogan and resort of politicians and fanatics. As was shown last week, when nationalism is used as a political weapon, it can cause havoc.

* * *

The new government, under the influence and money of the Palace, may be able to maintain order, but it gives little indication in its composition that it will foreswear the easier way of nationalistic appeals and get down to the business of quiet negotiation with the British, and the harder matter of social and economic reform.

Our Nation Needs Gadflies

Last week Professor A. R. M. Lower made a spech in Kingston in which he was critical of some aspects of Canadian civilization; he said that the country was civilized only "in a superficial way." This prompts the Montreal Star to call Professor Lower "a national gadfly." We presume that this is meant to be derogatory, but we do not find it so: Canada needs gadflies to stir it up; every nation must have its critics, and it is lucky to find them within the ranks of its own citizens. Self-criticism is as healthy for a nation as it is for an individual.

We are a little too ready, in Canada, to dismiss any of our own people who are critical of the state of civilization in this country as trivial and vexatious persons; and we are apt to fly into a tizzy if anything uncomplimentary is said about us by visitors. We exhibit the touchiness of immaturity. Criticism is never pleasant; it is often trivial, inept and based upon faulty knowledge. But it is better to endure a lot of criticism, hoping that there may somewhere be a grain of truth in it, than to become huffy and stuffy about it. And when criticism comes from a man of Professor Lower's intellectual standing, we must listen; he is known to be deeply concerned with Canada's past, present and future, and it is foolish to suggest that he talks merely to hear himself, or to attract cheap publicity.

Canada could well use many more gadflies of the Lower type. Complacency and indifference can do us far more harm than the sharpest criticism.

Will The Seaway Create A Scarcity?

The St. Lawrence Seaway is to be built. That is a fact, whether the Americans co-operate in the construction or not. It is an immense project and it is the material requirements rather than the financial which will bear most heavily on the Canadian economy. Canada has the dollars. It is doubtful if she has the steel, cement, copper and the like, at present rates of production.

Construction engineers have already worked out a list of key materials required for the Seaway. It includes 70,200 tons of reinforcing steel; 108,600 tons of structural steel; 4,400 tons of copper; 7,630,000 barrels of cement and 118,700,000 board feet of lumber.

If the seaway becomes a joint Canadian-American project, the construction would take annually two tons of every 100 tons of steel now consumed, and four barrels of cement out of every 100 now available. If Canada assumes the construction herself, the drain on materials available in Canada would be even heavier.

With such a large project as this in the offing there seems to be no need to fear a depression at least in the heavy industries and construction business. There is reason to anticipate intensified scarcity of the basic materials.

District Accidents

As our news columns have noted, the number of motor vehicle accidents in this district has increased. In the first nine months of last year there were 415 such accidents in Peterborough County; in 1950 during the same period there were 385. Increases are also recorded for all the neighbouring counties: Hastings having had 554 accidents compared with 480 in the first nine months of 1950; Northumberland 216 against 215; Durham 305 against 255 in 1950; Victoria 181 compared with 165; and Haliburton 77 compared with 64 in the first nine months of 1950.

There were more motor vehicle accidents throughout the Province from January to September, 1951, than in the same period of 1950. The only thing that can be said in any satisfaction is that the rate of increase in Peterborough and its neighbouring counties was less than the general rate of increase in Ontario.

During this period there were 583 accidents throughout the Province in which fatalities occurred, and all told 676 persons were fatally injured on our Ontario roads in the first nine months of last year. This is almost exactly the same number as the total of all Canadian casualties (killed, wounded, injured and missing) in the entire Korean war. More than five times as many persons were killed on the province's roads in only nine months as Canadians have been killed in Korea to date. Such statistics should shock drivers into exercising greater skill and warn both them and pedestrians on the roads, that streets and highways are in some ways more dangerous than battlefields.

Accidents can be prevented; and the laws recognize this when they suspend the driving licences of anybody convicted of reckless or dangerous driving, drunk driving, driving when ability is impaired by alcohol, and criminal negligence. Licences are suspended for the period set by the Magistrate when a driver is convicted of any offence under the Highway Traffic Act arising out of a motor vehicle accident. The suspension of the licence is an emphatic recognition of the principle that driving is a privilege and not a right.

Tasty Buffalo

More than a third of the buffalo meat consumed in Canada last year was eaten by Montrealers. Three carloads with 90,000 pounds of the meat arrived in Montreal in the middle of December from Elk Island Park, Alberta. That was about forty per cent. of the 250,000 pounds of saleable meat resulting from the annual killing of the Elk Island Park herds. (They are thinned out every year so that there will be enough natural fodder for the animals left.) The meat was sold wholesale at 67 cents a pound. But Montrealers did not gorge themselves on buffalo because it was cheaper than beefsteak. The buffalo steak (or is it hams which buffalo have when they are at home on the range?) retailed at prices ranging from 90 cents a pound to $1.80 in the local stores.

Six hundred head of buffalo were slaughtered at the Park, but only 450 were considered saleable as good entire flesh. The rest were boned out for bologna and sausage meat. Western furriers bought the hides to make into buffalo robes, coats and hats.

We are rather annoyed that Montrealers grabbed so much of the meat; forty per cent. of the kill is an unfair proportion to allot to even our largest city. But Montrealers pride themselves on being gourmets. That is not what we would call people who eat 100,000 pounds of the scarce buffalo meat, gourmands, we call them, or, in plain English, gluttons.

Natives of the Cocos islands we see described as "happy and tax free." A good editor would have cut out the "happy" as unnecessary to a full understanding of the sentence.

More Mouths To Feed

by

W. ARTHUR LEWIS

(Ed. Note: Mr. Lewis is Professor of Political Economy in the University of Manchester.)

THE world's population increased by slightly less per cent. per annum between 1900 and 1950. One per cent. at present corresponds to 24,000,000 additional persons every year. The rate of growth is accelerating. Over the next ten years it is expected to be 1¼ per cent. per annum. The present prospect is that the world's population may double within the next fifty years.

These prospects have produced recently a spate of terrifying books which threaten gigantic world famines unless population growth is quickly checked. And now, to counter them, a Brazilian scientist, Josue de Castro, has written a book "The Geography of Hunger" asking what the fuss is all about.

THIS, alas, is a subject which engages the emotions excessively, at the expense of the mind. Neither school of protagonists can keep clear of exaggeration, of prejudice, and of argument by non sequitur.

If the world's population were to double in fifty years, would this put uncomfortable pressure upon our resources The argument concentrates upon food, since not enough is known about mineral needs and resources.

✧ ✧ ✧

DE CASTRO claims that half the earth is cultivable. Allowing two acres per person (at present we cultivate less than one acre per person), he finds that the earth could carry four times as many people as it does at present, at a high standard of nutrition.

This claim is fantastic even on his own figures, which are that 30 per cent. of the earth is forested, 20 per cent. grassy plains, 18 per cent. mountains, and 32 per cent. desert. He rules out the mountains and the desert, and gets his 50 per cent. cultivable apparently by cutting down all the forests. And even if he were right, there would still be cause for apprehension, since the population could multiply itself four times within the next century, and would then have reached his limits.

ALL that can be said for De Castro's figures is that he is right in castigating those opponents who suggest that we may already even have passed the limits of cultivation. There is still a lot of virgin land about, in Africa, in Latin America, in the interior of China, and in the South Seas, which we may cultivate one day, when we have tamed the rivers, banished tsetse fly, or overcome obstacles to human migration. But it is nowhere near seven times as much as what we are already cultivating.

Some part of the increase in our food supplies over the next twenty years will come from bringing new land under the plough. But it is probable that we shall have to rely to an even greater extent upon increasing the yield of the lands now cultivated.

IS there, however, much point in trying to increase the food supply? Even this is debated. If you grow more food, say some of our tormentors, all that will happen is that you will get still more people. Famine is necessary in some parts, they think, to keep the numbers down. The only other way out of our troubles is birth control. Hence they would willingly vote moneys for birth-control propaganda, but not for agricultural development, at least until such time as their propaganda has succeeded.

If a population is being held down only by famine, then growing more food will cause its numbers to increase. However, there are limits to the rate at which numbers can increase. Three and a half per cent. seems to be about the absolute maximum at present, but very few countries manage to attain even two per cent.

IF you can increase production faster than population can increase, then the average standard of living will rise, and, as far as we can see, this itself will reduce the rate of population growth. The fundamental proposition of Malthus was that production could not be increased faster than population. This may have been true in his day, but it is certainly not true in our day. We can, if we try hard, increase production faster than population, and, so far as we know, this is the only way to reduce population growth.

Admittedly, we know very little about the factors which bring down fertility rates. It is possible that well-organized birth-control propaganda could do the trick, even among the poverty-stricken peoples of India, but this seems to be most unlikely. If we want to check population growth, the safest bet seems to be rapid economic development, with all the cultural changes which this implies.

COULD the backward countries increase their production by say 3 per cent. per annum over the next thirty years? On the side of industrial production this is beyond argument; increases of 5 per cent. per annum are a commonplace in the early stages of industrialization. But with food it is not so simple.

In advanced countries, the yield of agriculture per acre seems to increase by between 1 and 2 per cent. per annum. Technical possibilities in backward countries are much greater. In these countries there is an immense gap between what is known and what is applied. Experts think that their yields per acre could be doubled by using more fertilizers, by seed control, by irrigation and by pest control. The obstacles are not technical but educational: the difficulty of reaching out to millions of small farmers and of persuading them to change their habits.

To reform the agricultural methods of the world's peasant farmers is an immense task, but it could be done if the world devoted the necessary resources to the task. It will have to be done if production is to outgrow population, so that living standards may rise and the growth of population be checked. This is the supreme task of the second half of the twentieth century.

FORGETFUL

The young plumber had proposed and had been accepted. Several hours later the couple parted and he went home.

At three o'clock the next morning a loud ringing, of the front door bell of the girl's house was heard. Her father, roused from sleep, went to the window and, sticking out his head, inquired who was there.

"It's John," said the voice from below. "I asked Dorothy to marry me and she said she would, but I forgot to kiss her."

Lopsided Men Just Don't Impress This Fellow

Egypt Ready For A Change

By ROBERT STEPHENS (In Cairo)

IN a country which has had a continuous existence of some six thousand years it is perhaps naive to expect an interval of a mere half-decade to show important changes.

But Egypt, like the rest of the Middle East, has been affected by the faster pace of modern times and the social and political ferment of the post-war era. Her basic problems of poverty and over-population and an inadequate political and social system have changed little, except in some cases for the worse. But on returning after five years' absence one is struck by the growing awareness of these problems and the increasing though still spasmodic efforts made to get to grips with them. As an Egyptian senior civil servant said to me, "I can now write and publish reports on social and economic problems which would have landed me in jail as a Communist a few years ago."

These new preoccupations are at present still largely masked by the nationalist conflict with Britain. But in a sense the present Anglo-Egyptian crisis is the beginning of the death-throes of the nationalist question which has been almost the sole element in Egyptian political life for the last forty or fifty years.

EGYPT is the most wealthy and heavily populated of the Arabic-speaking States of the Middle East. But her twenty million people, fifteen million of them peasant families, are crowded into an area of six million acres. And they are increasing at the rate of two per cent per year which at the moment means another million people every three years. Living Egypt, is, in fact, just the long narrow fertile strip of the Nile Valley and Delta with hundreds of miles of empty desert on either side of it.

Even if these six million acres were divided up equally among the people who live and work on them, there would be less than two acres of land per family or barely enough for subsistence. But the land is in fact divided in such a way that two-thirds of it are owned by only seven per cent of the rural population, many of the latter being absentee landlords, while more than a third of the rural population are landless labourers and another third own less than one acre of land per family. So most of the peasantry have to work for wages—and these average less than two shillings a day. Those peasants who do own or rent a small amount of land are often heavily in debt. While the pressure of increasing population keeps wages low it also forces rents up. In some parts of Egypt land is worth £1,000 an acre.

On the foundations of this peasant poverty rests the shaky superstructure of an urban upper and middle class society, partly Egyptian and partly foreign, which is socially, culturally and technically in advance of its equivalent strata in other Arabic-speaking States of the Middle East. Cairo, with a population of two and a quarter million, is the biggest city in the Middle East and Africa. Its press, radio, writers and universities have a wide influence on the Arabic-speaking countries. It leads the way in such social changes as the emancipation of women and the general adoption of Western ways of life.

IN its contrasts of poverty and wealth, of social advance and backwardness, in its interplay of foreign and native cultural influences, in the political restlessness of its intelligentsia and its expanding middle-class of officials, merchants and professional men, and in the mixture of corruption and sincere but often ineffectual idealism among its ruling society, Egypt has many parallels with nineteenth-century Russia.

Within a few miles of the centre of Cairo where you can buy the latest novels of Graham Greene or Jean Paul Sartre or a ticket for a season of Italian opera, you find villages of mud hovels where peasant families who cannot read or write their own language crowd together in the foetid darkness with their animals—if they are lucky enough to possess any.

With the gradual spread of education and the irresistible influx of new ideas through the press and the radio, more and more people are beginning to realize that such a state of things is not an inevitable part of the established order of life. Even among the peasantry, inured to poverty and exploitation through centuries and steeped in the fatalistic resignation of Islam, there are signs of a new stirring. In several places in Egypt during the past year there were disturbances amounting to armed peasant risings which were suppressed and hushed up. These were caused partly by bad crops which forced tenants to borrow money to pay rents which remained unchanged despite the tenants' reduced incomes. But they were partly the result of a general mounting dissatisfaction among the peasants with their living conditions and the attitude of their landlords.

More than any other Middle State, except perhaps Persia, Egypt is ripe for change. Whether the change is to be violent or peaceful will depend on whether the present ruling class in Egypt, with the fate of other similar regimes in history before it as a warning, realizes in time that it must either bend or break.

Letters To The Editor

IT WAS "O.K."

Sir: Your item in tonight's Examiner regarding the choir concert at George St. Church was O.K., but where was your critic when 'God Save the King' was sung? Mr. Allen and the choir are to be congratulated on a thrilling rendition of our national anthem the like of which is seldom heard. It was grand.

'MUSE'.

(Ed. Note: Our reporter heard and appreciated the singing of the National Anthem in the Stanford arrangement, but since this arrangement is often used, even in Peterborough choir concerts, special mention of it seemed superfluous.)

COMPETENT BOARD

Sir: Since "Brevity is the soul of wit", I shall be very brief and to the point.

In this war between the "North and South" we wonder if the self-named, "Agitators", realize that neither they, nor we have anything to do with the Board of Trustees, during their term of office. These men were elected with huge majorities, and have taken office. If they see fit to ask our opinion, or if they do not, it is entirely at their own discretion.

The people you are insulting are the rest of the ratepayers, who will probably be helping you to pay for the school accommodation you will get.

Surely you realize that a public undertaking like this, spending your money and ours, requires careful thinking and planning, and not much outdoor work can be done until the frost is out of the ground.

Our Board is made up of honest, capable, intelligent men, and we, of the Auburn district are unanimously supporting them. No "word of tongue or pen", of any man, woman or child can shake our confidence.

We are grateful for the Examiner's constructive suggestion to bring in an arbitrator—a Solomon but we are convinced that no man, ancient or modern, from Toronto, or any other place is needed. Our Board is competent.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this space and for your patience and courtesy in dealing with this extraordinary "tempest in a teapot".

Yours very respectfully,

"PORTIA".

A PLOT EXPOSED

Sir: Here is a word of consolation to those among us who are worried about Ottawa's "under-the-counter" deal to a raucous minority by divorcing us—without consulting Parliament or People—from our rich historical traditions, as shown already in the deletion of the words "Dominion" and "Royal" from buildings, vehicles and documents which belong to all the people not just a small portion of the population.

Rumour has it that appeasement has not yet run its course—that it will include the appointment of a Canadian Governor—General (what a rich plum for political loyalty!), the removal of the Christian crosses of St. George, St. Andrew, and St. David from our flag in favour of a maple leaf (much as we love our maples, we must admit that they shrivel and fall in the first adverse blast), and possibly the substitution of a paunchy party horse and his progeny for his most gracious and beloved Majesty George VI.

However, the accomplishment of this program will place the Canadienne in the ruling spot, and two decades will soften him into an inarticulate lethargy.

The Canadian, on the contrary, will develop an intense nationalism, and an exaggerated sensitivity and will clamour about his minority persecution.

On that day, Canadians will regain the attention of the politicians who—blandly and cynically—will turn about and bribe us with the return of our stolen rights to the use of "Dominion" and "Royal", an impartial Governor-General, crosses on our flag, the exile of our usurper king, and the re-establishment of our rightful monarchy, in return for a solid block of votes.

In the meantime, all we have to do is to remain on our customary seats of self-government (our tail ends!) and await the hand-out!

MERRY-GO-ROUND.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying, In such and such a place shall be my camp. And the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass not such a place; for thither the Syrians are come down. And the king of Israel sent to the place which the man of God told him and warned him of, and saved himself there, not once nor twice. Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing; and he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not shew me which of us is for the king of Israel?

And one of his servants said, None, my lord, O king: but Elisha, the prophet that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bed-chamber. And he said, Go and fetch him. And it was told him, saying, Behold, he is in Dothan. Therefore sent he thither horses, and chariots, and a great host: and they came by night, and compassed the city about.

And when the servant of the man of God was risen early and gone forth, behold, an host encompassed the city both with horses and chariots. And his servant said unto him, Alas, my master! how shall we do? And he answered, Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them. And Elisha prayed, and said, Lord, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see. And the Lord opened the eyes of the young man; and he saw: and, behold, the mountain was full of horses and chariots of fire round about Elisha. (II Kings 6: 8-17.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The chariots of God are twenty thousand, even thousands of angels: the Lord is among them, as in Sinai, in the holy place. Blessed be the Lord, who daily loadeth us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Selah. (Ps. 68: 17, 19.)

Then And Now

(Fort William Times-Journal)

In days of high meat costs, the monthly publication "Industry" has culled two significant items from two newspapers of Alberta. The Edmonton Journal tells the story of a farmer in Barrymore, Alberta, who has been keeping a cheque for 23 cents ever since 1933. On August 18 of that year, the farmer sold three 900-pound two-year-old steers and one 270-pound calf through a livestock commission company.

The four animals brought a total sale price of $9.63, but feed and commission and delivery charges ate up all but the 23 cents. He had intended to buy baling wire with the proceeds of the cattle sale, but when the cheque for 23 cents arrived, he decided to keep it.

The second item was picked up from the Lethbridge Herald. It stated that at a recent auction sale of registered beef cattle in Lethbridge, 264 head of purebred stock sold for $154,350—an average of $548 per cow.

Promoting Windsor

(Windsor Star)

Any campaign to promote Windsor, to have enduring success, must be based on facts; on accomplishments. Superior salesmanship may sell, for a time, an inferior product. But quality is essential to a continued market.

To make this city respected and admired we need most industrial peace. That, indeed, is necessary if we are to have domestic prosperity. That can be attained through the co-operation of management and labour, and with the support and encouragement of our representatives in Council and of the public at large.

We also require good civic government. This is not just a question of efficient administration and sound tax levels, but of the representatives of the people acting always in a responsible manner. We believe most all our representatives in civic office are capable of doing this.

Seek Senate Approval On Seaway Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) said today he and other backers of the St. Lawrence seaway are going to attempt soon to get the senate foreign relations committee to approve a bill authorizing United States participation project.

Wiley, ranking Republican on the committee, told a reporter he was confident the project's backers could get the minimum seven votes needed.

President Truman stirred new interest in the subject Monday with a special message to Congress strongly reiterating his support of legislation which would make possible United States participation in the seaway and power project, which Canada now is prepared to complete alone.

Few Minds Changed

However, a sampling of Congressional opinion indicated the message had changed few minds on the issue. It has been fought here for 50 years.

The earliest move to get action on the bill, it appeared, will come in the Senate.

The seaway's supporters must reckon with the vehement opposition of chairman Tom Connally (Dem. Tex.) of the foreign relations group. Connally jumped up as soon as Truman's message was read Monday and re-emphasized that he would never vote for the seaway.

KOREAN UNDERBRUSH — Red-bearded Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent in Korea, met a group of bearded Canadian warriors at a forward fox-hole during one of his regular visits to the front lines. Boss, who wrote a pamphlet on Korea and its people at the request of the Defence Department, is shown explaining it to the men and at the same time, probably, comparing beards. The group, all members of the 1st Battalion, PPCLI, are, left to right: Cpl. E. C. Copp, Victoria; Pte. Bill Windsor, Toronto; Pte. Herbert Henwood, Springhill, N.S.; Mr. Boss; Pte. E. Army Assures Wives Get Share Of Pay

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP). — A new day is dawning for wives of Canadian servicemen and some of the husbands aren't too happy about it.

The Defence Department has decided to cut the pay of married servicemen into two parts and two cheques. The wife will get one cheque—and a pretty big cheque, too, in some cases—and the husband will get the other.

This new policy, which starts March 1 for officers, April 1 for warrant officers and NCOs and May 1 for other ranks, has touched off a fair amount of grumbling among husbands who don't think it's necessary or who think it's interfering with their personal affairs.

The answer of pay officials is that it is necessary to safeguard wives and families because in some cases the husbands don't look after them properly.

Affects All Married Men

In some cases, such as the soldiers in Korea and Germany, there have been direct assignments but the new policy embraces all married men.

The assignments break down into four categories depending on (a) whether the man lives in married quarters provided by the forces and has children; (b) lives in married quarters and has no children; (c) lives elsewhere and has children, and (d) lives elsewhere and has no children.

An army captain under (a) would find $90 going to his wife, under (b) $75, under (c) $174, and under (d) $159. The rates for a sergeant under those four headings would be $70, $55, $132 a $117.

HONOR CHIEF SCOUT—A tiny replica of a silver wolf attached to a green and yellow ribbon was presented to Earl Alexander, former governor-general, and now Britain's Defence Minister. The presentation, made by Jackson Dodds of Montreal Deputy Chief Scout, was made to Canada's Chief Scout for his interest and efforts on behalf of the Scouting Organization of Canada.

Strike Time Loss Down In '51

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP)—The time lost as a result of strikes and lockouts in 1951 was the lowest for any year since 1944, the Labor Department said Monday.

A report, based on preliminary figures, showed there were 235 strikes and lockouts in 1951, involving 87,224 workers, with a time loss of 872,300 working days. This compared with 161 work stoppages in 1951, with 192,153 workers involved and a time loss of 1,389,039 days.

The demand for increased wages was the principal cause of 50 per cent of the work stoppages in 1951 and caused more than 70 per cent of the total time lost.

Citizenship Charge

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP) — Jeanette Wilby, 19, a Canadian who did a striptease dance under the name of "Dark 'Venus" in a Miami Beach club, Monday was arraigned on a criminal charge of falsely claiming United States citizenship.

Dead Letter Office Destroys Liquor

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP)—The Post Office Department said Monday that approximately 1,000,000 items of mail were sent to the dead letter office during the Christmas rush because they were not properly addressed or not properly wrapped.

In addition, said the department, a "considerable" quantity of liquor, sent through the mails contrary to postal regulations, was turned over to the dead letter office and destroyed.

Papers' Responsibility Stressed By Msgr. Roy

QUEBEC, Jan. 29 (CP)—Msgr. Maurice Roy, Archbishop of Quebec, said Sunday that in addition to giving its readers an honest account of the day's news the Roman Catholic press must call to their attention the doctrine of the church.

"This essential and sometimes difficult role must be exercised on one hand without sacrificing any of the eternal truths, and on the other, in adapting itself to the quick-moving and confused world of today," he said.

Msgr. Roy made this statement in conferring decorations from the Pope on three Quebecers prominent in Roman Catholic action circles. Decorated with the Order of Saint Gregoire Le Grand were Ernest Beaubien, former president of L'Action Sociale Catholique; Oscar Hamel, secretary of L'Action Sociale; and Dr. Louis Philippe Roy, editor-in-chief of L'Action Catholique, a Quebec daily newspaper.

British Adjudicator Meets Cool Questions

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29 (CP). — Pierre Lefevre, British adjudicator, arrived in cold Winnipeg on Monday to meet a barrage of "cool" questions concerning his reported criticism of Canadian speech.

After a performance of "The Corn Is Green" staged by the Vancouver Little Theatre, Mr. Lefevre was quoted as saying the English spoken by the actors was so good that "he wasn't conscious of any of the actors being Canadian."

He clarified his "surprise" Monday reported in Vancouver. "The Welsh accent, the other shades of English accents were so well done, I expressed mild surprise — and admiration," he explained.

In Winnipeg, he will adjudicate "Medea" and "Three Men on a Horse."

Manslaughter Trial

PICTOU, NS, Jan. 29 — (CP).—George Mills of nearby Priestville Monday was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter, laid following the drowning of three persons in a highway accident. Charles Jewell, Howard Desmond and Jack Purvis were drowned December 25 when a panel truck left the road and broke through the ice of a river.

Punches Driver In Nose Motorist Fined $20

TORONTO, Jan. 29 — (CP) — Chester Arthur Monday was fined $20 for punching another motorist in the jaw for driving too slowly.

Richard Dwor told the court he was driving home about 20 miles an hour when a car bumped him from behind twice. "We got out and he (Arthur) said: 'You guys in big cars sure take up a lot of room'. Then bop, he hit me on the chin, got in his car and drove off."

Magistrate Tupper Bigelow said he would recommend that Arthur's driving permit be suspended.

Spirit Of Conciliation Urged By Churches

WINDSOR, Jan. 29 — (CP) — The Windsor Council of Churches Monday urged "a spirit of conciliation and goodwill among representatives of Ford of Canada and United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) now meeting in Toronto with Labor Minister Daley in their contract dispute.

"We are concerned about the social, moral and spiritual welfare of the people and we are convinced that this strike, if it materializes, will injure the whole community," the council said in a message to the negotiators in Toronto.

Unanimous Victory

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 29 (CP)—After wins over teams from McGill, Queen's and Toronto universities, a team of debaters from Scotland scored a unanimous victory over two University of Western Ontario students Monday to bring their Canadian tour to a successful finish. They took the affirmative stand in the topic "resolved that the commonwealth should federate."

Reject Recommendation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen Monday rejected an emergency board's recommendations for settling a two-year dispute with the railroads in the United States. The brotherhood had refused to participate in the board's hearings, charging that board members were biased in favor of the carriers.

Taxation Too High

LONDON, Jan. 29 (Reuters) — British industrialists complained Monday that high taxation was driving some of their highest-paid executives to leave the country. In a memorandum to the government, the federation of British industries also attacked a forecast plan for a new excess profits tax.

Find 4 Bodies In Fire Ruins

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 29 (AP) —Using axes to break apart the ice-caked debris, firemen early today recovered four bodies from the ruins of a three-storey business-apartment house razed by fire at the edge of the Minneapolis Loop Monday.

Fire Chief Reynold Malmquist said his men expected to find the bodies of 13 others, missing and presumed dead in the tangled wreckage of bricks and wood.

Braving 15-below-zero temperatures, firemen worked throughout the night in the glare of the blazing battery of floodlights. A wrecking crane with its swinging bucket worked seven hours toppling the fire-gutted walls before Malmquist would allow firemen to search the ruins.

The first bodies taken out were those of a boy about six and a girl, three.

The other pitiful remnants were those of a woman and a boy about twleve. None was identified immediately.

The American Red Cross listed as missing six adults, two teenagers and nine young children. All were occupants of third-floor quarters of the building near the business district.

Match-Making Britons Come Up With Rival

LONDON, Jan. 29 — (AP). — Match-making Britons who have been talking about a romance between Princess Margaret and the Scottish Earl of Dalkeith now are waiting for another friend of the Earl's—a green-eyed blonde — to come home from Hong Kong.

Then, they say, they will know for sure which girl the 28-year-old Earl plans to marry.

The girl who, society gossips say, may elbow the Royal Princess aside and win the wealthy nobleman's hand is Jane McNeill, 21. She is the daughter of a Hong Kong barrister, John McNeill, whom she now is visiting.

Jane has known Dalkeith for three years. During that time she has been seen at parties with the wealthy Earl just as often as the Princess. On rare occasions, when Dalkeith let himself be torn away from his father's country estates to visit London, it was Jane who was his partner.

Goes To Reformatory

OSHAWA, Jan. 29 — (CP) — Despite a plea that he be sent to the Kingston penitentiary, Bruce Stephens, 22, Monday was sentenced to 17 months in an Ontario reformatory after pleading guilty to 13 charges of false pretences, one of fraud and another of forgery. He purchased goods at stores and tendered worthless cheques, pocketing the change, in Montreal, Ottawa, Napanee, Port Hope, Windsor, London and Oshawa.

Eagles Scuttle Hawks 11-3 In Senior "B" Fixture As Wilson Gets Four Goals

Flashing fancy pattern passing plays from start to finish here last night, the Eagles trounced Belleville Hawks 11-3 before about 400 frostbitten fans. The win pulled the Vitarelli pack up again into a third-place tie with Kingston and kept the Doran squad from lengthening their lead in first place of the Central Ontario senior "B" puck race over the Petes. Eagles breezed into a 4-0 first period lead, outscored the Hawks 4-2 in the middle chukker and had a 3-1 scoring margin in the third. They dominated play throughout in speedy, clean play. It threatened to become chippy in spots but nothing serious developed. The winners drew four of the seven penalties. Injuries had the Hawks short two players, and Red Doran went off late in the third with a two-stitch gash on the cheek. Eagles' passing was never better, with the S-B-W "kid line" scintillating. They also had fine netminding and a solid defence.

SETS 'EM UP — Defenceman Keith Montgomery not only did a big blue-line chore in Eagles' 11-3 win over Belleville last night, but he set up passes for three goals. Leading team sniper, though, was Jed Wilson with four markers.

Wilson Stars

Leading lamplighter for the McGillis-sponsored club was young Jed Wilson who cuffed in four fine markers, as well as aiding on another. Toodie Greenlaw was in rare form, also, to slap home three and help on two more. George Samalenko had two goals and three assists in a nifty playmaking role, while Reg Stewart slipped two into the cage and assisted on another pair. Prolific punchers, too, were Freddy Mortimer with four assists, Keith Montgomery —the rushing defenceman—with three, George Brabin and Johnny Richlark with two apiece. Dooteh Vitarelli aided on one as the first line didn't click as well as the other two.

Big Vern Goyer, a large floater with a fast finish, clicked for two Quinte counters, and Don Barrett got the other. Doug Day was in on two, single assists going to Ernie Trumble, Keith MacDonald and Doug Bastedo. The losers never quit trying and came up with some fast passing plays as well that kept Ross Nicholls busy at times in goal. However, they were well outclassed on the night's play.

Toodie Scores

Greenlaw tore in fast to tally the first one on a drop pass by Vitarelli and a forward flip by Montgomery in close. Wilson made it 2-0 shortly on in-close combination with Mortimer and Stewart. The latter drew a hooking penalty and, in his absence, Samalenko batted home Montgomery's rebound on a breakaway. Fennell and Day hit the trail for high-sticking and Wardaugh followed for tripping. All were back when Wilson made it 4-0 on a rebound over a prostrate goalie, Brabin and Samalenko fashioning the play. MacDonald went over for interference at the close.

He was still off in the second when Eagles scored two quickies. Stewart's bouncer caught a net corner on a play with Montgomery and Greenlaw, and then the latter struck fast on a pass from Mortimer and Stewart to sink the disc. Later, Belleville pressed, a MacDonald - Goyer thrust coming close, but Nicholls was good. Wilson added one neatly on picture passing with Samalenko and Brabin inside. Munroe returned from a holding penalty and Goyer grabbed a forward pass on a play started by Trumble and MacDonald to whizz in a mile a minute and sink a neat one. Wilson got that one back right away on fine finish with a swell Samalenko pass. Barrett got one more for Hawks from Bastedo and Day, Nicholls making one nice stop but the puck sliding by him as he was down on the next stab.

Adds It Up

Greenlaw scored early in the third in close with Mortimer and Richlark, the latter thrice holding the puck inside as Hawks tried to burst out with it. Munroe got it for kneeing but returned with no damage done. Belleville drove hard and Goyer scored their last one in a crease scramble with Day. A later tally by them was washed out for being in the crease. Samalenko tallied No. 10 for Eagles as Wilson and Richlark sucked the defence away out of position, leaving Leforte helpless. Stewart wound up the sniping on a classy play inside with Greenlaw and Mortimer. Doran went off with a facial cut just before the final gong. Teams:

Belleville—Goal, Leforte; defence, Bastedo and Semark; centre, Goyer; wings, MacDonald and Moher; alternates, Doran, Wardhaugh, Barrett, Day, Trumble and Reeves.

Eagles — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Montgomery and Richlark; centre, Hill; wings, Vitarelli and Crowley; alternates, F. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Stewart, Samalenko, Wilson, Brabin, Munroe and Fennell.

Referee, L. Lecompte; linesman, W. Ronhanyi.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Playing in the Ontario Ladies' Tankard games at Hamilton on Monday, Mrs. V. Selkirk's rink won two games and remains in the major event; Mrs. T. Doughty lost out by an extra end but is still in the consolation event.

Our boys are back from Utica, NY. They won the second event and now our story stops here. For further information regarding this international bonspiel, contact F. Stenson, C. Lawrence, Dr. B. Knott or A. Yelland. They have all the details.

The bonspiel committee makes this announcement: the 14 rink bonspiel set for Feb. 16 has been withdrawn, and in its place the following Saturday, there will be a 28-rink open bonspiel for the Carling Trophy. Fee is $10. We are asking curlers to keep this new date open.

The ladies got away to a good start yesterday afternoon in the leads and seconds bonspiel and the curling was real good. It's the first time many of the ladies have ever taken over the "T" and while maybe a little nervous, they did well. The games are continuing today.

Overheard: Bride's father to groom: "My boy you're the second happiest man in the world."

King George Victors

King George squeezed out a 3-2 public school hockey win over Central recently at the arena. Barker had a goal and an assist for the winners, English and Grills each counting out. Naish and D. Lustic scored for Central, an assist each going to Kelly, Tranter, Patterson and Robbins. It was a fast hard-fought game, with the scorers and the two goalies, along with Gray and Clark going best. G. Harding and J. Lustic made many fine saves. Teams:

King George: G. Harding, Clark, Whatman, Dixon, Barker, English, Grills, Donaldson, J. Harding, C. Harding, Hewitt, Roberts.

Central: J. Lustic, Kelly, Naish, Tranter, Gray, Patterson, Robbins, D. Lustic, Brown, Williams, Lloyd, Dunford, Craymer, Sorrie, Harrington.

Referee: R. Rutherford.

HANS HERMANN, arrogant German grappler, pictured above, who takes on Bill Stack in the semi-final match of tonight's wrestling card at the Brock. Hermann is one of the most hated and feared matmen in the game and Stack will have to be good to stand up to the German's viciousness. The main event is a tag team bout between Bobo Brazil and Pat Flanagan on one side and Lord Athol Layton and Lou Pitoscia teaming up on the other side. There is no love lost between these four and the go shapes up as a rough and tumble affair. Sandor Kovacs, highly rated in mat circles, opens the proceedings with Stan Mayslack. Advance interest in this all-star card—the best presented at the Brock this season—indicates a record crowd.

Australia Keeps Cricket Crown

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 29 — (Reuters)—Australia today retained the world's unofficial cricket crown, beating the West Indies touring team by 202 runs in the fifth and final test, with a day to spare to take the series, four matches to one.

The West Indies, needing 416 runs for victory, were 189 for three at lunch, helped by a splendid 104 by Jeff Stollmeyer.

But then Australia's speed attack blasted the batsmen with the new ball and the remaining seven wickets fell in 55 minutes for only 24 runs.

Ray Lindwall, who had one wicket for 45 when he took the new ball, claimed another four wickets for six runs in five overs to finish with five for 52. Keith Miller took two for 57.

In the match, the pace bowlers took 18 of the 20 West Indies wickets.

Australia, first innings, 116. second innings, 377.

West Indies, first inning, 78. Second innings, 213.

Florence Chadwick Trains For Straits

SANDFORD, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP) —Florence Chadwick of San Diego, Calif., starts two weeks' training here today for an attempt to swim the 42 miles across the Straits of Gibraltar in June.

Miss Chadwick, the only woman to swim the English Channel both ways, will train in a pool, using a special device to simulate ocean conditions.

Erv Dusak Signs

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 29 (AP)—Branch Rickey, manager of Pittsburgh Pirates announced today that Erv Dusak has signed for the 1952 season. Dusak came to the Pirates from St. Louis in a trade last year. A versatile player, Dusak will not pitch this year due to injuries received last season. He will stay in the outfield.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

George Brabin, who plays hockey here for the Eagles, may be lost to the Petes' senior ballsters this year. He goes to Florida in March for a tryout with Brooklyn Dodgers and, if he looks ripe for moneyed ranks, he'll be farmed out to a minor pro club. George had a pro trial a year ago as a junior with Oshawa ere heading this way to strut his stuff for Petes. In his first senior year with the locals he led the Viaduct League in hitting, as well as fielding in fine fashion in the left garden. Detroit Tigers were also interest in getting a look at him in action this spring.

Ed Fitin, who is publicity director for Maple Leafs of Toronto in the NHL, finds time to write a few hockey books, with Joe Primeau, Busher Jackson, Chuck Conacher, King Clancy and such swashbuckling worthies of that period. We have his latest, "The Gashouse Gang of Hockey," dealing comparable to the colorful old Gashouse Gang of St. Louis Cards in the 30s. It makes entertaining reading, and we're glad to see some books being published in Canada on hockey. USA writers have glorified their sports in hundreds of publications for years, and 'tis time Canadians read more of the sport at which they lead the world.

Kingston Plays Petes

Kingston comes here tomorrow night to take on the Petes in an OHA senior "B" game. Last senior scrap of the month, and the schedule winds up late in February. All clubs in the Central Ontario circuit are digging in hard now and fighting fiercely for each victory as the pattern unfolds after a lengthy session of play. The K's won their last start at Civic Arena and have no fears of this smaller ice surface against either Petes or Eagles. Which promises to make the Wednesday struggle a hot one all the way. Petes can climb closer to top spot with a win but a loss for 'em would leave Kingston right on their heels in the warmish race. It rates a goodly crowd.

Hawks came and saw and were defeathered. They came up on a cold night that kept the fans away by the hundreds; they saw Eagles flying in the form they've been showing in recent games; and they were plucked to the tune of 11-3 by a hot team. Fast, pattern plays, plus hurry-back, checking, good blue-line blocking and nifty netminding when needed. That was the Eagles' story last frosty eve. The young line of George Samalenko, Jed Wilson and George Brabin travelled at jet speed and flashed some fine combination in close. The Mortimer-Greenlaw-Stewart trio was just about as effective. Monty sparkled all the way. Richlark was in on a pair, too. Yes, it was a first-class team effort against the loop leaders, and it puts Eagles in a tie for third with Kingston.

Junior OLA-ers Plan

Junior Petes' lacrossers have re-organized for the 1952 OLA campaign. Frank Patterson of Filter Queens, immediate past president, will again sponsor the club, coached by Lou Vitarelli once more. Oral Browne is president, Mac Powell vice-prexy and Al Lockington the secretary-treasurer. Smart new uniforms will be supplied and several top prospects from other centres want to come here for this year. A lot of last year's players are available again, and this team only lost out—after leading their OLA group all season—in junior "A" Eastern Canada finals to Mimico, the club that took the Canadian crown. Plans are being formulated now for another strong squad.

Ken Kingston, Walt Murphy and the rest of the hard-working PMLA executive sat down to their annual dinner last eve in St. Alphonsus School along with the bantam OLA champions. The latter were presented with OLA crests and by watches on behalf of the city, Ald. Doug Miller doing the honors. He outlined the history of the gutted-stick game in an after-dinner address, and Ken Kingston—who is PMLA president and a member of the OLA executive—dealt with the importance of minor lacrosse in developing future senior stars. The various officials and coaches were thanked for their season-long efforts with the many boys in Peterborough who go in for the game. A nice windup touch. Won't be long before plans are being made for the coming semester.

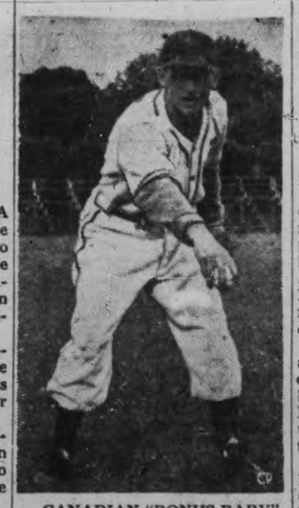
Combines Triumph

KEENE, Jan. 29 (ENS)—Otonabee Combines took an 11-6 EPL victory over a strengthened St. Peter's squad here before a small crowd last night in a wide-open tilt. The victors led 3-0 in the first on goals by Cowie, H. Burns and Whalen, as Heafield aided on two and G. Burns on one. Heffernan and Farley counted for the Saints in the second, but Heafield tallied two, and Cowie and Close one each for Combines, Heafield, Whalen, Cowie and Locke each having an assist. Heffernan scored two in the third on passes from Conroy for the losers as Farley and Berry also scored. Whalen notched two for Combines, Locke and Close hitting the mark for the Keene crew, with G. Burns, Houle and Heafield each earning an assist. The winners drew six of 11 penalties.



St. Peter's — Hickson, Farley, Berry, Conroy, Vyse, Heffernan, Ferren, Bacon, Richardson, Killen, O'Connell, Collins, Crough.

Combines — Harkness, Close, Houle, Whalen, Heafield, Cowie, G. Burns, Locke, H. Burns, Brown, Thompson, Davidson.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Canada's Olympic hockey team, the Toronto Granites, crushed Sweden 22-0 in the winter Olympics at Chamonix, Switzerland, 28 years ago today. Switzerland and Britain proved easy victims in later rounds and the Canadians won their second Olympic title with a 6-1 victory over the United States in the final. Edmonton Mercurys are Canada's representatives in the winter Olympics at Oslo next month.

CANADIAN "BONUS BABY" —Bill Slack, of Sarnia, received a bonus of $18,000 for signing a contract with the Boston Red Sox farm system. Slack, a right-hander who hurled for London Majors, champions of the Ontario Inter-County Senior Baseball Association, reports to Lakeland, Fla., March. 4 for spring training. The bonus is believed the highest received by any Canadian baseball player for signing with a United States major league team.

SKATING COACH—Sheldon Galbraith, 29-year-old native of Winnipeg, who coached Barbara Ann Scott to seven figure-skating championships including the Olympic title, will coach Canada's team at the Winter Olympics in Oslo, Feb. 14-25. Galbraith, professional at the Toronto Skating Club, was a star in the "Ice Follies" three years and coached four of the five TSC members who took honors at the 1952 Canadian championships at Oshawa, Ont.

Peewees At Keene

KEENE, Jan. 29 (ENS).—The peewees played a doubleheader in the Otonabee Rink at Keene Saturday and in the first game the Assumption lads took a 3 to 0 shutout over Flyers while Eagles again shut out Flyers 2-0 in the second affair. Fitzgerald in the Assumption net and Pete Nelson, goalie for Eagles, played well to get their shutouts. Johnny McIntyre and Pete Shearer scored for Eagles and Terry Manley led the Assumption team. The Flyers were outlucked at times in both games but will make it hot for the others before the schedule is finished. Teams:

Assumption: G. M. J. Fitzgerald, D. R. Carey, P. Doherty, F. D. Webster, T. Manley, L. Manley, P. O'Toole, B. Brown, B. O'Brien, A. Heffernan, J. Clancy.

Flyers: G. J. Stillman, D. B. Comrie, Scriver, Cameron, D. McCarthy, L. Shearer, G. Shearer, Wismer, Gall, Bill Shearer.

Bantam Champs Honored At PMLA Dinner

Watches were presented Monday to members of Peterborough's first Ontario minor lacrosse champions when the bantam all-stars banqueted at St. Alphonsus Scool. Ald. Douglas Miller, a veteran Peterborough lacrosse player, made the presentation on behalf of the city.

After a buffet lunch the watches and crests, from the Ontario Lacrosse Association, were presented, brief addresses were made by Kenneth Kingston, president of the Peterborough minor association, and by Ald. Miller.

Mr. Kingston spoke on minor lacrosse and its importance to Canada's national sport and Ald. Miller an the history of lacrosse.

Good Record

Last year the Petes all stars hopped over the Toronto Lions easily in the first round of the playoffs, skimmed over Brampton and walloped Weston 22-0 in the sudden-death game played at Burlington in October for the championship.

Those who received the watches were: Fred Heffernan, Grant Simmons, Gord McInnis, Bill Forestal, Paul Davis, Gord Hunt, Sam Lagana, Ron Jay, Peter Heffernan, Ben Floyd, Cyril Coombes, Larry Ferguson, Paul Parnell, Norman Trotter, Frank Kenneally, Frank Roberts, Wilf Heffernan (manager) and Edgar Woodcock (coach).

Norwood Winners Against Havelock

NORWOOD, Jan. 29—(ENS)—In a hard-driving, rugged encounter here last night, before a good-sized TVL crowd, Norwood yanked out a 9-7 win over Havelock to move up a step in the northern division standing. The homesters took an early lead but Havelock fought back furiously in the second for a 5-1 scoring margin. Norwood drove in the third to rap in four with but one return. Griffin and Wilson drew fighting majors in the second period and Hamilton was handed a misconduct after a minor in the third of a lively tussle. Teams:

Havelock—Goal, Hill; defence, Anderson, Wilson; centre, Reid; wings, Willshaw, Crowder; alternates, Eakins, Caravaggie, Lang, Pace, Hamilton, Berardi, Bradley.

Norwood — Goal, Jones; defence, Kelly, Tompkins; centre, Webb; wings, Thompson, Payne; alternates, Thorpe, Creighton, Brydges, Ferguson, Griffin, Robinson, Rogers, Magee, Aldred.

Referee, W. Leggitt; linesman, T. Junkin.

Howe, Lach Neck and Neck In 1952 NHL Scoring Race

MONTREAL, Jan. 29. (CP)—Gordie Howe of Detroit and Elmer Lach of Montreal are having quite a battle in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race. At present Howe is top man with 46 points, one more than Lach has. Howe's total is made up of 25 goals, the league mark to date, with 21 assists and Lach's of 12 goals and 33 assists, a record in that department. Tied for third position are Montreal's ailing Maurice Richard and New York's Don Raleigh with 39 points. Richard has 24 goals and 15 assists, Raleigh sports a 14-25 mark.

In the goal-keeping department it's Detroit all the way, Terry Sawchuk's 10 shutouts being five more than held by second-place Al Rollins of Toronto.

Allows 82 Goals

In 46 games, Sawchuk has allowed only 82 goals, giving him an average of 1:78 a game. Rollins' average is 2:02 from 97 goals in 48 games.

In bad-man tactics, Gus Kyle of Boston holds undisputed sway with 103 minutes spent in the penalty box.

By teams, Toronto is the most highly penalized club with 498 minutes and Rangers have the least—362 minutes.

In team standings, Detroit continues to pace the pack with 63 points from 27 victories and nine ties. They have lost but 10 of the 46 games played.

The second-place Toronto Leafs have 55 points and the third-place Canadiens 52 points. Rangers come next with 40 and are followed by Boston with 38. Chicago Black Hawks are in the cellar with 30 points.

Clark Winner In Quebec First Round

QUEBEC, Jan. 29 (CP).—Play in two leading competitions of Quebec's 39th international bonspiel today is in the second round. Two more events get under way too.

Maritimes and Ontario rinks dominated play in the first rounds of the Chateau International and the Omega International Monday, with first round losers entering the International Gold Cup today.

Teams reaching the quarter-finals in the three events later will compete for the top award, the Lieutenant-Governor's Trophy for the 'spiel championship. Play in the Holt-Renfrew event also starts today.

Two Maritimes rinks and two Quebec City foursomes advanced to the third round of the Chateau and Omega after receiving first-round byes and winning second-round games.

The teams are Dr. J. H. M. Rice of Campbellton and Dr. J. M. Elliott of Quebec Victory who advanced in the Chateau; Art. Clarke, Pleasant Lake, NS, and Gav MacWilliam, Quebec Winter Club, advanced in the Omega.

Meanwhile, 13 rinks from the Maritimes, 12 from Toronto, 11 from Quebec Province points, three from the United States and two from Montreal, won first-round games.

Ontario Winners

Ontario had eight first-round winners in the Chateau: D. About, Smiths Falls, Toronto Royal Canadian, N. Findley; Toronto Granite, E. H. Pooler; Ottawa, Mel Stonehouse; A. R. Tarlton, Hamilton; Dr. R. Clark, Peterborough; C. A. Scharfe, Toronto Victoria; and Woodstock, H. R. Henderson.

F. Johnston, Sault Ste. Marie; R. K. Metcalfe, Toronto Royal Canadian; F. G. Husband, Toronto Highpark; and S. Rothschild, Sudbury, advanced in the Omega.

Results included:

Chateau International, first round: Quebec Jacques Cartier, P. Chaput, 8; Copper Cliff, Ont., Mac Canapini, 7.

Smiths Falls, Ont., D. About, 12; Shawinigan Falls, Que., C. N. Crutchfield, 11.

Peterborough, Dr. R. Clark, 15; Three Rivers, Que., C. O. Baptist, 6.

Woodstock, H. R. Henderson, 10; Quebec Victoria, E. A. Murphy, 5.

Omega International, first round: Sudbury, S. Rothschild, 16; Riverbend, Que., J. W. Menard, 7. Sault Ste. Marie, F. Johnston, 9; Dalhousie, NB, Dr. W. W. Fleck, 8.

Powell Enjoys 11-Point Lead

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP). — Ray Powell of Providence Reds enjoys a healthy 11-point lead in the American Hockey League's scoring race today.

The veteran centre collected eight points during the last week to boost his output to 66. Powell has banged home 23 goals and leads the field in assists with 43.

George Armstrong, high-scoring right wing of Pittsburgh Hornets, is second with 55 points but tops the league in goals with 30. Steve Wochy of Cleveland is third with 51 points.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh remains out in front in the duel for goal-tending honors. Mayer sports a 2.50 goals-against mark and is tied with Gordon Henry, Hershey and Emile Francis, Cincinnati, for the lead in shutouts at three each.

Pete Durham of Indianapolis, failed to draw a penalty in three games during the week but he still is the league's "bad man" with 123 minutes in the cooler.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

H. J. (Hap) Osborne, news editor of The Saint John, NB, Evening Times-Globe and veteran curling writer, Monday night was honored at a dinner by newspapermen and officials of the 39th Quebec International Bonspiel.

Mr. Osborne, covering the bonspiel for his paper and The Saint John Telegraph-Journal, was presented with a leather case and two military hair brushes by bonspiel officials.

He has been coming to Quebec for a number of years to cover the six-man bonspiel.

Regina is claiming that its 48th provincial bonspiel is the biggest in the world. The Regina bonspiel boasted 344 rinks when entries closed at noon Monday. The Winnipeg bonspiel, with 330 rinks previously was generally recognized as the largest rockfest anywhere.

The West German Olympic committee announced Monday it will send a 15-man ice hockey team to Oslo winter Olympic games.

A committee spokesman, William Daum, said the team members would be instructed to avoid incidents and "not to react even to deliberate foul play by the opposition team or obvious false rulings by the referees."

Allie Reynolds, double no-hit pitching star of the New York Yankees, Monday was named winner of the second annual Hickok professional athlete of the year award after a close finish with heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott. The 33-year-old Oklahoma City hurler received a $10,000 diamond-studded belt. Reynolds was the second Yankee to win the prize. Phil Rizzuto won it last year.

The National Boxing Association Monday gave Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, a pat on the back for getting tough with Jersey Joe Walcott and once again asked New York to join the NBA ranks. In a statement by NBA commissioner Abe Greene, New York was urged to join a fight to (1) curb common evils and (2) promote favorable activities.

Louis B. Mayer, movie producer and California thoroughbred breeder, returned to active participation on the turf Monday with his election as chairman of the board of directors of the Del Mar Turf Club. He replaced Al Hart, who resigned because of ill health. Thomas H. Peppers of Mentone was re-elected president.

Nick Mickoski, 24-year-old leftwinger who led New York Rangers in scoring last season, Monday was sent on loan to Cincinnati Mohawks of the American Hockey League.

The demotion of shortstop John (Buddy) Kerr to the Milwaukee American Association farm club was announced Monday by general manager John Quinn of Boston Braves. Kerr came to the Braves with three other players in the late 1949 swap for infielders Eddie Stanky and Alvin Dark, key figures in the Tribesmen's 1948 National League pennant drive.

Salvator Scollazo, convicted basketball game fixer, was indicted Monday at New York on charges of evading $53,676 in federal income taxes for the year 1945, it was disclosed by United States Attorney Myles J. Lane.

Edmonton Mercurys Monday night defeated a Liege hockey team reinforced by Canadian players living in Europe 6-0 in an exhibition game.

Norman Hayes, 20-year-old Boston Negro, outslugged former middleweight champion Jake Lamotta, the favorite, for a divided 10-round decision in their bruising feature boxing bout Monday night at the Boston Garden. A furious finale turned the tide for Hayes, who weighed 163 to the Bronx Bull's 169¼.

Joe Carveth, former star with Detroit Red Wings, left Cleveland Monday for a job as playing coach with Vancouver Canucks of the Pacific Coast Hockey League.

Eddie Robinson Comes To Terms

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP).—First baseman Eddie Robinson, the club's sole holdout to date, today came to terms with Chicago White Sox for the 1952 season.

At the same time, the Sox announced third baseman Bob Dillinger, a .301 hitter last season, returned his signed contract leaving only three players unsigned.

General manager Frank Lane said "Eddie got a very substantial increase."

Oshawa Blasts St. Mike's 6-0 Hits Stride In Surprise Upset

By The Canadian Press.

Oshawa Generals haven't had much luck in this season's 10-team Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule. Up to Monday night the club had been able to win only four games in 40 outings, dropping their last 18 straight to loll deep in last place.

However, Monday night they shook off their doldrums with a vengeance. Showing as much class as a first division club, the Generals delighted a home-town crowd by blasting fourth-place Toronto St. Michael's 6-0.

The win did little to upset the standings though. Oshawa remains mired deep, 45 points off the pace while St. Mike's continues along in fourth, four full games behind third-place Galt Black Hawks.

In Monday evening's Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A play, Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds sent Sudbury fans home muttering to themselves with a four-goal final period outburst for a 6-4 victory over Sudbury Wolves.

Does Hat Trick

At Oshawa, Bobby Attersley collected the Generals' first hat trick of the season with three big goals. Fred Etcher, Doug Moore and Bobby Holden scored the others. Bobby Shropshire stopped 32 shots to earn his shutout.

Ted Loney led the Greyhounds with two goals while Terry Biocchi, Benny Cano, Jim Johnson and Johnny Offidani pushed in the others. Two of the Wolves' tallies went to Garty Burton while singletons were scored by Gino Zuliani and Gord Heale.

Urges Britain To Continue Market Drive

LONDON, Jan. 29 — (CP) — James S. Duncan, chairman of the Dollar Sterling Trade Advisory Council, today urged British industrialists to continue their drive to sell in North American markets.

Addressing the Canada Club, Mr. Duncan, president of Massey-Harris Co., Ltd., said the present British economic crisis "surpasses in implication and severity anything which Britain has had to face in post-war years—accelerated and intensified by the burden of rearmament." Nevertheless:

"The United Kingdom and sterling area must equip themselves to compete with North America. No matter what temporary and alluring temptations may arise to centralize your efforts within the sterling area, you cannot afford to seal yourselves off from the dynamic and fast-growing markets of North America, with all their mass-production methods, their forward-thinking.

Add 20 Million

"In the last 20 years the United States has added 20,000,000 to her population, more than one-third that of the British Isles; and Canada, notwithstanding the giant strides she has made in recent years, is still but on the threshold of her period of greatest development."

In this Canadian development, said Mr. Duncan, "many of us lament that British capital, traditionally the boldest, which, throughout the generation has grub-staked the world, is virtually unable to participate."

Canada, on her side, Mr. Duncan said, needs Britain. At present, he added, her trade is predominantly with the United States, but "it is not good for us to have so many eggs in one basket."

"We are vulnerable, for one thing, to a tariff policy (of the United States) which can fairly be described as capricious. With virtually only one chief market, we have nothing to cushion the shock if we run into resistance; and, besides, your market is, in many respects, complementary to ours, whereas this is not the case, to the same extent, with the United States."

Need To Face Facts

Commenting on his faith in British recovery, he said:

"In these days of partially-controlled economics, the public is insulated by all manner of techniques from the immediate consequence and effect of economic upsets or disease, and if the spirit of the people is to assert itself, it is obviously essential that the true facts of the situation should be placed before them in all their nakedness, however unpalatable the facts may be.

"It is equally important that the people be told in the clearest and most articulate manner what measures must be taken by each one of them.

"Austerity imposed by regulation is a distasteful and soul-destroying thing, but austerity freely consented to by a willing people . . . to live less well in the present so that one and one's children will live better in the future . . .. this kind of austerity can be practised with a high heart. It will be regarded by other nations with admiration and awe."

PLEASURE JET — French plane-makers have come up with the world's first jet-powered light touring plane for civilian use. It's the "Sipa 200," powered by the turbo-jet engine, and weighing less than a ton. The light jet is said to travel 200 miles per hour, wth a range of 300 to 500 miles.

Trend To Centralization Robs Men Of Individuality

Is the present trend towards centralization good for us? And, if not, can we put this trend into reverse?

These two questions were presented by Judge F. J. MacRae of Whitby in an address at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday. The topic of Judge MacRae's address was, Less Government?

The speaker first pointed to "the country's expanding social welfare trend." Two examples he mentioned were baby bonuses and security pensions for all over 70.

"Are these measures and further ones that may be adopted in the future going to have any effect on us as individuals," the speaker asked.

He explained that local groups in communities such as Peterborough are developing the idea that the best idea for evading heavy taxes in civic administration is to ask higher levels of government to take over parts of this administration. He mentioned educational institutions as an example where this has been the case.

Lose Interest

"Unfortunately as soon as you hand over the controls to higher authorities by asking them to pay, you lose not only authority, but also responsibility and interest," the speaker continued.

"Has business and industry failed in the field of social welfare and by default forced the government to take these steps? Business and industry should make sure they are going to improve management-employee relations so that the government need not step in and set up measurements of social welfare."

"This trend towards centralization of power and shifting of responsibilities is a far-cry from the Canadian pioneer who wished only to be left alone.

"Are we continuing in the tradition of our forefathers by building society around the individual with each providing as much as he can for society or are we establishing an all-powerful state which in the end we will have to serve and which will swallow us up as individuals?

Slipping Morally

"We still enjoy democracy, but are we slipping morally by allowing industry and material progress to misplace the gods of high thinking and true culture?

"No matter what importance is attached to material goods and industrial progress it is still ideas that rule the world, and it is idea sthat make environment. It was not Marx's ludicrous economic theory or diolectical explanation of history that won such a great impetus for Communism. It was rather his idea of total truth-total explanation, the restoration of purpose and the promise of a society in which all moral evil would disappear and all men would live as brothers that attracted the millions of followers.

"Once we take our democratic freedoms for granted, we are in dire danger of losing them. Centralization of government is resulting in the lessening of individual and community responsibility and control, but we can arrest the trend with will power and perseverance.

Moral Revival

"Democracy must have a normal revival," Judge MacRae concluded. This must be a revival of the idea of freedom and responsibility that underlies western democracy as exemplified in the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States."

The speaker was introduced by E. G. Baker and thanked by Dr. R. A. Kelly.

The following guests and visiting Rotarians were introduced by Tom Lillico: Miss Margaret McEwen, Walter Howell, F. D. Kerr, Reg Chandler, Dick Raine, Miss Gwen McMaster, all of Peterborough; Earl McDonald, Lindsay; William McDonald, Baupaume, Sask.; Bert Baulch, Toronto; Mel Earle, Jim Bell, Stan Macklin, all of Cobourg; Charles Wood, Colborne; W. Girl Charges Car Abduction

TORONTO, Jan. 29 — (CP).—Vicki Vecchiarelli, 16, told police Monday night that three men abducted her at the point of a spring knife and held her captive in an automobile for 12 hours.

She said they questioned her to find out the name of a relative who died recently and supposedly left a large amount of money and jewellery. One of the men scratched her face, hands and arms with a razor blade, she said.

She said she was forced into the car on her way to work Monday morning and released in suburban East York township about 7:45 pm. She made her way to a service station and the attendant called police.

"Illegal" Hostel Helping Young Refugees From East

By HANNS NEUBERBOURG

BOCHUM, Germany, Jan. 28—(AP)—A thinnish boy stood at the door, trembling in the cold winter air.

Out of his pocket he produced a letter "to the father of the illegal ones." It said:

"Please help our son. He cannot longer stay here." There was no name or address.

But Hermann Gutjahr, through whose welfare home have passed more than 1,000 young "illegal" fugitives from Communist East Germany, does not need identification.

After a short conversation with a youngster, he usually can tell whether he is telling the truth. Most flee from conscription for the Soviet-run uranium mines or the Communist people's police army in Eastern Germany.

Mixed Group

They come to the West mixed up in a stream of other refugees totalling about 10,000 a month.

Gutjahr administers a youth hostel of the Evangelical Aid Society. It is the biggest youth ward in the Ruhr Valley.

Most of these refugee youths expect a bright future in the golden west, but Gutjahr patently tells them: "Without knowing a job, you can't expect much here."

The Communists have stepped up political indoctrination of schoolboys in the Eastern zone, Gutjahr says, and the general knowledge the youngsters acquire there is getting worse and worse.

Boys arriving here now are suitable only for employment as unskilled workmen, he adds. He tries to improve their skill and knowledge. A teacher has been hired to teach them German and mathematics.

During their stay in the hostel, they help out by doing odd jobs. The money they receive goes into a special account, part of which is used to pay for their upkeep.

Gutjahr, his wife and the boys discuss how to expend the remainder of their earnings.

"Withing two months I have the boys looking decent again. Through the local labor office, they are hired by factories or mines in the region."

German government officials describe Gutjahr's hostel as "a major factor in combatting potential juvenile criminality in the Ruhr."

Clothing Ready For Koreans, No Transport

OTTAWA, Jan. 29—(CP)—In Korea, there are hundreds of destitute children in need of clothes.

In Canada there are at least two tons of clothes gathered for the specific purpose of helping them.

There is one catch: So far nobody can find a way to get them to Korea.

The background is this, Canadian Legion national headquarters reports.

Two officers came back from Korea and brought the plight of children in Korea to the attention of the public in Saskatchewan.

The women's auxiliary of the Canadian Legion in that province went to work and rounded up two tons of clothes.

Then the trouble began.

The army says it can't handle them because they aren't military equipment. The air force says it can't fly two tons of clothing on the transpacific airlift.

Legion headquarters has tried those and other channels, so far without success. It's still trying, but the clothes still are in Saskatchewan.

$300,000 Blaze Sweeps Milling Plant

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (CP). — Damage was estimated at $300,000 in a two-alarm fire that Monday swept the west-end Vine Street plant of the Longworth Milling Company.

Firemen said a mid-afternoon coffee break saved 55 employees from being trapped on upper floors of the three-storey brick building. The men were in a ground floor cafeteria when fire broke out in a grinding room in an upper section.

The blaze raged out of control for 90 minutes, with flames leaping 70 feet into the air.

CHATHAM, Jan. 29 (CP)—All Chatham public and secondary school teachers were granted a $300 salary increase by the Chatham board of education at a special meeting Monday night.

Negotiations To Begin

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (CP) — Negotiations on a new wage contract for Toronto milk drivers are expected to start next week. The present contract runs until the end of February.

LANDMARK BURNED—Fire swept an 82-year-old four-storey stone building, a landmark in Montreal's waterfront district late at night and in bitter zero weather. The building had housed a branch of La Banque Canadienne Nationale since 1919. The bank's cash and securities, locked in fire-proof vaults, were undamaged.

Reserve Bank Of Grain Urged

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP).—The Federal Government will be asked within the next few weeks to explore the possibility of setting up a reserve bank of feed grains to assure Canada's livestock producers of a continuous year-round supply, it was learned today.

The controversial issue likely will be brought up before the government when the 400,000-member Canadian Federation of Agriculture makes its annual submission and recommendations to the cabinet in two or three weeks' time.

The Federation, national spokesman for organized farmers, likely will ask the government:

1. To look into the possibility of arranging to meet the eastern provinces' request for a reserve bank or some other way of providing a continuous supply of western grains for the livestock industry.

2. To review the sphere of federal responsibility in seeing that there is sufficient feed grain available in Canada at all times.

Revive 15 People

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (CP)—Firemen, using an inhalator, Monday revived 15 persons from four families, including 13 children, who were overcome by coal gas fumes from a furnace in a mid-central Toronto home.

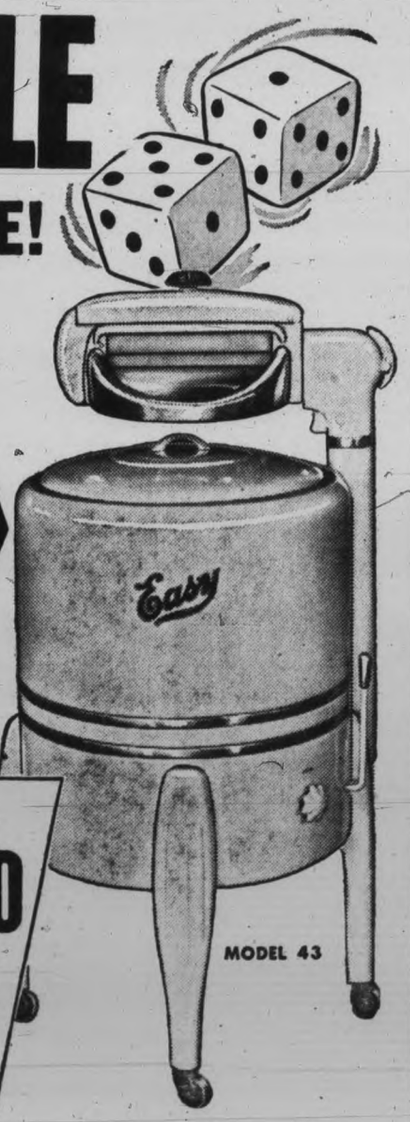
Lone Male Prevents Women From Getting Future Vote At Outfitters Association

NORTH BAY, Jan. 29—(CP)—A lone male vote at Monday's Northern Ontario Outfitters Association convention prevented women from voting at future gatherings of the group.

Nearly 200 men and women were present when President George Bishop of Sheguindah proposed an amendment to the constitution which would allow women to vote. He felt that the women were responsible for "50 per cent or more of the work carried out in the fishing and hunting camps".

When a floor vote was called for, more than 100 masculine arms shot up. The call for "nays" produced one. It belonged to G. S. Hemphill, a married camp operator from Elsas.

"Unconstitutional," he said after the meeting. "That's all I have to asy. It was unconstitutional".



Since no notice of motion had been given in advance, unanimous approval of the meeting was required before it could pass.

MILLION-DOLLAR PALL OF SMOKE — White clouds of smoke shroud the ruins of a million-dollar fire in Benton, Ill., which brought out firemen from six nearby towns. Flames started in a four-story building in downtown Benton, which is six miles north of Frankfort, where a mine explosion killed 119 last month.

LIBRARY TRUSTEE

Rev. E. C. Moore was re-appointed to the Public Library Board, a recommendation to the city council by the board of works last night. Ald. P. J. Anglesey's motion was seconded by Ald. Burrows.

COS' OF HOME UP

The average weekly cost of keeping a person at the Old People's Home, Lakefield, was $9.52 in 1951. This was 54 cents a week more than in 1950. There were 19 people in the home at the beginning of the month.

GETS TWO POSTS

Ald. S. G. Black was appointed Monday to both the Recreation Commission and Children's Aid Society in the place of Ald. J. E. Gillespie who said he had already too much to do.

SPEAKS AT ANNUAL MEETING

R. S. Hosking, general secretary of the national council of the YMCA, will be guest speaker at the YMCA's annual meeting of February 7. The first annual reports by the new staff will be presented.

STEAM ROOM PROGRESSING

The cement poured for the floor, the newest addition to the YMCA, the steam room, is expected to be completed in two weeks' time. Carpenters, plasters and plumbers still have some work to do.

BILLBOARD PERMITS

Permission to E. L. Ruddy Co. to place billboards at the corner of Cameron St. and Monaghan Rd., and on Monaghan Rd., north of Hawley St., in the vicinity of Peterborough Canoe Co., was recommended by the board of works Monday.

MINOR WORKS

A storm drain for Jackson Ave., crushed gravel pavement for Arndon St., and a sidewalk for Wilson St. from Lock to Park St., were approved by the board of works Monday night. City Solicitor Huycke was asked to prepare construction bylaws.

INTO THIRD ROUND

Mrs. Vern Selkirk's rink won again in the second round of the Ontario Ladies' Tankard Monday, winning 10-3 over a rink skipped by Mrs. W. Cutten of Guelph. Only other district winner in rounds one and two was Mrs. J. R. McIntosh's rink, Bobcaygeon, which defeated Mrs. W. D. Robb's rink from Kitchener, 15-9.

$80,000 FOR ROADS

County council's appropriation of $20,000 for the Suburban Area Commission must be matched by the city. In turn the Ontario Government provides for 1952 an amount equal to the $40,000 from the two Peterborough councils. That makes a total of $80,000 for the Commission's program this year. The reference from Mrs. J. Spurway, county clerk and treasurer, Monday night was sent on to the finance committee for inclusion in the city's budget.

New Fire Hall? Learn Facts Of Life–Miller

"I hope the fire and light committee will begin to realize the facts of life," said Ald. T. D. Miller as chairman of finance, directing a cautionary remark toward Ald. A. B. Burrows' group Monday night.

The topic was the proposed South-end auxiliary fire department station.

"I don't think the requirements are any more than when Ald. Miller himself was advocating the same fire station in the same place when he was chairman of that committee," said Ald. Burrows. That was two years ago.

"But, we had a 44.5 mill rate then," Ald. Miller replied. "There is a big different between that and 60 mills."

Nobody crawled under the table at that minatory intimation, first reference from the treasury department as to what the tax rate may mount to this year.

Apparently Ald. Miller scored the deciding goal in that little brush. However, Ald. Burrows said his piece as instructed by his committee last week.

It had to do with the problem of extending fire fighting facility to the new and farther fringes of the city.

Money Problem

Said Ald. Gillespie, chairman of the board: "The main thing is to get the $20,000 for the building, and another $36,000 a year from there on."

As to the average radius of the fighting centres, Ald. Gillespie said he would like to get some information as to "how far apart are the stations in the larger cities like Toronto, Hamilton, and others. I'm just wondering what distances they have to contend with."

Mayor Waddell suggested that Ald. Burrows and Chief George Smith prepare some definite information of costs and any other details for the council's consideration.

Ald. Burrows also spoke of the radio equipment the fire department requires, and got into the record the recommendations the fire and light committee had instructed him last week to report to the members of the council, all of whom are on the board.

Farmers Continue To Seek Way To Curb Margarine

That old devil margarine came under the guns of the Peterborough county branch of the Canadian Federation of agriculture Monday night. A questioner from the floor asked speaker C. A. Milligan, Ontario president of the CFA, if any effort had been put forward to ban margarine.

Seek Laws

Mr. Milligan said the CFA had asked for an excise tax on margarine as well as a tariff on vegetable oils coming into Canada from the United States. He doubted whether there was any chance of getting the excise tax placed on margarine.

But, he said, if enough pressure were put on the government, he thought a tariff barrier could be raised against "cheap vegetable oils."

He mentioned the fact that a small dairy pool in Saskatchewan was engaged in manufacturing margarine, but pointed out that the pool represented only an insignificant percentage of the province's dairy farmers.

No Early Research

Farmers and farmers' organizations had fallen down in not pressing research earlier for a cheap butter spread on the margarine price level. Research was under way now, but no satisfactory results had been reported.

Mr. Milligan's speech to the 200 people gathered in the YMCA dining room was in the main a report of the CFA convention held recently in Montreal. It was at this convention that Prime Minister St. Laurent had asked for greater production from farmers, as the only sure way to peace was to provide the starving peoples of the world with food.

The chairman's answer to Mr. St. Laurent was reported by Mr. Milligan. The chairman had said that if farming were as well-paying a business as the prime minister seemed to think, people wouldn't be leaving the farms.

Directors Elected

Directors elected from the meeting were: Henry Sharpe, Stewart Nelson, Mrs. William Steinkrauss, George Shoniker, Gardner Gawley, Bruce Graham, and W. G. Barry. A directors' meeting to elect a president will be held within the next two weeks.

Mr. Milligan was introduced by Harold Lewis, CFA fieldman for Peterborough county, and thanked by George Shoniker. CFA district president, W. W. Dawson, was chairman of the meeting.

S. MacLaren Heads Veterans

Stewart MacLaren was elected president of the CGE Veterans' Association Monday night at the association's fifth annual meeting held in the Legion Hall.

Larry McQuade was elected secretary, and Carl Heintzman treasurer.

Five new members of the club's executive council were elected for a two-year term. They are: Raymond Driscoll, Albert Clark, Jack Cranfield, Archie Weir and Percy McNamee.

Five other members of the ten-man executive council elected last year, still have another year to serve.

The other members of the executive council are: Stewart MacLaren, Bill Bennett, Jack Williams, Bob Batley, and Bill Flint.

Two vice presidents and chairmen of the different committees are to be elected later.

Different ways of extending the association's welfare services were discussed by the meeting, attended by about 100 members.

Reports of the president, secretary, treasurer and chairman of different committees revealed that the past year had been a successful one for the CGE Veterans' Association.

Welfare Limited

The association's welfare work among veterans is limited only by available funds, and it is hoped new ways of raising money for the work will enable the organization to enlarge the scope of its services this year.

After the business session of the meeting, a feature length documentary film was shown. The film, True Glory, covering the European phase of World War II showed scenes familiar to many members who fought with the Canadian forces from D Day to VE Day in Western Europe.

Jobs Scarce, 50 Join Army In One Month

Increasing unemployment has resulted in more than 50 Peterborough and district men applying for service in the Canadian Army active force so far this month, Capt. Frank J. Frape, recruiting officer, for 5B Recruiting Station, said today.

This is the largest monthly total since the recruiting station was opened under Capt. Frape in May for the 27th Brigade and the Canadian Army active force. In fact it equals the number sent to Kingston from Peterborough for the period from September to December.

Capt. Frape said that he has had 185 men apply there for application to the army since May.

He explained that the recruits last summer in most cases had good jobs but seemed to be joining the 27th and the Canadian Army for adventure in Europe and for a career as a soldier.

Mostly Jobless

During the past month, he said, most of the recruits have been out of work for a lengthy period and look to the army for security. Most of them are fed up with waiting for jobs to become more plentiful.

About half come from the city and the others from the district. A number have applied from the small towns and villages such as Raeboro, Campbellford, Millbrook, Havelock, Marmora and Lakefield. Some have been from Windsor and as far east as Nova Scotia.

In most cases the men are veterans of the Second World War who are attempting to enter the technical branches. The other recruits average about 20 years old with an average education of Grade 8, and in some cases Grade 7.

Besides the technical branches the Peterborough men have a definite preference for the infantry and the artillery, especially the infantry. Capt. Frape explained that the infantry offers more pay if the soldier joins the airborne fighters who receive an extra $30 a month when they start jumping.

He added that the men look to the pay as well as the other incentives such as dental and medical care, clothing and meals. They plan to be career soldiers which ends in a pension, security for both single and married men.

Capt. Frape interviews the recruits at the armouries and then sends them to Kingston for further indoctrination such as intelligence and medical tests.

60-Mill Tax Rate A Possibility?

The tax rate is beginning to perturb the 1952 city council. It is taking shape in apprehension about a month or more before the estimated expenditures shape its outline and capital figures.

"The tax rate will be one of our main problems to get settled for this year," said Mayor Waddell last night, merely as a glance toward the thunder on the left.

Somewhere in the notes of the meeting is the observation by Ald. T. D. Miller, chairman of the finance committee, that made passing mention of a 60-mill rate, presumably only as a matter of possibility.

One of the members later suggested that it might be premature to mention that figure.

"I'd let it go," was the remark of Mayor Waddell in an attitude of telling the public whatever was developing on the tax-levying and collection sector. So far, nothing recognizable has appeared on that horizon. And, the rate up to the present is only a speck.

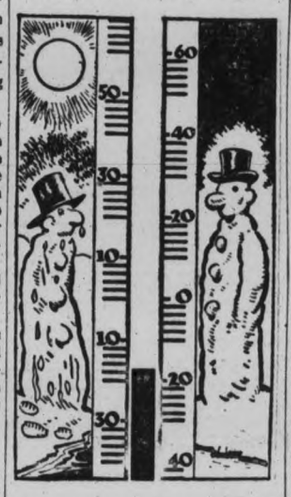
MISTAKEN IDENTITY

When politicos haggle about the proper nomenclature that should be inscribed on mail trucks and mail boxes, Joe Doakes—never too sure of himself at any time—can perhaps be excused for slight befuddlement. A case in point arose Monday afternoon. The particular Joe Doakes in this account, described as an "elderly gentleman" by an amused eyewitness, walked up to the red fire alarm box at George and Brock Sts. with a letter in his hand. He squinted curiously at the box for some time, apparently under the impression he could post letters in it. But just how was a bit of a puzzle. Again, maybe he was looking for the identifying words "Royal Mail," or is it "Canada (not to be confused with Dominion) Mail." Finally in a fit of desperation, he pull-down the lever (like it says) and tried to insert the letter. It was no go. And by the time he realized he had been tinkering with a fire alarm box instead of a mail box the fire trucks came clanging up to the intersection.



Winter's Coldest Mercury Drops To 30 Below Zero

Long winter underwear weather gripped the city and county overnight as temperatures dipped as low as 30 degrees below zero.

Lowest recorded temperature for Monday night was 30 below at Apsley, where the temperature was still 24 below at 9 am. It was cold enough in the city—17 below overnight and 14 below at 9 am. At noon it was 6 below in the city.

In order of chilliness, here are the night's temperatures at various points around the city:

Chilly Peterborough

	Below
Apsley	30
Bethany	24
Bancroft	22
Lindsay	19
Peterborough	17
Campbellford	17
Bewdley	16

These temperatures are record lows for the winter of 1951-52 so far. Formerly, the city's coldest was 12 below, registered the night of December 19. Other lows were 11 below, January 6, and 10 below, January 24.

Township and county roads in the Campbellford district, for the most part unsanded, were in bad shape, and traffic was light on them. Highways generally are clear.

The district is due for some relief Wednesday when the mercury is expected to climb to 20 above.

Smoke Bylaw Ready, Goes To Committee

Draft of a smoke abatement bylaw was turned over to the legal committee by the board of works last night. It was prepared by City Solicitor Huycke. Provision is made for setting up a board of five or seven members, the majority of whom shall not be of the council, "to assume the burden of administration."

Board of works decided to call for tenders for heating the public library from the city hall system. The architects, Marani and Morris, Toronto have commended the course of the council in deciding to engage some local plumber. The heating project was referred to the property committee.

Max J. Swanston was recommended as successor to Ian McRae representing on Civic Hospital Board the memory and the bequests of Robert Nicholls and his wife Charlotte.

Works Board Recommends Building Permit Issued To Canada Bread

Aldermen Vote 9 to 2 In Favor of Plant On Ashburnham Site; Matter Will Be Heard Again Next Week

By a recorded vote of 9 to 2, Board of Works recommended to the city council last night that a building permit be issued to Canada Bread Company Ltd. for the food manufacturing plant they plan to erect on Rogers St. The motion by Aldermen Graham and Longhurst was supported by Mayor Waddell, Aldermen Burrows, Anglesey, Black, and the chairman, Ald. J. E. Gillespie. Those who did not vote with the affirmative were Aldermen Miller and Rehill. The board recommended approval of the action of the city planning committee in rezoning the lot owned by the city on Rogers St. from third density residential to light industry.

With the motion, it was proposed that the company be requested to submit their plans to the manufacturers committee of the council when applying for a building permit as a means of trying to satisfy objections raised by some of the property owners of that section of Ashburnham.

To Get Another Chance

It was reported that D. G. Manzer, who submitted an opposing brief at the meeting of the council last week, wished to be heard again. However, that phase of protest was felt to have been heard at length by the council, and there was also the opportunity of appearing again at the next regular meeting Monday, Feb. 4.

C. G. Wills, 674 Rogers St., was heard as a new voice in the debate the Canada Bread project has kindled. He said he was in favor of the company's plans, and had interviewed some of his neighbors about their attitude. Most of them as property owners lived on both sides of Rogers St. from the vicinity of Hazlitt St. to the end of Rogers at Dufferin.

"Of the 18 I spoke to," Mr. Wills said, "seventeen said they were in favor of it. Those I spoke to are situated closer to the city's lot than most of the others who have been opposing. Fourteen of those 17 have new houses."

No Horses

Mr. Wills enquired whether the company would use horses for delivery purposes, and include stables in their plans. He was assured that there would be no stable, and horses would not be used, even for local delivery.

Ald. Gillespie read letters of sympathy and support which Mr. Manzer had received from E. K. McClelland, Wolsley St.; Morley Powell, Rubidge St., and E. Boate, 553 Steele Ave.

Much of the discussion was a repetition of the progress of the food industry project, with recent pros and cons, as reported from the meetings of city planning committee and the council.

City Clerk Outram replying to a question, said the company had not yet prepared plans for the factory which is estimated to cost $500,000, but "they are anxious to get their architects started as soon as possible, and to call for tenders as soon as plans are completed".

Mr. Outram recalled that the intentions of the council to apply to the city planning committee for the rezoning of the municipally owned lot on Rogers St. had been advertised. No protests were received within the announced time limit. He showed a map of that section of Ashburnham, from Stanley St. north to Dufferin and including Oxford St., between Rogers St. and the River. On it he had marked in distinguishing

PCVS Students Try Teaching Public Schools

More than 40 PCVS students from Grades 12 and 13 will try their hand at teaching next Monday in the city's public schools. This practice has been arranged annually by the vocational guidance department at PCVS and the board of education as an interest group in teaching.

Almost 15 of the group, mostly Grade 13 students, have been out before in the public schools, but will go out again to help make a final decision when school ends in June. The others, mostly from Grade 12, are just "exploring" the teaching profession with an eye to the future.

The public school teachers have been requested to assist the students in any way they can to make up their minds regarding teaching as a possible career. They can teach or just observe the home room teacher at work.

The students have been distributed into classes in which they would like to teach. The Grade 13 students are mostly observing in the Grades 5, 7 and 8, although a few will be in the lower grades. The Grade 12 students vary from Kindergarten to Grade 8.

Eight Schools

The schools used this year will be: Park Hill, King Edward, Queen Mary, Prince of Wales, Queen Alexandra, King George, Confederation and Central.

Later the students will spend some time at the Normal School to inspect those phases of teaching.

In the next several months the vocational guidance department has arranged to conduct interest groups in Ryerson Institute of Technology, engineering, nursing and other student interests for their future careers.

Firemen Give Oxygen To Fight Heart Attack

George Frederick, 68, formerly of Campbellford, but now living at 273 Romaine St., was taken to Civic hospital Monday night after suffering a heart attack.

Today he is in an oxygen tent and he is reportedly improved.

Firemen went to the Romaine St. address, shortly after 11 p.m. and used a resuscitator on Mr. Frederick for 30 minutes. They continued to give him artificial respiration while the ambulance took him to hispital.

Mr. Frederick is the father of Mrs. Herb Payne and he has been living at the home of his daughter and son-in-law since before Christmas.

Pets Wandering At Night In Danger

Make sure your pets are kept in the house at night, Humane Society Inspector Bruce Menzies advised today.

The last week, Mr. Menzies says he has been called out several times at night, to pick up dead or injured dogs and cats.

"They are dazzled by car light," Mr. Menzies explains. If owners of cats and small dogs do not want to run the risk of having their pets run down by cars and trucks, they should keep them inside at night, Mr. Menzies warns.

Water Skier Hurt In Jamaica

Word has been received in the round-about way of Florida vacationers mailing newspaper clippings home, of a boat crash a short while ago involving members of the wintering Kawartha water Ski School in Jamaica.

Canadian women's water ski champion, Mrs. Norma Gordon, of Bobcaygeon, received a broken rib when the tow boat, owned by John Stuart, Jr., of Peterborough, piled up on a coral reef. The boat was considerably damaged.

The clipping reports that Mrs. Gordon is recovering from her injuries and is up and about. Her companion skier, Marjorie Hills of Ottawa, who was being towed by another boat in the same water act, was not injured.

The accident brought Jamaica's first professional water skiing exhibition to a disastrous end. The show was organized at the invitation of manager Don Sutton Brown of the Silver Seas Hotel at Ocho Rios, who considered the accident a setback to the Jamaica tourist industry.

He said that he had repeatedly requested the Public Works department in St. Ann's Bay to dynamite the reef heads at his expense. The story was given front-page prominence in the Kingston, Jamaica, newspaper.

Members of the Ski School who arrived in Kingston on Jan. 11 are Mrs. Norma Gordon, John Stuart Jr., Bill Ianson, Gus MacIntosh and Marjorie Hills.

Church Asks City To Widen Aylmer St.

Widening of Aylmer St. along the west side of King Edward Park to Princess St. was proposed to the board of works Monday in a letter from Earl Wood, secretary of St. James' United Church board.

Church attendance on Sundays and sports affairs in the park during summer weeks create parking lines.

Council plan of paving Aylmer St. and a Utilities water main extension are both in plans for the future, and it was felt by the board that the street widening should be done at the same time as the street paving.

BRIDE-TO-BE?—Press reports that Baroness Ravensdale, 56-year-old spinster daughter of the late Marquis Curzon of Kedleston will become the bride of Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canada's newly-appointed Governor-General were denied by the baroness. Mr. Massey's family also firmly denied the report.

Scottish Program At Fairmount For Burns' Night.

The birthday of Robert Burns, Scotland's greatest poet, was celebrated in gay fashion in Fairmount community, Friday evening, when the Young People's Bible Class sponsored a chicken pie supper, held in the Sunday school hall.

The church and dining hall were attractively decorated in Scottish motifs, and as the "lassies and laddies" entered they received patches of the "MacDonald" tarton to wear for the evening.

Mr. Nelson Ballantyne welcomed the guests and introduced Mr. Claude Hewitt of Peterborough as chairman. Community singing, with Mrs. Duncan Seymour at the piano, opened the program.

The Sargent trio of Springville entertained with several Scotch numbers. Miss Dianne Cullen, also of Springville, sang, "Flow Gently, Sweet Afton," and was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Morgan Cullen. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Seymour of Cobourg played a medley of Scottish tunes on accordion and violin. Mrs. Bill McKelvey of Peterborough delighted when she sang "Hame Among the Heather" and "Silver Threads Among the Gold." She was accompanied at the piano by Nelson Ballantyne. Mr. Ralph Preston of Bethany entertained with Scotch humor and songs, accompanied by Mrs. Preston at the piano. Mr. Bill McKelvey of Peterborough was amusing with his harmonica when he played a medley of Scottish airs and marches," and was later joined by his wife when they sang a humorous song. Mr. Frank Ballantyne sang "My Bonnie Highland Lassie" and "Roamin' in the Gloamin" in Harry Lauder style, and also played a medley of Scottish tunes on his harmonica. He was accompanied at the piano by Nelson Ballantyne.

Miss Margaret Earle spoke briefly and on behalf of the class, expressing appreciation to all who came and those taking part in the program.

The evening concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne". The guests were from Cobourg, Bethany, Bridgenorth, Peterborough, Mount Pleasant, Ida and Springville.

TRAVELLING SALESWOMAN—Mrs. E. M. Vye, 48, of Calgary has proved that a woman can handle what is usually considered strictly a man's job—selling heavy farm machinery. She was hired by a Calgary firm 11 years ago to maintain contacts with customers while members of the regular sales crew were in the armed services. She proved capable and now has her own regular job of selling. She is shown at the wheel of one of the big machines she sells. She was married three years ago.

YW Reports Show All Departments Continue Active

Mrs. T. J. Carley, president, presided at the YWCA Board of Directors meeting Monday afternoon and the opening devotions were read by Mrs. W. G. Ovens.

It was announced that Miss M. Barker of National Council will be at the Y all this week to hold discussion group meetings on health education. Miss Agnes Roy will come next Monday, February 4th, to open the annual campaign in all departments for funds to assist Associations throughout the world.

Plans for the annual YWCA dinner meeting February 21st were outlined by membership convener Mrs. D. R. McGregor. Her committee has decided to insist on the utmost conciseness in all reports.

Health education department showed a peak enrolment for the past year. The annual spring pageant will again be the major project. School children are busy on a poster competition for the observance of health week.

Mrs. C. K. Hurst's report for the program committee outlined the wide and varied scope which includes numerous social clubs, the Sunday afternoon musicales, Y drama activities and the Y nursery school. She reported the new club room with its modern decoration has been a morale booster. The work and materials which transformed this basement room were donated.

The senior drama group has entered the ring scene from the Merchant of Venice in the Dominion regional festival being held in Peterborough this month.

A report by Mrs. V. C. Northcott, director, said enrolment at the morning class of the nursery school is complete, but afternoon classes are not being held until the fall. Nurses of the Department of Health will conduct weekly inspections of the children. New educational blocks donated by the Jeanette Scott Chapter, IODE, have arrived and are greatly enjoyed she said. Scrap paper which the children may use for creative work is needed at present.

In the treasurer's report it was made clear that food service is in no way subsidized by the Community Chest funds, but runs entirely as a separate account. This department has opened a "name the cafeteria" campaign and members were urged to think up a suitable name to submit.

The club having the largest membership is Little Women's Club for girls over eight years. Enthusiasm is the keynote of this group and they are eagerly planning a St. Patrick's tea to be held March 15th. At present these girls are learning folk dances of other countries.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Carley. Tea was then served.

Fine Book Guide To Royal Dress

LONDON (CP).—A book which is likely to become historic is the guide to the wardrobe being taken by Princess Elizabeth for the Australian tour with the Duke of Edinburgh.

The volume has been designed by the Medici Society, famous for its fine reproductions of old masters. On the tour the Princess must take outfits for almost every type of climate and for all occasions. Normal Hartnell, who designed most of the clothes, hit on the idea of a color sketch of every model as a means of helping the Princess to make the best choice for various occasions.

The book contains about 60 original color drawings, measuring 16 by 12 inches. It starts with day clothes and continues with afternoon and evening ensembles, the final sketches showing the magnificent evening gowns which the Princess will wear with her decorations and jewels.

The book is bound in white goatskin the cover bearing a large "E" emblazoned in gold with the Princess' coat of arms.

By leafing through the pages the Princess is enabled to select her ensembles for the day, and her maid with the aid of illustrations will have plenty of time to prepare the dresses with their accompanying accessories.

Cooking With Love Theme of School Drawing Crowd

Another cooking school is here! This one, which started Monday morning with more than 200 women in attendance, continues until Friday by which time the total number of attendants is expected to be well over 2,000. Their effort will be purely voluntary since there is no ticket-selling campaign by the sponsoring organization—in fact admission is free.

However, any belief that the women go for the chance of winning prizes rather than to get cooking instruction will be strengthened. There are 40 or more daily prizes of delicious foods prepared on the stage, handy kitchen equipment and grocery bags and the grand prize is a handsome electric refrigerator to be given to the draw winner Friday noon.

Instructor Mrs. Elsie Clay Rogers, a highly experienced dietitian and food xepert, gives her food talks in a bright, breezy manner so that the sessions are lots of fun too. She has information on every kind of food dish—"from soup to pie," and invites audience participation by questions.

Theme of the school is "Cooking with love" and Mrs. Rogers says "If women don't love to cook, they'd better let someone else do it for their meals will never be as tasty and pleasing as they should be."

A world traveller, she has picked up flavorful recipes all along the way and gave her first class here the really different and appetizing "Bermuda fish chowder" which she learned during a southern holiday several weeks ago. She also made chicken soup, prepared pork chops with beans, demonstrated cake, pie and cookie making, and then added more international zest with Swedish pancakes and a Spanish dish.

Home and School Association News

BANCROFT SCHOOL

Bancroft's annual cost for a health unit for Hastings County would be approximately $270. and Faraday's annual cost would be approximately $120. stated J.C.W. Hutton, Principal of Bancroft Public School in leading a discussion group at the January meeting of the Home and School Association on Thursday night.

Quoting from a letter from the Ontario Department of Health, outlining the probable costs Mr. Hutton stated that Dr. R. G. Struthers of the Division of Public Health Administration had estimated that the cost would be approximately 1¼ mills on the equalized assessment of the county in 1949 and a 25% increase in operational expenses since then would make the figure approximately 1½ mills. He based the local costs for Bancroft on a gross equalized assessment of $180,000. and $80,000 for Faraday.

Details of the proposed plan, outlined by the provincial authorities, included two full time medical officers of health and provision for additional medical services to be provided by local doctors; four sanitary inspectors; a clerical staff of four and a supervisor and 14 public health nurses. The speaker suggested that a number of these officials would probably be stationed in Bancroft because the villlage was both the geographiical centre of North Hastings and contained a hospital in which some staff officials could find office space.

A group, led by Mrs. Arthur Hewitt, read articles discussing citizenship from different angles. Besides Mrs. Hewitt, those taking part were Mrs. Albert Gaebel, Mrs. Floyd Twa and Mrs. Ewart Wannamaker.

During the business session the group decided to donate $10 to the Canadian Save the Children Fund. The money is used to purchase one bushel of the 500 bushels of wheat that the city of Regina gave to Princess Elizabeth. The Princess then gave the wheat to the Canadian Save the Children Fund. In explaining the gift, president Mrs. J. N. Brown stated that the wheat would go to hungry children of Greece and the money would be used to purchase medical supplies for crippled children in Europe.

Lunch was served by a committe convened by Mrs. Harold Watson, assisted by Mrs. C. E. Stringer, Mrs. A. Loney and Mrs. E. Bruce.

FAITH AND A HELPING HAND—A group of Manhattan College students makes possible this scene each Sunday at the chapel at Veterans' Hospital, Bronx, N.Y. The chapel is filled with wheelchair and bedridden paraplegic veterans, who probably wouldn't be able to attend divine services if the students didn't pitch in and help move them from the hospital. A shortage of help at the hospital makes volunteer help necessary.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Seville Best Oranges For. Marmalade

A firehorse galloping to a fire has nothing on me after I see a Seville orange in a fruit store.

One whoesale fruit buyer told me we were not importing any into Canada, this year, but on the same day the buyer for a large canner said they had their supply. Later I bought some so I hope I am safe in assuming you can too.

Spain seems to be famous for three things: Franco, a Barber and an orange—both of the latter from Seville. Must be quite a town.

The recipe for the superb concoction called—

Bitter Orange Marmalade

Is no cinch to produce, but you cooks with deep down convictions that housekeeping is a pleasant art and a loving duty, will gather it to you.

Six bitter Seville oranges, 2 large sweet California oranges, 2 large lemons (I don't care where you get these from—darkest Africa if you like), 9 lbs. white sugar, 3 pints of cold water to each 3 lbs. fruit (with good-sized fruit this comes out to a little over 10 pints) Cut the fruits in halves, remove the seeds. Take out the pulp with an orange spoon or cut it out with a paring knife as you would cut out each section of pulp from a grapefruit for breakfast. Put this cut out pulp into preserving kettle. Cut all of the skins into the finest possible hair-like shreds (this is the longest and hardest part of the whole job,—you should call in some help from sons and daughters and keep the knives razor-sharp). Add to the pulp in kettle and add the 10 pints of water if your fruit weighs 3½ pounds. Cover and let stand overnight. Also put 1 pint boiling water on the seeds and let them stand overnight. In the morning boil the seeds and water in which they stood overnight and then strain this water into the big kettle. Boil the whole thing gently for 3 hours. Add the sugar and bring to the boil again and boil 1 or 1½ hours longer—testing it on a cold saucer at the end of 1 hour or mix together 1 teaspoon each marmalade juice and methly hydrate. Juice will coagulate in a soft little mound if marmalade will jell when cold. This is tricky business as methyl hydrate is poison and must be handled with utmost care even where the are no children around to be curious about it. Have plenty of sterile jam jars ready, and give the marmalade a double coating of paraffin—one while hot—the other after it cools.

Favourite Grapefruit and Orange Marmalade

One each grapefruit (large), orange and lemon, sugar, juice of 1 large lemon. Wash and dry fruit; squeeze out juice, reserve seeds. Cut all rind into very fine strips. Put rind and juice in preserving kettle, add 3 cups boiling water, cover and let stand overnight. Cover the seeds with 2 cups water, cover and let stand overnight. Next day boil each of these for 25 minutes, drain off and save the liquid. Add 2 cups water to drained rind, and 1 cup water to drained seeds. Boil each again 20 minutes, drain water from seeds, and add it with the first extractions to the rind; heat. Test the juice for pectin with methyl hydrate (see instructions above). Measure pulp and juice; for each cup add 1¼ cups sugar stirring until dissolved. Cover and heat to boiling, then boil uncovered 10 to 20 minutes or until syrup will jell. Add lemon juice, remove from heat and pour into sterile jars. Seal or cover with 2 coats paraffin.

If any of our readers would like me to print the recipe for Marmalade for diabetics, they should write me, and I will do so.

DOROTHY DIX

Irresponsible Selfish Ways Killed Love

DEAR MISS DIX: Being a man, I have tried to solve my own problem, but it is a bit beyond me. I have struggled with it for ten years, and if some solution isn't found, I will eventually leave my wife.

I was raised in an effectionate, orderly home. I have a quiet temperament, am not much of a talker, but am not moody. I have tried to be a good husband and father; my children love me very much. A few years ago I stopped loving, admiring, or respecting my wife. To make up for this I have given her everything that money could buy.

She has two maids, charge accounts in the stores and can come and go as she pleases. From the moment the children—a boy and a girl—came, she has gone into a rage when they crossed her will. She says she hates responsibility. She is always out at parties or engaging in various civic activities; when she gets home, she is tired and takes it out on the children. The only people who rate a civil word from her are the two maids and the gardener. She delights in telling off-color stories whenever we have friends in.

I have spoken to the doctor about her and he says she has never had the intelligence to grow up, and is still the smart little girl who wants the centre of the floor. She hates my family. I am not in love with any other woman, but sometimes wish I were; it would be a way out. My brother-in-law says my wife was difficult as a child and has always been an egotist. Her chief topic of conversation is her own likes and dislikes. What can I do, at least until the children grow up?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I wish I could offer the encouragement that your wife will change and become the kind helpmate you deserve. Unfortunately, there is little hope of redemption in a woman who has been allowed to go her own uncontrolled, selfish, egotistical way for so long. Her parents should have curbed her long ago; having failed in their job, you should have been more firm with her from the beginning of your marriage.

Two Solutions

At the present crisis, I can offer two solutions. A psychiatrist might be helpful if your wife could be induced to see one. If all earthly measures fail, why not try heaveny ones? The power of prayer is unfathomable; use it. Have a talk with your pastor, see if he has any solution to offer and ask him to join with you in an offering of prayer.

If your wife's attitude is damaging the health — mental or physical—or the moral welfare of your children, don't try to hold the home together too long. I advocate trying to keep a home together under almost any circumstances, but an unrepressed mother can wreak such havoc with her children's characters that it is sometimes better, in these cases to break up the home rather than continue the danger to the youngsters. However, before taking this drastic action, see your pastor, and try to have your wife see a psychiatrist and start praying.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a widow of 47. I don't care for male friends. Is this unusual for a woman my age? The only pleasures I have are work and church.

H. R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By being satisfied in the state to which God has called you, you are avoiding many of the complications that beset so many women in their 40's. Too often the very things that keep you busy are the things others avoid most sedulously in their scurry for romance. Since the chances of a woman your age re-marrying are slim, it's a fine thing to be content with what you have.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past three years I have been going with a man who is in business with a woman. He has asked me to marry him, but so far he has no divorce. During the winter he goes to Florida and stays at the home of his business partner. I can't make him tell me what he intends to do , he never talks anything over with me and always avoids my questions.

Z. Z. Z.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I've often heard of a woman playing second fiddle to a man's affections but when it comes it comes to third fiddle I think you're a little too far back in the orchestra. You're in an absolutely hopeless position and my advice is to get out of it as soon as possible. Your friend doesn't want a divorce—he wants a harem!

Church Reviews 1951 Work

FRASERVILLE, Jan. 29 (ENS) —Members of Fraserville United Church met for their annual meeting on January 16 in the Orange Hall.

The meeting was called to order by the Rev. H. L. Yarr who opened the meeting with a short devotional period of scripture reading and prayer. Mrs. F. Lackey was secretary.

Ed. Hogg gave the treasurer's report of the Sunday school. Mrs. Keith Larmar gave the WA's report. Mrs. J. O. Pue gave an interesting report of the activities of the WA. The associate WMS raised $16. John Lewis, church treasurer, gave a report which had a balance of $147.91.

The following officers were elected for 1952: Sunday school superintendent, Ray Finlay; assistants Ray Bothwell and Frank Lackey; secretary, Earl Lackey; treasurer, Ed Hogg; assistant treasurer, Earl Lackey; pianist, Catherine Waterman.

The following were elected to office in the church: elders, Frank Lackey, Ray Finlay, Ray Bothwell; trustees, J. O. Pue, W. Waterman, R. Finlay, R. Bothwell, R. Lobb, Ed Hogg; stewards, R. Darling, W. Waterman, Walter McElroy, R. Finlay, O. Moncrief, Ed Hogg, R. B. Lobb, J. O. Pue; treasurer, John Lewis; ushers, Ed Hogg, O. Moncrief, J. Waterman, R. Pue, E. Lackey; organist, Mrs. R. B. Lobb; assistant organist, Mrs. Finlay; caretaker, John Waterman.

The Rev. G. W. Gregson will be the speaker in Fraserville church Sunday at 3 pm.

William Kellan spent the weekend with his family at Fraserville.

Mrs. B. Pitchford and daughter Ruth of Peterborough, spent Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Lobb.

Flower Society Elects Heads

OMEMEE, Jan. 29 (ENS). — The Omemee and District Horticultural Society held their annual meeting Thursday in Coronation Hall with 40 members present.

The secretary's report showed seven regular meetings held last year with an average attendance of 31. Memberships reached an all time high of 127 besides 49 junior members. Fourteen represented the society at the district picnic in Peterborough. Other special meetings included the pot luck supper in November with 100 present, and the annual summer bus trip which last year was to Niagara, under the manegement of E. A. Corneil.

Election of officers for 1952 was the chief business at the meeting and resulted as follows: president, Wesley Wilson; first vice-president, the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt; second vice-president, Mrs. H. Hill; directors for two years, E. A. Corneil, Mrs. V. Lang, Mrs. C. Atwell, Mrs. H. Bent and Mrs. T. A. McConnell. H. Hill was elected a director for one year to finish Mrs. W. D. Weir's term, as she finds it impossible to act this year. The other directors for one year are, H. G. Burke, Mrs. V. Raffan, Mrs. R. E. Brooks and Mrs. A. Rutherford.

Mrs. S. Moyer was returned to office as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Zufelt moved a vote of thanks to the retiring president, J. A. Bent for all he has done to build up the society during the eight years of his presidency. It was seconded by Mrs. H. Hill.

Mrs. Atwell and Mrs. McConnell were appointed delegates to the annual convention. Dale roses were selected for this year's premium.

The secretary was asked to convey a vote of thanks to L. M. McKenzie for donating to the society his profit on the bus tickets for the Niagara trip. A letter of appreciation was also ordered to be sent to the department for their improvements to the landscaping of the bridge approaches.

What's Right?

A woman walks into a room where a crowd is gathered for a party—and she is more dressed up than the others.

WRONG: Say: "My, you certainly are dressed up!"

RIGHT: Don't say anything to make her feel any more conspicuous than she probably feels already if she is the most dressed-up person at the party.

JUST FRIENDS—The apparently friendly proximity of the chicken to a cheetah is likely to be a very temporary situation. The live fowl was tossed into the feline's cage a Chicago as a mealtime treat, but the cheetah apparently had no appetite at the moment and allowed the bird to perch on its back until such time as the pangs of hunger end the strange benignity toward the feahered friend.

6—In Memoriam

BRINKLOW—In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Mrs. Charles Brinklow, who passed away January 29, 1949.
In our homes she is fondly remembered
Sweet memories cling to her name,
Those who loved her in life sincerely
Still love her in death just the same.
—Lovingly remembered by husband and family.

COOPER—In loving memory of George Cooper, who passed away one year ago today, January 28, 1951.
I cannot say, and will not say
That he is dead, he is just away.
From pain and suffering he now is free,
For he is gone to be with Thee.
And we who are left, shall trust and pray,
That we shall meet, on high some day,
And until then we still shall say,
He is not dead, he is just away.
—Sadly missed by mother, grandma, Helen, Jim, Bud and Margo.

A7—

POOLEY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Samuel A. Pooley, who passed away two years ago today.
Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will,
His vacant place there is none can fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in heaven we meet again.
—Ever remembered by his dear wife and daughters, Irene and Nancy.

SUCEE—In loving memory of Richard Succe, who passed away January 28, 1946.
A loving father, so gentle and kind,
What a wonderful memory he left behind.
Long days, long nights he bore his pain
To wait for cure, but all in vain.
—Ever remembered by Janie and Clarence

TURNEY—In loving memory of our dear sister, Mrs. R. B. Turney, who died at Grand Rapids, Michigan, on January 29, 1951.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died one year ago.
—Always remembered by sisters Annie and Agnes.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the Sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital, attending nurses, clergy, doctor, blood donors, and many kind friends who helped in any way, also those who so kindly gave floral and spiritual tokens and cards of sympathy during the illness and loss of my dear brother Bert.—Mrs. Laura Duffus Cooke.

In Memoriam Verses

A Booklet, from which In Memoriam verses may be selected is available at the Advertising Counter of The Examiner Telephone Classified Department 4641.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

7—Cards of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. Eliza Ellen Russell wish to express our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to our many relatives and friends for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy in the loss of our beloved mother. We especially wish to thank Rev. Charles G. Boyd for his consoling words; all the donors of the many beautiful floral tributes, the pallbearers, attending doctor and attending nurses and staff of Civic Hospital and the Kaye Funeral Home for their kind and efficient management of the services.

Preaching Mission Starts In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, Jan. 29 (ENS)—A large congregation filled St. Thomas' Anglican Church almost to capacity for the opening service in Millbrook of the interchurch preaching mission on Sunday evening. The joint choir of members from Grace Presbyterian and St. Andrew's United, along with those from St. Thomas' filled the chancel. J. O. Medd was at the organ for the service, with Miss Estella Hetherington accompanying the anthem which was under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Spicer.

The Rev. W. H. Heustin of Grace church read the scripture lesson and the Rev. A. M. Butler of St. Andrew's led in the collect.

After welcoming all visitors to St. Thomas, the Rev. A. A. Chote, the rector, introduced the missioner, the Rev. Gerald Gregson. Mr. Gregson was the senior padre in the Royal Air Force during the last war.

In beginning his address Mr. Gregson said: "God asked me to give His love to you." Christianity begins with the individual and God works through individuals, he continued. "God had only one son and he was a missionary.

There was not one person present without a problem, he said, which could be worked out with God. There was a difference between working for Christ and working with Christ. God has given us His presence today, and his promise of power for tomorrow to a world which needs Him desperately.

Some might ask the purpose of a preaching mission in Millbrook. In the words of the scripture it was "That ye might believe that Jesus is the Messiah, the son of God, and believing might have life." So many today were only existing. Christians alone are really alive.

Abbott Has Conference With NATO Official

PARIS, Jan. 29 (CP).—Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott of Canada today conferred with William H. Draper, Chief United States civilian representative on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Abbott is scheduled to leave Paris for Ottawa Wednesday. A conference of NATO finance ministers, originally set for today, has been postponed a week or more as a result of the setback in the date of the NATO conference at Lisbon from Feb. 2 to Feb. 16.

Vestry Honors Three Members At All Saints

Approximately 200 attended the dinner and annual vestry meeting of All Saints' Anglican Church on Monday evening.

During the evening three presentations were made, hymn book to George Chandler, who has been choirmaster for 42 years and T. H. Boddy for his service as senior lay reader for many years, and Mrs. George Penhall was given a piece of Royal Doulton china for her work in keeping the church records up to date, issuing bulletins and the other duties of church work she has performed so satisfactorily.

Financial and secretarial reports were presented in book form and well received. Edward Searight, people's warden, read the annual financial report.

The following appointments were made: T. Pitchford, vestry clerk: E. Searight, rector's warden; H. T. Mouck, people's warden. Those appointed as lay delegates were: T. H. Boddy, T. P. Hooper, P. J. Labranche. Lay delegates to the Synod are: R. Raine, F. M. Warren, with A. Ford and L. McKeever as alternates. R. J. Chandler and T. H. Hooper were appointed to the parochial tribunal.

The 1951 members of the advisory council are: W. A. Cross, R. Gamble, R. Pulford, Dr. R. Y. Kenny, W. J. Todd; Ross Viscoff, L. Mason, J. Howard, R. J. Bolton, V. Hill, R. Irwin, H. Clark.

The auditors are G. Millen and F. M. Warren and representatives to Anson House are Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Fitzgerald. Owing to the increase of clerical work, Mrs. B. Hall was appointed part-time secretary.

The Rev. M. P. Poole presided and presented a very interesting and inspiring report on his first year's work as rector of the parish. He mentioned the death of the late rector, the Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite and said that All Saints' Church owes much to his leadership and example during the three years of his ministry.

A committee under the leadership of Mr. Gamble was appointed to make plans for the celebration of 50th anniversary of All Saints' as a separate parish.

Teachers Suspend Salary Negotiations

HAMILTON, Jan. 29 (CP) — The Hamilton Secondary School Teachers' salary committee announced today that negotiations with the board of education's salary committee had been suspended and that the two committees had been "unable to come to an agreement on any of the major issues."

The statement from the teacher committee declared:

"The board of education insists on a single salary scale, which is most unacceptable to the Hamilton secondary school teachers. This disagreement is on the principle of grouping secondary and elementary school teachers in one salary scale which would, in effect, curtail the right of the secondary school teachers to bargain through their representatives for themselves alone with the board of education."

Believe New Talks Will End Violence

TUNIS, Tunisia, Jan. 29 (AP)—French resident general Jean de Hautecloque said today new talks with nationalist-minded Tunisians may head off further violence in this uneasy French North African protectorate.

He has a note from the French cabinet to be delivered to the Bey of Tunis, which is believed to show moderation in the French attitude toward Tunisia's demands for independence.

The nation was calm today. A general strike, in effect since Jan. 18, ended Monday on order of the Nationalist Neo-Destour party. However, the party announced the the strike would be resumed for one day on Friday.

Police and soldiers continued to round up Nationalists suspected of carrying guns and being involved in the recent bloody rioting.

Sidney Cook Belfry

The funeral for Sidney Cook Belfry, lot 22, concession 14, Otonabee township, who died in St. Joseph's hospital Saturday was held Monday from the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. B. S. Morwood of Mark St. United church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Stuart Belfry, Albert Belfry, Peter Belfry, Roy Speers, Beecher Matchett and Dougal Matchett. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Cantor Honored

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP). — Comedian Eddie Cantor, who will celebrate his 60th birthday next Thursday, was cited Monday for "His service to humanitarian causes" by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri. Cantor will celebrate his birthday here with a dinner at which an expected 1,500 guests will be admitted on the purchase of a $1,000 State-of-Israel bond.

Send Medical Unit

KARACHI, Pakistan, Jan. 29 — (AP).—A meeting of citizens on Monday decided to send a medical relief unit to Cairo and Ismailia.

READY FOR TROUBLE—British troops man a sandbag barricade on a street in troubled Ismalia, following an order to keep down the current spread of terrorism and anti-British demonstrations. Meanwhile, in Cairo, the Egyptian government declared martial law in the flaming city after torch-carrying rioters destroyed millions of dollars in property.

Collegiate Pupils Busy At Exams

The accent this week at PCVS is on the mid-term examinations rather than extra-curricular activities such as basketball, singing, drama and other work usually done after school hours.

This set of papers actually started in December on the two days prior to the Christmas holidays. Then the students had only two examinations to write; they'll finish off this week.

C. S. Browne, principal, said that the examinations are divided to allow the teachers in some subjects such as English and history to mark the papers. Those examinations usually take longer to mark than the others.

Write In Shifts

Cramped quarters have forced the examination schedule to be worked into shifts. Only 26 classrooms can be used for the examinations.

The schedule is made to allow all the classes at least one half day off during the week. This system allows another grade or department to write during off periods. In some cases a whole grade or department have a half-day off to allow other classes room to write.

This is the first set of examinations this term. In November the students took home progress reports, based on class tests and classroom work. These reports give parents some idea how the student is progressing in his school work.

The next set of papers will be the finals in June.

City Bids Farewell To Governor-General

Board of Works last night instructed City Clerk Outram to send letters of farewell and hail to Lord Alexander, Canada's departing Governor-General, and to the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, his successor.

Mayor Waddell mentioned to the board that this was an important change in succession as representative of His Majesty the King in Canada. His Worship is reserved in expression of sentiment. He recalled that as Viscount Alexander and Governor-General, the King's Viceroy had formally laid the corner-stone of Peterborough's Civic Hospital; and now was about to leave this country to serve as Minister of Defence in Britain.

"Hon. Vincent Massey is actually one of our neighbors in Durham County," Mayor Waddell said. "I feel that we should send him our congratulations and good wishes. It may be that he will be visiting us some time during his term of office."

Man Loses Fingertip As Bulldozer Lurches

Howard Berry, 38, RR 3 Peterborough escaped with three crushed fingers when the bulldozer he was operating stalled, after his right foot slipped off the clutch jamming his right hand in the winch.

Berry was operating a bulldozer in Edward Johnston's woods, five miles west of Peterborough when the accident occurred Monday morning.

Although he lost the tip of his little finger and two others were badly crushed, it is likely Berry's entire right arm would have been crushed had the machine not stalled.

He was given out-patient treatment at Civic Hospital for the injury.

Berry said a log he was hauling by the steel cable winch on the bulldozer became snagged on a stump. In backing up to get it loose, Berry said the cable slacked off and looped over the edge of the winch pulley.

Leaning back to put it back on the pulley, Berry said his foot slipped off the clutch and the heavy bulldozer lurched backwards, jamming his fingers in the cable.

Fortunately, the machine stalled and Arthur Dwyer, working about 100 feet away rushed over, and used his axe to pry the cable loose and free Berry's hand.

Works Board

colors the approximate location of the properties owned by the people whose names had appeared on several petitions received since the exiration of the time for filing objections.

Green Area

A green outline indicated the area which the planning committee regarded as most concerned about the food industry. Its boundaries were the river on the west, Hazlitt St. on the north, Rogers on the east and Stanley on the south.

The net result of the several petitions recently received, Mr. Outram pointed out, was 22 property owners in that area in favor of the factory and 11 against.

"Mr. Wills has a petition tonight that duplicates in some cases the names on the favorable petition that was obtained by the Junior Chamber of Commerce," Mr. Outram said. "He also includes some outside the area, that is up Rogers St. toward Dufferin St."

Ald. H. T. Rehill reminded the Board that the Master Plan prepared by Dr. Faludi was intended to improve the city and its planning for the future. Part of it was aimed at eliminating many of the 78 railway crossings. Possibly the siding at the rear of the city's Rogers St. lot was one of them. At present it served a coal yard, two oil companies and one cold storage plant. If Canada Bread built there, the siding would have to remain in the future as an accommodation to that company.

Good Residential Area

The section of Ashburnham north of Hunter St. to Parkhill Road and west of Armour Road was a good residential area, Ald. Rehill said. It included only three or four stores, one small factory, one service station, one oil storage depot, and one bus garage.

An ideal condition in town planning was to allow one grocery store and one drug store to a comparable area. "So, that section is not overburdened with business. The Examiner said tonight that the lot fronts on the Quaker Oats plant. I think I would have to stretch my imagination to take that in.

"There is no doubt that Canada Bread would increase the traffic, and that is something which does not improve a neighborhood. I feel that we have to make a stand regarding city planning. The zoning bylaw is not passed yet, but so far the city has been abiding by the plan set up."

Must Be Consistent

Ald. Rehill argued that the city had to be consistent in its support of planning. Permitting a factory to be built on Rogers St. was not consistent with the plan and its purpose of improving Peterborough. Every change, however small, tended to defeat the rest of the plan.

"I want to see Peterborough get more industries, but not in residential areas."

Most of that part of the city north of Hunter St. was built before the plan was set up. Citizens had invested their money in homes. Many of the houses were under the $10,000 mark, but there were new houses in the area and to the north.

"That's where the people tonight said they were in favor of the Canada Bread plant," Ald. Gillespie interjected.

"Yes, until they get the factory there," Ald. Rehill replied, "and then the Mayor will begin to hear about it."

He agreed that some people had signed such a petition. Others had signed on the other side, and again there were citizens who would never sign any petition.

"Before deciding on rezoning like this lot, think of the city as a whole, and not just this area of Ashburnham. If you make a change for one individual, you are likely to do it for others, and you weaken the whole purpose of city planning. These areas were set up as residential, people accepted them as such, many have built homes, and are living there."

Committee Voted On It.

Ald. Gillespie: "I understand the city planning committee was unanimous in recommending rezoning."

Ald. Hehill: "So it was, but I have done a lot of thinking about this matter since then."

Referring to those property owners who had signed in favor of Canada Bread, Ald. Burrows said that if they felt the factory would not hurt their investment, then the argument of Ald. Rehill would not hold water.

Ald. Graham said it was surely worth thinking about that the company might employ up to 300 people, especially when "there are 300 walking about and we can't give them relief."

City Clerk Outram said that within the last three years, the planning board had not rezoned any area of consequence without advertising the proposal. He mentioned the service station project at the corner of Parkhill Road and Water Street, another on George Street South, again at Aylmer and Dalhousie Streets, and several others.

Ald. Miller said the food plant was bound to increase traffic, and require paving, the cost of which the property owners would have to pay part of, increasing their taxes. Parking would be another problem, and Rogers Street even now was not a wide street.

Why Not On A Highway?

"It seems peculiar to me," said Ald. Miller, "that the company considers Peterborough an ideal centre to serve a large area, and yet they want to move into a residential section in preference to a highway location. I don't understand their reason. I know I'd prefer to be spotted on a highway, and not on a side street."

Ald. Black commented that Rogers Street would eventually be paved, so that point was not a serious matter to raise against the industry. As for the city's lot, a gravel pit filled with ashes and tin cans, "no one would want to build a house on a dump."

"And wouldn't me receive from Canada Bread $6,000 or $7,000 in taxes?" Ald. Graham suggested. "Instead of a field gone to weeds, we could have a modern industry."

Ald. Graham followed up that contrast by moving that the Council be asked to authorize City Engineer Chalmers to issue a building permit to the company.

Ald. Miller proposed as an amendment that Mayor Waddell appoint a delegation to interview Canada Bread Co. regarding the possibility of another site "before we make any definite decision here."

Ald. Graham: Belleville has offered them a site for a dollar."

Ald. Longhurst seconded the Graham motion.

City Clerk Outram provided the background information that the first step in attracting the interest of Canada Bread was an occasion last year when he was in Toronto with ex-Mayor Swanston, and they had called on the manager, Mr. Ross.

"The next we heard was that they had come here during a weekend. They didn't see anyone. They picked out the site themselves, enquired about the value and sent us a cheque, which we still have (for $1,320)."

Mayor Waddell said he agreed with the statements about the importance of town planning. The people of the interested area in Ashburnham had a fair hearing on both sides, "and it looks to me that we have to determine this matter on the ground of what is good for Peterborough."

Ald. Black said the Council had no assurance that some of the opponents of the project would not sell and move out in any case. "We have had people here who are in favor of it, and they've had time to consider it."

"We asked their opinion, and that's the only way I can make up my mind," said Ald. Burrows. "It seems to me that the owners of adjacent property are the most concerned, and we have had the petitions from both sides."

Ald. Anglesey said it appeared to him that a mistake must have been made some time ago. "Some committee more or less assured the company that the lot would be made available to them. I feel that in future no assurance should be made to anybody until we know definitely."

Escapes In Can

CINCINNATI, Jan. 29 (AP). — The county jail was missing a garbage can today, but it's more concerned with getting the contents back. An escaped prisoner was inside. Sheriff Dan Tehan said Cleveland (Sporty) Warren hid inside the container Monday while it was standing on a hand truck. Another prisoner placed the lid on it and Warren then was wheeled to freedom.

Ask Emergency Relief

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 29 (AP).—The League of Red Cross Societies issued a second appeal Monday for emergency relief for 16,000 persons made homeless by an earthquake which struck eastern Turkey early this month. At least 93 persons were killed and about 200 injured by the quake, which razed 18 villages.

BLOSSOMS IN THE SKY — A mass parachute jump is watched by the public near Camp Drum, N.Y., as the 11th Airborne Division begins a four-day winter manoeuvre in near-zero weather. A total of 8,400 troops will jump during the exercises, called "Operation Snowfall," which the public was invited to watch for the first time.

Russia Loses Bid To Unseat 3 Lands

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 29 (Reuters)—A Russian bid to unseat Nationalist China, South Korea and Viet Nam from the United Nations economic commission for Asia and the Far East (ECAFE) failed here today.

Members decided to postpone a decision on Nationalist China until the general assembly in Paris takes action, but they defeated the proposed ouster of South Korea and Viet Nam by 9-2.

One hundred Asian delegates and international agency observers are attending the two-week session, which opened today.

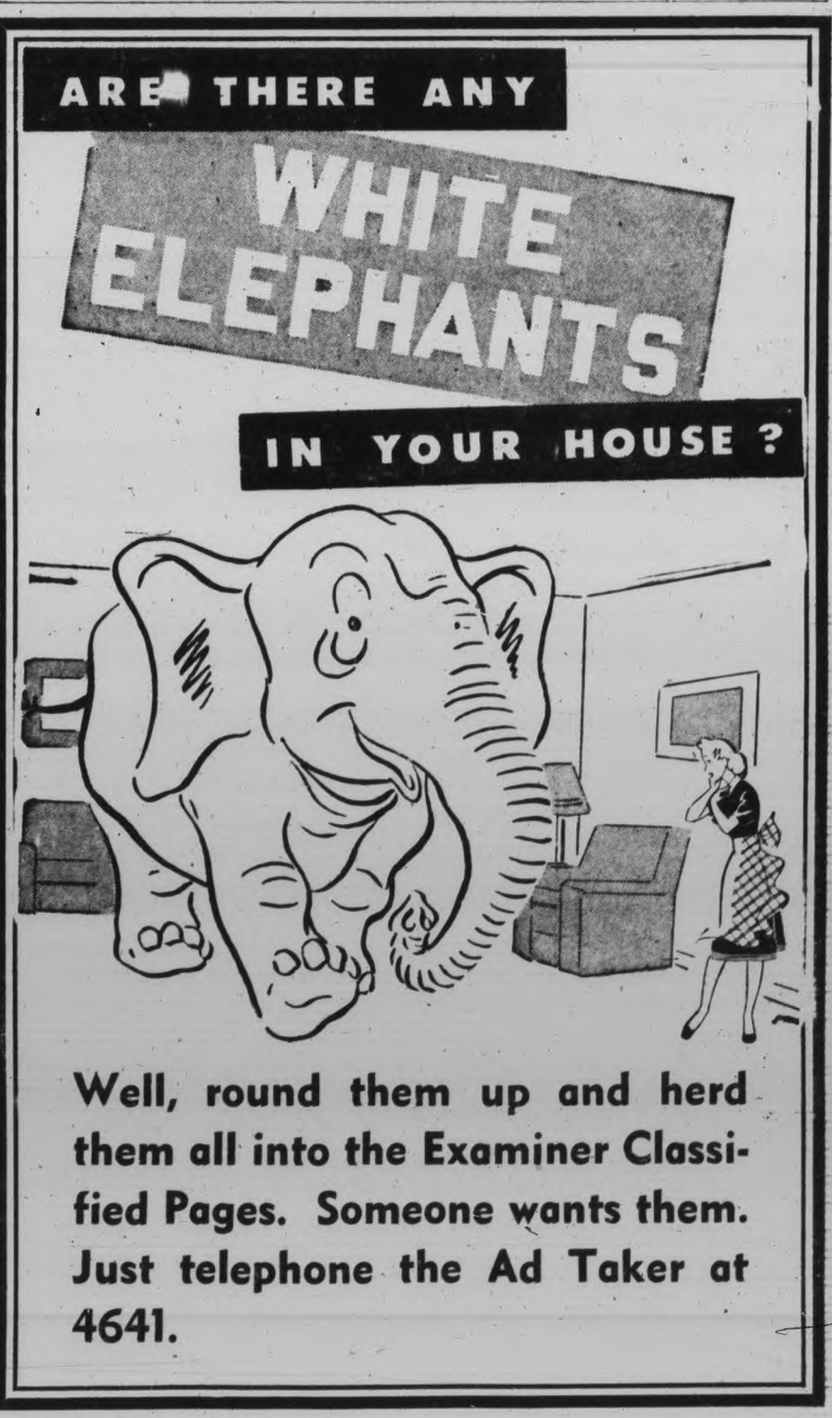
85 Flee Homes In Apartment Blaze

DETROIT, Jan. 29 (CP)—Some 85 persons were routed in 10-degree cold early today when fire broke out in a 26-apartment building in west-central Detroit.

Several residents of third-floor apartments were carried down ladders when dense smoke blocked the building's stairways. Many persons fled to the street in their night-clothes.

Loss caused by the blaze—firemen succeeded in confining it to the first floor—was estimated at $10,000. No person was injured.

Fail In Production



VIENNA, Jan. 29 (AP).—The Czechoslovak Ministry for Economic Planning revealed in its annual report Monday that a number of the country's key industries had failed to reach their 1951 production goals. The report listed these production results: hard coal, 91 per cent; fuel, 95.6 per cent; foundries, 97 per cent; heavy machinery manufacture, 98.4 per cent; building, 95.1 per cent; food, 97.4 per cent.

Ask School Boards Hold Salary Line

HAMILTON, Jan. 29 (CP)—A special committee of the Ontario Urban and Rural School Trustees' Association has issued a statement asking school boards to "hold the line" in salary matters but recommending cost-of-living bonuses.

Chairman of the special committee is H. W. Wagner, of Waterloo.

"Realizing increase in the cost-of-living or the decrease in the value of the dollar, we recommend that a cost-of-living bonus, not to exceed $400, be paid. This cost-of-living bonus should be paid in such a way that the teacher clearly recognizes the amount of the basic salary and the amount of the cost-of-living bonus."

Man Charged Tried To Enter Grocery Store

A 24-year-old insurance salesman, Glen Tate, 197 Dublin Street, arrested shortly after 1 am today, appeared in police court charged with attempting to break and enter with intent to commit theft.

Tate was represented by J. C. N. Currelly, and chose summary trial before Magistrate W. R. Philp.

He was remanded to February 6 on $500 bail.

Tate was charged with attempting to break and enter Doxsee's grocery store at George and Dublin Street.

Police were informed by telephone at 1.14 am today that a man was trying to break into the store. Constable Douglas Farthing was despatched to the scene in a police cruiser. On arrival there, Constable Farthing received a call over the police radio that a man had been seen inside the store.

Saw Man

Remaining in the cruiser in front of the store until a second police car arrived, Constable Farthing observed a man come out of an alley near the corner and start down the north side of Dublin Street. He proceeded along the street a ways, then crossed the street and entered a house.

After obtaining further information from a nearby resident who said he had seen a man attempting to break in the front door of the store, Constable Farthing entered the house he had seen the man going into.

Tate answered the description of the man Constable Farthing had seen entering the house. Tate's description also tallied with the man who said he had seen someone breaking into the store.

Detective Sergeant Bud Clarke is continuing the investigation into the attempted break-in today.

The front door of the store was "kicked in," but Detective Clarke said that only a couple of quarters have been discovered missing.

The store has been broken into on several previous occasions.

QUINTS MEET QUADS—The famed Dionne quintuplets of Callander, Ont., stopped over in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., on their way to St. Paul, Minn., to meet another famous group, the Hargreaves quadruplets. The quints are 17 and the quads two so conversation was limited. Shown on the station platform the quints are, left to right: Marie, Annette, Yvonne, Cecile and Emilie; the quads: Janice, Joan, Jennifer and Joyce. The quints were guests of the St. Paul Winter Carnival.

Quick OPP Work Clears Up Three Robberies

BANCROFT, Jan. 29 (ENS).—Fast work by Constables J. C. Hawkins and John Hutchinson of the Bancroft detachment of the OPP resulted in three cases of robbery in the village being solved in the early hours of Sunday morning.

The two constables were returning from a regular patrol when they observed a car without lights on Hastings Street North. Stopping the car they discovered a basket of groceries and a five-gallon can of gasoline with a rubber hose attached.

Investigation showed the gasoline had been stolen from a tractor in the yard of C. W. Bierworth and Son and the groceries had been stolen from Mr. Bierworth's house, further investigation resulted in the recovery of a battery that had been reported stolen from the car lot of C. H. Broad on Jan. 24.

The two men in the car, Albert Woodcox, 26, and William Redmond, 23, both of Bancroft, were taken to the jail in the provincial police building. They were remanded to Feb. 6 by Balfour Vader, JP, and transferred to the county jail by Corporal A. F. Grayling on Monday morning.

So quickly were the cases solved that the owner of the gasoline and the groceries did not know that the articles had been taken when the police had finished their work at 3:30 am on Sunday morning.

Cabbie Leads Life Of Riley On Ocean Jaunt

VANCOUVER (CP) — How would you like to step into the role of a millionaire?

Albert Blais, taxi driver, chauffeur and president of the city Taxicab Union (AFL), took a 34,000-mile ocean voyage aboard the luxury liner Caronia accompanied by 248 millionaires and a Hollywood travel director.

He slept in sumptuous staterooms, docked in strange lands and had his own private car to drive.

The trip didn't cost him a cent.

Mr. Blais, when not a "millionaire," is chauffeur to a city family. He went along on the cruise to look after his employer's luggage. "Looking after it," meant checking it before the cruise and at the end of the trip counting it once again.

During the trip he was just another millionaire.

Luxury Meals

Every morning he sat down to a breakfast menu that listed 81 different foods. He played shuffleboard, golf, tennis, and went bicycle riding on board. At 54, he even learned to swim in the middle of the Pacific — in the ship's swimming pool.

He bought Canadian whisky in Gibraltar at $1.25 a quart; met the wealthiest man in Singapore, and on that occasion also met his six wives.

"It was an occasion for the wives, too," Blais said. "They had never met each other before."

Only once did Mr. Blais leave his millionaire's role.

"I went down to play poker with some of the boys one day—but bowed out when the bets started in at $1,000."

One night he won about $75 at a ship bingo game.

A Texas oil tycoon grabbed the microphone. "Keep it up, Al," he yelled. "You'll be a millionaire yet."

Junior Red Cross Plans Portfolio On Village

ROSENEATH, Jan. 29—(ENS)—January meeting of the Junior Red Cross was held Friday afternoon. During the work period the members were busy working on a portfolio which when completed will be sent to a Junior Red Cross in Scotland. Sees Too Many Bars To Russ Friendship

TOKYO, Jan. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today told the upper house of the Diet that too many "unpleasant things" stand in the way of friendly relations between Russia and Japan.

In response to questions he cited:

1. Failure of Russia to repatriate more than 300,000 Japanes soldiers captured in the closing days of the Second World War.

2. The Communist Chinese Soviet alliance naming Japan as a potential enemy.

3. Continued Russian occupation of Shikotan Island north of Japan.

Tells Of India's Need For Christianity

MILLBROOK, Jan. 29 (ENS)—Donald Thompson was ohst to the inter - church Young People's Group following the evening service on Sunday. Paul Sanders, the president, was in the chair.

The Rev. Gerald Gregson was the guest speaker. He chatted informally with the young people telling of his experiences in the RAF in England, Canada, India and Burma. He told of the desperate need in India for Christianity. When looking at beautiful views of India one does not see the heat, the flies, or smell the unpleasant odours.

The church, he said, had work for all. The need for ministers, for teachers, for doctors, nurses and deaconesses was great. He challenged the young people to sign a treaty of unconditional surrender to Christ whether it was for His work abroad or in their own town. Don Spicer moved the vote of thanks to the speaker.

A special youth service is being held during the week of the preaching mission in St. Andrew's Church on Thursday evening. Since some of the out-of-town youth groups invited will not be able to attend, it was decided to concentrate on the home group. Each person present was asked to bring at least one other person. Margaret MacKay was made convener of the refreshment committee and Don Spicer will be in charge of recreation.

It was decided to launch a campaign for new members. The following were appointed as a telephone committee: Marlene Richards, Francis Dawson, Margaret MacKay and Carolyn Harkness. Membership cards will be 25 cents.

Mr. Gregson joined in helping Don Spicer who was in charge of the recreation period.

"Wild Man" Escapes From Arizona Hospital

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 29 (AP)—A five-foot man who once terrorized rural areas of Arizona's historic bloody basin country is being hunted throughout the state today.

Jean V. Darnell, 52, the "wild man of the mountains," is believed headed back to that former Indian battle ground some 50 miles north of Phoenix.

He scaped from the Arizona state hospital for insane Monday. It was his fourth break since being committed in 1947.

Darnell, surounded with legends of great strength and stamina, gained his name while at large in 1948.

He grew a long flowing beard and was credited with being able to run like a deer. Some officers who finally tracked him down after ttwo months of hunting claimed he could go 60 miles without stopping.

Dr. M. W. Conway, superintendent of the state hospital, says Darnell is a paranoic and can be dangerous if cornered.

Lindsay Fair Board Reports Of $4,400, Not Satisfied

LINDSAY, Jan. 29 — (ENS) — Annual meeting of the Lindsay Central Exhibition was held here Monday afternoon and auditor A. B. Parrich stated that the fair had an operating profit last year of over $4,400.

In his address to the members, Secretary-Manager B. L. McLean referred to the "heartaches" encountered the last two years. In 1950, the fair was "frozen out" and last year, it was "rained out". Despite these set-backs, said Mr. McLean, the fair still showed a good operating profit.

Mr. McLean stated that "Wednesday, Thursday and Friday just pay their way." If we break even on these days, we are fortunate but on Saturday we always anticipate a good revenue".

The manager who referred to the policy used here for many years of selling tickets in advance. "We sold over $4,000 advance tickets in 1950. It was concluded that, if we could sell that many by just placing the tickets in various parts of the country to be sold without much effort, we could double the sale by a concerted effort and a salesman was appointed. It is no reflection on him to state that the sales were very little higher. He did as well as any one could have done, but as the bank manager said, times were not normal as in previous years and people were not buying anything in advance".

Past president Newton Smale thought the manager should have presented concrete suggestions on how the fair could pay a larger hevenue in spite of bad weather. He suggested returning to the old system of a four day fair instead of five. "That would save on the hired help. The manager says we have over 167 on the list," said Mr. Smale." Lindsay fair has always been a good fair whether it was three four or five days, especially when other fairs in the province were shut down during the war. Conklin's Midway made all the extra money during the extra days and nights.

In answer to Mr. Smale Mr. McLean pointed out that an increase in admission prices might be the answer. "Last year, every small fair in the country boosted its prices to 50 cents. The people got nothing compared with the attractions offered at the Lindsay Fair. We have a great show. We went to Peterborough Fair last year. They charged 50 cents and what did they have? Nothing.

"Our fair is the best advertising the town received and I challenge anybody to deny that statement" he concluded.

In the elections which followed Mr. Everett Mark was elected president of the Lindsay Central Exhibition with Jos. Cayley and Harvey Graham as Vice Presidents. Mr. B. L. McLean was re-elected Secretary - Manager for 1952.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

An Eye to the Future

Long term planning helps you to raise more than the average for your area. This planning for the future should especially be applied to the five basic factors of farming. They are: Land, Livestock, Labour, Capital and Size of Farm or Farm Business. Every farm is different and has its individual problems. So it's up to you to make each factor work hard for you.

Many farmers have found it helpful to talk with their Commerce manager. He represents a bank that has for many years taken a keen interest in promoting better farming and in looking after Canadian farmers' banking needs. Why not pay him a visit?

Man Admits Stealing Diamond Ring

LINDSAY, Jan. 29 (ENS)—Two men accused of stealing a diamond ring valued at $140 were found guilty in police court here Monday.

The two, Desmond Burton, ..., and Douglas Fox, 18, were remanded a week in custody for sentence. Burton pleaded guilty to the charge and Fox pleaded not guilty.

According to the evidence, the two entered the shop of jeweller Carl Brown, asked to see the rings, examined them and then Fox asked about bracelets.

They then left, saying they would return at the end of next week. Proprietor Brown noticed one of the rings gone after they left. During the conversation in the store, Fox had mentioned that he was working for the railroad near Kirkfield. Local police contacted the CNR and were informed that the crew from Kirkfield were entraining for Belleville Friday evening. The jeweller and police identified the two men at the station and the ring was recovered in a kit-bag belonging to another member of the crew.

Hid Ring

Fox said that he had hidden the ring when Burton had handed it to him in the station when police arrived. Burton said he had stolen the ring to get money to pay hospital bills for his wife. He broke down in court and said he had been worried over money for weeks, wondering how he could pay the bills. He said his wife was going to hospital soon for their second child. He told Magistrate Gee it was the first time he had ever done anything like this and asked for clemency. "No one is there to take care of my wife and child," he said. They were remanded until Friday.

Housing Plan

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP)—The government's housing agency has plans for a $9,000,000 project to build houses in connection with air training developments on the prairies. The Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation said Monday the plans call for construction of 870 housing units.

Man Jailed Two Months As Bootlegger

Testimony of two teenagers in police court Monday resulted in Robert Williams, 340 Armstrong Dr., being convicted of bootlegging.

Magistrate W. R. Philp sentenced Williams to two months in county jail and declared his house a public place for one year. This permits police to search the premises for liquor at any time without a warrant.

A second charge against Williams of knowingly supplying liquor to minors was withdrawn at request of crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, after Williams was convicted of selling liquor illegally.

Both charges were laid against Williams the morning of January 13, after constable Douglas Farthing had seized 12 pints of ale in a 24-pint beer case found in a car driven by Edward Gauthier, 193 Aylmer St.

Bought Beer

His companion, Robert Williams, 659 George St., no relation to the man charged, testified that he bought the beer from Williams a few minutes before he and Gauthier were picked up by police. He said he paid $3.75 for it.

Both Gauthier and Williams gave their ages as 18.

Gauthier said he had driven the car up Charlotte St., and turned on to Armstrong Dr., then stopped. He said he and Williams went to the door and knocked, then, Gauthier said he returned to the car. Gauthier said he paid 1.75 to his friend Robert Williams (who bought the beer) as his share.

Constable Farthing said that he was patrolling in the police cruiser when he saw a car backing down Armstrong Dr. The car was stopped and the two youths, Williams and Gauthier, were found in the car. The 12 pints of beer were also found in the car and after taking the pair to the police station, constable Farthing obtained a search warrant and went to Williams' home.

There, he said, Mrs. Williams showed them two 26-ounce bottles of wine, two 12-ounce bottles of whiskey, and a part bottle of "some other kind of liquor."

Price $3.50

Robert Williams, who said he purchased the beer from Robert Williams, the accused, identified him in court and said he answered the door in reply to the knock. When asked for the beer, he said the accused produced it and said the price would be $3.50.

Robert Carley defended Williams and did not enter any defence. Mr. Carley argued that if the crown witness, Robert Williams were telling the truth, he was an accomplice to a criminal act and therefore his story should be corroborated.

Ruling that the "evidence was quite sufficient," Magistrate Philp found Williams guilty. Speaking to sentence, Mr. Carley urged the minimum, because it was Williams' first offence, he has a family of four children and had been steadily employed in a major industry as a skilled labourer for 17 years.

Mr. Bradshaw said he was not opposing the minimum penalty of two months in jail, but asked that his premises on Armstrong Dr. be declared a public place.

BOULDER-STREWN ruins of Caesaria, prosperous Mediterranean port in 40 BC, will be the foundations for biggest new fishing port in Israel's new program to boost that industry.

MEDITERRANEAN fishermen like this one in Israel are geting a lift from foreign investment.

Fishes and Boulders

Israel Revives Old Industry Among Ruins

TEL AVIV, Israel — (NEA) — Over the ruins of the ancient city of Caesaria, which rivalled Jerusalem in importance when it was built by King Herod in 40 BC, foreign investment, principally from the United States, is helping build a modern fishing port for the new state of Israel.

When Cassaria was at its peak, strong gales destroyed it, and Herod spent 12 years rebuilding the port. Later it was destroyed by the Turks battling the Crusaders. All today's rebuilders found when they went to work were some 40-ton boulders, the remains of an ancient city of splendor where St. Paul was imprisoned.

The new port, where 45 fishing boats will be able to unload simultaneously, is the most ambitious of many projects that are taking Israel's shores back to the days when fishermen spread their nets in New Testament times.

Half a dozen new fishing villages have already been started around the Sea of Galilee. Four others—besides Caesaria—on the Mediterranean and on the Red Sea are under construction.

The present revival began with a co-operative fishing village on Lake Kineret—once called Lake Gennesaret—which is as stormy today as when Christ stilled its waves.

Another village, Mishmoret, was launched by eight war veterans without previous fishing experience. Within five years, it had 40 concrete buildings and now the government has established a training school for other hopeful fishermen.

The fishing revival is a major step in Israel's economy, since more than halw the fish consumed is still imported, despite the fact that the production of fish has almost doubled in the past two years.

Arizona Faith Healer Prepared To Help In Winnipeg Slaying

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (CP)—A. C. Valdez Jr., of Phoenix, Ariz., who has been touring western Canada with his father conducting a "revival and healing campaign," said Monday he is willing to return to Winnipeg to co-operate with police in their investigation of the slaying of seven-year-old Marie Louise McCullough.

Valdez, described by persons who have attended his meetings as a "faith healer," said in an interview that "in no way, either directly or indirectly," had he exercised any influence over the girl's foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gavin McCullough, who have been charged with murdering the youngster.

The couple are reported to have attended several meetings held by Valdez and his father during their two weeks in Winnipeg. Police there said the girl's slaying was tinged with religious fanaticism. Her battered and strangled body was found in an upstairs bedroom of the couple's home after they were reported by neighbors to be praying on a vacant lot in their night clothing.

Don't Know Family

"I don't even know the family" said Valdez as he sat in his hotel room here with Winnipeg newspapers carrying reports of his meetings and the slaying lying on the bed and dresser.

"I don't remember having seen the couple," he said. "We prayed with thousands of couples in Winnipeg."

Valdez, a preacher for the World-Evangelistic and Missionary Churches with headquarters in Chicago, said that according to statements in the newspapers Mr. and Mrs. McCullough were suffering from "a mental condition" before his party ever came to Winnipeg.

"I think that is absolutely absurd to say that we had anything to do with their condition. It started some time ago and they then went off the deep end."

He charged that persons critical of his preaching had "taken advantage of the tragedy to put me in the wrong light with the public."

Churchill Satisfied With Visit To US

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Jan. 29 (Reuters).—Winston Churchill arrived home Monady on the liner Queen Mary and told reporters:

"I am satisfied with my visit to America. I am sure it did good."

The Prime Minister added: "The visit freshened up old friendships and made new ones."

Churchill appeared to have recovered from the cold which attacked him during the last few days of his visit to the United States and Canada.

He told 50 reporters and cameramen who had gone out to the Queen Mary for a press conference that he would not answer political questions.

The Prime Minister said of his visit to Washington:

"I've never had such a warm welcome, not even in wartime."

Just Tipping Bottle Guilty Or Not Guilty?

Guilty or not guilty. This was the choice that had Anthony Petticrew of Hastings in a deliemma when he appeared in police court on Monday.

"I don't know," he repliced when Magistrate W. R. Philp asked him how he wished to plead to a charge of consuming liquor in a place other than his residence.

"I was just tipping the bottle to my lips when the policeman tapped me on the shoulder," Petticrew added.

"Do you wish to plead not guilty then?" queried the magistrate.

Again Petticrew shook his head confusedly and said he wasn't sure. "How can I prove I didn't drink any," he pondered.

An undercurrent of subdued chuckling spread through the courtroom as crown attorney John A. Bradshaw interjected, "It seems too bad for him to be charged with consuming liquor if he didn't get any."

Petticrew was still in a quandry as to whether he should plead "guilty" or "not guilty" when Magistrate Philp gave him a week to make up his mind.

The charge was adjourned until February 4.

Two Winnipeg Plays At Drama Festival

WINNIPEG, Jan. 29 (CP)—Two Winnipeg plays will be represented in the Manitoba Regional Drama Festival opening tonight at the Playhouse Theatre.

"Three Men On a Horse" will be the entry of the Newman Club of the University of Manitoba. The Winnipeg Little Theatre will present "Medea" the second and final night, Wednesday.

Pierre Lefevre, of London, England, will be adjudicator. He will decide which play will be a candidate to represent Manitoba in the Dominion Drama Festival at Saint John, NB, April 28-May 3.

Breithaupt Resigns Seat In Commons

OTTAWA, Jan. 29 (CP).—Louis O. Breithaupt, appointed last week as Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, has resigned his seat in the Commons.

The office of Speaker Ross Macdonald said the resignation was received several days ago. Mr. Breithaupt served as Liberal member for Waterloo North from 1940.

No date has yet been set for the by-election.

Mr. Breithaupt's resignation left the standing in the Commons at: Liberals 184; Progressive Conservative 45; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independent 4; Independent Liberal 2; vacant 4; total 262.

Foulkes Confers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian chiefs of staff committee, arrived from Ottawa Monday to confer on arrangements for the forthcoming meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Lisbon.

Science against pain

Science progresses: For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for the relief of pain. Today this familiar painkiller is available in a new form without the disadvantage of insolubility, acidity and bitter taste. It is called DISPRIN.

Why take DISPRIN?

Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) it permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Science steps forward with

McCormick Atlantic Chief

LONDON, Jan. 30. (Reuters)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization today appointed Admiral Lynde McCormick of the United States Navy as its Supreme Allied Atlantic commander, it was announced. The announcement follows the agreement by Prime Minister Churchill during his recent Washington visit to an American admiral heading the Atlantic Ocean command. Churchill previously opposed both the need for a supreme command in the Atlantic and the appointment of an American to head it if such a command was created. The North Atlantic Council deputies in London said they had unanimously approved McCormick for the job.

The announcement added:

"The naval, air and land forces making up this command in war time would be those contributed from time to time by the several North Atlantic treaty powers.

Stress Co-ordination

"It has been agreed that the deputy supreme allied commander, Atlantic, should be a United Kingdom naval officer and that the command should be exercised through an integrated international staff command.

"This command and Gen. Eisenhower's (land) command in Europe are mutually-supporting commands whose activities will be co-ordinated by the standing group."

Red Negotiators To Allow 25,000 Rotations Monthly

MUNSAN, Korea, Jan. 30. (AP)—Communist negotiators today agreed to the Allies rotating 25,000 troops a month during an armistice and said Chinese would join in administering the demilitarized zone. The Reds balked, however, at restraints on moving their troops secretly into threatening concentrations during an armistice. Previously the Communists had agreed to rotating only 5,000 United Nations troops. The Allies are asking for 75,000 a month.

The Reds indicated Tuesday the Chinese would take no part in civil administration of the northern half of a buffer zone during an armistice. Today they reversed it.

All these actions were taken by staff officers working their way slowly through an 18-page Allied draft of a plan for supervising an armistice.

Two Objections

The Reds objected to two security proposals:

1. That both sides refrain from concentrating troops and guns in a manner to threaten the other side.

2. Both sides to report weekly the exact location of all major ground, naval and air units.

In a neighboring tent at Panmunjom, a UN spokesman said, a North Korean general showed a critical and sarcastic interest in the Allied plan for exchanging prisoners.

A UN command communique said the staff officers "continued to make progress" on truce supervision.

The Reds were "reasonably objective," said Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols. "But it would be incorrect to say any measurable progress was being made."

In the sub-committee session on prisoner exchange, North Korean Maj.-Gen. Lee Sang Cho analyzed the UN command proposal point by point. He expressed agreement in principle on a number of points but showed no change in attitude on key issues blocking agreement.

Too Obstinate

Lee accused the Allies of holding to an "unreasonable and obstinate attitude" on three crucial questions:

1. Voluntary repatriation. The Reds want all prisoners of war exchanged whether they like it or not.

Young Driver Jailed 4 Months

WELLAND, Jan. 30. (CP) — John Killian, 16, of Buffalo, convicted on a charge of dangerous driving, today was sentenced to four months in reformatory.

Killian Tuesday was acquitted of manslaughter arising out of an accident in which two persons were drowned last September, but convicted on the lesser charge.

Evidence was that an automobile driven by Killian swung wide on a curve, collided with an oncoming car, then plunged into the Welland Canal at the Humberstone Bridge near here. Two of his companions were drowned. Killian and two other passengers escaped.

Killian fainted and there were cries of anguish from his family when Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson sentenced the youth.

Killian cried "So that's justice" and slumped over, striking his forehead on the rail of the prisoner's dock.

Hiccoughs 3½ Years Weighs Only 78 Lbs.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30 (AP) —Frail Jack O'Leary, 26, now tips the scales at 78 pounds, the least he has weighed since he started hiccoughing more than 3½ years ago.

The former market manager weighed 135 pounds when the world's longest hiccough attack started June 13, 1948. Since that date O'Leary has been shaken by the spasms at the rate of at least one a second, except for two brief respites while he was in Phoenix, Ariz.

He regurgitates all food after it has been in his stomach 20 minutes. Whatever nourishment he gets is obtained during that brief time.

Austerity Gives Bevan Boost

LONDON, Jan. 30 — (Reuters) —The Conservative Government's sweeping economy cuts announced Tuesday will push Aneurin Bevan nearer the leadership of the opposition Labor Party, labor politicians predicted today.

New followers, fearing collapse of the welfare state, are likely to rally round him in the two-day House of Commons debate on the cuts.

Even trade union members of parliament, hostile to the left-wing Bevan group, were convinced today that the Welsh rebel will gain influence.

They said the trend became obvious at a meeting of labor legislators Tuesday night, when Bevan insisted they must oppose the government's proposals to make changes in the National Health Service— hitherto virtually free. The service is his creation, started when he was Minister of Health.

Moderate party leaders, including former Prime Minister Clement Attlee, and Hugh Gaitskell, former Chancellor of the Exchequer ,called for caution. They admitted that if they were still in power they would have been forcet do make economies as harsh.

Hockey Equipment Arrives For Troops

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Jan. 30 (CP)—One hundred sets of hockey equipment complete from pads to pucks arrived today at 25th Canadian Brigade headquarters.

The 30 boxes of equipment, flown from Canada and given top transport priority to the Canadian area of this war theatre, is a result of Defence Minister Claxton's visit last month.

Capt. Dan Fenny of Winnipeg, brigade welfare officer, said: "They haven't missed a thing, including knee-cap protectors and electric tape."

Maj. Don George of Kingston, brigade major, plans a meeting of unit representatives to form a league and capitalize on the current nippy weather.

The Royal Canadian Regiment has been preparing the first necessity for the game—a rink.

European Diamonds Used As Smuggling Exchange

MONTREAL, Jan. 30 — (CP) — A Montreal paper said in a news-page story today that high-grade gold carried from Canada into the United States has produced a huge inter-continental theft ring, with European diamonds as exchange.

The story said US treasury officers and Quebec Provincial police are searching for the smugglers.

It added:

"The multi-million dollar racket, born out of constant thefts from Ontario and Quebec gold mines was known to have been organized to a fine point where high-grade gold was no longer smuggled as is but sneaked to Europe via United States to buy diamonds. The diamonds, in turn, are smuggled into the United States direct from Europe or via Canada with the money from their sale being returned to the ring of thieves in Montreal.

"Somewhere in Montreal, it was learned, are caches—some of them in safety deposit boxes — where high-grade gold, diamonds and cash make brief stopovers during the theft ring's operations."

The story said that on Jan. 19 a man identified as Isreal Sussman, 39, was seized at Grand Central station in New York on arrival from Montreal by train and four gold bars, worth a total of $20,000, were taken from him. This, said the paper, followed by nine days the arrest of three persons in New York and the confiscation of $90,000 worth of gold and $45,000 in cash. The prisoners were identified as Jack and Eva Joseph and Frank Joseph, all of New York.

Assistant District Attorney Louis Kaplan was quoted as saying in New York that the gold bars seived appeared to be from the same mould and that the gold currently being watched for is believed to come from the Val D'Ore, Que., and Timmins, Mines.

Egypt Hints Willing To Join Pact

Prepared To Act If Dispute Settled With Britain

CAIRO, Egypt, Jan. 30. (AP) —An Egyptian foreign office spokesman indicated today that Egypt would join a Middle East defence command if her current dispute with Britain is solved to this country's satisfaction.

The spokesman said this was the "personal impression" of the new premier, Aly Maher Pasha:

"If the other parts of the Egyptian case are dealt with satisfactorily from the Egyptian viewpoint, Egypt would naturally consider such participation favorably.

"The principle of participation of Egypt in a defensive Middle East pact in the framework of the charter of the United Nations is part of the whole Egyptian case.

Must Be Decided

"The National Front (government) which is now under formation at the moment will have to decide Egypt's attitude toward this question, as well as toward all other aspects of the Egyptian case."

The new premier met with ambassadors of the four powers which last October proposed that Egypt join the west in a Middle East pact to defend the Suez canal.

The spokesman of the foreign office was commenting on an article published in The London News Chronicle, quoting Maher as saying in an interview he was "ready to discuss a Middle East command" with the four powers, the US, Britain, France and Turkey. But the embassies of these countries said the envoys' calls on the premier were simply courtesy visits.

The spokesman did not directly confirm or deny the Chronicle story. He acknowledged that the diplomats might have taken the opportunity of the visit to discuss "questions of the moment."

Carefully Worded

The foreign office spokesman's statement appeared to be carefully worded. A "defensive Middle East pact" could mean an Arab league collective security pact which now exists on paper as well as the defence organization proposed under western sponsorship, observers said.

EGYPT HINTS (Continued on Page 2)

Can Be Hermit If He Can Pay

SUTTON, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP). — A hermit can be a hermit as long as he can afford it, North Gwillimbury township officials have learned.

Reeve Non Doyle Tuesday night said that the township has no legal right to interfere in the life of Amos Sweezie of nearby Willow Beach.

The 83-year-old hermit, blind and crippled steadfastly refuses to be removed from the frame cottage in which he has lived in squalor and filth for the last seven years.

"Since the man has his own bank account and lives on his own property our township solicitor has advised me that the council can't interfere," Mr. Doyle said.

EGYPT'S NEW PREMIER, Aly Maher Pasha, is meeting with ambassadors of four powers to discuss anew the formation of a Middle East defence command. He was picked by King Farouk after his predecessor was fired.

Not Committed To Action Against China

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP).—Prime Minister Churchill today told a cheering House of Commons that Britain wants to keep out of a Far Eastern war because the main Communist threat is much nearer home.

He said the United States and Britain discussed before his Washington trip what action should be taken if the Communists violated a Korean truce.

The Prime Minister was referring to his "prompt, resolute and effective action" promise before Congress, which Labor politicians feared meant that Britain agreed to the bombing of Communist China in event of a truce violation.

Churchill declared a Far Eastern conflict would place Britain in the wrong war, in the wrong place, at the wrong time."

During the talks with President Truman, Churchill said, it was agreed that a serious situation would arise if a truce were violated.

But "the matter did not figure to any large extent in our discussions," adding that it was not wise to keep an enemy posted on any future action that might be taken.

Hope For Agreement

"We still hope that an agreement will be reached, and being reached, kept," he said.

Churchill said the United Nations had secured a better chance of reaching an agreement with the Communists by making it plain that the US and Britain are working together in "true comradeship."

He said a Korean armistice may mean the transfer of Communist strength to French Indo-China or Malaya.

"When the main dangers are so much nearer home, one does not want to see ourselves tied down or entangled in a war in Korea, still less in a war in China."

Speaking of the Middle East, Churchill said:

"The burden of maintaining control and security of the international waterway of the Suez Canal is one which must be widely shared."

His earlier suggestion that the US send token forces there to support Britain's stand against ouster by Egypt met a cool reception in Washington.

As for the idea that Britain should work beside the US in the Far East, and the US in turn side with Britain in the Middle East, Churchill said:

British Girls Turn Down Jobs In Canada At Almost Double Their Present Salary

LONDON, Jan. 30 — (CP) — British girls are turning down jobs in Canada at £10 a week, Labor Ministry officials said today.

"The girls just do not seem interested in going overseas," said a Ministry spokesman in the west of England.

The Evening Standard quoted another official as saying that British girls had been offered jobs in the Canadian civil service at minimum salaries of $125 a month. The average wage for a girl typist in Britain is about $65 a month.

"But advertisements have brought little response," the official was quoted as saying. "I cannot suggest a reason."

Ontario immigration officials are believed discouraged at the rate of British immigration to Canada. In a speech last Monday, H. G. Donaldson, of Ontario House, said that in the first nine months of 1951 Britons accounted for only 14 per cent of the total immigrants to Canada.

Donaldson said Canada needs new citizens of British stock and suggested talks "at a high level" to facilitate transfer of money from Britain to Canada in the case of immigrants wishing to start businesses there.

A civil service commission spokesman said the Canadian government was not recruiting British girls for its civil service but that it has employed "two or three" British girls recently brought to Canada by the labor department.

Three Others Escape From Flames

Building Burns So Quickly Neighbors Helpless

VALLEYFIELD, Que., Jan. 30. (CP)—Mrs. Oliva Tetrault and six of her eight children perished today when flames gutted their one-storey frame house and restaurant in the nearby community of St. Timothee.

The father and two other children escaped. St. Timothee is about four miles east of here and 30 miles west of Montreal.

Dead are Mrs. Tetrault 30, daughters Nicile 8 and Lise 6, and sons Paul 5, Guy 4, Jacques 3, and Robert 2.

The Tetrault's 10-month-old daughter Marie was taken to the hospital with severe burns. Tetrault and a nine-year-old son Pierre escaped uninjured.

No Fire Department

The house and restaurant were on the outskirts of St. Timothee, which is without a fire department. Flames broke out about 5 am and were reported by police to have come from the heating system.

The fire swept through the building so quickly residents of the village did not have time to form a bucket brigade. The building was gutted before many even knew of the blaze.

The father saved his baby daughter first, but the house was a blazing wreck before he had time to return for other members of the family. Nine-year-old Pierre escaped by himself.

Residents of the village reported that flames mushroomed from floor to ceiling in a matter of seconds. By the time a small crowd collected in the sub-zero weather, nothing could be done except comb the ruins for the bodies of Mrs. Tetrault and her children.

The Tetraults built their home adjoining the restaurant themselves and moved into the unfinished building last fall. A second storey addition was planned.

Some Doubt Miller Eligible For Olympics

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP)—J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association, said today there is doubt about the Olympic status of Dave Engelbert Miller, star left winger of the Edmonton Mercurys.

Ahearne said he has warned Canadian authorities that Miller may not be eligible for the Olympic hockey championships at Oslo next month because the forward once played hockey for money.

Miller, an Edmonton garage mechanic, was with Streatham of the semi-pro English National League two seasons ago. He married a girl from Streathm, a district in southwest London.

Mercurys now are touring Europe as a prelude to the Olympic competition, starting Feb. 14. Before leaving London this month team coach Lou Holmes told The Canadian Press he hadn't heard a word about any possibility Miller might not be eligible.

British Owned Bank Will Close In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 30 (AP)— The British-owned Bank of Iran and the Middle East announced today it will close its doors in Iran by July 30, after 63 years of operation, because of Iranian government restrictions.

At the same time, it was learned Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government plans to force the shutdown of British, American and other foreign cultural organizations operating outside Tehran.

The date when the axe will fall on the British Council and Anglo-Iranian Institute branches at Tabriz and Meshed was not known.

It was believed the shutdown order will be applied also to United States information service branches, and possibly to the Soviet cultural societies in Tabriz and Meshed.

The British bank's four provincial branches will be closed April 20, and the main office in Tehran July 30, leaving Iran without foreign banking representatives.

Non-Confidence Vote Demanded By UK Labor Party

LONDON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Labor members of parliament today demanded a vote of non-confidence in the Conservative government for proposing curbs on Britain's costly social services as part of a drastic economy program. The motion was filed in the House of Commons just before the start of a two-day debate on Spartan proposals made Tuesday by R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, to put the country on its feet financially. The motion was in the form of an amendment to one by Prime Minister Churchill asking House approval of the Butler plan.

If the Labor motion should win, Churchill would have to resign and ask for a new national election. But the Conservative majority of 14 is expected to prevail when the vote comes Thursday night.

The Labor motion, in the name of Opposition Leader Clement Attlee and three lieutenants, denounced Butler's "statement containing attacks on the social services and other measures, many of which are irrelevant, unnecessary and unfair."

It expressed "no confidence in a government whose present policy is in such marked contrast to the optimistic statements on which it was returned to power."

Butler announced another cut of £150,000,000 in imports. Last November he slashed them by £350,000,000 in the first Conservative move to save the country from bankruptcy.

Charge Promise Violated

Socialists charged Butler's new medical charges violate a Conservative promise made in last October's election campaign. Butler announced dental patients would have to pay up to £1 for treatment and imposed a charge of one shilling for prescriptions. He decided to collect for such things as surgical belts, wigs and hearing aids.

The spending cut will affect Britain's 50,000,000 people. Newspapers said it will bring the sharpest cut in a century to already-low living standards.

Butler warned "further exceptional measures" will be coming soon through taxes to deal with the inflation which is bound to follow drastic reductions in supplies.

The London Times predicted he would cut subsidies on food, standardized by the Labor government at £400,000,000 a year.

Subsidy cuts would mean higher prices for many foods—unrationed potatoes, bread and home-grown fruits and vegetables, as well as rationed meat, butter, margarine, lard, tea, sugar, bacon, eggs and cheese.

6 Months For Battle

WHITBY, Jan. 30. (CP)—Ross Keeler, 23, charged with wounding after slashing Jack Mitchell, 43, about the face and head with a cowhorn ashtray, was sentenced Tuesday to six months in jail. The charge was laid following a battle in this town five miles west of Oshawa, Jan. 19 during which the pair raced through three houses before being halted by police.

Princess Spends Last Day With Children

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters)— The two babies of the Royal family—Prince Charles and Princess Anne—today spent the last full day with their parents for the next six months.

At noon Thursday Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh leave by air on a royal tour that will take them halfway across the world to pay the King's respects to 17,000,000 of his subjects.

The Princess and Duke find their constantly increasing public duties keep them away from their children more than they like. It is barely two months since they returned from a strenuous tour of Canada.

On the coming visit to Australia and New Zealand they will deputize for the King, who is unable to go because of ill health.

Today the young couple gave all their spare time to playing and talking with Prince Charles, 3, and Princess Anne, 17 months.

Go To Airport

The children will go along to London airport Thursday with the rest of the Royal family to wave goodbye. A big crowd is expected at the airport, where the Royal couple will board the 40-seater converted Canadair North Star for the first stage of their trip to Nairobi, Kenya.

Boy 13 Admits Shooting Child

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 — (AP). —Police quoted a 13-year-old boy as saying he deliberately shot to death 11-year-old Louis Franco with a rifle bought out of the proceeds of a $1,000 liquor store holdup.

Detectives Tuesday said William Distlehurst told them that "the first shot I placed near him—the second shot I hit."

Police said Distlehurst gave no reason for the shooting. Franco was killed as he crossed a vacant lot.

Police said the youngster paid $22 for the rifle, using money he and three other juveniles obtained in a liquor store holdup last Friday. Distlehurst also was accused of stabbing a 15-year-old boy in an argument Monday just before the shooting.

He was held for psychiatric examination.

Forced To Accept It

Churchill Not Convinced Atlantic Admiral Needed

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters)— Prime Minister Churchill said today he still is not convinced of the need for a supreme naval commander in the North Atlantic —though he had been forced to accept the situation.

He made his statement in the House of Commons only a few hours after the official announcement that United States Admiral Lynde D. McCormick has been picked as supreme Atlantic commander.

Churchill, who was speaking on his Washington talks with President Truman, said that on this Atlantic question he had been confronted with agreements made during the term of the late Labor government.

He felt it would be unfortunate if protracted arguments arose between the US and Britain. Therefore, he had been forced to accept in principle the situation as it was left to him.

Churchill added: "I was able ....to introduce into the Atlantic command proposals containing certain alterations which will provide great flexibility in the command of the whole Atlantic area.

"These changes will also insure there is the fullest co-operation between the commanders-in-chief of the eastern Atlantic and the home station, both of whom will be British officers."

(In Washington, one of Admiral McCormick's first acts was to announce the appointment of Vice-Admiral Sir William Andrews of Britain as his deputy. The names of other key assistants, to be "drawn from all nations involved," would be announced at an early date, he said.)

Subject to the amendments, Britain was prepared in the interests of Atlantic Treaty unity to agree to the appointment of an American supreme commander and a British deputy commander, Churchill said.

He added: "The choice of the officer whose name has been announced today, Admiral McCormick, should inspire the highest confidence amongst all members of the organization."

Reports Hint China, Soviet Drifting Apart

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The State Department took note today of reports that Communist China and Russia are drifting apart.

The department's official bulletin in a review of happenings behind the Iron Curtain during 1951 led off with this comment on China:

"In China, one of the countries where food production has fallen in spite of so-called 'land reform,' mass executions, and the liquidation of landlords, year-end reports describe a growing coolness between Peiping and Moscow."

The department did not enlarge on the point but said that in general "1951 proved to be an unhappy years behind the Iron Curtain."

"Month after month, and in country after country, the story has been the same," the summary said. "It is one of increasing dissatisfaction, unsuccessful repression, new purges, mass deportations, and other forms of Communist frightfulness in the now familiar Soviet pattern.

Rising Strength

"In the free world, by contrast, 1951 has been a year of rising strength, rising hope, and rising production, combining to build new bulwarks against Soviet aggression and promote the cause of peace."

The country-by-country survey of developments in the Soviet bloc included a report that more than 16,000 private industrial, trade and handcraft enterprises in the Soviet zone of Germany went out of business during the last 12 months.

"Troubles also mounted in the Soviet Union itself . . . these reports, together with a rising tide of escapes and escape attempts as thousands of refugees left or tried to leave Russian territory, contributed additional detail to the story of Soviet troubles and human courage in resisting oppression."

A "REAL HOT FIRE" IN A COAL HEATER resulted in the burning of the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wannamaker, both over 80, of Downer's Corners on Tuesday afternoon. Volunteers were able to save nearly everything in the home, including the kitchen floor linoleum. The house was situated only 100 yards from the City limits in Otonabee township, but far enough away so that City fire equipment could not be . . called.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Base Metals Climb To Another Record

TORONTO, Jan. 30 —(CP)—Base metals climbed slowly to another record high today in early afternoon stock market dealings while western oils dipped sharply and industrials eased from mid-session gains.

Trading was active as western oil speculation continued to dominate exchange dealings. A few lower-priced base metals and penny golds also attracted interest but turnovers were moderate. Industrial dealings spread slowly from leading issues and pushed volume for the first three hours to 1,838,000 shares.

Steels and miscellaneous issues formed industrials' strongest sections. Agricultures and banks drew firm support but utilities, liquors and textiles weakened while foods dipped sharply.

Base metal leaders were firm.

Senior golds showed little trend. Lake Shore and Malartic slipped in slow trading. Secondary issues made little headway.

Driving Charge Fine Totals $68

LINDSAY, Jan. 30 (ENS)—Two driving charges against Douglas Maddock, Little Britain, were heard today in police court here. Charged with dangerous and careles driving, Maddock pleaded not guilty to their first charge and reserved his plea on the second charge.

Crown witnesses testified that Maddock had been driving a truck on Highway No. 7, three miles west of town. As he approached a curve he waved at a passenger in a county snow plow parked on the county road leading onto the highway. The truck was then said to have veered to the left hand side of the road. An oncoming car, driven by Carl Bryans, could not pass the truck and Bryans stated that he attempted to pull to his left and pass the truck on the wrong side but was unable to do so and the vehicles collided.

The right hand side of the car was demolished causing damage of close to $2,000. Bryans was uninjured.

Magistrate E. A. Gee found Maddock guilty of careless driving and dismissed the dangerous driving charge. Accused was fined $50 plus $18 costs.

Ontario Truck Driver Wins Plowing Match

NEWLYN, England, Jan. 30 (Reuters)—Eugene Timbers, 18-year-old truck driver from Milliken, Ont., won a cup for plowing here Tuesday—but his Canadian accent baffled the Cornish horses.

Timbers won first prize in the 21-and-under class in the West of England championship plowing match.

His team of horses started badly because they could not at first understand his commands.

Ontario's champion tractor plowman, Norman Tyndall, 24, of Richmond Hill, was unplaced in his class.

The judge praised Tyndall's performance but said he was handicapped by unfamiliar equipment.

Allied Raiders Driven Back

SEOUL, Korea, Jan. 30. (AP)—Allied raiders today fought through slush and mud on the western Korean front almost to the top of a Chinese-held hill but heavy resistance forced them to withdraw.

In a new air battle one Russian type jet was sent flaming to earth as American Sabre jets took on MIG-15s.

Warm weather melted snows, turning sections of the 155-mile Korean ground front into a quagmire.

Allied raiders struck through this muck northwest of Chorwon before dawn, and ran into two hours of sharp fighting. The main body of the raiders fought up the slippery slopes of a Red-held hill through heavy rifle and machine-gun fire to within 50 yards of the crest before they broke off the fight and pulled back to their own lines.

Dozens of small patrol actions erupted all along the front, particularly in Mundung valley near Heartbreak Ridge in the eastern mountains.

2. The UN proposal that certain prisoners would be released on parole not to fight in the Korean war again. This would remove thousands of former South Korean soldiers from the North Korean army.

3. The Allied step-by-step exchange plan. Lee refers to it as a "one-for-one" plan. Allies hold 10 times as many prisoners as the Reds. The Communists want an all-for-all exchange.

Lee again agreed in principle to the Allied proposal that priority should be given to exchanging sick and wounded prisoners. He also approved the UN proposal for exchanging data on burial places of prisoners who died in POW camps.

"I think this should not be the subject of a bargain. Both cases should be dealt with on their merits and both cases are pretty strong when looked at on their merits."

Churchill recalled the whole question of China and Korea was discussed among countries with forces in Korea before he went to visit President Truman.

"It was agreed that clearly a very serious situation would arise in such an event and various contingencies had been examined without any definite or formal commitment being entered into," said Churchill.

Churchill said "no change was made in this situation while we were in the United States."

Churchill said for that reason his speech before the American Congress was in general terms of the action we should take in common in the event of a breach of the truce, and I used the words "prompt, resolute and effective."

"The words 'prompt, resolute and effective' did not represent any new decisions arrived at during our visit. They express frankly and fully the spirit in which we shall face our difficulties together."

Cattle Club Criticizes Milk

TORONTO Jan. 30 (CP).—Delegates to the Ontario Jersey Cattle Club today criticized the introduction of two-per-cent butterfat milk on two counts—taste and additions.

The two-per-cent milk recently went on sale in some Ontario centres at a lower price than ordinary milk. Vitamins are added to the milk.

The delegates turned down a resolution that would have allowed registration only for calves from sires and dams having proven records as good dairy animals. They decided to leave the question until next year's meeting.

The delegates, however, approved the principle of selective registration.

Cup Of Coffee Costs Man $60

LONDON, Jan. 30 —(CP)—A Windsor man was treated to a cup of coffee early today and lost $60.

He told police of having taken off his coat while travelling from Windsor to London and of leaving it hanging near his seat when he left the coach for a few minutes.

During the trip he had been talking to a woman he identified only as having worn a red coat.

When the train stopped in London the woman bought him a cup of coffee in the station then reboarded the train for Hamilton.

A few minutes later the Windsor man found his wallet, containing three $20 bills, was missing from his coat.

Suspect: "The lady in the red coat."

Wealthy Woman Anne Morgan Dies At Estate

MOUNT KISCO, NY, Jan. 30 —(AP).—Anne Morgan, 78, one of the richest women in the United States, died at her estate Tuesday. She was a daughter of J. P. Morgan, the late banker.

Miss Morgan devoted most of her life to charity and philanthropy. She never married. Society meant little to her, although she was born into its highest strata.

Miss Morgan had been in failing health for some time. She suffered a stroke in 1947.

Born in New York, she was educated in private schools befitting a child of great wealth. When her father died in 1913, he left a fortune estimated at $100,000,000. She was one of his four children.

She said she lived on a $3,000,000 trust fund.

Loved By French

Miss Morgan won the love and devotion of the French people in two world wars. She raised more than $5,000,000 after the First World War to help rebuild the wreckage wrought in France by the German armies.

Although she was well into her 60's when the Second World War started, she rushed a plan for civilian relief and her American Friends of France Organization went into action as the first refugees streamed into France and Belgium before Hitler's troops.

Austere, tall and with white hair, Miss Morgan was described during those cruel days as "absolutely fearless." Co-workers said she directed her civilian relief program like a general.

Canada's Trade Not Cut Much Under UK Austerity

OTTAWA, Jan. 30. (CP)—New austerity import slashes announced by the United Kingdom may clip the edge from Canadian exports, but the bulk of the essential shipments likely will go untouched, Canadian trade officials said Tuesday. They added that Canada wants more of Commonwealth sterling-area products, such as citrus juices, coffee, bananas, rice and copra. More dollars could be added to Britain's treasury if more of these goods could be provided.

"Canada," they said, "will show continuing sympathy with the need for assisting in all possible ways the drive by Britain to boost exports."

Meanwhile, there was expectation that the UK import program, announced in London, may cut into Canada's $13,000,000 tobacco market in Britain. Canada shipped about 35,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco to the UK in 1951, but for some time there has been doubt that Britain would be able to find sufficient dollars to renew imports in 1952.

No Apples, Bacon

There also is little likelihood that she would buy any Canadian apples or bacon. However, there was some hope that she may be able to negotiate a new cheese contract with Canadian producers in the spring and continue to buy wheat, flour and such essential materials as copper, zinc, lead and aluminum.

The Anglo-Canadian token import scheme, under which some Canadian exporters obtain permission to ship small quantities of their goods to keep a foothold on the UK market, already has been cut by 25 per cent, reducing possible exports under this category by several million dollars.

But the bulk of Britain's purchases from Canada, officials said, already have been pared to the bone under previous austerity drives by Britian to reduce dollar indebtedness. If Britain reduced Canadian purchases still further, it would cripple her ability to produce goods for export and injure the rearmament program.

Canada has helped Britain's dollar position by providing her with North Atlantic mutual aid military equipment without cost and by purchasing some defense items from that country, including jet transport Comets for the RCAF and Centurion tanks for Canada's 27th brigade in Germany.

Egypt Hints

The Egyptian government radio, meanwhile, announced that 369 Egyptian police and police officers taken into custody by British forces at Ismailia last week have been released and will resume their duties there Thursday. Observers interpreted the move as a friendly gesture toward the new government of Premier Maher Pasha.

Premier Maher's round of talks began today with a visit from US ambassador Jefferson Caffery.

Talks with the British and Turkish ambassadors were also on his schedule.

The original defence offer was turned down by the government of Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha, who was ousted from office Sunday by King Farouk.

Follows Statement

The round of talks came just one day after Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the British House of Commons he believed it possible to agree with Egypt on a settlement which "satisfies the legitimate national aspirations of the Egyptian people, and at the same time does not jeopardize the security of the free world."

Official sources in London said Britain is ready to make concessions to Egyptian Nationalist feeling if the Cairo government is willing to co-operate with Western defence plans.

Egypt cancelled two treaties with Britain in mid-October, seeking to take sole control of the jointly-ruled Sudan and to get British troops out of the Suez Canal zone. Bloody battles and riots followed those efforts.

At the time of the treaty cancellation, Western observers in Cairo and London believed control of the Sudan was Egypt's chief aim and that the question of Suez defence was being used as a bargaining lever.

Tweed Youth Injured As Truck Hits Train

TWEED, Ont., Jan. 30—(CP)—A new pick-up truck driven by Laverne Monaghan, 18-year-old Tweed youth, skidded into the side of a passenger train as it ground to a halt at the main level crossing here Tuesday.

Monaghan was taken to hospital in Belleville suffering from slight leg and head injuries and shock.

New Austerity Not Enough Britain Afraid

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters)—Judging from their editorial columns today most British newspapers appeared to have swallowed bravely — but not without flinching—the medicine Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler prescribed Tuesday night to cure Britain's economic ills.

Most predicted gloomily that Butler will probably give Britons another big dose of austerity in his budget in March.

The Times said economies Butler announced were in themselves not a sufficient remedy to get the financially-ailing country back on her feet.

"This is an unfinished story. It conspicuously leaves vital work for the budget to do."

Last Chance

The Liberal Manchester Guardian said "if disaster is to be averted, the budget will be our last chance."

The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor opposition, said "in employing extensive controls, he (Butler) follows not merely Labor's policy, but its methods.

"But the government must be strongly challenged on its new health service charges."

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express urged Butler not to rest on his "chilly laurels," because he has "staved off bankruptcy by policies of repression."

"We should restore freedom as well as soundness—including the freedom of pound sterling."

Suspended Sentence In Assault Case

Donald Collins, Lakefield Highway, was placed on suspended sentence for one year, after pleading guilty to a common assault charge in police court Tuesday.

Collins was charged with assaulting his sister, Mrs. Lillian Symonds, on January 22.

In agreeing to suspended sentence, crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said that Collins had already been in jail nearly a week since he was arrested on the charge.

Collins agreed to being placed on probation in charge of Major Harry Everitt of the Salvation Army during the term of his suspended sentence.

Campbellford Church Reports Good Year

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 30 — (ENS)—The St. Andrew's Presbyterian church held their annual congregational meeting in the church. The Rev. A. E. Toombs presided. Eldon Carlaw acted as secretary.

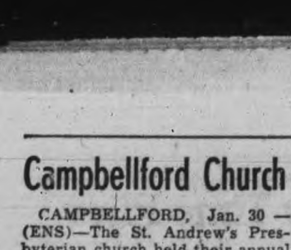
Walter Badgley gave the session report, which indicated there are 178 families and 358 members on the roll at the present time.

Mr. Carlaw gave the report of the board of managers, indicating a satisfactory balance in the general and special funds.

The Sunday school report showed an enrollment of 95 and an average of 55 in attendance.

Mrs. F. B. Adamson reported for the WMS. Thirteen members and six guests was the average attendance at the 10 meetings held during the year. The organization turned over $215 to the presbytery treasurer. Mrs. Charles Milne gave the secretary's and treasurer's report of the evening auxiliary. Average attendance was 20 and more than $260 was raised.

Mrs. H. Haskin and Mrs. R. J. Locke gave the Ladies' Aid reports. These showed a successful year, with $1,800 turned over to the board of managers. The Seymour West Ladies' Aid gave $615 to the church funds.



Archie McCook gave the YPU report and Mrs. James Black reported for the choir. These, together with the Cradle Roll and auditors' reports were adopted.

Mr. Carlaw was elected secretary-treasurer, with Francis Long as assistant. Ray McCulloch and A. B. Stephens were elected managers. Joseph Dunk and Reg McCulloch were elected elders. The trustees and auditors were re-elected.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Toombs and the meeting adjourned.

PILOT OFFICER DONALD PARKER received his pilot's wings and commission at the RCAF Flying Training School, Centralia, Tuesday. P/O Parker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Parker, 686 Armour Rd. Wings were presented by Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James, CBE, Oir Officer Commanding, Air Defence Command.

Board Chairman Scores System Of School Grants

LINDSAY, Jan. 30—(ENS)—Dr. R. M. Parker, chairman of Lindsay's public school board, sounded a warning to all municipalities at Monday's meeting of the Rotary Club.

Speaker for the dinner was principal of the high school T. H. Eberlee. After thanking the speaker, Dr. Parker censured the government policy of giving grants to many municipal departments. "I think these grants are a curse", he said. "The state is putting a noose around our necks. If we let it go on, we might as well be living in Russia.

"Mr. Eberlee mentioned that the government would provide a 75 per cent grant towards the building of a new high school. That means that the government has a 75 per cent interest and the county has only 25 per cent. You know where that leaves us.

"We all know that an auditorium is badly needed at the collegiate. But the government says they will not grant anything towards an auditorium unless a school is to have over 1,000 students. So, we will not have an auditorium in the new school.

"I think it is high time we did something about it", he said. He also criticized the county high school board for retaining the old high school building in their plans for a new school. The high school board have plans for an addition to the old building and a modernization plan.

"I was on the school board when the original plans were made", said Dr. Parker. "At that time, the architects told us that next to nothing could be done to modernize that old building... they told us it was hopeless and that a new building should be erected. And yet the present district high school board go ahead with their plans to try and renovate the old building".

When Victoria county's new million dollar high school addition is completed, it will have two machine shops, two home economics rooms, an art room, four commercial rooms, a geography room, a cafeteria to accommodate 300 pupils and a new, second gymnasium. This information was offered by Mr. Eberlee.

Plans for the school addition were made as far back as 1938 but, at that time the Ontario Department of Education would not approve of the plans until the school was made a party of a county high school area. "It took three years to organize the area and all but two or three townships are a part", said Mr. Eberlee.

He went on to say that 661 pupils registered in the high school last September, an increase of 60 over the previous year. "When the smaller high schools in the district close after our new addition is completed we expect another 60 to 70 pupils. The new addition is being built to accommodate 710 pupils which means that our new accommodation will be taxed". He continued by saying that he was not suggesting that the board should build larger than their plans but he intimated that an additional two to four rooms would be needed soon after the school is completed.

"At present the school is supposed to accommodate 450 pupils" he said, "but we have 660 registered. So you can see how very badly we need more room and a modern addition".

MOVABLE MONUMENT

The marble arch erected by George IV at Buckingham Palace was moved to Hyde Park in London in 1851.

Red Cross Loan Cupboard Kept Busy During Year

Use of the Peterborough Red Cross loan cupboard increased gratifyingly during 1951 the committee convener Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell reported to the annual meeting of the society Tuesday evening. A total of 286 persons used articles from the stock resulting in 422 actual trips to the Red Cross rooms to give out or receive goods by the volunteer committee workers. Approximately 800 telephone calls were required to make the necessary arrangements for these loans.

It was noted what extremely good care people had taken of the things they borrowed. The loss of or damage to the equipment during the five years the loan cupboard has been operating has been practically negligible. With a stock valued at $3,300 the cost of repairs or replacements has been less than $50.

Purchases last year were a used wheel chair, two new gatche beds with foam rubber mattresses and four pairs of extra long crutches. A wheel chair and an assortment of articles were donated as well as several cash amounts.

More Relief Given

More requests for assistance were also received by the Civilian and Servicemen's Relief committee. About 50 civilian families were aided at a cost of $340 for clothing, bread and milk tickets, shoes, blankets and canned milk for babies. About 30 veterans were assisted and Christmas parcels sent to seven patients in military hospital, at cost to the society of $150.36. Chairman D. A. Loomis predicted that the committee will have more requests for relief in the coming year than previously.

The Disaster Service committee reported several meetings with the Civil Defence Committee to discuss the part each will play in case of a military disaster. Demonstration of Red Cross organization was given at the Zachs fire last year and when the committee staged "operation explosion" last November 30th.

304 Swim Awards

Service to the community by the Red Cross Swimming and Water Safety program is large indeed. An instructors' course was given last March in the city qualifying 21 adults as instructors, 12 seniors (16-18 years) as assistant instructors, 14 (under 16) as leaders and one as a senior swimmer.

During the season they gave instruction at six places and when swimmers were examined, 122 passed as junior swimmers, 74 as intermediate and 60 as senior swimmers. These numbers would probably have been larger had it not been for the polio epidemic in August stated convener Mrs. F. J. Overend.

Clarifies Outpost Hospital

Explanation to the people of Peterborough as to why the Red Cross Branch here supports an Outpost Hospital at Apsley was made by Mrs. Ray in her convener's report. "Situated in the northern part of the county and comparatively sparsely settled, the taxes from that area could not pay for the building and upkeep of a hospital", but people of the southern part of Peterborough county have little contact with those of the north and would not approve of their taxes being spent where they receive no benefit. Hence, if such an area is to have a health centre, which it most definitely needs, someone must help provide it. The Apsley hospital was built with funds left when the war ended suddenly which would otherwise have been turned back to National Red Cross general fund." Expense for this hospital during 1951 to Peterborough branch was $363.71. Ontario Division provides the staff and food and medical supplies.

The wool committee, convened by Miss F. Gladman, reported 143 articles knitted last year and 12 baby bonnets were donated and shipped with the quota. A home nursing class was completed by 38 students who received pins and certificates last March. Nurse in charge Mrs. S. O. Shields said the necessary staff to carry on a class this season had been unobtainable.

Visiting, under convenership of Mrs. W. M. Cruthers, was reported mostly in regard to articles borrowed from the loan cupboard. The committee purchased and packaged Christmas gifts for ten war veterans in Kingston Hospital. Used and new clothing was found for three families in the Coe Hill area by the committee at the request of the Provincial Police. Christmas groceries were sent to a large family through the Children's Aid Society and fruit juices and linen for dressing was supplied an an old lady ill with pneumonia. The social committee was taken charge of by Mrs. J. Mills and served refreshments to the home nursing graduates and the swimming instructor graduates.

Junior Red Cross functions so quietly in Peterborough schools that it receives little public mention. Chairman Miss E. Dix reported there is an enrolment of 100 per cent in some of the city schools. The three-fold aim is health, international friendship and service. In the latter, the children's pennies last year gave help to a local crippled child who needed a special chair and provided glasses for another.

Assist Veterans

Secretary Mrs. G. C. Tollington reviewed the work of Peterborough Branch carried on under 14 committees last year. She said the tradition of Red Cross has always been to assist the men of the armed services. Hospitalized veterans across Canada continue to receive help through eight lodges, hospital visitors, arts and crafts and film service. Through the welfare department compassionate leave was arranged for a Peterborough man in the US forces to visit his mother, at the request of his parents. Several requests were successfully met to locate people in Peterborough by relatives in other countries.

Financial report by Mr. D. T. Diplock showed a total grant from the Community Chest Fund of $20,000 of which $9,000 was received since close of 1951.

Annual Reports Heard By Campbellford WA

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 30. — (ENS)—Reports for 1951 were heard from committees of the St. John's Women's Association at the annual meeting held recently.

Mrs. H. Pierce, president of the association, presided at the meeting. Suggestions on raising funds during 1952 included a rummage sale in March, a garden party in June and also a bazaar.

Mrs. Robert Fox handed out material which had already been cut ready to make garments for the hospital to those willing to sew.

Modern Pilgrimage

LONDON, Jan. 29, (Reuters)—When 500,000 Moslem pilgrims journey next year to Mecca, their spiritual capital for nearly 1,000 years, they will find it lit by electric lights for the first time. A British engineering firm announced Tuesday it has a contract to set up a power station outside the Arabian city's walls—no non-Moslem is allowed inside. Work inside the city wall will be supervised by a Pakistani Moslem. Moslems trained in Britain will work under him.

Rush Rail Line

HONG KONG, Jan. 30. (AP)—Communist China is rushing to complete a rail line that would give the Reds a sea route to support any intervention in Indo-China, a Hong Kong newspaper reported today. The newspaper said all prisoners in South China between 15 and 35 have been drafted into labor teams for work on the line.

Raid Village

NAIROBI, Kenya, Jan. 30. — (Reuters) — Ethiopian tribesmen with rifles and spears killed 65 persons, including 40 children, in a raid on villages in Kenya, the Kenya government announced on Tuesday. Special police and a company of British African troops in armored cars have been sent to the area.

Continued Support

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 — (CP). — Continued government support to the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association was assured Tuesday at the association's 23rd annual meeting. Top-ranking officials of the Transport Department and the RCAF took an active part in the two-day meeting.

St. George's Approves Building Plans

A large number attended the annual vestry meeting at St. George's Anglican Church Monday evening and unanimously approved in principle plans for the building of an extension to the present church.

The work will be started as soon as the weather permits. Otto laderach presented the proposal to the meeting.

In reviewing the church life during his first eight months as rector, Rev. H. J. Scuse outlined plans for the spiritual and structural advancement of the parish. The new building will provide the necessary accommodation to adequately fulfil these plans — an AYPA will be re-organized in the very near future.

The financial statement revealed a year of steady progress with increased income and substantially reduced liabilities. People's warden W. E. Bannon presented the report. Organization reports were collectively printed which facilitated their presentation.

Appointments for 1952 include: Clarence Harloff, rector's warden; Walter E. Bannon, people's warden; R. G. Shouldice, vestry clerk. Jack Cardwell and Albert Cuff, lay delegates; Walter White, envelope secretary; Albert Cuff and R. G. Shouldice, auditors.

A property committee was appointed composed of: Otto Laderach, Arthur Sims, Albert Cuff, Joseph Gaskell and Arthur Green. The following were appointed to the advisory council: Ernest Gibson, Fred Hines, Clarence Crouter, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. Powell and Arthur Green.

Refreshments were served by the ladies.

Infant Mortality Rate Low In Brant County

BRANTFORD, Jan. 30. (CP)—Dr. W. L. Hutton, Brant County's chief medical officer, Tuesday night said the 1951 infant mortality rate in Brant county was the lowest in history.

The rate was 25.2 deaths for every 1,000 births, as compared to 44.7 deaths for 1950. In the last year, 1,657 babies were born and 42, one year and under, died. There were 71 deaths and 1,586 births in 1950.

He said the maternal mortality rate in 1951 also declined. The rate was .6 deaths for every 1,000 births, compared with .63 the previous year.

Steel From Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 30. (Reuters) — Britain's desperate hunt for steel to feed arms and export factories today yielded 109,000 tons from Japan at a cost of about $14,000,000. Officials representing the entire British steel industry signed the contract at a price almost double the current British scale.

Father Of Stewarts Dies In Montreal, Aged 82

John Stewart, 82, who was in the Canadian horse exchange for more than 50 years and father of Hugh and John Stewart, Peterborough, died in Montreal Monday following a short illness.

Mr. Stewart was born in Inverness, Scotland, son of the late Alexander Stewart and Rachael Watson. He spent most of his life in Toronto in the horse exchange except for 16 years when he was associated with Stewart Brothers, Co., at the Montreal stockyards. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church and the LOL.

He leaves one son, Alex, Port Hope, besides John and Hugh of Peterborough; four daughters, Mrs. David Bailie (Mary), Toronto; Mrs. H. G. Jacobs (Rae), Mrs. C. W. P. Kirkpatrick (Helen) and Mrs. L. M. R. Dobbin (Jean), all of Montreal, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Watson, Toronto.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2:30 pm from the Miles funeral home, 30 St. Clair Ave. W., Toronto. Burial will be in Mount Pleasant cemetery, Toronto.

Maharaja Elected Posthumously To Seat

NEW DELHI, Jan. 30 (Reuters) —Maharaja Hanwant Singhji of Jodhpur today was posthumously declared elected to the 160-member Rajasthan State Legislature.

The 28-year-old Maharaja, who died Saturday when the light plane he was piloting crashed 60 miles from Jodhpur, defeated the Congress Party's chief minister Vyas of Rajasthan and six other candidates including a Communist.

Running as an independent candidate, he pooled 11,786 votes against nearest rival, Vyas, who got 3,159. A special election will have to be held.

Sees Canada Facing Great Development

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 30 (CP) —Roly Nall of Los Angeles, president of Optimist International, said here Tuesday night that "Canada is on the threshold of the greatest development of any nation."

Addressing members of several Ontario Optimist clubs, he said Canadians will find opportunity for great activity and great development in the years ahead.

Harry Cole

BANCROFT, Jan. 30 (ENS)—Funeral of Harry Cole of Maynooth was held in Maynooth United Church on Monday afternoon, with Miss A. Coultes and Miss M. M. Willows, missionaries-in-charge, officiating. Burial was in Grace cemetery, McClure township. Born 74 years ago, the late Mr. Cole was a lifetime resident of McClure and Monteagle townships. He was the son of the late George Cole and Mary Ann Williams. Until his retirement a few year sago he was a farmer.

The Shiftless Canadian Male

With a glassy and disapproving eye we read that the Department of National Defence has decided to send a portion of every married serviceman's pay direct to his wife; the reason given is that "it is necessary to safeguard wives and families because in some cases the husbands don't look after them properly." The italics are ours. We would like to have a statement from the Defence Department as to what proportion of servicemen fail to make adequate provision for their families. Is it fifty per cent.? Sixty per cent.? Does the Department know exactly what per cent. fall under this stricture? Because if the Department does not know, and if the proportion is a small one (which we strongly suspect) this action is just another of the unwarrantable interferences with personal liberty for which our Government is becoming known, and it is an insult to servicemen and to Canadian men as a whole.

* * *

Another instance of this sort of bureaucratic interference in family life is the provision whereby cheques for the Family Allowance are sent not to the father of a family, but to the mother. When this system was begun it was explained that it was considered more likely that the mother would spend the money on the children than that the father would do so.

* * *

The notion of a Canadian male which pertains in official circles at Ottawa seems to be an odd one; the Canadian father of a family, in the view of the Ottawa know-alls, is a shiftless, improvident lout who cannot be trusted to look after his wife and his children and who, if he is allowed to have all the money he earns, will spend it on beer, crap games and daughters of joy—the latter not to be confused with the Canadian Wife and Mother, who is a semi-sacred object, antiseptically pure and a wizard with money. Ottawa, with a voice as loud and clangorous as the Peace Tower carillon, shouts to the Rising Generation, "Kids, don't trust your Old Man; he's no good."

* * *

We wish to inform the snivelling Milquetoasts who rattle their abacuses and burn their joss-sticks in the dingy back rooms of the Ottawa ministries that this same Ne'er Do Well, this Neglector of Wives and Starver of Children, whom they so bitterly asperse, is also the Canadian Taxpayer, that long-suffering beast of burden from whom they annually gouge the Immortal Soul and with whose pennies they accumulated their present huge surplus of over $700 millions. Are we to understand that the Canadian Male is somebody that money can be got from, but who cannot be trusted to do the right thing with it himself?

* * *

We would like an answer. And if it is in the affirmative, we shall at once agitate to have sixty per cent. of the salary of every Cabinet Minister, Senator, Member of Parliament, and civil servant of whatever grade, gelded from him every payday and sent home to his wife. Then let the rascals beg, plead, whine, implore and sob to get a little of what they foolishly thought was, at least in part, their own. That'll teach 'em to treat Canadian men like shiftless bums.

Chinese Nationalists In Burma

It could be true, as Jakob Malik, Soviet delegate at U.N. charged yesterday, that American staff officers, including even a General, are attached to Chinese Nationalist troops in Burma. Earlier this month American interest in the activity of Chinese Nationalist guerrillas in Burma was the subject of Communist denunciations in Peking and at the U.N. General Assembly in Paris. The American delegate had earlier denied that the U.S.A. is aiding Chinese troops in Burma.

Thus there are charges and countercharges. For instance, the Americans at U.N. asked the Soviet delegation if Russia is herself actually planning aggression in Burma. Malik claimed that the Chinese troops there are being supplied by parachute drops from U.S. planes, and said they are "girding for aggression under the leadership of American generals." From Washington have come repeated warnings that the Chinese Reds, with Russian backing, are preparing to invade Indo-China, Burma or Siam which lies between them. All these countries border on China. Such charges from Moscow and Washington, and the massing of troops, point to a dangerous situation. It seems as if somebody is preparing to intervene somewhere in southeast Asia.

North Burma is one of three places where the Chinese Nationalists still control troops. The others are the small islands off the Fukien coast, and, of course, Formosa itself, where Chiang Kai-shek has his headquarters. In command of a motley group variously estimated at from 3,000 to 10,000 guerrillas is General Li Mi. His base is around the town of Kengtung in the Shan State, northeast Burma near the border of China. He has had recent conferences with Chiang Kai-shek and possibly with American military officials in the Formosan capital.

Unless it has recently been largely reinforced, Li Mi's force is not formidable. It consists of the remnants of two Nationalist divisions. It is staying uneasily in North Burma, without the blessing of the Burmese. Last summer, after Li Mi had disastrously tried to establish himself in the Chinese province of Yunnan (bordering northeast Burma and Li Mi's native province), the Burmese sent a regiment against the Chinese Nationalists, causing them to take temporary refuge in Siam. Siam is an area of American influence, and its government is friendlier towards the Chinese nationalist guerrillas and allows them to maintain a rear headquarters in Bangkok, the Siamese capital and to use the overland route from Bangkok to Kengtung.

The Burmese Government maintains diplomatic relations with Peking, Communist Mao's capital, and does not want Chiang Kai-shek troops in its country. But General Li's men in North Burma receive considerable protection from the rugged terrain and their positions are easily accessible only from Siam.

It remains to be seen whether this guerrilla army has received considerable reinforcement from Chiang Kai-shek's troops in Formosa, through Siam; and thus indirectly, American assistance. It also remains to be seen whether it has had any direct American aid. Undoubtedly the situation was discussed in Washington during the Churchill visit, for it is of a piece with the war in French Indo-China (east and north of Siam) and the troubles in Malaya (south and west of Siam).

The Limited Audience Has Its Rights

We applaud the enterprise which has organized a number of movie houses in Ontario to give special showings of films of unusual quality on Thursday nights. Locally the Capitol is the representative of this plan, and it will show films of high quality, under circumstances resembling a road-show, as a special Thursday night feature.

There are a number of movies which, without being highbrow or arty, are of limited appeal, and which have hitherto appeared in such cities as this only when a manager of unusual enterprise and public spirit, like Mr. Harry Yudin, has brought them. The audience which exists for such films in Peterborough is potentially a large one and it now has a chance to please itself and show its strength. The plan which is in operation at the Capitol deserves support, and without support it will not be able to continue. If it is permitted to fail, let no one complain again that he never goes to the movies, because he can never find a good movie to go to.

Unemployment For Our Royalty

We have been reading some observations made by the Ottawa Journal on the marriage of Prince Nicholas Romanov, grand-nephew of the last Czar of Russia, to the daughter of an Italian nobleman. The newspaper has some sharp things to say about "unemployed royalty", and concludes thus:

> "Unemployed royalty" is one of the most useless branches of the human family. Ex-royalty are unemployed because they have money with which to live without work, to live in the past and in their imagination. Actually they would be far better off with far less money. Their absorption into the ranks of the common people would come sooner—the ghosts then would have to become simple men and women if they wished to eat regularly.

No doubt this is true—from one point of view. But we are not quite so sure that royalty is an exploded institution; we are not sure that mankind does not need a concept of kingship in order to preserve it from great follies. We observed that countries which have no royalty very often have something in its place which is far, far worse—a tawdry and mean-spirited snobbery, hiding behind a democratic cloak.

It is easy to sneer at foreign royalty, when it is down on its luck. Doubtless its pretensions are pitiful. But we have an uneasy feeling that many of us now living will see our own Royal Family in that position before we quit this earth, and we shall not enjoy the spectacle. Canada itself, through its Government, is doing all that lies in its power to inform his Majesty that he may be King of England, but that he is barely tolerated as King of Canada, that he names a Governor General only upon the sufferance of our Government, and that symbols from our past which are associated with royalty are not wanted here. This feeling is not without its counterpart in Great Britain, and we would be foolish to ignore it. But let us remember, too, that no country has ever lived without idols, and when the anointed and symbolic idols are toppled to the dust, idols of a grosser make are quick to take their places.

The Gap In The Curtain

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE Iron Curtain, as a state of mind, is not quite absolute. Thus, the Soviet broadcasting system is far and away the most formidable barrier to the understanding by the Russian people of everything but Stalin's word; but even Moscow Radio sometimes puts out broadcasts which are islands of sanity in the midst of chaos.

One of these, a few nights ago, was a performance of Tchaikovsky's opera, "Eugene Onegin", from the Bolshoi Theatre in Moscow. While all the other Soviet stations were spitting venom and hatred against the West, or tediously exhorting the millions of the Soviet Union to work harder, or chiding them for this or that offence against the Party line, or celebrating with routine extravagance the glories of the great Stalin—while other stations were cramming the Soviet ether with this stuff, the music of Tchaikovsky, to the words of the poet Puskin, came floating across the frozen Russian night, true to itself, and utterly untouched by the strident nagging of the Party's propagandists.

◇ ◇ ◇

AS I listened I thought of the millions of Russians who were listening with me to Lensky's tragic monologue before the duel with his dearest friend which is to end in his death—of the millions who, at that moment, were not listening to the interminable drip of ideological poison. And I saw the Russian classical theatre in a new light.

I don't know how many times I myself had sat in that vast and ornate theatre just around the corner from the Kremlin, watching that same scene, with Lensky played by Koslovsky, perhaps the greatest tenor in the world today.

◇ ◇ ◇

ONCE upon a time I used to be exasperated by the stagnation of the classical theatre in Moscow; the Bolshoi, with its opera and ballet, almost untouched by anything that had happened since the beginning of the century; the Maly, with its stereotyped productions of plays by authors long dead; the Arts, with its rigid cult of Cheknov. It did not seem at all to be the sort of theatre for a land which had suffered the most comprehensive and violent upheaval in the history of the world. To see Swan Lake for the first time in Moscow was to be taken back with a sense of shock into the era before Diagihlev, who, revolting against that very production, had put new life into the Russian ballet, offering the West a vital experience which Russia herself rejected. The unchanging representation of the old Imperial Ballet, the gorgeous and overpowering spectacle of Boris Godunov, the perpetual repetition of the original Chekhov productions with their meticulous realism—all these things which in 1910 had put the Russian theatre ahead of all the theatres in the world, with the single exception of Reinhardt's, surviving into the 'forties, when I first saw them, seemed nothing but a sign of petrifaction.

◇ ◇ ◇

TRUE there were other theatres, untrammelled by the grand tradition, which experimented sometimes; but their experimentation was the mildest reflection of the contemporary mode in London, Paris and New York. All the swift, uninhibited eagerness of the revolutionary theatre of Meierhold had been swept away by Stalin, as all the swift eagerness of Lenin's revolution had also been crushed by Stalin's police, the most conservative force in the contemporary world. It seemed a pity.

But listening to Tchaikovsky and Pushkin, unconcernedly making themselves heard during a temporary lull in the deafening propaganda barrage, it seemed to me not a pity after all. And I thought of the Moscow classical theatre, so close to the heart of every Russian, not as something dead but as something very much alive—as, indeed, the only public manifestation of the Russian spirit not killed by Stalin's police, symbolic of all those hidden aspects of the Russian spirit which can never be killed by Stalin's police. This survival now seems to me a great and important achievement.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE rest of the theatre has gone, having been made over in its entirety to the ideologues of the Kremlin. Play after play is turned out by a band of well-drilled hacks, led by the brilliant and fabulously wealthy super-hack Simonov, who requires only a nod to have ready in three weeks a masterpiece celebrating the latest turn in the Party line. Even the Arts theatre has to sandwich these plays between its cherished productions. There are plays against America by the dozen; plays showing Catholic Cardinals in the pay of Wall Street, like Virta's "Conspiracy of the Doomed"; plays showing honest Western journalists broken by big business for refusing to write that the Russian people are thirsting for war, like Simonov's "American Question"; plays proving that every foreigner who enters the Soviet Union is a spy, or that any Russian scientist who wants to publish his discoveries in international journals is a traitor. There are endless plays glorifying the Soviet way of life and the successes of Soviet heroes, in war, industry, agriculture; plays like "The Party Candidate" dealing with crisis in the political development of Komsomols (Communist Youth Movement)—who in real life are interested only in the things that interest adolescents everywhere.

◇ ◇ ◇

EVEN the circus has been pressed into service of Stalin; and Karandash, the celebrated clown, is no longer allowed to go through his performance without a quota of anti-American jobs. Even the last stronghold of satire in Russia, Obrastsov's miraculous little puppet theatre, which for years was allowed to poke fun at Soviet institutions, has been told to be more "constructive"—which means in effect that it has abandoned its special technique and taken to imitating the straight propagandist theatre in miniature.

Against this background the classical stage goes on being itself. I no longer want it to change. I no longer feel irritated by the contempt with which the ballerinas of the Bolshoi used to regard the gallant attempts to cope with new ideas of their less privileged sisters in the Stanislavsky theatre. For the experimenters of five years ago have now had to toe the Zhdanov line. (A. A. Zhdanov was secretary of the central committee of the Comunist Party of the Soviet Union. Shortly before his death he decreed that the main task of Soviet cultural workers was to support the political line of the Communist Party.) Only the classics are exempt, continuing as though nothing had happened and nothing ever will. And until Stalin can abolish altogether performances of pre-revolutionary ballet, opera and drama, done in the pre-revolutionary manner, the Russian people will continue to cherish in these theatres their one visible link with that non-Soviet world which is still alive in their hearts.

"I KNOW MUSCLE WHEN I SEE IT"

Last Of An Old Norwood Family

(An Appreciation of the Pearce Family by Dr. H. G. Carleton)

LAST Monday, January 21st in the Norwood Cemetery a goodly number of friends laid away the body of Joseph Fred Pearce, at the ripe age of eighty-seven years. The name Pearce and the village of Norwood have been closely associated for over one hundred and fifteen years. This association has been so close that to all former residents, be they students of the old model of Norwood, or the famous High School (Norwood High School has long been recognized as excellent) or just citizens, the names Pearce and Norwood are inseparable.

The funeral was unique in that no friend by the name of Pearce was there; it was the end of the family. Fred Pearce had four sisters and three brothers and yet not one of the whole eight left a child. The oldest was Emma born 1862 died 1929; Thomas Harry born in 1867 died in 1895; Mary Edith born in 1870 died in 1871; Blanche Evelyn born in 1874 killed in accident in 1929; Charles Peter born in 1876 died in 1947; Helen Gertrude born in 1878 died in 1935, and Russell Sperry Pearce born in 1881 and killed in action in France in the First World War serving his King and country December 27th, 1915.

The large brick family house called "Ousemore", still stands on Queen Street, once the very centre of the social life for the young people of Norwood, Hastings, Havelock and distant places. Many of the older friends can give us vivid descriptions of the good times enjoyed by all at Ousemore. It is sad to see the state of neglect and disrepair of this substantial building with its spacious grounds.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE father and mother of Fred Pearce and his four sisters and three brothers were also born near Norwood. The father's name was Joseph Burgess Pearce, born in 1840 and the mother's name was Lois Ann Dafoe, born 1841. They were married in Belmont (now Norwood) in 1862. Both lived to a ripe old age, Mrs. Pearce was over ninety at her death in 1932. J. B. Pearce also came from a good sized family, there were also four sisters and three brothers, namely Jane, Elizabeth, Thomas, Lucinda, Josiah, John and Harriet, all born between the years 1838 and 1856, closely associated with Norwood.

J. B. Pearce, (Fred's father) as he was known far and wide was a good business man, a leader, aggressive, with strong character. He was the first reeve of Norwood in 1878, warden of Peterborough County in 1898 and served as reeve almost without a break from 1878 until 1900. He was also magistrate for the village, served as Notary Public making many wills, deeds, and other legal documents, general adviser to the community. At various times when chief magistrate he acted as constable and would arrest anyone whom he found breaking the law. On one occasion, his post office (J. B. Pearce was Post-Master for many years in Norwood) was robbed by three desperadoes, Mr. Pearce followed these men to Havelock, and single-handed arrested the three as they were boarding the midnight train. It is said one robber told later they had enough nitro-glycerine in one bag to blow the post-office to pieces. Certainly J. B. Pearce was a man who knew no fear, and would not agree to anything he felt was not right.

THE parents of J. B. Pearce, (grandparents of Fred) were God-fearing people who came to Norwood long before the village was founded. His father was Peter Pearce, born in Cornwall, England in 1812; emigrated to Canada as a young man, and in 1837 married Almirs Edmond, the latter of U.E.L. stock who came from Brownsville, Jefferson county in N.Y. State. Mrs. Pearce died in Havelock in 1872, and Peter Pearce died in Norwood in 1875.

Coming then from good Cornwall, English and U.E.L. stock, we have what one would expect, the very finest citizens, loyal, God-fearing and honest and upright. The family started, grew up with Norwood, and made their contribution for a period of one hundred and fifteen years. Some day, in some way a plaque, or memorial should be established in Norwood to mark the passing of the last of this fine old family. It was the privilege of the writer to have known quite well many of the family, and one feels that they were the kind of people, loyal, honest and upright, who make life richer for having shared their acquaintance. It is well that we should pause and thank God for such fine people. And with the three generations of the Pearce family lying peacefully in Norwood Cemetery our hearts and minds turn to one of William Collins Odes written in 1749.

> How sleep the brave who sink to rest
> By all their country's wishes blest!
> When Spring, with dewy fingers cold,
> Returns to deck their hallowed mould,
> She there shall dress a sweeter sod
> Than Fancy's feet have ever trod.
>
> By fairy hands their knell is rung,
> By forms unseen their dirge is sung;
> There Honour comes, a pilgrim gray,
> To bless the turf that wraps their clay;
> And Freedom shall awhile repair,
> To dwell a weeping hermit there.

Made Out Of Snow

(Sydney Post-Record)

Over on Prince Edward Island the Charlottetown Patriot believes that if PEI only could manufacture something out of snow the Island would be as well off as Alberta.

Come now something is manufactured out of snow—in PEI as well as Cape Breton Island. Snow, even as rain, has a powerful lot to do with manufacturing the prettiest grass you ever did see, which in turn is manufactured by the cow into milk which in its own way paints roses that are the bounty of nature on the faces of children.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when they came down to him, Elisha prayed unto the Lord, and said, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote them with blindness according to the word of Elisha. And Elisha said unto them, This is not the way, neither is this the city: follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye seek. But he led them to Samaria.

And it came to pass, when they were come into Samaria, that Elisha said, Lord, open the eyes of these men, that they may see. And the Lord opened their eyes, and they saw; and, behold, they were in the midst of Samaria. And the King of Israel said unto Elisha, when he saw them, My father, shall I smite them? shall I smite them? And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: wouldest thou smite those whom thou hast taken captive with thy sword and with thy bow? set bread and water before them, that they may eat and drink, and go to their master. And he prepared great provision for them: and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away, and they went to their master. So the bands of Syria came no more into the land of Israel. (II Kings 6: 18-23.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbour, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you, Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you; that ye may be the children of your Father which is in heaven: for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and on the good, and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust....

Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect. (Matt. 5: 43-45, 48.)

Letter To The Editor

PLACE FOR THE FIREFIGHTERS' PLAQUE

Sir: Having read your excellent editorial about the tablet, I would like to say that you are entirely correct. There should be only one tablet at the city hall—in honour of Mr. Morrow. The other tablet should be at the place of the tragedy, as in London and other places. There it would be seen and read by everyone, and make our streets interesting. I think I may speak for the Peterborough Historical Society.

Yours sincerely,
AMY DE LA FOSSE.

Backward Legislation

(Calgary Herald)

Mr. Duplessis has given notice that his government will bring in legislation governing the eligibility of people who may run for a seat in the Quebec legislature. The legislation will be effective against any person who has been sentenced under a Criminal Code offence punishable by two years or more imprisonment, even though the person may have been sentenced to less or even to a fine, and it will also be effective against any person who has not been out of jail at least five years before the date of any provincial election in which he wishes to be a candidate.

This legislation is aimed at one man, Fred Rose, former Communist Member of Parliament at Ottawa, who was sentenced to six years in prison for giving information to a Russian spy ring.

Under our law and in keeping with our concept of British justice, Rose has paid his debt to society, is a free man, and can if he wishes run again for Parliament. But won't be able to seek a seat in the Quebec legislature. We have no use for Rose, but we have a great deal of use for British justice, and we do not like Mr. Duplessis or anybody playing fast and loose with it.

"You'd have thought Whitehall would have sent a few extra crates so we could wet the baby's head."

Many Drinkers Few Alcoholics In Some Lands

A recent World Health Organization report shows the United States and Sweden with the highest incidence of alcohol addiction among all countries studied to date: and Italy, a country in which a much larger percentage of the total population uses alcohol than in either the U.S. or Sweden, is reported to have the lowest incidence of alcohol addiction!

"From a health standpoint, this WHO report should result in some serious thinking by Canadians as to whether we should concern ourselves with drinking generally, or concentrate on the type of drinking that results in disease, and the real factors within the individual and our society that are responsible for a sufficiently chronic toxic indulgence in alcohol to produce disease." So observe Dr. Gordon Bell, chairman of the Committee on Alcoholism of the Health League of Canada.

2% of Population Hit

No accurate figures on the incidence of alcohol addiction in Canada are available, but Dr. Bell believes it probable that it would approximate the situation in the U.S. The best available U.S. estimates indicate that some four million Americans, or more than two per cent of the whole population, have an alcohol problem. The Research Council on Problems of Alcohol suggests that the incidence of alcohol addiction in the U.S. exceeds the combined incidence of tuberculosis, cancer and poliomyelitis!

"A great change in attitude toward addictive drinking has taken place in Canada within the past two or three years," says Dr. Bell. "Before any significant improvement in treatment facilities can become a reality, however, special clinical post-graduate training for physicians, nurses, psychologists, social workers and others will be required. It now becomes evident that the treatment of addictions generally will require specialist teamwork."

What Canada Is Doing

Indicative of Canada's recent change of attitude are the following developments:—

British Columbia has pioneered in establishing an educational approach to problem drinking through the schools.

A group in Montreal has obtained a charter under the name of the National Committee for Education on Alcohol (not connected with a committe of similar name in the U.S.).

Nova Scotia has appointed a Director of Temperance Education for the province.

Ontario has established an Alcoholism Research Foundation to be maintained by provincial funds and to conduct a program of treatment, research and public education. Ontario has also established a clinic and rehabilitation centre for alcohol addicts sentenced to Mimico Reformatory for repeated breach of the Liquor Control Act.

Alberta has also established an Alcoholism Foundation similar to Ontario's, but this has not yet had time to get its program under way.

Within the past year Montreal has conducted a survey into the possible extent of addictive drinking in that city. This has been undertaken under the joint sponsorship of Montreal social service agencies.

In Proper Framework

"I am personally convinced that the most practical and effective education concerning alcohol and the diseases associated with its toxic effects will develop within such a framework as the Health League of Canada," declares Dr. Bell. "Here the problem can be considered like any other disease, and its inter-relationships with other diseases can be brought to the attention of Canadians in an intelligible fashion."

RUSSIAN-BORN Mrs. Veronica Jablonski and her Polish husband, Josef, of Cleveland, Ohio, have only been in the U.S. for five months, but they're doing all right by their adopted country. Mrs. Jablonski is shown admiring her two husky new citizens for Uncle Sam — 19 pounds and five ounces of girl twins. They are the fifth heaviest twins born, according to American Medical Journal records. The proud parents, DP's from Poland, have two other children, boys four and six years, born in Germany.

Vagrant Remanded Under Protest

Picked up Monday and charged with vagrancy, Edward Reynolds, 42, who gave his address as 19 St. Paul St., Belleville, protested strongly in police court Tuesday when informed he would be remanded for one week.

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for the remand so Reynolds' record could be investigated.

"I just finished a term at Mimico last week, if that's what you want to know," Edwards said, but when asked if he was asking for bail, he replied "No. Either sentence me or let me go."

The charge will be heard February 4.

Easy Times Over In Medical Plan

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP).—The easy times may be over for Britons accustomed to visiting their doctor or dentist without charge.

R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer, called Tuesday for widespread cuts in the £400,000,000 a year health service put into effect 3½ years ago by the former Labor government.

The economies proposed by the new Conservative Government would have these effects:

1. A charge of £1—or the full cost if less—for all dental treatment except dentures. Patients already pay half the cost of false teeth.
2. Impose "minor charges" for such things as surgical belts and boots, hearing aids and wigs. They now pay half the cost of spectacles.
3. Beds in private or semi-private rooms in hospitals, for which a small charge is made, will cost more.
4. A charge of one shilling for prescriptions now handed out free.

First Husband Alive Wife Gets Annulment

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 30 (AP).—A 22-year-old blonde was granted an annulment of a second marriage Tuesday after producing evidence indicating her first husband, reported killed in Korea, is a prisoner of the Communists.

Judge E. E. Andrews granted an annulment to Mrs. Agnes Dixon Sasser, whose first husband, Pte. Walter B. Dixon, was reported killed in action in May, 1951, Mrs. Dixon married Pte. William S. Sasser last September.

Yangtze Brings Grief To West Lenin's Prophecy Bearing Fruit

By ALAN HARVEY.

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP). — Lenin's prophecy that London and New York would come to grief on the Yangtze river has seldom seemed more ominous that it does today.

Lenin had in mind that the western world would face its greatest dangers in the Far East, and the rise of Communist China as a Sovietized, totalitarian power deploying abundant and fanatical armies sets the stage for the perils he foresaw.

General Juin, one of France's foremost military men, says that man for man the Chinese soldiers are more formidable than the Russians—a terrifying prospect for three countries now virtually committed to a policy of containment for Communist China as for Russia.

Political quarters in London and Paris are not convinced that appreciation of the Chinese danger is as great in North America as it should be. From speeches by British members of parliament and from the correspondence columns of local newspapers, it seems there is a considerable body of opinion which considers the American approach to Communist China as over-simplified.

Trace Back To China

The dangers in the Far East have already been emphasized by Anglo-American differences of opinion over recognition of Red China. There are other problems as well, and in the end they all trace back to China.

For the French, the central problem is Indo-China. They say this is the key to all of Southeast Asia.

To the western mind, one of the puzzling things about Asia is how the Communists manage to do so well there. Part of the explanation is that dislike of the white man still is a ruling emotion in many Asian countries. As philosopher Earl Russell has said, some of this damage might be undone if Asia could be led to remember that the Russians, too, are white.

Hatred of western domination generally has produced an overwhelming nationalism which Russia has converted into Communism. M. N. Roy, an Indian ex-Communist described by The Manchester Guardian as one of the outstanding men of the age in Asia, writes that Communism in the Far East essentially is "nationalism painted red."

"Communism in Asia," he writes, "will be a revival of oriental despotism, with a thin veneer of modernism, disfigured by xenophobia, brutality and violence."

What is Nickel, anyway?

"Nickel is a metal, the same as copper and silver are metals. It is a very useful metal because it has a silvery-white color, does not rust or corrode easily, and is strong and tough.

"When we want to make other metals whiter or stronger or more resistant to rust or corrosion, we add nickel to them and then we can make things like white gold or stainless steel.

"The reason our new television set works so well is that nickel and electricity work so well together. Telephones and radios work better because nickel is used. Nickel is a good metal and Canada produces 90 per cent of it."

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Word from the Limestone City is that Kingston continues to bolster its senior "B" puck squad with the final month of the schedule beginning. Sacs have acquired Gordie Bruce, former Boston NHL-er, and have Joey Catlin back in the lineup Still seeking others, too. So, the K's, who boast several of the league's top scorers, will be tough from here in. Maybe they'll be real tough tonight when they clash with the Petes here at 8.30 in Civic Arena. A Kingston win would put 'em just a game and a half out of second place, whereas a Petes' win would hoist the Ellis men into a top-place tie with Hawks. Yeah, it shapes up as a hot number in the last senior clash of the week and month.

* * * * * *

Schedule in the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association winds up tomorrow e'en, with six games at the Arena, starting at six: Trojan bantams vs. St. Peter's; the midget Trojans vs. Martin-Hewitt; Trojan juves 'gainst Oddfellows; Lions bantams vs. Otonabee Wolves; SPS midgets playing Snowbirds, and Lakefield juveniles vs. Outboard Marines. Group playoffs in the three divisions will commence next week, but we haven't yet heard the sawoff arrangements. Winners trek into provincial playdowns, the PMHA being affiliated with the OMHA. Otonabee Wolves have a bantam bye as a village entry.

Folks Here Refined, Eh?

Comes a clipping from Detroit on the hockey story of Jack Adams, manager of the Red Wings. He started playing at 16 for Fort William. The article says in part: "In that rowdy Northern Michigan league it was normal to have lumberjacks and miners squirt tobacco juice or toss missiles at the players. Then he moved to Peterborough, Ont., where the spectators were more refined, and the following season he joined the Sarnia seniors. Late in 1918 he turned pro with Toronto Arenas and was in their lineup when they whipped Vancouver Millionaires for the Stanley Cup." At 20 he played for Vancouver, married a girl from Napanee, played next for Toronto Pats and Ottawa ere taking over as coach of Detroit in 1927. Been there since.

J. V. McAree of the Globe drops into the lighter side of serious reviews to wonder why interest is declining in hockey. Says it has caused comment on editoral pages, in meetings of educationists and in the Canadian Forum. He says: 'This is mainly due to the fact that it has lost its original character. It has become a kind of cavalry charge, featuring cruder aspect, such as heavy body checking, boarding, ganging and puck slamming. This has not come about because of the wishes of the players, but because hockey is now conducted by and almost exclusively in the interests of the professional team and rink owners. They are in the entertainment business and are providing the public with what they think the public wants. In other words, the mob has taken over."

A Great Game To View

There is much more concerning the ice game. The writer deals with the lack of proper organization in amateur ranks, the nefarious pro negotiation lists, the circus angles employed in putting the game over and the lightness of penalties for crude and rough tactics in games. Our own opinion is that hockey was always a rather rugged sport, but it went in for more checkerboard passing and expert stickhandling before the present scrambly style resulted from rule changes. There's still some fine hockey served up in most contests, but you'll also see plenty of shinny and pitching the puck ahead and scrambling for it. More injuries, too. However, it remains a great game to match.

* * * * * *

Layton and Pitoscia—the judo villains—won the team mat bout over Brazil and Flanagan last eve at the Brock, but 'twas a wild and woolly affair while it lasted. They threw the rule book out the window and threw everything at each other, and the ref, to keep the place in an uproar. A dazed Pat Flanagan came to after the bout and tackled his own partner, but no harm was done. A towering Teuton named Hans Hermann made quick work of Bill Stack in the semi-final and made himself hated heartedly by all in a very short time indeed. We asked him what hold he used for the fall and he grunted: "That's the Prussian squeeze." Innocent like we said: "The Persian squeeze?" and the snort he gave should have blown the froth off mugs three hotels away! Mayslack and Kovacs drew in the prelim.

Confeds Take Another In School Play

Confederation School's intermediate hockey team continued its winning ways Tuesday to stretch its unbeaten streak to six games with a 10-1 pasting given to Queen Alexandra. In the preliminary game Prince of Wales juniors whitewashed Grove School 3-0.

Confederation School was held to a slow start, in fact Queen Alexandra's Hamilton opened the scoring midway through the first period. But the southerners roared back with two goals before the whistle ended the first.

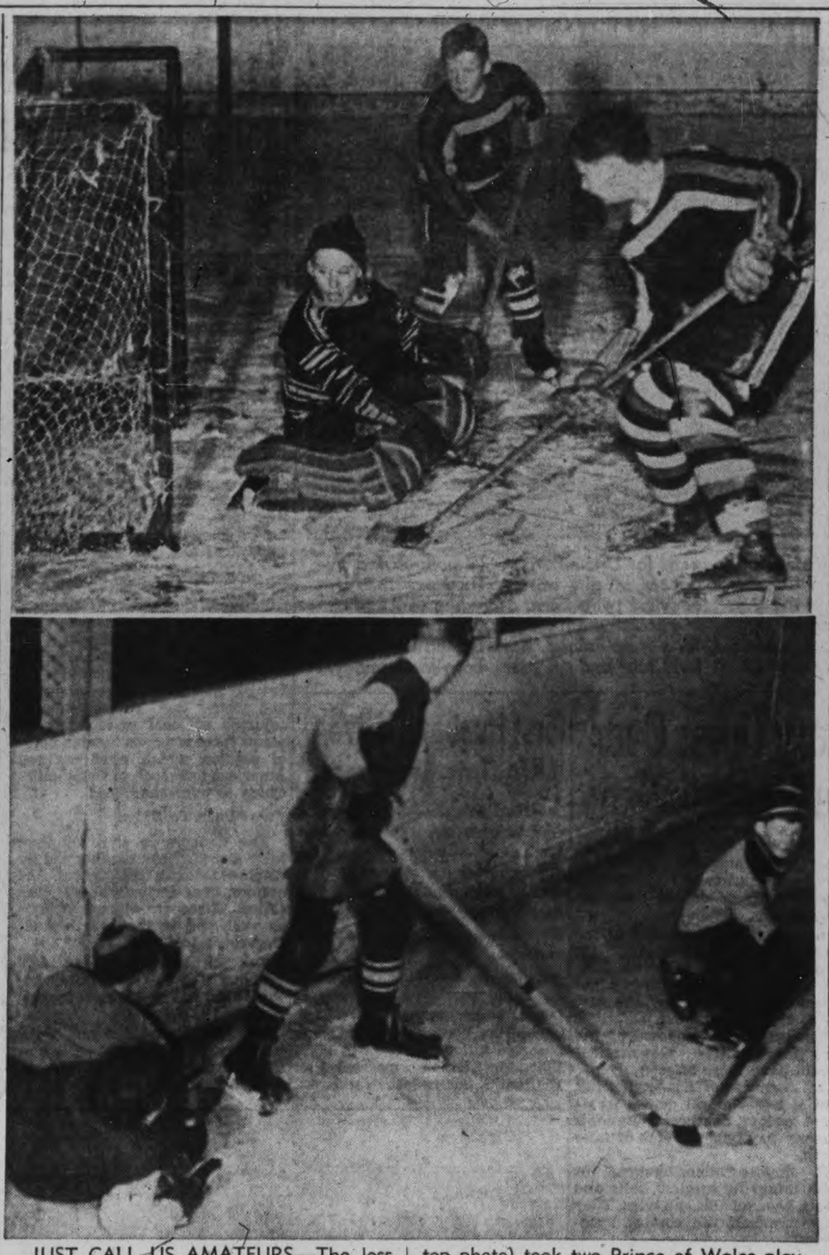
Those two were only the beginning, for the Confederation sextet promptly scored two more in the second and then went on a six-goal rampage in the final period.

One-Man Team

Confederation's George Casey was a one-man team and proved himself of senior calibre with a four-goal spree. Patterson whipped in three for the hat-trick, Copping two and Nichols one, all for the southerners.

A poor defence, thrown up by Grove School, enabled Prince of Wales to win its third game in the junior league. Apart from that the teams were fairly evenly matched, with Prince of Wales having only a slight edge on scoring opportunities.

Allen from in close tallied the first goal for Prince of Wales early in the first period with Blakely helping. Then within several minutes the scoring was reversed as Blakely scored from Allen. Burns added the final goal in the second period.



Lineups:

Junior game—Prince of Wales: Davis, Conners, Burns, Blakely, Frost, Julian, Grant, Billingsley, Wells, White, Curry, Allen, Cox, Cannon, Rendell, Owen.

Grove: Doughty, Keave, Atkinson, Hargreaves, Heard, W. Simmons, F. Simmons, Wood, T. Higgins, B. Higgins, Dwyer, Graham, LaFrance, Henry, Godfrey.

Senior game — Confederation: McArthur, Woods, Ruttan, Kimball, Pulkinghorn, Kinnibur, Copping, Moore, M. Kimball, Casey, Moffat, Knox, Nichols, Patterson, Warner.

Queen Alexandra — Tedford, Hamilton, Levine, Olmstead, Tucker, Noires, Williams, Carter, Calbury, McFadgen, Ratz.

JUST CALL US AMATEURS—The loss of a tooth, a crack up against a goal post and bruises are all in the game for players of the public school hockey leagues. It's true amatourism for the tooth, crack and bruise is all for school glory and nothing else. Tuesday afternoon's games at the Civic Arena were no exception. Bob Atkinson of Grove school (second from left, top photo) took two Prince of Wales players down to the ice with him in the junior game, but his efforts were in vain; Prince of Wales won 3-0. A look of pain is on Queen Alexandra's goalie's face (Bob Tedford) as he searches for the puck which George Casey of Confederation (at right) has just flipped into the left corner.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Edmonton Mercurys Defeat Brussels 21-8

BRUSSELS, Jan. 30 (CP).—The touring Edmonton Eskimos, Canada's Olympic entry, defeated the Brussels St. Sauveur hockey team reinforced by Canadians living in Europe, by a lop-sided 21-8 margin Tuesday night.

Billy Gibson fired four tallies for the winners, with Bert Miller, George Abel and Frank Sullivan adding three each. Jack Davies, Bob Watt and Bruce Dickson each scored twice and Billy Dawe and Gord Robertson notched single markers.

Eddie Miksis Signs With Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP). — Second baseman Eddie Miksis today became the 22nd Chicago Cub to sign for 1952.

Miksis, 25, joined the Cubs last May from Brooklyn and hit at a .300 clip until late in the season when he injured his leg. He wound up the campaign with .265.

Meanwhile, Joe Dobson, 35-year-old right hander, and first baseman Eddie Robinson inked 1952 contracts for the Chicago White Sox. Robinson, who batted 282, drove in 117 runs and belted 29 homers last year, signed for a reported $25,000.

Lindsay Kin Take Win Over Hawks

LINDSAY, Jan. 30 (ENS).—With two games in hand, the Lindsay Kin Juniors stepped to within one point of the league-leading Belleville Hawks in a junior "B" fixture here last night when they defeated the Hawks 7-2.

It was a fast, rugged game that saw two fights and a Lindsay player get a pair of cracked ribs. Speedster Gary Copeland from Oshawa was checked into the boards behind his own net and had to leave the ice in the second period. He's likely to miss a couple of games. Rugged Bill Smith of Lindsay and Don Houle of Belleville tangled in a short-lived fight half-way through the second period. In the final frame, Hawks' goalie, Don (Turk) Barclay, took after Lindsay's team captain Davey Lucas and it was five minutes before the rhubarb was over with a half-dozen players mixing it up.

The locals opened the scoring in the first period and added another three minutes later. Goals were scored by Hall from Shervington and Lucas from Dysart and Powell. They added three more in the second frame without reply from Belleville. Hall got his second or the night from Shervington while Powell and Schinkel scored one apiece and also assisted each other. Belleville finally broke the goose egg in the first few seconds of the last period when DeGray dented the twine assisted by Lalonde and Doran. Lindsay came surging back for two more counters then, one by Schinkel helped by the stick-handling of Gordie Deeth and the other by Lucas from Schinkel and Powell. Belleville's final tally was notched by Therrien from Lalonde. Lineups:

Lindsay: McGuire, goal; Lucas and Marshall, defence; forwards, Powell, Schinkel, Dysart; alternates, Copeland, Deeth, Hall, Smith, Vasey, McDonald, Shervington.

Belleville: Barclay, goal; defence, Green and Wilson; forwards, Lalonde, Doran, Therrien; alternates, DeGray, Mason, Scarey, Gilmour, Houle, Hull, Munroe.

Hastings Defeated

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 30.—Glen Roy AC of Belleville strengthened their grip on second place in the Trent Valley Hockey League southern division here by trimming Hastings, 16-6. The win pulled the locals within two points of the group-leading Trenton RCAF Flyers who were idle.

The winners were in complete command as they piled up a 7-2 lead in the first period, made it 13-4 in the middle period and then coasted to a 3-2 margin over the visitors in the final 20 minutes.

Brian Mulvihill led the point-getters for the winners with two goals and six assists while Earl Cousins rapped in five goals. Leo Goyer claimed three goals. Tommy Williams netted two and helped on two others, while Chuck Loveless netted a pair and Widge Adams scored the odd one.

Vern Colby and Paul Stevenson each claimed two goals for Hastings, while Jim Jeffs and Wib Blake counted the others.

Layton and Lou Triumph Over Bobo and Pat In Team Wrestling Bout

The grappling team of Athol Layton and Lou Pitoscia defeated the pair of Bobo Brazil and Pat Flanagan in two of three falls in the main mat bout at the Brock last night. Layton threw Pat into the ropes and tripped him as he came off, Flanagan going down hard and banging his head on the floor. Athol promptly pinned him for the deciding fall after seven rousing minutes of team action. Flan had pulled a previous trip and fall on Layton and thought he was the winner, but Referee Bunny Dunlop ruled he gained the fall with an assist from Bobo in his corner, and the ref washed it out.

Brazil had downed Lou in 12 minutes to even the falls after he and Flanagan had worked in fast relays with slams on the luckless but villainous Pitoscia. They spotted the villains 31 pounds as a team, but more than held their own most of the way to the fans' delight. It was a wild affair with three and four grapplers at times flying about the ring, action in and out of the square, rough stuff in rival corners, slashes, head butts, kneeing, chokes and fists, as well as some smart holds shown. The referee frequently got into it, too, as he trid vainly to keep some semblance of order.

Missed Tackle

Layton took the opening fall over Bobo in 19 minutes when the Negro came back in over the ropes in a flying tackle that missed when Athol rolled. Bobo landed heavily and hurt his shoulder, Layton promptly pinning him. Furious action erupted all over the place as Lou and Layton persisted in illegal stuff and found the slippery Flanagan ready to do likewise. They ganged up in the corners and at times all four gladiators were in there pitching at once, and Dunlop was caught one time on the bottom of the milling pile. It was a hot team grappling bout at its wildest and wooliest, and the fans ate it up.

A Hated Hun

Huge Hans Hermann, scaling 278 pounds, beat Bill Stack, scaling 241, in the semi-final. He won in six minutes with an unconscious hold like a choke only at the sides of the neck, a grip he calls the "Prussian squeeze." The crop-haired blonde German lost no time in making the crowd hate him as he strutted about, sneering and showing his great strength by breaking holds applied by Stack disdainfully. However, the game Stack tore into him all the way, and at times had him seeking cover under the ropes from mule kicks. The cocky Teuton, with the bulging biceps, ignored referee's warnings and roughed it up till he had Bill in position after a beating in the corner, then applied his dreaded grip, and it was all over. He was booed roundly as he goose-stepped from the ring.

Goes To Draw

Sandor Kovacs, 224, and the 237-pound Stan Mayslack went to a lively prelim draw. Stan roughed it from the start, yanking hair and getting away with a lot of mean stuff, but Dunlop at times manhandled him to break his hold after a warning. Sandor applied an armlock for a time and had Mayslack stalling for time to slow up the match for awhile. Later he headed for the ropes every time the other grabbed his arm, and Sandor would surprise him by Goyer claimed three goals. Tommy Williams netted two and helped on two others, while Chuck Loveless netted a pair and Widge Adams scored the odd one.

Hot Hoop Race Staged By Glens And Marines

The Bay of Quinte section of the Eastern Ontario Intermediate Basketball League will quite likely end in a first-place tie between Belleville Glen Roys and Marines.

The Glen Roys, still with two games to play, moved to within two points of Marines Tuesday night, but only after a stellar performance by Don (Kip) Summers. The Glens were down 32-31 with only four seconds left when Summers flipped in a two-pointer for a 33-32 win over the much-improved Trenton Flyers.

Summers topped the game scoring with 12 points, while Flyers skyscraper, Junkin, dropped through 11 in a close-checking but fast game played on the Trenton floor.

Marines will play the red-hot Flyers Saturday night, either at the YMCA gym or on the Collegiate floor. Although chances of Trenton making the playoffs are nil, they can make the final series rough for Marines.

If the Flyers defeat Marines on Saturday and the Glen Roys finish with two wins, another against the Flyers, Belleville will have the first game played on its floor. This would give them a decided advantage.

Bruins Gallop To 3-1 Win Over Detroit Wings, Red Sullivan Scores Again

By The Canadian Press

Boston Bruins may have sold off Bashing Bill Ezinicki, but the return of the hard-hitting forward to Toronto doesn't seem to have cramped the Beantowners' scoring punch. The Bruins gave a sparse Boston crowd of 5,339 Tuesday night something to cheer about as they came through with a convincing 3-1 National Hockey League victory over the first-place Detroit Red Wings. It was Boston's first win over the league leaders this season and moved them into a fourth-place deadlock with the New York Rangers.

Ezzie's exodus may have added spirit to the Bruins camp as well as money to the front office.

Lynn Patrick's crew led all the way in earning their 3-1 victory They tallied once in the first period and added their other two goals in the middle session while Red Kelly spoiled Jim Henry's shutout during the second minute of the final stanza.

Sullivan Scores

Dave Creighton opened the Bruins' scoring in the fourth minute of play while Detroit's Gordie Howe rested in the penalty box.

Boston pulled into a 2-0 lead on Red Sullivan's second-period marker.. Johnny Peirson gave them their final goal while his side was a man short. He made a rink-length dash after intercepting a Red Wing pass near the Boston net.

The Bruins looked powerful in every department. They out-shot the Detroit crew 40-22 over the three periods of play.

No games are scheduled tonight, but New York plays in Montreal tomorrow while Boston goes to Chicago.

Hershey Clips St. Louis 2-1

By The Canadian Press.

Hershey Bears moved further ahea of the pack in the American Hockey League's eastern division Tuesday night, downing St. Louis Flyers 2-1.

Hershey now has 55 points and the second-place Providence Reds 47.

In the only other game played, Cincinnati Mohawks blanked Buffalo Bisons 4-0 to take over third place in the league's western section.

At Cincinnati, goalie Emile (The Cat) Francis scored his fourth shutout of the season.

Leftwinger Nick Mickoski, farmed out by New York Rangers, wheeled and sank a backhander to score the Mohawks' first counter at 5:15 of the first period and defenceman Ivan Irwin made it 2-0 at 13:02 when he clicked on a 50-foot screen shot.

Fred Brown and Ed Harrison scored the other Cincinnati goals in the third period.

Max Schmeling, then leading contender for the world heavyweight boxing title, defeated South Africa's Ben Foord in a 12-round bout at Hamburg 14 years ago today, before a crowd of 30,000. Schmeling had been recognized as world champion for two years until beaten by Jack Sharkey in 1932. A few months after the Hamburg fight Schmeling was knocked out by Joe Louis in one round.

Frank Vincent, of Victoria, BC told in Regina Tuesday of how the flashlight has replaced the broom in his curling game.

Although failing in sight for the last three years, the 67-year-old life member of the Saskatchewan Curling Association has skipped his own rink by using a flashlight instead of a broom to mark the ice.

He surveys the rocks in the house, puts the broom where he wants it, switches on his flashlight and has his third man hold it by the broom.

Back at the other end of the ice, he can see only the light, with which he lines up his shot.

Verne Goodwin, US Olympic skier from Pittsfield, Mass., was taken to a hospital in St. Anton, Austria, Tuesday with an attack of appendicitis. Physicians said it probably will not be necessary to operate. An operation would keep Goodwin out of the Olympic games beginning Feb. 14 at Oslo.

Bob Hope, a little annoyed about British comments on his golf game in the British amateur last year, said in Hollywood Tuesday that he will enter the event again this summer and tossed a challenge in the bargain. Hope said he and Bing Crosby will take on any two British entertainers at golf for any side bet they want.

Armed with a unanimous vote of confidence from the New York Senate, State boxing boss Bob Christenberry Tuesday in Albany renewed his vow to purge "hoodlums and gangsters" from the ring game. He said he would "do all I can to have boxing abolished" in New York State if he becomes convinced that it cannot be cleaned up.

Stanley Nantais, coach of the Windsor Assumption College basketball team in Hamilton, Tuesday night announced that his team has officially applied for entry into the senior intercollegiate basketball loop. The application was made by letter more than a week ago.

Jersey Joe Walcott's manager said last night he and the heavyweight champion will confer with "an actor's agent" in Washington today about a $250,000 offer to defend his title against Harry (Kid) Matthews.

The New York Giants Tuesday signed George Bamberger, pitcher for the Ottawa Giants in the International League last year.

McMaster Marauders turned the scoring tables on Windsor Assumption College Tuesday night in Hamilton to defeat the visitors 85-58 in an exhibition basketbaal game. Last week Assumption downed McMaster in Windsor. In a preliminary game, McMaster Buccaneers beat Guelph Aggies 59-54.

The board of governors of the American Hockey League, sitting as an appeal body in Hershey, Pa., Tuesday upheld president Maurice Podoloff, who disallowed a goal scored by Providence against Buffalo Jan. 3. The appeal was taken to the board after Podoloff upheld a ruling by referee Walter Russell.

Lou Pieri, owner of the Providence Reds, announced Tuesday night in Providence that he has resigned as a member of the board of governors of the American Hockey League and as president of the club. Pieri said he quit because the governors rejected his protest of a decision made by league president Maurice Podoloff which cost Providence a 4-3 decision in Buffalo Jan. 3.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe of Detroit picked up an assist Tuesday night, although the league-leading Red Wings suffered a 3-1 setback a' the hands of Boston Bruins, to move two points ahead in the National Hockey League's individual scoring department.

Howe now has 25 goals and 22 assists for 47 points, two more than second-place Elmer Lach of Montreal Canadiens. Lach's total of 45 is made up of 12 goals and a pace-setting 33 assists.

Johnny Peirson of Boston moved into the big seven with a goal and an assist. He has 37 points, the same number as Ted Lindsay of Detroit.

Looks For Players

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP).—Bill Tobin, owner of Chicago Black Hawks, planned to fly to Canada today to search for players in the junior amateur ranks who might be able to bolster his sagging club. Tobin said he would look over a number of players, including Ken Wharram and Ted Sleaver of Galt, and Murray Costello of the St. Michael's Juniors in Toronto. All three are forwards.

Dog Derby Race Lures 30 Entries

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (CP).—Canada's classic of the dog derby world, the international race over 100 gruelling miles of snow and ice, comes off next month with 30 mushers and their teams of howling dogs.

This third renewal of the big annual race has two outstanding features. Five women mushers from Canada and the United States have entered. And there will also be the spice of military rivalry between a United States Air Force team and one from the Canadian Army.

Women mushers have shown such enthusiasm for the derby Feb. 7, 8, 9 that officials have introduced a special "Capital Sweepstakes" for female entrants. It provides a $300 cash prize and a $500 gold cup.

The women also will be eligible for the gold challenge trophy and $5,000 in prizes, if they can beat out the 25 Canadian and American male mushers—many of them old hands at the game.

The race is run in three daily 33½-mile heats. Starting on the ice of the Rideau Canal in the heart of the city, it cuts through the capital and loops cross-country before swinging back to the starting point. Veteran mushers admit it's a tough grind.

The US military team has been entered by the US Air Force at Goose Bay, Labrador. Just who their musher is isn't known here yet. Starting for the Canadian Army will be Sgt. Dinny Hayes, outfitted in Canadian Army Arctic clothing, and a team of nine pure-bred Labrador retrievers.

Stabile Signs For More Punishment

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30 (AP)—Dick Stabile, beaten, bruised and abused by Martin and Lewis for three years, has signed on for another seven years of punishment.

Bandleader Stabile is a rugged 200-pounder who looks as though he could take care of himself in any situation.

"Oh, I take a beating, all right," sighed the musician. "One of their favorite tricks is to get on opposite of the stage, run and jump on me and try to hold on. Now Dean is 175 pounds and built solid. Jerry is 145 and very wiry. When you get a couple of guys like that flying at you, you've got to be able to take it. Thank heaven I've got my health."

Stabile discovered another favorite Martin and Lewis trick at a New York night club. He was doing a number in the spotlight when the two comics assaulted him. They poured water over his head, whisky in his sax, slashed his tuxedo, ripped his $20 shirt.

Other Indignities

He suffered many other indignities. The boys steal his script on their radio and TV shows. They tear up the orchestras's sheet music. "Fortunately I make the arrangements, so I have them memorized," said Stabile.

The bandman doesn't seem any the worse for the abuse he takes, "In fact, when they stop kidding around, I get worried," he said. "I figure then they're mad at me."

Besides his musical abilities, Stabile also functions as what he calls "a professional laughter".

"Maybe that's the reason the boys hired me," he said. "I though they were funny and I laughed. I have made a study of crowd psychology and I've found that if people see somebody laughing, they'll laugh too, even if they don't get the joke."

WOMEN'S EDITOR—Jo Aldwinckle, women's editor of the Daily Times Gazette, Oshawa, has been appointed chairman of the Canadian Women's Press Club Memorial Award committee. The committee also includes Jean Southworth, of the Ottawa Journal; Mary Elizabeth Stapleton, of the Toronto Star; Kay Kritzwiser of the Regina Leader-Post, and Marguerite Wilson of Publications Provinciales, Ltd., Montreal.

Economic State Poorer During 1951

TORONTO, Jan. 30—(CP)—The 1951 economic review reached Tuesday by the Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Research was considerably less bright than in 1950.

It showed a higher rate of unemployment, a sharp reduction in housing construction and lower retail sales.

The report stated that the number of persons unemployed at the beginning of 1952 was 94,000, an increase of 20,000 over December and 38,000 over the same period of 1951. The largest increases were in the Kitchener, Toronto, London and Sarnia regions.

In the week ended Jan. 12, 1952, retail sales were reported down 28 per cent from the previous year. In December, sales were two per cent lower in dollar value than in the same month of 1950.

Payrolls in leading industries remained about 20 per cent higher in 1951 than in 1950, the report said. Average weekly earnings jumped from $47.34 in January to $54.08 in November.

House building in the first 11 months of 1951 was 9 per cent higher than in the year before, but with larger down payments required because of credit controls, construction was started on 31 per cent fewer houses by August. By October the starts had declined by 52 per cent.

Firemen extinguished a chimney fire Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary O'Brien, 391 Dobbin Avenue. A hand pump was used to do the job. Two other calls proved false alarms. A fire alarm box was pulled at Chamberlain and Brewer Streets at 7:30 pm Tuesday, and early today a sprinkler head went off at the Canadian Canoe Company Ltd., Rink Street.

APPOINT ARBITRATOR

Labor Minister Charles Daley has appointed Judge J. C. Anderson, Belleville, to be chairman of the arbitration board in the dispute between 16 CGE welders and the company. The men were fired by the company for refusing to return to work after an initial wildcat strike. The case of all 16 will be heard at the one sitting of the arbitration board but in the form of two separate grievances. Eleven of the men were fired at one time and the other five a week or so later. Union nominee on the board is Drummond Wren, Ayr, Ont., and the company nominee is Macauley Dillon, KC, Toronto.

PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT DENTAL SOCIETY honored two city dentists who are retiring, at a dinner on Tuesday evening. Dr. Arthur M. Weldon, Left, who has practiced 45 years, is shown with society president Dr. William X. Blackburn, Centre, and Dr. John C. Green, who has practiced for the past 30 years. Twenty-one members of the society were present at the dinner.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Lake Site Bought Says Rumor; No, Replies Mine

Marmora iron mine officials today denied a report that the company has bought an ore stockpile site on the lakefront south of the village of Colborne.

"There's nothing to it," the spokesman of the Bethlehem Mines Corp. said. He added that the firm was seeking a harbor site but as yet had not found a satisfactory one.

The rumor, circulating through the lakeshore district at present, says that the company bought 30 acres of land on the shore of Lakeport, once a flourishing harbor south of Colborne.

Rotting 50 Years

Abandoned for about 50 years, the wharf at Lakeport is rotting in the lake water, and has not been touched since the harbor was abandoned.

Owner of the land said to have been bought is Fred Hubble of Colborne. He would make no comment on the report that the iron firm had purchased his property.

Price paid for the land was about $200 an acre, according to the rumor.

Mayor Jack Burnet of Cobourg said that iron mine officials had made enquiries there, but apparently decided against Cobourg.

As the rumor had it, either the company or the provincial government was to deepen the harbor to enable it to handle ore boats. Lakeport was chosen because it was the deepest harbor available, and the handiest to Marmora.

The rumor included the claim that ore from Marmora would be trucked to the lakeshore site, despite the fact that a railway siding connects the mine with the CNR.

Honor Two City Dentists, Practised For 75 Years

Two Peterborough dentists who have retired recently were honored Tuesday night by their colleagues in the Peterborough District Dental Society. The two guests of honor—Dr. Arthur M. Weldon and Dr. John C. Green—have a combined practice of 75 years, most of it in Peterborough.

Twenty-one members of the association and guests were present at the meeting which was held in the Empress hotel. Dr. William X. Blackburn, president, presented both men with sterling silver life membership cards.

Dr. Blackburn said that his two colleagues had served the community well and their standard of excellence was one for the rest of the profession to perpetuate. The finest testimony to the work of Drs. Weldon and Green, he said, was the esteem in which they are held by their former patients.

Started In Norwood

Both dentists were graduaated from the Faculty of Dentistry in Toronto and both began practising in Norwood.

Dr. Weldon was born in Lindsay and after his graduation had practices in Norwood, Toronto and Beaverton before coming to Peterborough.

In all, he was a dentist for 45 years. He retired in October, 1950.

Dr. Green first worked professionally in Norwood. After a two-year practice he moved to Peterborough and—apart from a stint as a major in the dental corps during the Second World War—he remained in Peterborough. He retired last October.

For 17 years Dr. Green was a part-time school dentist for the board of education.

In attendance at the testimonial dinner were Drs. Joseph Garfat, Harvey Ball, Harold Long, Jack Braund, Allan McDougall, Ralph Honey, Mark Crough, Ralph Smythe, Clifford McKee, William Blackburn, J. J. Craig, Ralph Green, Campbell, Craig and Wilfred Preston, all of Peterborough; and George Toby, Toronto; Earl Perry, Oshawa; William Beatty, Port Hope; Joseph Graham, Bobcaygeon; Reginald Campbell, Lakefield; and Mervis Curtis and Cecil Wansborough, Lindsay.

Crown Orders Inquest In Death By Motor Fumes

LINDSAY, Jan. 30 — (ENS).—Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan has ordered an inquest into the death of Wesley Wright, 22, of Irondale. The Crown is not satisfied with reports received on the death of the youth who was found dead from carbon monoxide fumes and frozen stiff in his car at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning.

According to police Wright was employed in a logging camp and was last seen at 9 pm Monday in his car at West Guilford. Investigation by Ontario Provincial Police Constable Gordon Langton revealed a shattered exhaust pipe and muffler, the gas tank empty, and the ignition switch on.

Dr. W. D. Warren, Haliburton, also investigated. Two weeks ago two young men from Coboconk were found dead from fumes in their car near Fenelon Falls, and a few hours later another man was found near Minden.

Name Arbitrator To Lindsay Board

LINDSAY, Jan. 30. (ENS)—Alderman Lloyd Burrows and Constable Percy Mark will represent city council and the police force on a three-man board of arbitration to discuss police salaries.

Town council Tuesday night named Ald. Burrows at a special meeting.

Third man is to be chosen by both parties; if they cannot agree on a man within five days, the Attorney-General's Department will name one to fill out the board.

A week ago, the Lindsay police association announced they would take their case for higher salaries to arbitration. They felt an across-the-board increase of $200 yearly was insufficient.

Joe Rogow Elected Head Of B'nai B'rith

B'nai B'rith executive for 1952 was elected by acclamation over the weekend. New president is Joe Rogow.

Other officers are: 1st vice-president, Irving Cipin; 2nd vice-president, Harry Schwartz; secretary, Phil Macks; treasurer, Herb Schacher, warden, Morton Golumbia.

Inquest Not Decided In Death of M. Martin

No decision has been reached yet whether an inquest will be held into the death of Murney Martin, 68, of 267 Simcoe St. He died Sunday in hospital where he was suffering from a broken left leg, concussion, cuts on the forehead and chin.

The injuries were sustained in an accident on Otonabee St. on January 12 when Martin was hit by a car driven by Elwood McIlmoyle, 33 Armour Road. Martin was recovering fairly well until recently when he took a turn for the worst.

The results of an autopsy performed Monday by Dr. C. B. Waite, provincial pathologist, will not be known for several days. Meanwhile Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw will decide whether an inquest will be conducted.

LindsayReeveProtests Wholesale Spending

LINDSAY, Jan. 30 — (ENS).—Reeve Richard Butler condemned Lindsay town council Tuesday night for "spending too much of the taxpayers' money."

The reeve arose after a request of the public school board. Originally the board had requested council for $35,000 in debentures for the erection of two rooms on the south ward school.

The board returned to council to request an addition to their original request of another $10,000 for an additional nine feet to be added to the rooms in the original plan. The extra space would provide for an auditorium and stage in the basement of the school plus larger cloakroom space upstairs.

In spite of the reeve's speech, council granted the request. "We have to take care of children first," said Ald. James McQuarrie. "Money spent on them is well-spent."

"I don't think the taxpayers begrudge that kind of an expenditure," said Mayor Lamb.

Nabbed By Octopus

BROADFORD, Isle of Skye — (CP)—Police Constable Ian Morrison was walking on the beach here when a stranded octopus wound an eight-foot tentacle round his foot. Morrison freed himself and recovered his Wellington boot by killing the octopus with a stick.

City Trust May End In Dec. '53

Will Require Private Bill In Ontario House

Dissolution of the City Trust Commission at the end of 1953 is suggested in a letter from its secretary, T. A. Mackay, to the council. It was on the Board of Works file Monday.

The commission recommends that "the council take whatever steps necessary to secure, in due course, any legislation in such respect".

City Solicitor Huycke informed the board that the council should request the Ontario Legislature to pass a private bill repealing the act that established the City Trust Commission.

Mr. Mackay's letter recalled that the Trust had provided $125,000 for the purchase of property required for the new city hall. Interest for 1951 amounted to $5,000. These monies were to be repaid to the Trust from the sale of other lands owned by the city.

Trust proposes now that the $5,000 interest be cancelled, "and that the Trust be dissolved at Dec. 31, 1953, in view of the limited amount of sinking fund issues that will be outstanding".

Asks $3,500

The commission requests the council to pay them $3,500 "from the properties sold prior to Dec. 31, 1951, in full settlement of their claim".

The letter also asks, as a detail, "that as certain issues with coupons mature June 30 each year, and that the demand is not payable until the following Dec. 31, any advance made by the council to the Trust for payment of such amounts be made without interest".

The board recommended that a resolution be prepared for the council next week Monday authorizing the first step toward the termination of the Trust. It has not yet been decided at what session of the Legislature the city's bill would be introduced.

Began In 1861

Present members of the Trust are, Vincent Eastwood, chairman, A. A. McIntyre, James Hamilton, T. C. Ephgrave and Bert Cutmore.

City Trust Commission was established in 1861 when Peterborough was about to participate in the financing of the Port Hope, Lindsay and Beaverton Railway.

Its principal responsibility was to take care of the sinking funds which were required to repay loans obtained by debentures when they became due. In recent years, municipal practice in borrowings has been to substitute serial debentures for the sinking fund plan. And as the older debentures have been maturing, as explained by Mr. Mackay, the commission's responsibility to the city have been dwindling to a small balance of issues payable by sinking fund.

By the instalment or serial debenture plan, part of the principal is paid annually, with the interest, and is handled through the office of City Treasurer Couper.

The commission was also entrusted with the management of properties owned by the city. A few years ago that custody was transferred to the council itself, and its property committee. At present City Clerk Outram is manager of the city's realty.

Central Baby Clinics Re-open Thursday

The baby clinics held by the department of health which serve the central area of the city will be reopened Thursday afternoon.

These clinics have not been held since Dec. 14 due to lack of facilities. Previously they were held in the Turner house, former home of the department.

The new site for the baby clinics is in four rooms at the north end of the city hall basement. Included in the four rooms is a waiting and weighing-in room, two interviewing rooms and an examining room.

Eight City Girls Pass Skating Tests

Preliminary figure skating tests were passed by eight Peterborough girls and two girls from Orono, at the Peterborough Figure Skating Club this week.

The judges were Miss Dorothy Martin, Ernie Ferguson, Sr., and Mrs. Detrich.

The following passed the tests: Jane Bamforth, Wendy Collins, Miranda Davis, Barbara Fraser, Joan Lye, Susan Summers, Carole Smitheran, Ann Lynn Hamilton, all of Peterborough; Carolyn Jones and Bernice Lunn, both of Orono.

COOLING OFF in 90 degrees of heat, remember? This was only last year. Nine-year-old Skippy Mahood and his six-year old sister, Susie, donned their swimming suits and ducked into rubber raft wading pool in their own backyard at 322 Water St. to escape the midsummer heat. It's due to return in about five or six months.

George Coleman Dies; 48 Years In Business Here

George R. Coleman, 71, of 447 George St., well-known locally as a businessman, sportsman and vocalist, died Tuesday afternoon in hospital. His health had been poor for some time but his fatal illness came suddenly. He was up and around on Monday.

Mr. Coleman was born and educated in Wiltshire, England, and came to Peterborough in 1904. He entered the painting and decorating business and remained in that trade here for the rest of his life.

For many years the store of Coleman Bros., painting contractors, has been known to shoppers in this city. George Coleman was joined in 1906 by his brother Jesse who went back to England at the beginning of the First World War.

The original shop was at 445 George St. but was later moved to 447 George.

Two Other Brothers

For some time Mr. Coleman was also associated with two other brothers, Bill and Charles who ran a confectionery business at 446 George St.

Charles Coleman, retired and living at 121 Brock St., is the only one left in Canada of five English brothers who came out to this country shortly after 1900. Jesse went back to England and Bill, Edmund and now George are dead.

All five were associated with one or both businesses at some time.

Mr. Coleman was the son of the late Charles and Annie Coleman, Wiltshire.

He leaves his widow, the former Leonie Perkins; three sons: George W. of Peterborough and Harold P. and Robert P. of Toronto; a daughter Mrs. Jack Twigg (Phyllis), of Peterborough; two brothers, Charles of Peterborough and Jesse of Wiltshire; two sisters, Miss Annie Coleman of Peterborough and Mrs. Janet Dodds of Wiltshire. He also leaves four grandchildren.

Choral Singer

Mr. Coleman was a member of St. John's Anglican Church. He sang in the choir there for a number of years. And for 28 years he sang in the choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Always interested in choral work, he was with the Peterborough Male Voice Choir when it went to New York about 20 years ago.

Sports were another of Mr. Coleman's hobbies. For 28 years he was an active member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club. At one time he and his three sons made up a rink by themselves and won a number of trophies.

He was a onetime member of the Peterborough Cricket Club and just after the First World War he managed the Legion Soccer Club.

During the First World War he rose to the rank of sergeant in the 93rd Battalion, recruited in Peterborough, and he served overseas. He was a member of the Canadian Legion.

The funeral will be Jan. 31, 2 pm, at the Comstock funeral home with the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson officiating, assisted by the Rev. C. G. Boyd. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

STAY WITH FRIENDS

A bewildered 80-year-old couple, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wannamaker of Downer's Corners have not yet made any plans for the distant future. Tuesday afternoon their home for nearly 30 years—a two-storey frame house—burned down after stove pipes became overheated. At present they are staying at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Lyman of RR 6 Otonabee. Their salvaged furniture was stored across the road in the woodworking shop of Don Farrell.

Inspector Burned About Legs Stamping Fire

Robert Blair, 283 Lake Street, was burned about the legs and hips Tuesday when he tried to stamp out a flaming waste cloth at the CGE. He was admitted to the Civic Hospital shortly after 5 pm, and was described as in fair condition today.

The 46-year-old man is an inspector at the CGE and at 4:40 pm was working in the automatics department. He stopped to light a match and the fire started.

A cloth lying on a nearby bench was soaked with a flammable thinner. It is believed a spark, possibly from the match, landed on the cloth and it began to burn.

Blair threw the flaming cloth to the floor and tried to stamp the fire out. Then his trousers caught fire and he started to roll on the floor to smother the fire. This resulted in his legs and hips being burned.

Music Pioneer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Catherine C. Smith, who died recently at the age of 84, was a leader of the pioneer musical movement in Vancouver. Native of London, Ont., she took leading parts in many local productions of light opera. She is survived by her husband, two sons and four daughters.

Temperatures In City Hit 19 Below Zero

Temperatures dropped in the city Tuesday night to a new record low for the winter of 19 degrees below zero. At other points in the district, temperatures were higher than Monday night.

Apsley is still the coldest district point, with the mercury down to 29 degrees below— it was 30 below Monday night. Bethany second coldest Monday night with 24 below, had 13 below temperatures Tuesday night.

Predicted high for Thursday is about 30 degrees above, with today's high expected to be about 20. Some cloudiness is forecast for tonight and Thursday.

Dare we hope this was the last cold spell of the winter?

Board Names Harry Hamley

At a special meeting of the board of education on Tuesday night called immediately after a meeting of the committee of appointments assistant city clerk Harry L. Hamley was appointed to the administrative staff of the board.

At the present time K. S. Wightman is superintendent of schools and secretary-treasurer. Mr. Hamley will assist Mr. Wightman in business end of the administration.

Mr. Hamley was born in Red Deer, Alberta and is a graduate of the PCVS and the Peterborough Business College. He served in the army in the Second World War from 1940 to 1945 and rose in rank from private to major. For two years immediately following the war he was with the Department of Veterans' Affairs and in 1947 was appointed assistant city clerk. His salary is $3,500.

Canon Spencer Buried Saturday

ROSENEATH, Jan. 30 (ENS)—The funeral service for the late Canon Clarence Reginald Spencer, 70, prominent Anglican clergyman and soldier, was held at the St. John's Anglican Church, Port Hope, on Saturday at 3 pm. Canon Spencer's death in Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto, last Wednesday, following an illness of some months.

Son of an Anglican clergyman, the Rev. Percival Spencer, Canon Spencer was one of 10 children, nine of whom entered the service of the church. He was graduated from Trinity College in 1904 with an M.A.

His ministry included charges in Essonville, Young's Point, Millbrook, Shanty Bay, Bowmanville, Roseneath and Hastings Parish.

In World War I he went overseas as an army captain and saw active service in France and Belgium. In World War II he was chaplain at the German prisoners Camp at Bowmanville.

Four sons and five sons-in-law all saw active service, two sons-in-law paying the supreme sacrifice.

Canon Spencer was prominent in Masonic and Legion activities and his passing will be mourned by persons in all walks of life.

Forty-seven years ago he married Edith Maude Holmes who survives, as well as seven daughters, Mrs. Roy Melville (Hilda), Sidney BC; Mrs. D. B. Lockhart (Thelma) Toronto; Mrs. J. D. Oliver (Alixe) Shanty Bay, Ont.; Mrs. J. S. Ellis (Margaret) Montreal; Mrs. George Hale (Mary) Winnipeg; Mrs. John Brooks (Catherine) Toronto; Mrs. Ross Macklin (Betty) Fenella; four sons, Selby Spencer, Hamilton; Flt. Lieut. Thomas Spencer, Toronto; George Spencer, New Westminster, BC.; Capt. Charles Spencer, Camp Borden.

Also surviving are two brothers, the Rev. Ernest Spencer, Rochester, NY.; and Lancelot Spencer, Port Arthur; five sisters, Deaconess Ethel Spencer, Victoria, Texas; Mrs. H. A. Howell, Washington, DC.; Mrs. A. S. Maxwell, Brantford; Mrs. Cyril Goodier, Hamilton; Mrs. Hollis Corey, Honolulu.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. J. A. Crisall, rector of the church, assisted by Bishop A. R. Beverley, the Rev. G. H. Boulder, rector of St. Mark's Church, Porth Hope, with a large number of Anglican clergymen and laymen in the chancel and congregation. The members of Port Hope Legion and representatives of the Midland Regiment attended the service in a body.

Pallbearers were five sons-in-law; Messrs. D. B. Lockhart, J. D. Oliver, J. S. Ellis, John Brookes, Ross Macklin and a nephew, Christopher Spencer, carrying the flag-draped casket to the grave in St. John's Cemetery.

A color squad was present and a bugler sounded "Last Post" and "Reveille", paying final tribute.

"RUNNING WATER" is the order of the day at the Georges Forget home, in Montreal North. Police Lt. Alwin Hunt helps salvage belongings from the flooded home.

Believes Nash Too Outspoken

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP)—Prof. T. F. MacIlwraith, head of the Anthropology Department of the University of Toronto, said Tuesday that Philleo Nash, an adviser to President Truman, is an outspoken man who apparently has "got under McCarthy's skin."

United States Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep., Wis.) said Tuesday in the Senate that Nash was a former Communist and a close friend of a convicted Communist.

Nash in Washington Tuesday night termed the charge "a contemptible lie."

"We knew him (Nash) as an extremely able man," said Prof. MacIlwrait. "When I talked to him last year he seemed to have an amazing grasp of the US scene.

"We knew he had left-wing tendencies but they were certainly not extreme and not out of the ordinary. He was interested in social reform and strong-minded.

"I'm not surprised he is in trouble with a man of McCarthy's calibre."

Nash lectured at the Univeristy of Torontao in social anthropology and worked in archaeology at the Royal Ontario Museum from 1938 to 1940.

STREAMLINED CYCLING — A conventional cyclist in Berlin stops to stare at the radical design of the two-wheeler ridden by a young woman in the American sector of Berlin. Her bike, equipped with gear housing, mudguards and a well for packages was designed by Walter Rischer, a Czechoslovakian refugee.

Don't Intend To Send Troops

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 — (CP) — Military observers here said Tuesday night Canada has no plans to send more troops to Korea and this already has been indicated by Defence Minister Claxton.

At Vancouver on his return from Japan, Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, Chief of the Canadian General Staff, said Tuesday he had requests for more troops from the "usual sources" but he had given these requests no encouragement.

It is believed here Gen. Simonds was referring to suggestions he may have heard from field commanders in the Far East that more Canadian troops would not be unwelcome. It was recalled that Defence Minister Claxton on his recent trip to Korea got such a suggestion from Gen. James Van Fleet, the United Nations Commander in Korea.

Mr. Claxton has made no public comment on this suggestion. But he has indicated Canada will not commit further troops to Korea.

Miniature Models Of Pioneer Equipment

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP).—Ontario's "age of wood" lives again in a Royal Ontario Museum display of wooden miniature models of pioneer equipment.

The McCrea collection, with objects ranging from houses to butter-churns and drawbridges, has a prominent place in a current display of exhibits pertaining to Ontario.

The models, made by Mcn. McCrea, are workable. Windows go up and down. Spinning wheels spin wool. Wagon wheels turn.

W. E. Hanna, vice-president of the York Pioneer and Historical Society, said Tuesday at the opening of the exhibition that interest in local history is the easiest channel through which young persons can get an understanding of democracy and develop a faith in it.

Butcher Gives Advice

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP).—A butcher Tuesday told the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association what kind of pork he would like produced and how to produce it. Alf Hales of Guelph said producers should strive for a good fat-lean distribution in their pigs and produce more of the Wiltshire side type of bacon.

Old Indian Site

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP)—With its physicists at the University of Chicago, working with charcoal samples discovered at the Burley Indian site near Port Franks by Wilfrid Jury the University of Western Ontario were able to set the age of the old Indian site at between 2,500 and 3,000 years—oldest in Ontario.

Stork Interferes

VANCOUVER, Jan. 30 (CP) — A reluctant stork has prevented Fletcher Markle of Vancouver, movie director, radio actor and producer, from appearing in the CBC's Wednesday night production of "The Duel," by Joseph Conrad. Markle has refused to leave the bedside of his wife, actress Mercedes McCambridge, who is expecting a baby.

Conducted Tour

VICTORIA, BC, Jan. 30 (CP)—For $1, a visitor will be able to take a conducted tour of Vancouver's nudist colony this summer. Vancouver nudists have incorporated as a society with the object of providing "a private and secluded location for recreation and the practice of sunbathing" in Lynn Valley, north of the city.

400 Turkeys Burned

PRESTON, Jan. 30 — (CP). — Fire roared through a double barn on the turkey farm of Irvin C. From, Waterloo Township, Tuesday night. Damage was estimated at $32,000 before it burned itself out. Mr. From said the blaze wiped out about 400 breeder turkey hens of a blood line he had been developing for 14 years.

High Car Tax

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP).—C. R. Howell, vice-president of the Federation of Automobile Dealer Associations of Canada, on Tuesday told the East Toronto Optomists Club that the tax on a car today is $500 compared to $95 in 1939 and $95 in the United States today.

EDMONTON, Jan. 30—(CP)—A group of Edmonton security dealers Tuesday announced plans to organize an Edmonton stock exchange. An initial membership of about 50 will be sought.

First Person Tried Under 106-Year Law

DETROIT, Jan. 30 — (CP). — Willard Cagle, 27, Tuesday won the distinction of being the first person ever tried under a 106-year-old Michigan law which forbids winning at gambling.

A Recorder's Court jury acquitted him in three minutes. Cagle was accused of winning $353 from his employer, a gasoline station owner, in a dice game.

Said defence Attorney Frank MacLean: "Everyone in this court room probably has violated this Act—except me. I always lose."

Children Turned Against Greece

PARIS, Jan. 29 — (AP). — Greece today accused five Communist countries of trying to turn Greek children taken into their countries into fighters against Greece.

Alexis Kyrou told the special political committee of the United Nations Assembly that soon it might be too late to bring back the children taken out of Greece during guerilla warfare in 1947-1948 and lodged in Iron Curtain countries.

The General Assembly has asked the five Communist countries —Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Poland — to join in a conference with the International Red Cross to discuss return of hundreds of the children.

Yugoslavia began repatriating Greek children after its break with the Cominform and does not figure in the present negotiations.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Ex-Derelict Named Chicagoan Of Year

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 — (AP). — A man who described himself as a one-time derelict of Detroit's skid row was named Chicagoan of the year Monday. He is Capt. Thomas Crocker, commanding officer of the Salvation Army's Harbor Light Corps.

Crocker was cited for his selfless devotion to saving human souls. It is estimated he has rehabilitated 5,000 derelicts.

Virtual Slave

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Jan. 30 (AP)—Xavier Cugat "kept me in a state of virtual slavery," Lorraine Cugat testified Tuesday in obtaining a divorce from the bandleader on grounds of mental cruelty. Mrs. Cugat, 33, herself a rhumba band leader said that when they were dancing together he would smile and pinch her or dig his nails into her hands and call her sweet names.

Exposing Policy

MOSCOW, Jan. 30 (CP)—Omsomol Pravda, organ of the young Communist league, Tuesday said Canadian students are exposing the policy of their reactionary leaders and American inspirers attempting to obstruct development of friendly relations between youth of Canada and Russia. "In many Canadian universities, discussions . . . clearly show a tremendous desire among Canadian students to establish co-operation with the youth of the Soviet Union."

INFANTRY

(QUEEN OF BATTLES)

Modern inventions have not taken away from the Infantry its all-important part in victory. Again and again, in the battles of 1939-45 and in Korea, Infantry has proved itself — "Queen of Battles". The job of the infantryman has become tougher, more complex. He must be able to handle more weapons and to meet a greater variety of situations in defence and attack.

To attain the specialist rank of Leading Infantryman and the extra pay that goes with it, calls for intensive training in many varied subjects. For the Canadian Infantry Soldier is one of the most thoroughly trained men in our army. He ranks with the finest fighting men in the world.

More men are needed right away to serve with the Infantry — the most important men in the Canadian Army.

Manitoba Finds Answer To New Wheat Rust Threat

WINNIPEG, Jan. 30—(CP)—Plant scientists for years have been searching for a solution to Race 15B, a new and dreaded wheat rust threatening prairie crops.

Manitoba experimenters say they have found the answer—in their own backyard.

Experiments are conducted under the direction of Dr. R. F. Peterson in charge of the laboratory of cereal breeding at nearby Fort Garry. It may take two years to develop wheat strains to combat the new red scourge.

If weather conditions favor rust development during the next two years the west may again see rusted wheat crops comparable or worse than those of 1935. Rust in 1935 is estimated to have cost eastern prairie farmers 87,000,000 bushels of wheat, worth at today's prices nearly $175,000,000.

Manitoba researchers in developing a wheat strain to combat the new rust used McMurachy wheat first discovered in a field at Pipestone, Man., about 50 miles south of Brandon. After a series of crossing McMurachy with other types—Exchange, Thatcher and Redman—it was tested for milling qualities and its resistance to rust.

Pass All Tests

The result was not a good milling grade but it was able to resist Race 15B. By crossing the new wheat with good milling brands, scientists have bred new strains which pass all tests.

But time remains an important factor. Many months must pass before sufficient seed can be made available to grain growers. Large-scale tests must be made before milling and baking qualities can finally be assured.

A dry and unusually cold winter in southern Texas, where rust spores develop, saved Canadian wheat last year from an infestation which might have been disastrous.

The new wheat rust—Race 15B—was first discovered in the early 40s and has been spreading rapidly, a threat to all commercial wheat grown in North America. Last year it was plentiful in 19 states south of the Canadian border and appeared in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but not in Alberta.

Canadian wheat is the last on the continent to be planted. It is a ready target for rust spores riding air currents from the south. Spores have been trapped as high as 20,000 feet.

Soviet Paper Says US Forced Changeover

MOSCOW, Jan. 30—(AP)—Izvestia, organ of the Soviet Government, asserted today that the United States had forced King Farouk to change Egypt's government, replacing Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha by Aly Maher Pasha.

The Soviet paper said American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery, in an interview with Farouk the day before Nahas Pasha was dismissed, ordered Farouk to appoint Aly Maher Pasha as premier in his place.

Steel Production In US Plants Hits High Rate

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The United States is producing steel at the rate of about 108,000,000 net tons a year.

What one day's production of this means in terms of products, was graphically illustrated in an address Tuesday night by George S. Rose, secretary of the American Iron and Steel Institute. One day's production (about 288,000 tons) would, he said, provide steel for all of the following:

One aircraft carrier, two heavy cruisers, two cargo ships, two tankers, 500 airplanes, 2,000 aerial bombs, 1,000 anti-aircraft guns, 1,000 howitzers, 500 tanks, 500,000 three-inch shells, 1,000 freight cars, 2,000 homes, 2,000 trucks, 12,000 automobiles, 20,000 household refrigerators, 20,000 gas ranges, with 25,000 tons left over.

The US expects to be producing 120,000,000 tons a year by 1954, while Canada, now producing around 4,000,000 tons, is heading for the 5,000,000 mark.

Other Comments

Mr. Rose, who addressed the Canadian Wholesale Hardware Association at the Seigniory Club, Que., had some other graphic comments. Speaking of the fast pace of 20th century history, he said:

"Those of us born around the turn of the century have seen, in one short lifetime, the fall of the old Chinese Empire and of the Turkish, Spanish, Austrian-Hungarian, German, Russian and Japanese Empires. We have seen the tragic weakening of Britain and France.

"In the resulting vacuum of power that has ensued, a great new empire in the east is rising with extraordinary speed; it had declared itself our enemy; and it is unexepectedly showing that genius for organization of men and resources which is one of the fundamental requirements for power.

Big Undertaking

"In China alone, for instance, we are told that the Communists have organized 5,000,000 workers on one single project—the control of the waters of the Whai River."

Speaking of Canada's international contributions, Mr. Rose commented:

"You have advanced almost $7,000,000,000 to other nations, in aids and loans, between 1939 and 1951. You have not beat the tom-toms about this, or boasted of it."

"But it is quite as much, in proportion to your gross national product, as the enormous foreign aid that has been extended by the United States. It amounts to about one-third of your gross annual product of $21,000,000,000.

"The United States has advanced something over $100,000,000,000 in foreign aid during about thhe same period. This, similarly, totals about one-third of our gross annual product of $300,000,000,000.

Order Locomotives

KINGSTON, Jan. 30 — (CP).—The Canadian Locomotive Company here has received an order for a dozen 1,600-horse-power diesel locomotives for the Canadian Pacific Railway and four similar locomotives for Canadian National Railways.

Turn Down Request

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—The United States Army said on Tuesday night that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo turned down a request by the American Federation of Labor for permission to set up an office in occupied Japan.

PREACHED IN WINNIPEG—A. C. Valdez, Jr., of Phoenix, Ariz., who has been touring Western Canada with his father conducting a "revival and healing campaign," said he is willing to return to Winnipeg to co-operate with police in their investigation of the slaying of seven-year-old Marie Louise McCullough. Valdez, now in Toronto to hold further revival meetings, said in an interview that "in no way, either directly or indirectly," had he exercised any influence over the girl's foster-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gavin McCullough, who have been charged with murdering the youngster. The couple are reported to have attended several meetings held by Valdez during his two weeks in Winnipeg.

Report Russell Under Pressure To Be Candidate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Southern Democrats today were reported putting heavy pressure on Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia to enter the party's presidential race.

At the same time, Senator Burton Maybank (Dem., SC) heatedly denied that Russell's backers are out "to stop" Senator Estes Kefauver (Dem., Tenn.), President Truman or any other Democrat. Kefauver is the only avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Truman has given no hint of his presidential plans. But Democratic National chairman Frank McKinney said Tuesday the President has given no hint that he is considering anyone other than himself as his party's aspirant for the presidency.

"I hope Senator Rssell will allow us to nominate him," Maybank told a reporter. "His friends are not limited to Southern Democrats."

Recall Walkout

The activity among Southern Democrats recalled the walkout staged at the 1948 convention—by all 22 Mississippi delegates and half of the 26 Alabama delegates.

Other southerners stayed behind to pile up 263 votes for Russell while President Truman won the nomination with 947½ votes.

Later, Southern Democrats nominated J. Strom Thurmond, then governor of South Carolina, as an independent and he polled 39 electoral votes in November. President Truman won with 303 to 189 for Republican Thomas E. Dewey, Governor of New York.

Kefauver, former chairman of the Senate Crime-Busting Committee, told a New York press conference yesterday he is "not running against Mr. Truman or anyone else, but only on my own views."

"And I have great hopes of winning," the Senator said.

Kefauver said there "are many things that should be done both by the executive department and Congress to clean up corruption."

Notes Weakness In Drama Entry

WINNIPEG, Jan. 30—(CP)—A left-handed compliment was given the Newman Club of the University of Manitoba Tuesday night for their presentation of "Three Men On a Horse," a Broadway farce.

Pierre Lefevre, British adjudicator, said he enjoyed the evening "immensely," but there had been a number of pitfalls for an amateur cast. The presentation, in many respects, lacked a third-dimensional quality.

The play, by the American autors John Cecil Holm and George Abbott, is about a greeting card writer who has a lucky knack of picking the winners at the race tracks and falls in with a group of professional gamblers.

It was the first entry to be presented in the Manitoba Regional Drama Festival. "Medea," adapted from Euripedes' work by the American poet, Robinson Jeffers, will be presented Thursday night.

UK Motorists To Wait Till 1962 For Cars

LONDON, Jan. 30 — (CP) — British motorists ordering a new automobile this year may have to wait until 1962 for delivery, car experts estimated today.

This is one result of Britain's new pay-or-perish economic program outlined Tuesday by the chancellor of the exchequer, R. A. Butler, to increase overseas exports, cars for the home market will be trimmed to 60,000 compared with deliveries last year of more than 110,000.

Persons who have already been waiting six years will probably have to do without for another two or three years.

Second-hand cars, which already bring prices ranging upward from £1,000, are not expected to go much higher.

One pained reaction to the economy program, as quoted by The Daily Express: "I worked it out that when I get my new car I'll have to trade it in for a wheel-chair. . ."

Conniving Cleopatra

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (CP) — Rosemary Williamson, attractive brunette showgirl, was awarded $2,500 Tuesday by a judge who called her a conniving "Cleopatra" who didn't deserve a cent. The money was an insurance award for Miss Williamson's stolen fur coat and diamond ring—part of gifts lavished on her by an admirer, Sidney Levy, who swindled his business associates of $53,000 to spend on her.

Grant Contract

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP) — Over the objections of Mayor Allan Lamport, the Canadian National Exhibition's board of directors Tuesday agreed to renew the midway contract of J. W. (Patty) Conklin for five years. The mayor had criticized granting the midway concessions without requiring would-be concession holders to bid openly.

Elected President

OTTAWA, Jan. 30—(CP)—E. R. (Ernie) McFarland, president of the Lethbridge Flying Club and prominent Lethbridge business man, Tuesday was elected president of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association. Other officials chosen included: Central Zone, G. C. McDonald, Brant-Norfolk Flying Club.

35 Horses Burned

GRANBY, Que., Jan. 30 (CP)—Thirty-five horses were burned to death Tuesday night in a fire that levelled the barn of Omer Desland near this eastern townships centre.

Senator Honored

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP).—Senator A. C. Hardy of Brockville Tuesday was presented with a constructive breeder award by Floyd Johnston of Columbus, Ohio, secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Clubs.

234,000 Will Receive Pension Cheques Thursday

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (CP) — The postman Thursday will deliver more than $9,000,000 to thousands of Ontario homes.

The money is in cheques for 234,000 of the province's older men and women, the first monthly payment in the old age security plan.

The cheques are for $40 each. They have been handed to postmasters for mailing in order that they can be delivered on the same date, Jan. 31.

Officials of the Federal Health and Welfare Department's old age security division said today that for the Ontario region alone applications for new pensions and transfers from previous old age pensions totalled 237,000. All but 3,000 have been approved for age and residence. When these are proved, as long as the application was in before Dec. 31, the pensioner will not lose the January payment caused by the time taken in proving eligibility.

Some applications, however, were received in January. Although the persons now are 70, pensions cannot begin until the month following receipts of the application at the regional office.

Applicants over 70 should send in their forms immediately and not wait until proof of age is obtained. This will protect the applicant from loss of benefit. Persons should apply as soon as they reach 69½ years of age. The intervening time can be used to make sure they obtain a birth certificate, baptismal certificate or other proof of age.

More than 15,000 family Bibles, pictures, scrolls, books of record and other documents have been received at the regional office as proofs of age. Other items have included family heirlooms. Presentation watches and even a ceremonial shawl embroidered with the marriage dates of the brides of one family for more than 160 years. All items are examined and returned to the applicant as quickly as possible.

Pensioners must notify the regional director of old age security, 122 Front Street West, Toronto, of changes of address, to ensure safe and prompt delivery of cheques.

Pensioners leaving Canada should let the regional director know immediately so that their rights during absence can be protected.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Serving Cheese Souffle In Special-Purpose Menu

"Sister-Cook's" cheery letter prompted this Special-Purpose menu:

"Dear Mary: Sometimes I think you are full of blarney—I love blarney so this is a compliment. You never seem to be stuck for an idea and you seem to really love your readers. I would love to meet you. Tell, me Mary, when you are absolutely stuck (if you ever let yourself get that way) for money, and your husband's pay cheque is not due until the next day—what do you serve for dinner? You must have some never-fail things to fall back on—that are not pork and beans!...Sister Cook.

Isn't it a darling letter? She sees right through me.

Today's menu is my answer to Sister Cook:

Tomato Juice
Cheese Souffle
Baked Potatoes
Creamed Green Celery
Apple or Rhubarb Crumb
Coffee

Directions:

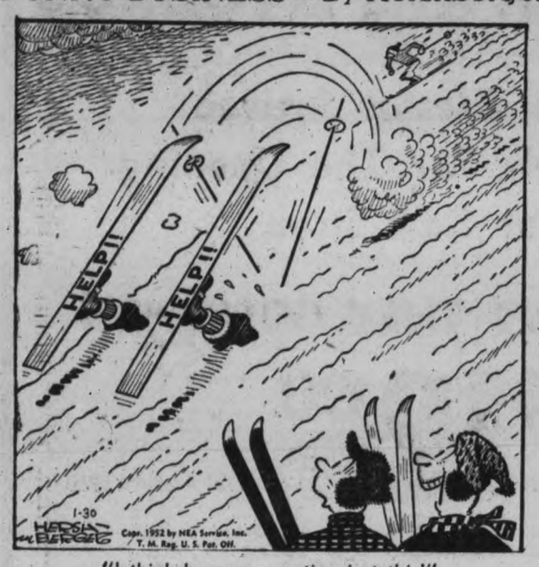
There are several ways to make Cheese Souffle but this is the basic one: Put on to heat in top of double boiler ½ lb. processed cheese cut up, and 2 cups whole milk. Meanwhile separate yolks and whites of 3 eggs. Beat the whites until stiff, then without cleaning off the beater beat the yolks. By this time milk is hot. Stir into it a mixture of 3 tablespoons flour or cornstarch and 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine. Stir until thick. Pour a little of this over the beaten yolks and stir to mix. Stir yolks into cheese sauce. Fold whites into cheese sauce. Pour into buttered baking dish and bake at 375 deg. Fahr.

The potatoes should be baked at 450 deg. Fahr. for one-half hour before the souffle goes in and the temperature is then reduced to 375. This high temperature for baked potatoes makes the flesh sweet and the jacket crisp. The souffle will fall regardless of how soon you serve it after it is baked—but it requires about 30 to 35 minutes.

The green celery comes from one of those very large heads of green celery, and consists of the outer 8 stalks, cleaned and cut into ½-inch pieces. Cook until barely tender. Reserve liquid for soup pot. Make a cream sauce as I have described to you hundreds of times, using butter and salt and pepper to taste.

The reason I suggest apple or rhubarb crumb is because I and quite a few of the readers have canned their own rhubarb—and because apples we can buy all winter.

Apple Or Rhubarb Crumb



In bottom of buttered baking dish slice about 6 Spy apples or put about 4 cups raw or 1 quart canned rhubarb. (If rhubarb is sweetened amount of sugar in topping should be reduced.) Mix together 1 cup flour, 2-3 cup brown sugar, and 1-3 cup margarine or butter and ½ teaspoon nutmeg, until it is a fine crumbly mix. Press this over the fruit. This will bake in about ¾ of the time the potatoes require. If it is baked alone in the oven give it 1 hour at 375 deg. Fahr.

When you sum up the ingredients needed for this dinner you will see that most of us can or do have tomato juice on hand; if you do not have processed cheese you could grate ends of old cheddar cheese, and will be glad to get rid of them. If you are like me you are forever having to find ways of using up those coarse celery stalks.

Come again, Sister Cook.

Painful Cramps of "Monthly Periods" halted or strikingly relieved in 3 out of 4 cases in test by doctors!

• Women and girls who suffer from those functionally-caused cramps, backaches and headaches of menstruation — who feel upset and irritable on certain "particular days" — may often be suffering quite unnecessarily!

Such is the conclusion from tests by doctors in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound gave complete or striking relief from such distress in 3 out of 4 of the cases tested!

Modern in action!

Yes! Medical evidence shows Lydia Pinkham's Compound is thoroughly modern in action. It strikes directly at the cause of menstrual pain!

The effectiveness of Lydia Pinkham's needs no proof to the millions of women and girls whom it has benefited. But how about you? Do you know what it may do for you?

Take Lydia Pinkham's through the month. See if you don't get the same relief from the pains and weakness of "those days"! See if you don't feel better before and during your period!

Get either Lydia Pinkham's Compound, or new, improved Tablets (With added iron). Both are grand, too, for those "hot flashes" and nervous feelings of "change of life"!

Don't suffer needlessly . . . when relief may be so near!

Lydia Pinkham's has a quieting effect on the uterine contractions (see chart) which often cause menstrual pain!

Mrs. V. A. Selkirk and her curlers, Mrs. H. R. Scott, Mrs. M. Holt and Mrs. J. Watts came very close to the finals in the Tankard bonspiel at Hamilton Tuesday but were eliminated in a 13-11 quarter final win by Mrs. C. Gooch of Hamilton Victoria Club. Mrs. Selkirk was leading 13-4 going into the ninth end. Mrs. E. H. Northey of Lakefield won her quarter-final game when she skipped her rink to an 11-6 win over a Midland quartet.

At St. Andrew's YPU weekly meeting Tuesday night the worship was in charge of stewardship convener Miss Ellen Murphy. A short play on Stewardship was dramatized with Misses Hope Douglas and Ellen Murphy and Albert Strode and Ronald Peltz taking part. Business was then discussed and three new members were presented. After a half hour of recreation lunch was served by Misses Margaret Forbes and Rolene James. The meeting on February 5th will feature a film and speaker on cancer. All members and friends of the church are invited.

✧ ✧ ✧

The YWCA Senior Swim Club held a special meeting Tuesday evening to meet Miss Mary Barker, health education secretary of National YWCA, who was introduced by the president Mrs. A. Gariepy. Miss Barker watched the work of the swimmers in the pool and during the meeting made valuable suggestions. She was quite interested in the part the Club is taking in teaching handicapped children to swim. Refreshments were served in the new club room by Mrs. E. G. Baker and Mrs. W. E. Westman, assisted by Mrs. S. Constable and Mrs. K. Pilkington.

George St. YPU held their weekly meeting Monday evening, in the Sunday school auditorium. The worship service was conducted by the citizenship and community service convener, Mrs. Florence Murray on the theme "The Beatitudes." Miss Dorothy Somerville read the scripture and Miss Noreen Foster read a poem. Mrs. Murray told a story, read poems and offered prayer. Miss Marion Brown, president, conducted a very lively sing-song, with Shirley Starke at the piano and also conducted a business meeting. Recreation was led by Miss Dorothy Leslie. The refreshments were served by the group in charge

Follow Speaker's Thought

Mark St. WMS regular meeting was held in the church parlor on Tuesday afternoon with president Mrs. A. E. DeNure in the chair. The opening poem read by the president and the hymn were in keeping with the thought expressed by Mrs. J. R. Seaman at Presbyterial meeting last week "That love be the main factor in all WMS work." An interesting letter of thanks from an orphan boy in Greece was read. He had received clothing in a WMS bale. Annual reports given by secretary Mrs. James Finnie and treasurer Mrs. A. Scriver were indicative of a very successful year. Mrs. E. Dinner reported for community friendship, Mrs. A. Roberts for supply, Mrs. A. J. Throop for Christian citizenship, Mrs. A. Macklin for Christian stewardship and Mrs. E. King for literature. An interesting report of the mission Band was given by Mrs. H. Green and Mrs. Lloyd Rowland gave an account of work accomplished by the Baby Band Mothers. Mrs. Scriver reported for Mission Circle. Mrs. J. mes Hunter was in charge of the worship service, discussing the problem of French Protestants in Quebec. Ladies taking part were Mrs. Wm. Pomeroy, Mrs. C. Brackenridge, Mrs. K. Seavis, Mrs. E. Van Allen and Mrs. King. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Floyd Samis. Mrs. Hunter conducted a short quiz before the meeting was closed.

Sleigh-Ride Arranged

Weekly meeting of the Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's Anglican Church was held Tuesday in the parish hall.

At the meeting each member drew a floor plan of the church interior as part of their churchmanship study, under the leadership of Rev. J. A. Purser.

Final arrangements were made for a sleigh ride party, to be held this Friday night. Members are to meet at the home of Leader Mrs. W. C. Boate, Antrim St., at seven o'clock.

Following the sleigh ride they are to be entertained at the home of the honorary president Mrs. T. H. Floyd. Miss Margaret Stevenson is in charge of the supper party and games, and Miss Gwen Sorby and Mrs. Boate are in charge of the sleigh ride.

With approval of the board the following members will be recommended for Badges of Service at the Ontario Division annual meeting shortly: Miss Florence Gladman, Mrs. E. Riley, Mrs. C. B. Neal, Mrs. H. Rennie, Miss M. White and Miss J. Buck.

3 Locals Enter Popular Bonspiel At Quebec Club

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Jan. 29 — One of Eastern Canada's largest and most popular gathering of women curlers opens here at the Seigniory Club Thursday morning with first round play in the twenty-first annual irons bonspiel for the Sewell trophy. Play will continue throughout Friday and Saturday (Feb. 1-2) with semi finals and final round and consolation finals scheduled for Sunday (Feb. 3)

One hundred and fifty-two curlers representing clubs in Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, Ottawa, Peterborough, Montebello, PQ, Brookline, Mass., Perth, Sherbrooke, PG, Hawkesbury, Morrisburg, Vankleek Hill, Pembroke, Lachute, PQ, and Buckingham, PQ, all wearing their distinctive club colors and badges will enliven the Seigniory's indoor curling rink. Each of the 38 rinks entered will play three 10-end games, no team counting more than a plus of 10 points in one victory. The four rinks with highest margin of score in three wins will play to a finalist for the Sewell trophy; the two rinks with highest net margin of score with two wins will play to a finalist for first consolation; the two rinks with highest net margin of score with one win will play to a finalist for second consolation, the two rinks with lowest margin in three games lost will play to finalist for third consolation. A draw will be made each day.

Mrs. M. C. Code's Toronto High Park rink will defend the famous trophy and Mrs. L. B. Unwin, Royal Montreal, recent winner of the Coronation trophy, has entered a rink. Mrs. Unwin's rink won the Sewell trophy in 1950 breaking a long monopoly by Toronto Granite players who had won it successively for nine previous years. Toronto Granite players' names are also on the handsome silver trophy, replica of a curling stone, for 1933, 1937 and 1938 respectively. It was put up for annual competition in 1932 by the late W. B. Sewell, whose country residence was at the Seigniory Club. Royal Montreal curlers were winners in 1939 and 1950 respectively.

Three rinks from Peterborough Curling Club are entering the competition. One is skipped by Mrs. T. F. Doughty who was eliminated in the Tankard bonspiel at Hamilton on Monday, and one by Mrs. G. A. Wood who was a member of Mrs. Doughty's rink at Hamilton.

Players on these rinks at the Seigniory Club will be Mrs. J. Fanning, Mrs. J. Wocker, Mrs. R. Bastable, Mrs. H. R. Scott, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. E. Riley, Mrs. C. Coons of Lakefield, Mrs. F. Patterson and Mrs. H. Inman.

Install Officers Ex-Servicewomen At Armouries

Annual installation of officers of the Elizabeth Smellie Branch 452 (Ex-Servicewomen's of the Canadian Legion took place Monday evening in the Gunner's Mess at the Armouries. Zone Commander Cy Hopkins was assisted in the ceremony by Mr. Hurrell Dodds, secretary-treasurer of Branch 52. Following are the officers and committee chairmen installed:

President Miss Irma Allen (reelected); firse vice president, Miss Edna Rule; second vice president, Miss Helen McFarlane; treasurer, Miss Esther Might corresponding secretary, Miss Grace Simpson; recording secretary, Miss Irene Vivash; welfare and poppy fund representative, Miss Barbara Waters and Mrs. Belle Merrett; entertainment, Mrs. Pat Vaisey; sergeant-at-arms, Mrs. Belle Merrett; bulletin editor, Mrs. Vaisey; standard bearer, Mrs. Lyle Thornington; telephone convener, Mrs. Alice Morin.

Mr. Hopkins told members if they will strive to build up the organization during 1952 by contacting and interesting an ex-servicewoman in the city, they can at least double the membership.

A resolution was passed in an endeavour to secure for the legion lists of all men and women enlisting in the three armed services. These records to be used by the Canadian Legion for memorial centre nominal rolls and other Legion projects. Mr. Dodds said that only a small percentage of names had been forwarded in answer to repeated requests to ex-servicemen and women.

After the general business meeting members were entertained by Miss Grace Simpson who showed colored pictures of the Royal visit at Trenton and also pictures in the United States, Mexico and in Peterborough.

Lunch was served by the refreshments committee.

DOROTHY DIX

Let Resentful Mate Go Considered Good Advice

DEAR MISS DIX: I went steady with my husband for four years, then we had to get married. Now we have a darling baby. I am considered attractive, and a good housekeeper.

My husband left us five months ago—when the baby was two months old. We haven't been divorced because he has neither the grounds nor the money for a divorce. I love my husband, but his eyes have turned to another woman, who is 14 years his senior. He is 27, I am 19. This affair has gone on for three years, but I thought after we were married things would be different. They work together, so actually he sees her more than he sees me. When I phone him, he won't talk to me and doesn't come near me or the baby. I know we are through, but just can't believe it's happening.

Now there's another fellow who has known me for five years but I was too wrapped up in my husband to give him a chance. He is willing to pay for my divorce if I will marry him after it. He is only 21, so I wonder if he can take on the responsibilities of a ready-made family. Will appreciate your help very much.

BETTY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your life up to this point has been a series of very foolish and very tragic mistakes. Unfortunately, you don't seem to learn by experience and are apparently bent on continuing along the same lines. Your very well-written letter shows sound evidence of intelligence, which is not borne out by your actions.

Serious Mistakes

The fact that you entered into an intimate relationship with a man, knowing him to be in love with someone else, was a circumstance that couldn't possibly lead to anything but disaster for you. At that, you're very fortunate he married you and at least gave your baby a name. At 14 you were altogether too young to be going steady—another circumstance with inevitable tragic results. How you can continue to love a man who has treated you so shabbily is more than I can see.

You are now in a situation where you know you cannot regain your husband. I won't say "regain his love", for I don't think you ever had it. No man could love a girl and treat her as he has treated you. Having been literally forced into marriage, and not too gracefully I'll warrant, your reluctant bridegroom took the first opportunity to strike off the shackles. Most unwilling husbands do. By going through a legal ceremony they self-righteously feel they have paid off all debts to child and mother.

You have been very conclusively shown just what your husband thinks of you; there's nothing left out to accept his decision. Running after him, telephoning, etc., will avail nothing. Better leave him alone and figure out how you can conduct your own life, and your child's, to happiness. This you will not do by piling another mistake on top of those already made. Don't begin to plan on your next husband until you have been made free of your present one. If you feel that divorce is the only solution for you, consult he Legal Aid Society or the Family Service Association in your community for assistance. Give yourself a few years before thinking about marriage, which would be adding just one more tragic mistake to a life that has already had too many.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: My husband complains that I chase his friends from our house. When I married, I gave up my business acquaintances, friends and most of my relatives because they disapproved of my marriage. We moved to another section of town and now I find my husband's friends unongenial. They talk about my in-laws when they come here, never say anything good about anyone, and say disparaging things about my husband in a language that he doesn't understand but I do. I've tried to get him interested in church affairs and would like to get him started in a business of our own, but he's afraid to venture into anything new. URGENT.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are on the right track in coming to a solution of your problems and I can only urge you to keep at it. Your husband needs a new group of friends with a better outlook on life, and he needs encouragement to get him out of his business rut. This he will not get from his present cronies. They, being in the same sort of rut, enjoy seeing people equally unambitious. You have the job of getting your husband ahead. Perhaps you could mend the breach with some of your former friends; their example might lift your husband from his lethargy.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have known Roy for the past five years. At one time we went steady. After we broke off he married, now he is getting a divorce. I have been out with him a few times lately but now when he phones he just asks what I am doing, never wants to take me out. I admit I care a lot for him and am hoping he will return the feeling.—W. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Why get yourself so tangled up in what has all the appearance of an absolutely futile affection? To care for a married man who at least shows you some attention would be understandable; to pine away for one who practically ignores you is a foolish waste of your youth. Forget this fellow and find yourself a more stable beau.

What's Right?

Your child tells you another child's parents have asked him to go somewhere with them.

WRONG: Let him go without looking into the matter.

RIGHT: Get in touch with the parents to find out if they have made the plans—since children often extend invitations without consulting their parents first.

6—In Memoriam

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of mother dear, who passed away three years ago today.
In my heart your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true;
There's not a day, dear mother,
I do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by her daughter Grace and family.

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of my wife, Mrs. T. B. Griffin, who passed away three years ago today.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory fond and true,
Just a token of affection,
And a heartache still for you.
More and more each day we miss you,
Though our thoughts are not revealed,
Little do they know the sorrow
That is within our hearts concealed.
—Sadly missed by her loving husband Tom.

GRIFFIN—In loving memory of my dear mother, Mrs. T. B. Griffin, who passed away three years ago today, January 30th.
The rolling stream of life goes on,
But still the empty chair
Reminds us of the face, the smile,
Of one who once sat there.
—Ever remembered by her daughter Lou, Wib and family.

THROOP—In loving memory of Mrs. Wilfred A. Throop, who passed away January 31st, 1951.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died one year ago.
—Always remembered by husband and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital, attending nurses, clergy, doctor, blood donors and the many kind friends who helped my brother in any way during his lengthy illness. Also those who gave floral and spiritual tokens and cards of sympathy during the loss of my dear brother Bert. — Mrs. Laura "Duffus" Cooke.

Mr. F. C. Wallwork wishes to express his thanks to the attending doctors, also the nurses, orderlies and general help of the Peterborough Civic Hospital, and to all friends and neighbours for their visits and cards and gifts during his recent stay there.

Radio Device Plots Air Course For Jet

LONDON, Jan. 30 (Reuters)—The society of British aircraft constructors today revealed details of a new radio device said to make child's play of high-speed jet navigation.

It automatically draws the aircraft's course on the pilot's map and shows him exactly where he is at any time.

The gadget, undergoing tests at a seven-mile altitude, will be used on the world's first jet airliner, The Luxury Comet, due to go into routine service next spring.

By picking up signals from a series of ground stations, the automatic navigator—known as the Decca flight log—can plot a course accurately at up to 1,500 miles an hour.

If conditions are good it can guide a pilot to within 250 yards of the end of the airport runway, the society said.

Australia Expects 150,000 New Settlers

CANBERRA, Australia, Jan. 30 (Reuters)—Immigration Minister Harold Holt said today 63,000 British immigrants will be among the 150,000 new settlers Australia expects this year.

But, he told a citizenship convention here: "If there are people in Australia who are prepared to nominate British migrants and to provide accommodation, the only limit is that imposed by the amount of shipping to bring them all."

Holt, addressing a citizenship convention, said the immigration plan called for 25,000 assisted Dutch migrants, 15,000 to 20,000 assisted Italian migrants, 12,000 other West Europeans, and 30,000 to 35,000 non-British migrants paying their own way.

Friends Give Party For Newlyweds

NORWOOD, Jan. 30 (ENS)—Friends in the community gave a shower for Mr. and Mrs. John D. Barrie at their home Friday evening. Guests were present from Omemee, Havelock, Norwood and district.

The evening was spent in games, dancing, with music supplied by Mr. and Mrs. David Nixon. Mrs. Gardiner Gawley and Randle Vansickle. Mrs. Garnet Baptie read an address, while Keith Thompson and Harold Van Volkenburg presented the young couple with a gift of money. After lunch dancing was resumed.

Hog Producer Says Consumers Being Tricked

MANCHESTER, Ont., Jan. 30 (CP)—A prominent hog producer says "shabby tricks" are being used to prevent consumers from getting choice bacon and pork products for which they are paying.

Charles McGinnis, president of the Ontario Hog Producers Association, said Tuesday the tricks include disguising fat by wrapping bacon or pork in colored cellophane.

(In Toronto Tuesday, Alf Hales, Guelph butcher, also was critical of the common red-striped wrappers on bacon. He told the Canadian Swine Breeders Asosciation that any bacon looks good under the red stripes and suggested: "Let the product sell itself.")

Mr. McGinnis, also chairman of the Hog Producers Marketing Board, told the annual meeting of the Ontario County Hog Producers that the rigid system of grading under which the hog producer sells his animal is not carried through to the consumer. It should be the responsibility of producer organizations to press for this on every level, he added.

More than 75 producers heard Mr. McGinnis reaffirm the need for a central marketing agency for hogs in order to break what he said was the stranglehold the packing companies have on an $85,000,00 industry.

Delegates decided to make an effort to limit production this year to reduce market surplus.

Canadians May Sue Over Land Damage

HAMILTON, Jan. 30 (CP). — Property owners along the Canadian shore of Lake Ontario may join with United States landowners whose property borders the US side of the lake in suing the Canadian Government for "millions of dollars" for damage to land through high water level of the lake.

The suits will be based on a provision in the 1920 treaty between the United States and Canada covering the construction of Gut Dam in the St. Maurice River near Ogdensburg. This provision, it is claimed, permits US citizens to sue for damages to property caused by construction or operation of the dam.

The US landowners claim the Lake Ontario level has been raised at least eight inches through operation of the Gut Dam and that this is definitely a contributing factor to the very heavy erosion damage along both US and Canadian shores.

Frost, Winters Meet To Discuss Housing

TORONTO, Jan. 30 — (CP) — Premier Frost of Ontario and Federal Reconstruction Minister Winters met here today in an attempt to stimulate construction in the province and alleviate the housing shortage.

It was understood that Mr. Frost, who for some time has been urging the federal government to relax restrictions on housing materials, also would seek relaxation of present credit restrictions on building materials.

Before the meeting, Mr. Frost said: "We propose to talk over the whole situation in a general way."

Roy King

HASTINGS, Jan. 30—(ENS)—Funeral of the late Roy King was held from his farm in Percy township to St. George's Anglican Church, Hastings, where service was conducted by the Rev. A. Patstone.

Mr. King was born in Percy township, son of the late Richard King and Frances McCracken, and resided there most of his life.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Mary Bannan; one son, John, at home; four sisters, Mrs. James Webb (Lillian), Roseneath, Miss Sarah King, at home, Mrs. Earl Webb (Louisa), Smith Falls, Mrs. Alexander Brown (Vera), Peterborough.

Burial was in Trent Valley cemetery. Pallbearers were: Virgil Oliver, Cecil Oliver, Gordon Dickie, Arthur Beamish, Don Beamish, Ezra Peters. Flower bearers were: Bruce Trotter, William McMillan, Ray Pulfer, Harvard Porter, John McMillan, Fred Scriver, Jim McMillan and Richard Williamson.

Home and School Association News

PRINCE OF WALES SCHOOL

Despite extreme cold Tuesday evening the kindergarten of Prince of Wales School was filled to capacity for the Home and School Association meeting. President Mrs. W. E. Baggs was in the chair and the Rev. M. P. Poole opened with a brief devotional period.

Following was a presentation of the play "Scattered Showers" directed by Mrs. Mae Thompson and exceptionally well presented by ladies of George St. Baby Band Auxiliary, Mrs. George Gatfield, Mrs. Stewart Gilgour, and Mrs. Arthur Long.

A lively discussion period was then led by Dr. T. E. Currier, proving the interest the play had aroused.

A vote of thanks was offered members of the cast and Dr. Currier by Mrs. E. Thompson.

Parent Education group served refreshments convened by Mrs. A. Smith.

NORWOOD PUBLIC SCHOOL

A meeting of the Norwood Home and School Association was held Monday evening, at the school.

The meeting opened with a sing song led by the Rev. R. D. Duncanson, with Mrs. Cronin at the piano.

Following the minutes and treasurer's reports, it was decided to purchase a magazine subscription for the lower grades. A discussion on how to spend the money raised during the year was then held. A letter was read from Havelock H & S inviting the executive members from Norwood, to their Founders' Night, February 5th.

A letter was read from the Canadian Save the Children fund re the "Princess Wheat." It was decided to purchase one bushel of wheat at $10.

A letter was read from the school board regarding fire protection measures being taken.

Mr. Sinclair reported for the committee who interviewed the council regarding the County Health Unit, and stated that an open meeting is to be held in the town hall on February 7th at 8:15 pm with Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH of Peterborough as guest speaker. It was decided to ask Reeve Rork Ferguson to be chairman with Mrs. Gerald La Brash and Mr. Hudson to be present on the platform for the meeting.

To date there are 84 paid up members. Mrs. Jack Stewart, program convener, called on Stanley Fife to take the chair. As this was Father's Night, the fathers put on the program. Gerald La Brash played a violin solo.

A debate was then held, Resolved that children get a better education in urban than in rural schools, with Mr. Hudson, Mr. McNab and Mr. Clark upholding the affirmative side and Earl Hamblin, Larry Obee and the Rev. H. K. Wright the negative. The judges, Mr. Caskey, Mr. Fisher and Mrs. Weir awarded the decision to the affirmative, by a very slight margin.

A quartet composed of J. Stewart, E. Bongard, M. Scott and Allen McNab sang.

Mr. Duncanson gave a talk on "Fear in Children." He was thanked by Mr. Goodswan. Mr. Trumpour's room retained the banner.

Those on the lunch committee for the evening were: Mrs. Donald Paxton, Mrs. Melvin Andrews, Mrs. Arthur Spring, Mrs. Dean Kelly, Mrs. Gerald Martin, Mrs. Victor McNeely, Mrs. Lloyd Fleming, Mrs. Charles Fredericks, Mrs. John Hamblin, Mrs. W. H. Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald La Brash, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hamblin, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bongard.

As it was Father's Night the following fathers served lunch: Edgar Clark, W. J. Goodswan, Mr. Redwood, W. H. Hudson, Earl Bongard, Gerald La Brash, Earl Hamblin.

Heather Reminds Scots Of Home

LONDON, Jan. 30 (CP). —A sprig of heather, plucked from the hills of Morayshire, Scotland, was a poignant reminder of "home" to hundreds of Scots gathered on Tuesday night for the grand camp installations at the conclusion of the two-day provincial convention of the Daughters of Scotland in Canada.

The installations took place in the midst of flashing shoulder badges and tartans of a dozen clans. A piper piped, three kilted lassies danced a highland fling and the lion rampant arched a proud back on a wall-wide copy of Scotland's national flag.

What's Right?

You feel you really have to do something for another person — even though it is most inconvenient.

WRONG: Do it grudgingly, letting him know how inconvenient it is.

RIGHT: Always do the things you do for others in a gracious manner. Otherwise the deed is robbed of its value.

Must Be Careful

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A United States government cancer expert said Tuesday a chemical used by some farmers to make roosters fatter and more tender might be "biological dynamite" for poultry consumers if improperly used. Dr. W. C. Hueper of the National Cancer Institute said the chemical is "stilbesterol," a synthetic female hormone.

Personnel Men Aid All Industry

R. F. Hinton, personnel and industrial relations manager for the Shell Oil Company of Canada, was guest speaker at the Personnel Association of Peterborough meeting Tuesday night.

Speaking on "Basic Personnel Functions" and their place in relation to the employer and employee, Mr. Hinton stressed the part the personnel department should play in assisting management to make democracy work in industry.

Harold L. Armstrong, personnel Association of Toronto, spoke on the Federation of Personnel Associations in Ontario.

Eight Flee House Fire

A bathroom fire that broke out shortly before 3 am today caused eight people to flee in their nightclothing from a double apartment at 100 London St.

The fire was accompanied by a heavy smoke that caused the occupants to believe at first that the blaze was more serious than it actually was. Fire damage is estimated at $50—part of the floor and a wall of the bathroom and part of the kitchen ceiling that is directly below.

An overheated chimney flue started a fire in the dust and boards of the partition between the bathroom floor and a wall. Soon dense smoke filled the house.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Croft, occupying the upstairs apartment, were forced to flee with their two children — David, nine months, and Gail, five years.

Gordon Thomas, occupying the lower apartment with his three children was also forced to leave. His children, all under schoolage, are Lynn 4, Lynda 3 and Valerie 2.

Firemen used a booster line to extinguish the blaze.

Both families were given shelter next door at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schoales, 98 London St.

Preliminary Hearing To Open On Shooting

PEMBROKE, Jan. 30. (CP)—A preliminary hearing on a charge of murder against Spr. Joseph Lanoie, 36, of Welland, was scheduled to open in Pembroke court today.

Defence Counsel Joseph Green of Arnprior, is expected to ask for a postponement of the hearing in order to have Lanoie undergo psychiatric examination.

Lanoie was charged with the shooting of two fellow-soldiers, Spr. J. W. Caufield, 21, of Pine Falls, Man., and Craftsman C. E. Johannson, 20, of Saskatoon last New Year's Eve.

The shooting was a climax to a late private party by the three men in the officers' mess at nearby Petawawa military camp.

Newman Appointed Canadian Consul

OTTAWA, Jan. 30—(CP)—G. A. Newman, of Leamington, Ont., Canada's Trade Commissioner at New Orleans, La., also will take on duties as Canadian Consul there, the External Affairs Department announced today.

Mr. Newman, 46, was formerly in charge of the Trade Department's exports division and took charge of the New Orleans office when it was opened at the beginning of the year.

He joined the Trade Department 22 years ago in the trade commissioner's service and served abroad for a number of years.

Stanley Ayotte

The funeral for Stanley Ayotte, Young's Point, who died Sunday was held today in St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Young's Point.

Dr. J. V. Masterson, celebrated requiem mass at 9 a.m.

Pall bearers were: Joseph Astle, Leo Healey, John Laroque, James Keast, Albert Parberry, Laverne Healey. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Young's Point.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Jan. 30 — (CP)—The United States dollar today opened at 1/32 of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.00 1/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.78¼, also unchanged.

Trinity Congregation Told New Hall To Open In Spring

Completion of the Church Hall and its official opening by early spring was announced at the Trinity United Church annual meeting Tuesday night. "As we plan on opening the doors of the Trinity Hall, we open new doors of opportunity and service," said Dr. D. Bruce Gordon, minister.

The meeting was attended by 90 members and adherents of the church. Reports were presented by representatives of the church organizations which indicate a progressive development in group activity.

Membership of Trinity congregation showed an increase of 43, and a total of 1,107. There were 40 baptisms, 22 marriages, and 22 burials during 1951.

Two Trinity leaders were honored by the congregation: Robert J. Kidd and Mr. Roscoe F. Downey. Texts of illuminated scrolls being prepared were read to the meeting.

Wilfrid F. Huycke, reading the text for Mr. Kidd, said, "Always you have moved among us, and within the life of this city, as a man of honesty and courtesy and faith. You have carried the respect of all men. Many are the men and women of today who look back with appreciation to your influence as the superintendent of the Sunday school."

Treasurer 40 Years

Mr. Kidd, recently retired as treasurer and an active member of the official board, gave leadership to the Sunday school for some 25 years. He was treasurer for more than 40 years.

"Your talents of mind and training, your faith and personality, all linked with a strong loyalty to Trinity, have impressed and influenced us all, as well as many far beyond the congregation read Douglas Valsey, Recording Steward, delivering the text to Mr. Downey. "Your careful attention to your tasks, and your service for the welfare of the congregation, have gone far beyond the scope of Recording Steward." Mr. Downey, the retiring Recording Steward, is "the first to hold the office of Clerk of the Session."

Strenuous Year

Reviewing progress in 1951, Dr. Gordon said: "It was a strenuous year, with much to do and much accomplished. The decision to adopt the organization as set forth in the United Church Manual was carried through with a fine spirit of co-operation and unity."

Dealing with the Church Hall construction, Dr. Gordon spoke of the early sod turning ceremony, the corner-stone laying, and "the climax of years of effort and planning." W. T. Fanjoy said "Dr. Gordon, a prime mover in the Church Hall, has been a tower of strength throughout its development."

Mr. C. C. McIntyre was elected to the body of Elders.

Dr. Gordon was chairman of the meeting and conducted the devotional period. Dr. D. L. Gordon, father the minister, gave the bene

Mem of the Trinity Women's [illegible] served refreshments.

At the conclusion of the meeting a tour of the Church Hall was conducted by officers associated with the development.

Club Previews Prints To Be Displayed Later

About 45 prints to be shown at the Peterborough Camera Club's annual exhibit in February were pre-viewed at a meeting of the club Tuesday night.

There are still more prints that will be shown which have not yet been entered in the three week exhibit which opens February 15 in the Public Library.

This year, the club plans on showing some prints submitted by the Oshawa Camera Club.

Next week, Garfield Thompson will give the club a demonstration in correct perspective.

Three Badly Hurt In Car-Truck Crash

OAKVILLE, Ontario, Jan. 30—(CP)—Two Hamilton men and a woman were injured severely today when their car collided with a truck and struck an abutment of the Oakville bridge.

Eileen Runnals, 23, Wing Lee, 31, driver of the car, and Benny Jung, 37, were thrown into the rear seat of the car and trapped in the wreckage. They could not be released until a tow truck jerked part of the wreckage clear.

Police said Lee attempted to pass the truck and hooked its front bumper with his own rear bumper.

Miss Runnalls suffered a broken nose, face cuts and shock. Lee has a broken left leg, face cuts and possible internal injuries, while Jung has a broken left leg, face cuts and possible internal injuries, hospital officials said.

Fire Extinguishers For Sewage Plant

Purchase from Jobbitt Hardware of fire extinguishers for the sewage disposal plant was recommended to the council by the board of works Monday.

The order is for one 20-pound extinguisher at $93.80, less 5% discount; three ten-pounders at $74.35; and two five-pounders at $44.60. Discount is allowed in each case. It was the only difference between the tenders of Kingan Hardware and Frank Jobbitt's price. An additional five-pound can for the top floor room at the city hall was included in the order.

Total cost of the extinguishers is around $425.

Supply Of Blood Barely Ahead Of Urgent Need

The blood donor service of the Peterborough Red Cross Society is being pushed to the limit to supply enough blood for the city's two hospitals, members of the society were told at its annual meeting Tuesday night.

Having blood or not having it, could easily mean the difference between life and death and often does at the hospitals.

No charge is made to patients in city hospitals for the blood that has been given into the donor service by citizens. The amount saved by people in hospital amounted to $41,000 in 1951 when 2,050 donations were made. Only expense to the patients is a small charge for typing their blood.

But donations received at the city's two hospitals in recent weeks have barely been keeping ahead of the need.

Has Own Program

Mrs. C. J. Ray, reporting on the local situation, emphasized that the local program was operated independently from the country-wide scheme. She added that more blood is needed here now because local doctors are doing more surgery than they were able to do before.

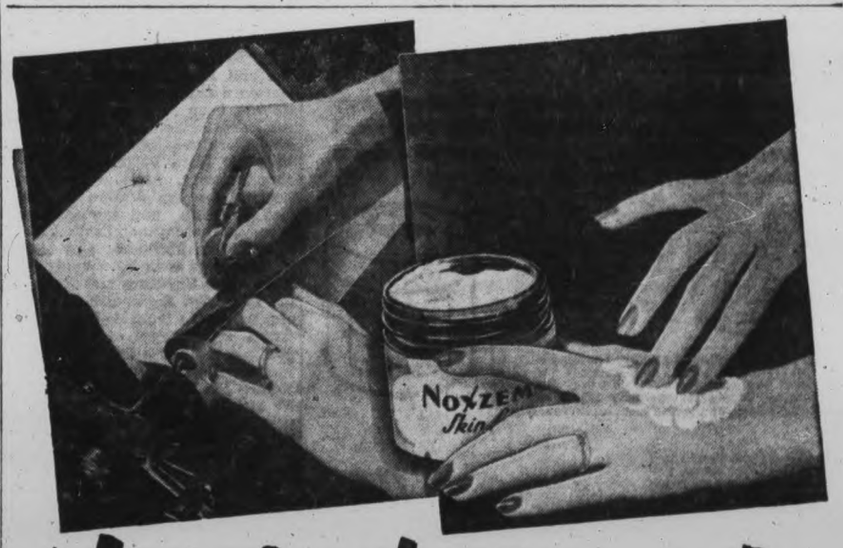
Mr. Ray thanked industrial and business heads who had co-operated so willingly with the Red Cross. In almost all the plants it has been arranged that a donor does not lose pay for time taken off to give blood. In thanking the donors themselves, Mrs. Ray said, "Your effort is complete proof that unselfishness still exists in a troubled world. You make the service possible."

The Red Cross Society provides the serum for testing donors' blood for disease and the Rh factor at the provincial laboratory at a cost of about $400 a year.

Donors are provided with 30 iron pills after each donation and they are given transportation to and from the clinics by the Red Cross. The drivers and those in charge at the clinics do not receive any pay.

YWCA Nursery School To Get Medical Care

The Nursery School conducted by the YWCA in Grace United Church will be receiving nursing and medical service from the city's Department of Health.



This service, which began today, includes periodic classroom inspections by public health nurses and medical examinations by the MOH, Dr. R. A. Kelly. An immunization program will also be included.

Marmora Church Reviews Work Of 1951

MARMORA, Jan. 30 (ENS) — With a good and representative attendance of the congregation St. Paul's annual vestry meeting was held in the parish hall Monday with the rector, Canon J. M. Brownlie, presiding. After the meeting had been opened with prayer, C. R. Whittemore was asked to assume secretarial duties for the evening. In his report, the rector eulogised church officers and organizations for their part in seeing the parish through another prosperous year. He referred to memorial gifts for the interior of the church and interior improvements which had been made to the rectory. He conducted 17 burials, baptized 12 and prepared 12 candidates, nine of them adult, for confirmation and performed one wedding ceremony.

The auditors' report read by A. Pordham was accepted. G. Kerr touched upon the general fund which showed receipts to be well over $3,000.

D. Robertson, in his report as missions treasurer, showed receipts to be $369, the greater portion of which went to the clerk of the synod. Exclusive of its Deloro group the Ladies Guild, through Mrs. W. D. Lavender, reported more than $1,200 being raised with about half being allocated to the parish fund and other pressing needs being met.

Deloro group's report was given by Mrs. A. Pordham. Their financial receipts reached a total of more than $300 and most of this was allocated to parochial needs.

Mrs. J. M. Brownlie followed with the report of the Women's Auxiliary. More than $100 was raised, the pledge met and other objectives attained thereby. W. J. Cottrell, speaking on behalf of the organ fund, disclosed that its cost has been fully met.

The financial statement of the Sunday school compared well with former years. Besides the annual current expenses $25 was granted to missions and $10 to the organ fund. This report was given by Mrs. W. D. Lavender. The new officers for the ensuing year were then considered.

The rector re-appointed D. Robertson as his warden and T. Pearce was elected people's warden. Other appointments follow: Vestry clerk, C. R. Whittemore; treasurer, G. Kerr; missions secretary, D. Robertson; lay delegates to synod, 3 years, W. J. Cottrell, 2 years, R. E. Bonter, 1 year, C. R. Whittemore; auditors, A. Pordham, W. Simmons; vestry council, Canon J. M. Brownlie, D. Robertson, T. Pearce, W. J. Cottrell, R. E. Bonter, C. R. Whittemore, A. Pordham, C. H. Buskard, W. D. Lavender, G. Kerr, E. Barrons, C. Heath, G. Jones, L. R. Rundle, Mesdames F. Leal, R. G. Winters, T. Pearce, C. Cronkright and C. R. Whittemore.

A motion was passed that the wardens and vestry clerk bring in a slate of sidesmen for 1952. A few matters in connection with parochial affairs were discussed and later action taken on them before the vestry was closed with the benediction by the rector.

Marmora Takes One

MARMORA, Jan. 30.—Marmora ran its unbeaten string to five games when they downed a short-handed Stirling club 8-6 in a Trent Valley Central Division game played here Monday.

Stirling led most of the way with the homesters tying the score with only three minutes of play left in the final period. George Mantle tallied two goals in overtime to give the homesters the verdict.

In addition to Mantle, others prominent for the winners were Tom Brooks with three goals and Fred Stewart with a pair.

Top Stirling point getters were Bert Bastedo with a pair of goals and Ross Mason with a goal and two assists.

Campbellford Wins

MARMORA, Jan. 30—(ENS)—Campbellford high school and Marmora high school played an exhibition game in the Marmora rink on Tuesday, the result being 11-5 in Campbellford's favor. The visiting team showed better combination in that they have been together as a unit for three years. However the local boys, playing without their first line and with many new faces in the lineup, displayed a good brand of hockey and led 3-2 at the end of the first period, this being an encouragement for more parental attendance in the remaining home games.

The high school play in Norwood on Thursday with a return game here at an early date.

Lakefield Loses

TRENTON, Jan. 30.—Trenton Jewellers kept within half a game of the second place Belleville Glen Roys by downing Lakefield, 11-7 in a Trent Valley League game here Monday night. Both teams battled on even terms until the final period when the homesters took command to score four straight times and gain the verdict.

Doug Beale came out of his recent scoring slump to score three goals and as many assists, while Mac Watson, with two goals and three assists, and Don Barr, with two goals and as many assists, were others prominent in the Trenton win. For Lakefield, the line of Legrow, Fawcett and Casey stood out with each player notching a pair of goals. Casey gained four assists, while Legrow was right behind with three.

To Receive Awards

TOKYO, Jan. 29. (Reuters)—Officers of the British 29th Independent Brigade will receive 13 United States army awards for the part they played in the Imjim River battle last April, it was announced Tuesday night. In the same battle, the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment of Britain won a United States presidential unit citation.

Father, Husband Lost To Woman Within 14 Hours

MARMORA, Jan. 30 (ENS).—Within 14 hours of each other, the deaths occurred in the same residence on Monday evening and Tuesday noon respectively of Thomas E. Potts and Wilbert Bedore, his son-in-law. Mr. Potts, who was 80, had enjoyed a fair measure of good health until about two weeks ago, for the last week of which he lost his vision. Mr. Bedore had been a patient in his home for about 15 months prior to which he had recurring periods of illness for a few years.

The double funeral takes place Thursday afternoon with service at St. Andrew's United church at 2 pm, that of Mr. Potts being under auspices of Marmora LOL 319 and of Mr. Bedore under auspices of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion. Burial follows in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Mr. Potts was born at Harold in Rawdon township, son of William Potts and Anne Barnum who came to Canada from Aberdeen, Scotland. He was descended from two captains in the British Army who came to Canada to take part in the American war. His paternal grandfather was Capt. Thomas Potts and his maternal grandfather, Capt. Ephraim Barnum. He was named for both.

He worked for the Pearce Company for 13 years and then six years for the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company. The next three years he managed their boarding house. Until his retirement a few years ago, he was the proprietor of four hotels in turn.

He managed the St. James Hotel for nine years, succeeding the late George Wellman and then took over the other hotel of the village, the Royal for a further nine years. He next became proprietor of the Tipperary Hotel, Crowe Lake, where he stayed for five years before assuming the proprietorship of Huycke's Hotel (now Hotel Tweedsmuir), Tweed.

After six years, he returned to Marmora to live in his own home on North Hastings Avenue. Thus he was not only well known in Marmora but was known to the travelling public over a large area. For four years he served on Marmora village council and four years he was a public school trustee.

He also helped promote the Marmora Continuation School, forerunner of the high school in this village. He was one of the older members of St. Andrew's United Church. He was Worshipful Master of Marmora LOL 319 in 1908 and having joined the Lodge on July 11, 1896, was its oldest member. Later he was District Master of No. 1 District Centre Hastings. He was a charter member of Golden Star Preceptory No. 748 and was a Past Preceptor. His interest in the support of returned soldiers' welfare caused him to become the first honorary member of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion. In politics he was a staunch Conservative.

On July 3, 1895, he was married at the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Walker in Gilmour, Hastings County, to their daughter Ada. His wife with her parents, came from Sheffield, England to Canada when she was a young girl.

Besides his widow, Mr. Potts is survived by five of seven children born to them, namely: Mrs. Wilbert Bedore (Mary), Marmora; Gerald, Port Hope; Mrs. T. E. Pritchard (Gertie), Peterborough; Clayton, Marmora; and Mrs. T. Dickson (Myrtle), Beaverton.

Mr. Bedore was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Bedore of Marmora and was 57 years of age. He was born in Marmora, being employed in the district until the First World War when he enlisted with the 155th Battalion, Canadian Infantry. After arrival in England he was drafted to the 21st Battalion and saw service overseas. Upon demobilization, he returned to Marmora and for some years was in the employ of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company. Relinquishing employment with them he took over duties of caretaker of Marmora public school for a few years. He was a past president of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion. He also was a member for some time of LOL 319. He is survived by his widow the former Mary Potts and five children: Clayton, Marmora; Eric, Havelock; Mrs. Clifford Goodchild (Doris), Marmora township and Tom and Lois at home.

Also surviving are his parents and seven sisters: Mrs. S. C. Boyd, Belleville; Mrs. C. White and Mrs. R. Gordon, Detroit; Mrs. R. J. Brophy, Verdun, Que.; Mrs. F. Feeney, New Westminster, BC; Mrs. J. Berg, Bermuda, and Mrs. C. Watson, Whitby.

TOPS AIR CADETS—Roger J. Neill, 18-year-old Edmonton Air Cadet, right, was awarded the Tudhope Memorial Trophy as the cadet with the best marks in private pilot's tests. He was presented in Ottawa with the trophy, right, by Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, Chief of Air Staff. The Air Cadet League trophy, left, also was awarded for topping 242 air cadets taking flying training last year.

4 Basic Problems In Attacking Crippling Conditions In Babies

Canada has seen great strides made in nutrition, immunization and pasteurization. Even if present knowledge in these fields could be universally applied, according to R. W. Hopper, secretary for the Canadian Council of Crippled Children, there wouldl remain a very large group of victims of the diseases, accidents and congenital anomalies which produce physical handicap.

One individual in a thousand can achieve distinction in spite of severe physical handicap. To him, bodily restriction is a challenge to be met by a fearless spirit and undaunted courage. Some others less heroically endowed will make the adjustments and efforts necessary to carry on a moderately satisfactory life. Without outside help, the majority will suffer physical, spiritual and economic disaster.

Detected At Birth.

The starting point in a program to prevent such disaster is as early as you want to make it. Pre-natal factors are important. "It is a disgrace that we do not have a registration of those defects which can be detected at birth," he said.

With the report of congential defect there is linked the equally necessary registry which should be a part of every Provincial Department of Health.

In the first Canadian Conference on Rehabilitation it was noted that any rehabilitation program must begin with the child. At one time interest in crippled children may have depended on emotional reaction; today it is simply enlightened self-interest. Children have a way of growing up and the neglect of a handicapped child will result in the loss of a potential wage-earner.

The principal causes of crippling in children in the bracket usually termed "orthopaedic," are cerebral palsy, congenital defect, poliomyelitis and accidents.

An estimate of the problem, based on Ontario experience indicates 75,000 people in Canada handicapped by the four causes mentioned above. This is certainly a conservative estimate and may be considerbly below the mark.

Four Basic Problems

Some of the basic problems in the attack on crippling conditions of childhood are:

Indifference. — The Provincial Departments of Health, generally, have been slow to take action, which simply reflects the attitude of public and parents. People are slow to realize the vital importance of children viewed as potential citizens.

Distribution of Treatment Facilities. — It is obvious that treatment centres and specialists which necessarily go together are inaccessible to a large part of the population of Canada.

Organized medicine, the rank and file of practitioners, public health authorities, hospitals, voluntary agencies, service organizations, business, labor and the general public have all an interest in the problem of establishing adequate treatment and training facilities. Positive action is needed to recover thousands of young Canadians from a life of frustration and dependency.

Medical Education is lagging far behind medical knowledge. If every medical and nursing school turned out year by year graduates who were trained in modern concepts of public health, it would not take long to institute such measures as universal pasteurization of milk. It would have a great influence in the recognition of many conditions of childhood and their correction before adult life.

Payment for Treatment. — The management of orthopaedic conditions is usually spread over a long period, often involves surgical interference and always includes allied services such as occupational therapy. It is therefore expensive.

The present plans of pre-payment insurance, good as they are, do not take care of the situation. So long as it is left to municipal officials to interpret the meaning of indigency there will be a continuation of hardship and inequality. In effect, we kick a man when he is down.

While Canada is behind several of the progressive countries in respect to an overall program and in governmental action, we are well out in front in some respects. Examples of leadership include the total organization of Toronto's magnificent Hospital for Sick Children, the progressive program of the Workmen's Compensation Board at Malton, the unique contribution in the field of paraplegia at Lyndhurst Lodge, the practical work of Variety Village vocational training school for handicapped boys and the outstanding accomplishments of the Vancouver Rehabilitation Centre.

Konstanty Admits Bad Flipflop

WORCESTER, NY, Jan. 30 — (AP).—"If I was hitting against myself last summer, I'd have hit .400."

Jim Konstanty, the Phillies' relief pitcher, talked candidly about his form flipflop of 1951 in his home here.

This was—and still is—a quiet winter for the Toronto Maple Leaf graduate. None of the mad rush to speaking dates and television appearances that kept him busy last year. Then he was the toast of Philadelphia as the greatest reliefer ever. He had been voted most valuable player in the National League. Every mail brought a new offer.

After his 4-11 season last summer, Jim swore off the banquet circuit. His sporting goods store in nearby Oneonta took up most of his spare time.

"I've been thinking over last season a lot," he said. "You know I have many theories about pitching. I just want to try to get back where I was.

"I think I 'experimented' myself out of it. Now I want to experiment myself back into it. I feel optimistic and am looking forward to a good year."

North Douro Victors

WARSAW, Jan. 30 (ENS). — East Douro took a 6-3 hockey win over North Dummer in a tidy tussle. The winners' goals were by Dan Sheehan, Joe O'Grady, Bernard Condon, Jim Moher, Carl Sheehan and Gus Sheehan. North Dummer marksmen were Don Mathews with two and Fred McCracken with the other counter. The latter drew the other penalty. Teams:

East Douro: Keating, J. Moher, C. Sheehan, G. Sheehan, O'Grady, B. Heffernan, J. Heffernan, C. Leahy, E. Leahy, B. Condon, D. Sheehan, C. Condon, B. Moher, F. Moher.

North Dummer: Bendriff, McCracken, Dafoe, McClure, P. Little, M. Little, Whetung, Crowe, Cameron, Trude, Burleigh, Mathews, Batten, Brock.

M. Thompson Leads

M. Thompson rolled high single of 313 this week in the Girls' City Bowling League at Duffus', as R. Pearse hit high three of 811. Collis led teams with 3,139 pinnage and top game of 1,247. J. Castle's 535 took the blind score of 536. Black's blanked Aces, while 2-1 wins went to Arcos over Seventires, Cardinals against Dickson's, Marines over Curtin's, and Bassel's over Collis.

Good singles included: R. Pearse 313, 272; M. Batley 302; M. Knights 303, 264; B. Akers 273; D. Martin 277; B. Morrow 271; and M. Drumm 264. Neat triples were: M. Knights 768, M. Thompson 722, F. Kokesh 690, A. Barnes 670, M. Selkirk 665 and B. Wasson 660.

Teepees Score Thrilling 7-6 Win In Overtime Against Windsor

By The Canadian Press

The high-flying St. Catharines Teepees continued their winning ways at home Tuesday night when they came through with a thrilling 7-6 overtime victory against ninth-place Windsor Spitfires.

Currently the hottest club in the 10-team Ontario Hockey Association Junior A race, the Teepees have captured 16 of their last 19 starts with Tuesday night's win moving them into a fourth-place deadlock with Toronto St. Michael's.

Both clubs are eight points behind third-place Galt Black Hawks and seven games off the pace set by Toronto Marlboros.

In the only other Junior A game scheduled Kitchener Greenshirts delighted a home-town crowd with a 3-2 upset over the runner-up Guelph Biltmores. The Greenshirts hold down sixth spot in the loop.

At Hamilton, the Brantford Redmen scored late in the final period to pull off a 2-1 OHA Senior A victory from the Tigers. The win moved the visitors into third place in the six-city standings, a scant point in front of Hamilton.

In Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A play, North Bay Black Hawks and the league-leading Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds played to a 7-7 tie at North Bay. The clubs struggled through a 10-minute overtime session that failed to change the outcome.

Double Scores

Frank Martin scored St. Catharines' overtime winner, his second goal of the game. Other double scorers were Ken Myles and Pierre Pilote. Brian Cullen fired a singleton. Don Craven, Joe Zorica, Bobby Brown, Johnny Lumley, Bob Robertson and Elmer Skov came through for the Spits.

Frank Toyota slapped home Kitchener's winning overtime tally while Duke Edmundson and Red Novak added the others. Jim Connelly and Andy Bathgate lit the red light for Guelph.

Bill Simpell and Lloyd Ferguson scored in Brantford's victory while Johnny Conick came through with Hamilton's lone marker.

All That's New For '52

THE largest furniture exhibition in Canada's history ended last week. Three hundred and twenty-five manufacturers of Canada's finest home furnishings covered the entire floor space of Toronto's Coliseum, Automotive and Industrial buildings. It was here that the buyers for Cherney Bros. compared styles, prices and quality. We looked for quality first, but only when it combined sound construction with top styling and value. We looked for durable finishes and the newest and smartest designs in wood and fabrics. In some cases we did not buy the lowest priced article even though it sometimes looked good. Past experience has taught us the meaning of the word value, and although we made many exceptional "buys", we were unwilling to accept them unless the material and workmanship were of the highest standard.

BY group buying we effected real savings and we believe that the hours and hours spent comparing, analysing and inspecting, enabled us to select for you the things that were outstanding in style, price and value.

IT was a big show, and we worked hard to provide the newest in furniture styling at savings you will appreciate. Visit our store soon and see what is new for 1952. New designs are arriving daily. Watch for our exciting February parade of styles and values.

Both Drivers Freed By Court

Charges against both drivers involved in a two-way accident at Norwood January 5 were dismissed in police court Tuesday.

In dismissing a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol, against Earl Saltern, RR 1 Norwood, Magistrate W. R. Philp commented that Norwood Chief William Parcels had allowed him to drive home afterwards.

"The accused admits having one drink (a glass of beer) but the chief after investigating the accident for a few minutes allowed the man to proceed home. In the face of that, after having seen the man, I do not believe the accused can be found guilty," the magistrate said.

Most Sober

Chief Parcels explained that he did not "think the rest in Saltern's car (his brother, sister and mother) were in any condition to drive. I have no place to keep anyone until they sober up," Chief Parcels said. I believed he was the most sober of any, so I allowed him to go"

Saltern was defended by W. J. Arthur Fair.

The other driver involved in the accident, Thomas Morgan, 687 George St., charged with careless driving, was represented by Trevor Clarke.

After the charge of driving while impaired against Saltern was dismissed, the careless driving charge against Morgan was withdrawn at request of crown attorney John A. Bradshaw.

The accident occurred on Colborne St., in Norwood. Both Saltern and Morgan were driving north. The accident occurred as Saltern was attempting to park on the east side of the street. Morgan, following behind, said he was unable to stop on the slippery street surface and the front of his car was in collision with the rear of the car driven by Saltern.

DERAILED during a collision near Montreal recently, which took the life of CNR employee Leopold Olivier, this giant locomotive is lifted back to the Southwark Yards by wrecking crews. Remains of the caboose litter the foreground.

Alberta's Civil Defence Chiefs Plan To Guard Oil Industry

By LORNE BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta civil defence chiefs view the oil province as a potential "bowling alley" for hostile aircraft in the event of a third world war.

Raiding planes skimming the top of the world might sweep down from the north across Alberta on their way to the United States industrial centres, and Edmonton, with its oil refineries and new chemical and ore-processing plants, would make a sizable target.

"Edmonton, as Canada's oil centre and air base, could well be a primary target," say civil defence advertisements calling for recruits.

To meet this threat, Alberta is building up a civil defence organization which officials hope soon will comprise some 25,000 workers, or between two and three per cent of the province's population.

Nearing completion is a self-contained headquarters, built of heavily-reinforced concrete on Edmonton's outskirts. It will be the province's nerve centre in the event of enemy attack.

Legislation enacted a year ago is in two sections—the peacetime organizational set-up and a law outlining how the civil defence organization would operate after an act of war.

Complete Organization

The province is organized from the cabinet down to municipal committees. A cabinet committee is advised by the commanding officers of the army, navy, air force and RCMP in the province.

That Alberta has made fair progress in preparedness is indicated by the word left by Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, federal civil defence co-ordinator, after he had looked over the set-up.

General Worthington told Premier E. C. Manning the Alberta organization is "one of the best in Canada."

"The secret of our success," says municipal affairs minister C. E. Ferhart, head of the cabinet civil defence committee, "is that the entire administration is on a voluntary basis except for a few provincial government employees.

"You couldn't hire the type of men we have heading our committees."

At the head of the set-up is Air Vice-Marshal George Howsam, 56-year-old wartime commanding officer of the RCAF northwest staging route which developed into northwest air command. Now a civilian, he is using his 30 years' experience in Canada's armed forces to develop a comprehensive plan to keep the production front operating in the event of an attack.

The Alberta organization now has 16 major committees and hopes soon to have operating subunits in the province's 280 municipal districts.

Mr. Gerhart and the air marshal head parties which give pep talks and organizing advice at public meetings in each area.

Air Marshal Howsam stresses that big bombers have wiped out Alberta's immunity from attack. Russian planes were flying over the north pole to the United States in the late 1930s. Since then there have been tremendous advances in aviation.

"If there is a war, Alberta is right in the bowling alley," Mr. Gerhart told one meeting.

Busily Training

In addition to paying for the $60,000 headquarters building, the Alberta government is shouldering two-thirds of the cost of standardizing the province's fire-fighting equipment, a job expected to be completed in June. It is also financing a program to put specially-trained leaders in each municipal district.

The provincial lands department radio network, with 150 stations, will be augmented by wireless amateurs to complete province-wide coverage. The network will have one main control in the provincial civilian defence headquarters building, a structure that is "reasonably" bomb-proof even against a "near-miss."

Both provincial and municipal organizations are training personnel as quickly as possible. The province held two "schools" last fall and now has a new series of classes under way for controllers. About 30 to 35 will attend each 16-day course until there are controllers for all municipal organizations.

Edmonton, which trained more than 1,000 persons in first aid alone last year, is starting weekly lectures at each of its district organizations.

Once the planning committees have completed their work, operational exercises will be staged. In the event of war, Mr. Gerhart said, the probability is that the operation of civil defence will remain a provincial responsibility, but the financial responsibility will be with the federal government.

"There is a lot to be clarified," the minister said. "But we're driving ahead."

Mother, Mix Your Own Cough Syrup. It's Fine

This well-known medicine, mixed in your own kitchen, costs very little, but it gives swift-acting relief from coughs due to colds. It takes but a moment to prepare—it's so easy anyone can do it.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water until dissolved. No cooking is needed. Or use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle and fill up with your syrup. Thus you make 16 ounces of splendid cough syrup—and it gives you four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its taste.

And for quick, satisfying relief you'll say it's really splendid. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear air passages. You'll be delighted by its swift, pleasing results.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a well-known and reliable soothing agent for winter coughs. Money refunded if it doesn't please you.

Order Egyptian Commandos To Stop Guerrilla Fighting

Truman Denounces Senator As Pathological

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31. (AP)—President Truman today denounced Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.), as pathological and as a character assassin. The president let go at the Wisconsin Senator at a press conference in response to questions about McCarthy's Senate speech earlier this week on Philleo Nash, special White House assistant who once lectured at the University of Toronto. McCarthy said Nash, concerned with minority problems, had close associations with Communists in the 1940's. Nash denied it.

Snapping back, the president referred to the Wisconsin Senator as the pathological Mr. McCarthy.

He said the attack on Nash was the same kind of attack McCarthy has made on all government workers he does not like.

A reporter recalled McCarthy said Federal Bureau of Investigation reports linked Nash with Communist associates and asked the President if the FBI did have such reports.

Truman said McCarthy did not need information to be a character assassin. That was his business, he added.

Hasn't Immunity

And, with an edge in his voice, the President said he himself was not talking with immunity.

McCarthy as a Senator, is immune from lawsuits growing out of his remarks on the Senate floor. The President, speaking on such an occasion as a press conference, does not have such specifically-defined immunity.

The President would not give permission for reporters to put in quotation marks his words character assassin or the word pathological.

Press conference rules forbid direct quotation of the President without his permission.

His comment today was the most caustic he has directed at the Wisconsin Senator by name, although he has denounced McCarthy by implication many times.

McCarthy began in 1950 a series of charges that the administration, particularly the State Department, has been penetrated by Communists.

Truman contends that his administration took prompt action to get rid of any Communists.

Banks Closing Saturdays In 14 Cities

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP).—L. G. Gillett, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, announced today that all branches of chartered banks in 14 of Canada's larger cities will close Saturdays beginning Feb. 16.

The one exception this year will be April 12, the Saturday in the long Easter weekend.

Saturday closings are planned to start May 1 in five other cities.

Mr. Gillet's statement, taking note of the five-day week in other lines of business, said the new move is also "in keeping with our previous promises to go slowly and gradually into Saturday closings."

Under the new arrangement most banks closing Saturdays will be open extra hours Fridays. At present banks usually are open half a day Saturdays.

Cities where Saturday closings start Feb. 16 are:

Vancouver, Victoria, New Westminster, BC, Winnipeg, Windsor, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Hull, Que., Montreal, Quebec, Saint John NB, and Halifax.

Start May 1

These five plan to start May 1: Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw and Regina.

Extra banking hours Fridays may vary in different cities, in accordance with the requirements of customers. For entry purposes, extra Friday hours will be charged or credited to the next banking day.

If some branches find the extra Friday hours are not being utilized to any great extent, the banks will be free to revert to the usual Friday hours.

There will be no change in Friday banking hours of banks remaining open Saturdays.

Banks will be "guided by experience" in regard to extension of Saturday closings in other centres.

In reference to a recent parliamentary bill authorizing the change, Mr. Gillett's statement said:

"The banks have found increasing difficulty in obtaining and retaining employees in competition with other industries, particularly in the larger centres where the five-day week is well established.

". . . To maintain our high standards we sought the permission of parliament so that we could offer to our men and women the same conditions of employment that are offered in many other lines of business."

Left Job To See Game Blamed For Crash

LONDON, Jan. 31—(CP)—A signalman who left his job to go to a soccer game was partly to blame for a train crash last April which killed three persons and injured 40, says an official report issued today.

The report says the signalman, T. Tugwell, left a less experienced man in charge of his signal box at Queens Park, Glasgow. The collision was caused by the combined mistakes of the replacement and a signalman at another station.

In Glasgow, a British Railways official said it was not known whether disciplinary action would be taken.

30 Warships Sent To Malta

LONDON, Jan. 31 — (AP) — Britain Wednesday night ordered 30 warships of the Home Fleet to the Mediterranean for combined exercises with the Mediterranean Fleet.

An Admiralty announcement said the warships will visit Malta, Britain's bastion in the Mediterranean, to take part in the exercises.

No explanation was included in the announcement, but it was understood the sea order was prompted by Britain's concern over the still tense situation in Egypt.

The Egyptian emergency already has sent battle units of the Mediterranean Fleet to stations along the Mediterranean from Libya to Suez.

Naval experts in London said they could not recall so big a part of the Home Fleet ever before sailing to Malta during spring exercises.

Fear 30 Drowned

KHULNA, East Pakistan, Jan. 31 (Reuters).—About 30 persons were feared drowned here Wednesday night when a launch capsized after collision with a steamer. Ninety-two were rescued. There was no record of the number in the launch but it was believed to be about 125. Only one body—that of a four-year-old boy—has so far been recovered.

Classes Curtailed

Punkeydoodles' Youngsters Feeling Punk With Mumps

PUNKEYDOODLES CORNERS, Ont., Jan. 31—(CP)—Most school children are feeling punk at Punkeydoodles Corners. More than 15 have the mumps and teacher Delford Zehr's classes are curtailed.

Marietta Roth, 12, on the sick list said today about 28 of the 52 pupils who come from surrounding farms, were away from school earlier this week but some have returned.

Punkeydoodles Corners is three miles southwest of New Hamburg which is about 15 miles west of Kitchener.

A standing argument for years in the district is the county in which the village is located. A resident can stand on the site of the hamlet's main industry and throw stones into Perth, Oxford and Waterloo counties.

The main industry is closed for the winter. It's a century-old pump used for watering cattle in summer.

The pump is all that remains at "the corners" of what was once a thriving crossroads village with several horse-and-buggy days industries.

Punkeydoodles Corners today has six residents. The "Mayor" is Titus Rith, a trucker. His address is RR 1, New Hamburg. But his is the only house near the original clearing created by one John Zurbrigg, a pumpkin grower.

It is said that one day a neighbor became irritated with old John and stormed at him in Pennsylvania Dutch:

"Oh, you old Punkeydoodle, you!"

The name stuck with him and consequently was transferred to his corner.

Latest maps show the corners to be located in Waterloo county.

Papers Hint Break In Deadlock

Egypt Cooling Off As Premier Ready Study Defence Pact

CAIRO, Jan. 31. (CP)—Reliable informants said today orders were issued to "Egyptian Commandos" in the Suez Canal area to stop their guerrilla activities. It looked like an attempt by the new government of Premier Aly Maher Pasha to restore order.

At the same time, two leading Egyptian newspapers credited the new premier with a receptive attitude toward western overtures for a settlement of the bloody British-Egyptian dispute. Maher Pasha held a long meeting Wednesday night with Gen. Aziz Al Misri, appointed by the former Wafdist government last December to organize and run "Liberation Battalion" activities.

There seems to be a trend toward cooling off Egyptian passions, heated to fever pitch under the Wafd government. Western diplomats seem agreed that such cooling off is esential if any new talks are to begin.

Since Maher Pasha took over Sunday night, Egyptian newspapers have carried no news of canal zone developments, although previously they had been filled with stories on Suez fighting. The Egyptian governor of Suez, Zaki El Knoli, reported that "about 50 criminals" were arrested there since martial law went into effect Sunday night.

Egyptian reporters from Cairo who had filed lurid dispatches to their newspapers until the change in government are reported to have returned to the capital. The press was filled today with reports of a break in the deadlock.

Al Ahram said Britain, whose troops at present garrison the canal zone, would take the next step for an understanding with Egypt. "The United States government would be prepared to guarantee British evacuation from the canal zone in any agreement that is reached," the paper added. Egypt wants the British out.

Al Misri reported that—"if conditions allow"—the four original sponsors of the Middle East scheme would submit new defence proposals in February. The four countries are the United States, Britain, France and Turkey, who invited Egypt to take part in a defence grouping late last year.

Storm Damage Eight Million

SUVA, Fiji Islands, Jan. 31 — (Reuters) — Fiji's recent disastrous hurricane killed 30 people, injured at least 200 and caused about $8,400,000 damage, according to preliminary estimates announced today.

Most of the casualties were Fijians or Indians.

All stocks of building materials on the islands have been "frozen" and a priority system started for reconstruction. All suplies of copper and copper wire, vital for restoration of blitzed communications, are under strict control and buyers and sellers are liable to "immediate arrest."

Monday's storm, worst in the Islands' remembered history, reached a peak velocity of 170 miles an hour. Sugar plantations, important to the export industry, were flattened and the Colonial Sugar Refinery Company's mill at nearby Lautoka—largest in the southern hemisphere—was extensively damaged.

Strong Gale Batters Ships In Channel

LONDON, Jan. 31 (Reuters)—A strong gale in the English Channel today forced many small ships to run for shelter.

Heavy seas lashed the British south coast. Waves breaking over the sea wall at Sandgate, Kent, flooded houses and blocked the main coastal road with shingle from the beach.

The Isle of Man, between England and Ireland, also recorded winds of 86 miles an hour.

Withdraw Name In Primary—Truman

Refuses To Give Statement On Running For Re-Election

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—President Truman said today he will have his name withdrawn as a candidate in the New Hampshire preferential primary, but that this would not preclude his running for re-election.

The President again declined to say whether he will be a candidate for another term or when he will announce his intentions.

At his weekly conference, Truman tried in vain to discourage questions on his plans, saying there are more important things to talk about.

The President was pressed for his attitude toward the action of James McPhail, a lumber dealer, in entering his name in the Democratic preferential primary in New Hampshire, the voting there March 11 will be the first of its kind in the country this year.

Truman said he saw about that in the paper.

Pressed directly as to whether his decision to withdraw his name from the New Hampshire primary precluded his running for President, Truman said: Not at all.

And he added that all these primaries are eyewash.

These primaries don't mean a thing, he said, when the nominating convention meets.

The primary is a sort of poll set up by the State Legislature so ordinary citizens can tell the delegates to the Presidential nominating conventions whom they want nominated. The primary, however, does not bind delegates to vote at the conventions for the preferred candidate.

Royal Couple Leave On Tour

LONDON, Jan. 31. (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh took off from London airport today on the first hop of a five-month tour of Kenya, Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand. The King and Queen, Princess Margaret and Prime Minister Churchill were among a crowd of nearly 2,000 who stood on the wind-swept tarmac and waved farewell as the Royal couple's Canadian-built North Star aircraft climbed into a cloudy sky.

First and only stop on the 19-hour, 4,500-mile flight to Nairobi, Kenya, will be at the RAF station at El Adem, Libya, for re-fuelling and a change of crew. The Royal couple are due there tonight. An hour later they will take off again and they are expected to reach Nairobi tomorrow morning.

All along the 15-mile route from Buckingham Palace to the airport crowds cheered and waved as the procession of Royal cars passed.

Biggest Cheer

But the biggest cheer came from 500 people outside Clarence House, London home of the Princess and the Duke, when they saw three-year-old Prince Charles standing on the pavement waving an Australian flag as his mother and father drove away.

Princess Elizabeth turned around and from the back window of her car she gave him a special wave and smile.

Before the little Prince was taken inside again by his nurse, the crowds surged around and cheered him. Smiling, he waved his flag at them.

On arrival at the airport the King and Queen, Princess Margaret and otner members of the Royal Family went into the aircraft first. They were followed by Princess Elizabeth, wearing a dark fur coat and mist-blue hat, and the Duke.

There they said their good byes out of sight of the crowds and were joined by Churchill and other government ministers and officials.

When her parents, relatives and friends were back on the tarmac, the Princess appeared at the top of the passenger steps to give a final wave.

King Looks Fit

Then the door was closed and the engines revved up. The King, bareheaded in the cold wind and looking fit and refreshed after a vacation at Sandringham, moved

Keeping Link With Canada In Shane Alexander's Title

OTTAWA, Jan. 31. (CP)—Viscount Alexander, soon to become Britain's defence minister, will be known as Earl Alexander of Tunis, when his new rank is gazetted in London.

The Second World War field marshal was granted an earldom by the King on leaving his appointment last Monday as governor-general in Canada. His wife, Viscountess Alexander, will become Countess Alexander of Tunis.

There will be some changes in the titles of their children, too. Viscount Alexander plans to perpetuate his link with Canada through his eldest son, Shane, 16.

Usually, when a person is elevated to an earldom, his previous and lower rank in the peerage falls on his eldest son. This would make Shane a Viscount.

However, a request may be made to the King that instead of a viscount, the title of Baron should be bestowed on Shane, making him the Baron of Rideau. The name Rideau would be derived from Rideau Hall, the governor-general's official residence here.

The younger son, Brian, 12, will retain the title of "Honorable," but Rose, 19, will have the title of "Lady." She will be called Lady Rose.

Viscount and Lady Alexander held a reception in the big ballroom at Rideau Hall Wednesday night for parliamentary press gallery members. The Viscount was in a gay and chatty mood and spoke of many things from skiing to world affairs. But most of it was off the record.

He repeated his sadness at leaving Canada and its people and hoped some day to return. Of world affairs he was inclined toward optimism on the long-range chances for peace.

Lady Alexander, chatting with the wives of press gallery members, also expressed her regret at leaving Canada. Another regret she had was that she had not taken the opportunity to learn to ski as her husband had done.

Last Ski Outing

With his departure for Britain less than three weeks off, Viscount Alexander still has his mind on skiing. He plans to have a last look at his favorite Canadian winter pastime at a ski jumping competition to be staged by the Ottawa Ski Club at his request at Lockenburg ski jum in the nearby Gatineau H' Saturday afternoon.

Undoubtedly he'll get a bit of skiing on his own as well.

GETS INSTRUCTIONS—Admiral Lynde D. McCormick new supreme commander of Allied Atlantic forces has arrived in Washington to receive his instructions.

McCormick Gets His Instructions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—Admiral Lynde D. McCormick, newly-named supreme commander of allied forces in the Atlantic came to Washington today to receive his "initial instructions."

He told reporters that "as soon as possible I will go to each capital of the member nations" in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization for conferences. He said he then would "get along with the formation of my staff."

McCormick will maintain headquarters at Norfolk, Va.

Four Canadian naval officers are expected to be posted to McCormick's headquarters. The Canadian representatives will be two commanders and two lieutenant-commanders.

RUSSIA OFFERS DEAL

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 31—(Reuters)—Russia today made a new bid for raw materials from Southeast Asia in return for manufactured goods. V. P. Migunov, Soviet delegate to the United Nations Economics Conference for Asia, re-emphasized Russia's desire to exchange transport and mining equipment and textile machinery for primary products.

Allies Propose Truce Negotiators Tackle New Problem Of Final Armistice Clause

MUNSAN, Korea, Jan. 31 — (AP). — The Allies today proposed that truce negotiators tackle yet another problem — the final clause of a Korean armistice.

This is recommendations to belligerent governments, including ultimate withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea. The Communists have been wanting to talk about it since the truce negotiations began.

If the Reds accept, it would mean every key armistice problem would be under discussion simultaneously in a three-tent performance.

Negotiators have been deadlocked for weeks on agenda items three and four, supervision of a truce and exchange of prisoners. But Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, senior Allied delegate, suggested simultaneous negotiations on item five in an effort to speed the signing of a truce.

The recommendations section was included in the conference agenda to meet a Communist demand for withdrawing foreign troops from Korea. The United Nations refused to consider troop withdrawal as part of an armistice, but finally agreed to consider such a recommendation to governments involved in the Korean War. The question then would be settled on a higher, political level.

Hundreds Of German Police Raid Red Offices, Seize Secret Records

Seek Evidence of Subversive Activities As Government Files Suit, To Outlaw 2 Parties As Hostile To State

BONN, Germany, Jan. 31. (AP)—Hundreds of West German police raided offices of the Communist party and seized secret records. Police struck at dawn, acting on orders of the federal constitution court, seeking evidence of subversive activities. The government has filed suit in the court to outlaw both parties, the Communists and the Socialist Reich as hostile to the state. There were no arrests and the raids took place without incident, authorities said. Police grabbed stacks of propaganda, bank records and confidential files.

Concern over the growth of the Nazi like Socialist Reigh party has been expressed by both the government of West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and the US occupation authorities.

Ten days ago US High Commissioner John J. McCloy said a public opinion poll taken by his staff disclosed that only 20 per cent of the Germans would do anything to prevent rise of another Nazi party. The survey showed that 13 per cent would support such a party—a situation McCloy said was "incomprehensible." He saw no immediate threat of a re-birth of Nazism, but admonished the Germans against political apathy.

Out To Create Havoc

The Communists have made no secret of the fact that they are out to wreck the West German government. Their latest move is a threat to call a strike in the rich industrial Ruhr and thus cripple any role West Germany might take in supplying materials for Western Europe's defence against possible Soviet aggression.

Gustav Gundelach, Communist leader of the Federal Parliament, denounced the raids as an "unconstitutional arbitrary act."

Hi-Jacking Ring Believed Broken

BRANTFORD, Jan. 31 (CP).—Provincial police here said Wednesday they believed a well-organized theft ring which apparently specialized in hi-jacking transport trucks on the open highway had been smashed.

Investigation into the hi-jacking, which may involve loot in the thousands of dollars is being continued by police in Brantford and Woodstock.

Four Brantford men were remanded one week here Wednesday on charges of retaining stolen goods. Three brothers, Keith, Bruce and Reg Myerscough, were ordered held in custody. Bail for the fourth man, Bill Dougherty, was set at $2,000 cash or $4,000 property.

Provincial Corporal J. J. Allen of Brantford said most Brantford trucking agencies had reported goods stolen from their trucks while they were en route to outlying points. Police theorize the thieves climbed aboard the trucks as they slowly climbed hills. The loot, including expensive truck tires, was thrown off the trucks to be picked up later. Truck drivers apparently could not hear the hi-jackers working because of the roar of the engine.

Plane Hits Peak Pilot Uninjured

FALLON, Nev., Jan. 31—(AP)—Lieut. William A. Poe, a Marine fighter pilot, survived a crash that broke his Corsair in two on 11,429-foot Sonora Peak.

Poe was rescued uninjured from his snowy precipice in the high Sierras of Alpine county, Califoria, Wednesday, after a 28-hour wait. Twelve rescuers laboriously snow-shoed 10 miles from the Marines' Pickle Meadow winter training base to reach him.

The temperature plunged as low as 30 degres below zero. Planes dropped winter equipment and food to Poe.

His plane skidded to within 20 feet of a 4,000 foot precipice when it crashed.

CPR Station Destroyed By Fire At Alton

ALTON, Ont., Jan. 31 (CP)—Fire early today destroyed the CPR station at this town about 45 miles northwest of Toronto, causing damage of $5,000 and temporarily disrupting communications to Owen Sound.

Police were investigating the possibility of arson. They said the fire may have been started by the same person who had broken into the nearby town arena during the night.

The fire started at 2 am and destroyed the 75-year-old building in 1½ hours. Communications were disrupted for four hours when telegraph poles were destroyed.

Attlee Charges Gov't Asks Blank Cheque

LONDON, Jan. 31 (AP).—Former Prime Minister Attlee today accused the Conservative government of demanding a blank cheque from parliament to carry out a sweeping new austerity plan.

The Labor party leader said the plan, put forth to save Britain from bankruptcy, asks blanket approval of "any act whatever" that would ease this country's gold-dollar shortage.

He told the House of Commons sarcastically:

"It would include, I imagine, the sale of the Magna Carta, the British Museum, the National Gallery and even a few colonies.

"It might even include sending the Prime Minister to earn dollars by making speeches in the United States."

The reference to Prime Minister Churchill, just returned from a Washington conference with President Truman, drew loud laughter.

Attlee was the opening speaker in the second and final day of debate on the economy plan.

Churchill has demanded a vote of confidence on the proposals. The Labor opposition countered with a motion of no confidence.

Expected To Win

Churchill, with his Commons majority of 14, was expected to win the showdown vote late tonight.

Eighth Fire Victim Dies In Valleyfield

VALLEYFIELD, Que., Jan. 31—(CP). — Marie-Giselle Tetrault died in hospital Wednesday night, the eighth victim of an early-morning blaze that claimed the lives of her mother and six of her brothers and sisters.

The infant was rescued from her blazing home at nearby St. Timothee by her father, Oliva, 45, who with nine-year-old Pierre were the only survivors of the fire.

Mrs. Madeleine Tetrault, 30, saved Pierre by pushing him through a window of the one-storey frame home on the outskirts of St. Timothee. She collapsed before she could save her other children. They were Nicole 8, Lise 6, Paul 5, Guy 4, Jacques 3, and Robert 2.

Marie-Giselle suffered serious burns when her father rescued her.

Mossadegh Plans To Make Personal Court Appearance

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 31 (Reuters).—Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh will appear personally before the Hague International Court to put Iran's viewpoint on oil, a government spokesman told reporters today.

This was in spite of the fact that Iran does not recognize the court's competence to deal with the British complaint over nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, the spokesman, David Boushiri, added.

Iran would refuse to nominate a judge, he said.

The court takes up the British complaint in the second week of February.

Iran, meanwhile, is sending the court a 52-page memorandum setting out her reasons for refusal to recognize the court's competence on the issue.

The Hague Court had granted an Iranian request for a month's delay before resuming hearing of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute, which had been scheduled for Jan. 10.

Britain first instituted proceedings against the Iranian government May 26, 1951, and, July 5, the court upheld a British request for interim measures ordering a "freeze" on Iranian oil nationalization until the court could reach a decision on its own competence to deal with the dispute.

Four days later Iran withdrew her recognition of the court's right to impose obligatory judgments, but, Nov. 27, Mossadegh said he was prepared to go to The Hague for the hearings of the case

McConkey Gets Certificate For Record

TORONTO, Jan. 31. (CP)—J. D. Innes, president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, said Wednesday that urban dwellers resent increases in milk prices more than price increases in any other product.

He told a meeting of the association that a dairy farmer earns less for an hour's labor than does an industrial worker.

"The greatest obstacle a farmer has today is the lack of r n with ability to handle animals. Until the price of a farmer's production an hour is more in line with the price of industrial production, this condition will not be improved. Many urban people are of the opinion that farmers are a group of profiteers and that producing milk is extremely profitable."

New Ontario directors of the association elected are: George W. Henry, Todmorden; N. R. Martin, St. Thomas; F. M. Snyder, Waterloo; E. A. Innes, Brantford; George McLaughlin, Oshawa; F. C. Eligh, Finch; W. J. Fawcett, Winchester; J. T. Brown, Newcastle; L. B. Reid, Ripley; D. S. Dunton, Brampton; W. E. Burton, Vars; B. G. Clark, Kingston; W. C. Davidson, Listowel; Ross Segsworth, Freeman; C. J. Carswell, Beeton; G. R. Row, Curries.

The Association decided to increase registration and transfer fees by 50 cents. The new registration fee will be $1.50 a head with a $2 transfer charge.

Membership in the association now is 12,205, highest in its history.

Master breeder shields were presented by J. A. Garner of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, to J. P. Davidson, Listowel, J. J. Murphy, Huntingdon, Que., and Senator D. Raymond, Vaudreuil, Que.

J. W. Greenwood, Maple, was presented with superior production certificates in recognition of two world records in butterfat production. Two of his cows produced 1,089 and 1,011 pounds of butterfat to become the first to produce more than 1,000 pounds.

Recipients of similar certificates for Canadian records included: N. W. McConkey, Peterborough; Cecil Atkinson, Schomberg; Earl Quinn, Metcalfe; Elmer S. Stoltz, Alliston; Fox Brothers of Guelph; George Dennis and Sons, St. Thomas, and James A. McKinlay, Port Stanley.

Prices Drop Steadily On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP) — Prices dropped steadily today in early afternoon stock market dealings.

Western oil and base metal speculation dominated exchange dealings while industrials confined activity to leading issues. Volume for the first three hours was 1,534,000 shares.

Papers, steels, refining oils, banks, textiles, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues led industrials lower with a broad list of losses ranging from fractions to more than a point. Utilities, agricultures and constructions also weakened but liquors and retail stores held gains and losses in balance. Foods turned slightly higher.

Western oil losses ranged from pennies to about 50 cents. Calgary and Edmonton, Federated Petroleum, General Petroleum A, Gridoil, Royalite, Okalta and Sapphire traded lower.

Base metal leaders dipped. Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Normetal, Quemont and Waite Amulet posted declines ranging to about $2.

Senior golds posted six declines against one advance. Secondary issues showed a majority of penny losses.

Jesuit Priest Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—The Rev. Joseph Keating, on the staff of the Jesuit seminary here since 1930, died Wednesday. He was 58. Born in Limerick, Ireland, Father Keating received his education in the Jesuit College there. In 1909 he entered the Jesuit order at the Novitiate in Montreal. For two periods he taught at Loyola College, Montreal, and prior to the opening of the Jesuit seminary here, taught classics at the Jesuit seminary in Guelph.

Cloudy, except for a few sunny intervals, today and Friday. Occasional light snow ending during the forenoon today. Scattered showers Friday evening. Milder. Winds southwest 15. Low tonight and high Friday at Trenton 32 and 40, Killaloe 25 and 35, Toronto 32 and 45.

Summary for Friday: Cloudy and milder. Evening showers.

Canadian Destroyer Exchanges Gunfire

SEOUL, Korea. Jan. 31.(CP)—The Canadian destroyer Sioux exchanged gunfire with Communist shore batteries off the west coast of Korea Wednesday.

The Sioux and the American tug Apache were doing salvage work near Chodo Island, southwest of the North Korean capital of Pyongyang when the Red guns opened up. The tug scooted out of range while the Sioux returned the fire. Neither ship was hit.

On the ground, United Nations infantrymen clashed in a few minor patrol skirmishes. A US Eighth Army communique reported two small Red attacks behind mortar barrages were beaten back before dawn along the Pukhan River in the central sector.

Attlee Says

Attlee had these comments on specific points of the economy plan:

1. Drawing on food and raw materials stock piles to avoid import spending is "illogical" when Britain is re-arming against the threat of war.

2. Cutting home supplies of radio sets and washing machines and sharply curbing instalment buying—would "affect the poorer sections of the community" and be "a very vicious piece of class legislation."

3. It is "utterly fantastic" to suggest that a proposed fee of a shilling per medical prescription under the scheme is "a means of dealing with our overseas payments."

Cairo still has a nine-hour curfew, enforced to prevent recurrence of the weekend rioting. Shots were heard Wednesday night, and though no official confirmation was available residents thought curfew breakers had been fired on.

Shoot At 62

On the first night of the curfew, Sunday, 62 persons were shot at. One died.

Ahmed Moytada Maraghi Bey, minister of the interior, in a broadcast Wednesday night warned that potential trouble-makers would be dealt with by the army and police.

King Farouk Wednesday received British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson for the first time since Oct. 9, the day after Egypt denounced the Anglo-Egyptian treaty which allows British troops into the canal zone.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 — (CP) — The United States Dollar today opened at 1/16 of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $1.00 1/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.78 5/16, also unchanged.

Surprise Gift

GLASGOW, Scotland, Jan. 31 (Reuters)—Runnin' in the gutters it was. Hundreds of gallons of it. Pure smooth Scotch whisky, fresh from the highland hills. Eight 112-gallon barrels of it fell off a truck on a street here Wednesday—you can guess the rest. The entire neighborhood turned out in a split second, armed with cups, pots, pans, buckets—anything. One elderly fellow with a large spoon scrambled with the rest as the amber flood gurgled toward the sewer.

Atom Officials Teaming Up

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP).—The University of Michigan and Canada's atomic officials are going to team up in a new international race against time Monday.

For the second time within a few weeks a tiny piece of material that will lose its radio-active "kick" in a day or two is going to be rushed to the university to take part in an atomic experiment. Once the "kick" goes, it is no good for the experiment.

This time the piece of radio-active palladium that will be taken out of the Chalk River nuclear furnace and rushed south by car and plane will be twice the size of the original piece and have twice the "kick."

Sheathed in a protective lead container, it will leave Chalk River by station wagon, be driven 125 miles to Ottawa, flown to Windsor by TCA plane, rushed through customs and motored to the university from Detroit.

Angling Clubs Stock Ponds

WASHINGTON (CP) — The number of anglers in the United States has increased to such an extent that the federal government has had to stop supplying free game fish for stocking brooks and ponds of private fishing clubs, and reserve its supply for federal and state lands.

Dr. O. Lloyd Meehean, chief of the game fish and hatcheries bureau of the department of the interior, says the demands of anglers have reached staggering proportions since the end of the war.

As a result of their demands, he says, private clubs will have to stock their waters with commercially raised fish.

Meehean sees this development as an advantage for commercial producers who have been unable to compete in recent years with importation of frozen brook and rainbow trout from Denmark.

Until the Danish imports started, the American commercial hatcheries had been supplying expensive restaurants at prices ranging from 95 cents to $1.10 a pound. Now, says Meehean, the Danish exporters, subsidized by their government, are shipping the fish to New York to sell at 40 or 50 cents a pound.

forward to get a better view of the take-off.

As the British Overseas Airways Corporation plane began to taxi slowly towards the take-off point, the Princess and Duke waved from a window.

The control tower gave the all-clear and the plane took off at 12:12 pm, its four engines drowning the great cheers from the crowd.

Capt. R. C. Parker, 41, commander of the plane, said before taking off: "There is the possibility of a little cloud flying over France, but otherwise it should be quite a straightforward and comfortable trip. The worst part of the forecast is only the possibility of showers."

Today's departure comes just 10 weeks after the Royal couple returned from a triumphant 35-day tour across Canada and back, with a short side-visit to President Truman in Washington.

More Extensive Tour

On this new trip, they are substituting for the King and Queen, whose long-planned tour of the Antipodes was cancelled because of the monarch's health. The young folks will try to make up for it with a far more extensive tour.

They fly first to El Adem, in Libya, then across Africa to Nairobi, Kenya, which was not on the King's itinerary. They will stay in Kenya a week, part of the time making their first visit to the hunting lodge which the colony gave them as a wedding present.

At Mombasa they will board the liner Gothic and will sail to Ceylon. There they will visit Kandy, last capitol of the Kandyan kings, and the famous Buddhist shrine, the Temple of the Tooth.

The couple's Australian tour starts at Perth April 1 and will extend around the south and east coasts of that commonwealth. Before reaching Sydney they will visit Tasmania, then will rest for two or three days at a big sheep ranch in Murrumbidgee valley in the latter part of April.

Most of the travel in Australia will be by plane.

The tour of New Zealand opens at Wellington May 7 and will include a holiday on a Canterbury sheep station and a reception by the Maoris, the Antipodes' original settlers, at Rotorua.

Find Notable Mural

WELLOW, Somerset, England—(CP)—Archaeologists have recovered a fresco of Christ and the 12 apostles from behind plaster on the wall of a local church. The mural, said to be at least 450 years old, was covered up by the troops of Oliver Cromwell in the 17th century.

Delayed Medal

CRANBROOK, BC — (CP)— Thirty years after being pensioned for the second time from the British army, J. P. Fraser has received the Meritorious Service medal. He enlisted in 1890, was first pensioned in 1911 and rejoined for the First World War, coming to Canada in 1921.

Keeping Dog In Big City Real Problem

LONDON—(CP)—Gretchen, a sleek Daschund who didn't like Canada, may have to move over and make room in her dog-house, figuratively speaking, for a couple of human beings.

For the last four years, ever since she took a dislike to the chilly Canadian climate, Gretchen has been a problem to her mistress, Mrs. Mary Stott, and to property owners.

Now it looks as though Mrs. Stott and her 16-year-old daughter, may have to move again— all because Gretchen is back in the dog house. The municipal authorities who own Mrs. Stott's apartment in nearby Ilford have sent her six warnings that she must get rid of the dog—or move out.

"Dogs aren't even allowed to visit the apartment," Mrs. Stott said.

"I wish we'd given Canada another chance," she added with a sigh. "I'm sure we could have found friends who would have given us a home and allowed us to keep Gretchen."

The Stotts emigrated in 1947 and lived in two Toronto hotels. Gretchen made many friends, the family says, but couldn't stand the climate.

Back in Britain, Gretchen was boarded out with Mrs. Ethel Lee. But Mrs. Lee left to visit her daughter in Montreal, and Gretchen was back in the bosom of the family.

That brought the six strict warnings from the housing authorities. Now Mrs. Stott doesn't know what to do. Her only consolation is that Mrs. Lee will soon be back, bringing with her a new dog coat from Montreal.

Meanwhile, if the eviction notice is finally served, Gretchen may have to give up part of that dog-house.

Ford, Union Adjourn Talks

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—Contract negotiations between Ford Motor Company of Canada and Local 200, United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) were adjourned today for an indefinite period.

The talks were started Monday at the invitation of Labor Minister Daley to forestall a threatened strike of 9,000 workers at the Ford Windsor plant.

Both parties were asked to be prepared to resume neogtiations at a moment's notice.

The union earlier indicated it would accept the latest company offer of a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase over the present basic rate of $1.35. However, there still are more than 20 other contract items in dispute.

Performer Is Sorry For 'Bad Manners'

LONDON— (CP) — An unusual incident in BBC history has closed with a public apology by Gilbert Harding, radio and television performer noted for his blunt opinions.

Harding apologized to the BBC, to television viewers and to a private individual for what he called "my bad manners and bad temper."

In a television program, Harding sparred with the master of ceremonies and told a participant: "I am tired of seeing your face."

Harding, 42, formerly assistant BBC director in Canada ,was rested for five months last April as question-master of the program "Twenty Questions." The BBC said at the time the program was "unsatisfactory."

BILLIONS AT STAKE—As the first session of the Philippine-Japan reparations talks begins in Manila, Philippines Foreign Secretary Joaquin Elizalde (left) shakes hands with the head Japanese delegate, Juichi Tsushima. The Philippines demanded more than $8,000,000,000 in World War II reparations.

Fife, Drum Lead Snowshoers In Parade Through Quebec

By RENE LEGACE

QUEBEC—(CP) — Parades are nothing unusual for this old capital where fife, drum and trumpet are brought out for any kind of celebration. But for this one, Quebecers craned their necks out of windows when the rat-tat-tat of drums sounded.

It seemed unbelieveable that any brass band would be out in the late January cold. The thermometer hovered near zero.

Then they saw the reason.

Oddly-dressed men and women —nearly 200 strong—were marching up a zigzagging hill. They were the raquetteurs ((snowshoe runners) going to a district meeting. Four bands blocked traffic for about five minutes.

Drum majorettes in short skirts led each band, but they wore long woollen stockings to ward off the biting cold. Even a little girl, no more than three feet tall, took part in the pageant.

A Casual Walk

For the snowshoes it was just another casual walk to their meeting place. For Quebecers it was just another parade and they quickly slammed windows shut.

The raquetteurs are still to be found in Quebec ,Province, holding winter convention over country fields covered by several feet of snow, and the old-time snowshoe that looks like an oversize tennis racket still hangs in many a French-Canadian home. Groups in Quebec City, at every opportunity, don the old costumes of coureurs de bois and file out in prade.

The raquetteur wears the old-style toque—a woollen cone the size of a 10-pound paper bag that tapers to a "pompon" (stringy wool tuft).

Colorful Garb

A red scarf tight around his neck, he carries a heavy wool topcoaf reaching down to mid-thigh, wears woollen pants and red stockings. Indian-type mocassins are a favorite with the expert snowshoser. The coats are of different colors, but best-loved are those in white or dark grey.

Of course, a nsowshoer wouldn't feel well-dressed unless a long ceinture flechee adorned his waist. The red again is preferred, but many a hardy raquetteur will boast of his multi-colored ceinture flechee.

Quebecers have more than their share of parades.

Many a convention in the old capital means a parade. The same applies for the stag party of a future bridegroom, the winner of a political appointment, the return of long-lost relatives and many other occasions.

The real pageants when nearly the entire population lines the streets are the Santa Claus and the St. Jean Baptiste Day parades, the latter on June 24 in honor of French-Canada's patron saint.

Mickey McDonald Heads List Of 10 Most-Wanted Criminals

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—The RCMP today put Donald (Mickey) McDonald, Toronto gunman, at the head of a crime roll of their 10 "most-wanted" lawbreakers.

The 44-year-old former Toronto salesman, believed to have fled to the United States after breaking out of Kingston penitentiary in 1947, tops a list of men wanted for murder, forgery, narcotics charges, bank robbery, swindling and criminal insanity.

The list, Canada's first announced roll of public enemies, was prepared by the RCMP at the request of newspapermen. It gives the wanted men in the chronological order of their alleged offences.

Beside McDonald—wanted for bank robbery in Windsor as well as the prison break—the criminals are given as:

Walter Pavlukoff, 38, Vancouver laborer, wanted for the killing of bank manager Sidney Petrie in a holdup at a Vancouver branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce Aug. 25, 1947;

Hugh Kennedy, alias McIntosh, 34, of Winnipeg and Toronto, wanted by Toronto police for escaping custody while on the way to Kingston penitentiary Nov. 27, 1928, to serve eight years for forgery;

Wanted For Murder

Donald Winslow Henderson, 35, university graduate and bush-cutting contractor of Calgary, wanted by Calgary police for the murder of Yvonne Levesque, Aug. 11, 1949;

Michel Sisco, alias Antoine d'Agostino, 44, restaurant owner in Montreal, wanted on narcotics charges since Feb. 1, 1950. A native of France, he was convicted at Toulouse in 1948 for treason and sentenced to death in absentia;

Melville Wilkie, 41, laborer of Shallow Lake, Ont., who set a fire in his house that burned his wife and child to death in Owen Sound in 1933. He escaped from the Ontario hospital for the criminally insane at Penetanguishene on July 14, 1950;

John Mallock, 36, Winnipeg salesman, wanted in Vancouver for selling narcotics.

George Michael Mallock, 37, Winnipeg carpenter, brother of John, wanted on the same charges as John. Both failed to appear for trial in January, 1951;

Swindler Included

William Patrick Ryan, 62, of England and New Zealand, described as an international swindler. He is wanted by Vancouver and Toronto police for horse-race betting swindles. He is accused of fraudulently obtaining $5,000 at Toronto last April 4 and $10,500 at Vancouver last Oct. 11;

Edwin Alonzo Boyd, 37, Toronto laborer, wanted by Toronto city police for bank robbery and escaping from Toronto jail Nov. 4, 1951.

The man at the head of the list —McDonald—cut a wide crime swath through Eastern Canada a few years ago with two companions, Nick Minnelli and Ulysses Lauzon. McDonald is the only one of the trio still unaccounted for.

Lauzon was found shot to death in the southeastern United States, and Minnelli was picked up in Los Angeles.

Declares Aid To Britain Benefits World

NEW YORK—(CP)—McGraw-Hill Publishing Co., Inc., big American producers of business and industrial publications, has a two-page advertisement in Editor and Publisher entitled "How to Help Britain—and ourselves."

It says the purpose of the ad-editorial is "to help Winston Churchill obtain the aid Britain needs," and states that "this is not a philanthropic course." it adds:

"Britain is our staunchest ally in the free world's continuing fight for survival. She cannot perform her role effectively if she is broke, or if she careens from one financial crisis to another . . .

"It is the drive of the western world under our leadership to re-arm against Russian aggression that has precipitated Britain's financial crisis. It set off a scramble for raw materials.

Must Produce

"So the price of the things Britain must import—mostly raw materials—have been boosted more than the prices of things she can export—mostly finished products. That leaves Britain short of funds to pay for essential products."

The McGraw-Hill advertisement recounts Britain's losses in foreign income to finance "her heroic part" in the Second World War. It says "the best and, in fact, the only way to help cure Britain's economic ills is to help Britain produce more." However, it cautions against Americans imposing "upon the hard-pressed British people conditions that could be construed as an affront to a friendly and sovereign nation."

It Pays To Be Nice

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 — (AP) — To one of her customers, Mrs. Helen Hatley is a $1,000 baby in a five-and-10-cent store. For 10 years, Mrs. Hatley has helped the customer and his wife make selections of bakery goods in a department store on Michigan Ave. The customer—who asked to remain anonymous—handed something to Mrs. Hatley Wednesday saying, "I want you to have this. You've been so nice to us all these years". "This" was a $1,000 savings bond.

Short Stay

HALIFAX (CP) — Arriving aboard the liner Samaria with 600 immigrants, one newcomer arranged to go back on the return trip. Heavy seas had prevented the Le Havre harbor pilot, Jean Rolland, from getting off the liner as she left the French port.

Chinese Firemen

BARKERVILLE, BC (CP)—Bill Hong, 30-year-old placer miner, is believed the only Chinese-Canadian fire chief in Canada. He heads a group of unpaid volunteers in this village, 350 miles north east of Vancouver.

NOT AN OPTICAL ILLUSION—About all these ships need are wheels and they go on cruising through Montreal streets. The water level in the harbor has risen to lift these lakers, wintering in Montreal harbor, to within a few feet of the top of the dock. But don't worry—it is not believed likely that the water level will go up sufficiently to send tons of water and ice—and ships—spilling into waterfront areas.

Rural Teachers Go On Strike

SYDNEY, NS, Jan. 31 (CP)—Cape Breton's rural teachers went on strike for higher wages today, the first such walkout in Nova Scotia's history.

The 175-member Cape Breton Rural and Village School Teachers' local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union held fast to their decision, reached at a meeting Wednesday to stay away from their desks to enforce salary demand.

It was also believed the some 70 non-union teachers in the district agreed to the union's request that they stay at home, but this could not be confirmed immediately.

The action did not affect schools in the city of Sydney and the towns of Glace Bay, North Sydney and Sydney Mines.

The local's teachers want a $300 yearly increase. The Cape Breton County Council voted Thursday to refer the matter back to the provincial government.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald's government has maintained the province already is paying most of education costs and any salary increase would have to come from municipalities.

Only in one town, Inverness, has the salary problem been untangled. There, the teachers accepted an increase of $200 a year.

Obituary

MRS. GEORGE BRADLEY

Mrs. George Bradley, 72, York township, and formerly of Peterborough died Jan. 22 following a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Bradley, the former Adeline Elizabeth Bean, was born in Otonabee township. Following her marriage she moved to Toronto and then York township where she has lived ever since. She was a member of Runnymede Presbyterian Church.

Return To Work

GUATEMALA CITY, Jan. 31—(Reuters)—Five thousand government communications workers returned to work Wednesday after a threat by the government to cancel their union contract unless work was resumed. The strike had paralyzed telephone, telegraph and mail facilities throughout the republic.

Don't Like Statement

CARDIFF, Wales, Jan. 31 —(Reuters)—South Wales miners Wednesday asked a Conservative member of parliament to withdraw a statement in which he said British miners did not like Italian workers because of their "sex appeal." The South Wales executive of the Mineworkers Union said the statement by M. P. Victor Raikes was "insulting."

Will Crack Down

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Jan. 31 (AP) — Brazil's government hinted Wednesday it plans to crack down hard on Communist subversive activity and to take a firmer line toward the Communist press. Justice Minister Francisco Negrao Lima said the government must guard the country's institutions and support the western countries in their battle against world Communism.

Women Gamblers

READING, Pa., Jan. 31—(AP) — Women gamblers outnumber men gamblers in Berks County 5 to 4—according to the latest statistics of the Internal Revenue Bureau. Francis R. Smith collector for Eastern Pennsylvania, disclosed Wednesday that five women and four men have applied for the $50 gambling tax stamp required under the law, effective Nov. 1, 1951.

Reading, "Man and the Auto Ride", was given by Mrs. Cecil Oliver. A contest was won by Mrs. Crate.

Crazed Woman Kills 3 Children

GENTRYVILLE, Ind., Jan. 31—(AP). — Fear that she would be committed to a mental institution apparently drove a 38-year-old Kentucky woman to kill her three children and herself Wednesday.

The victims were Mrs. Virginia Blair Rudy and her children Sally 10, Kitty 7, and James 5, members of a prosperous Owensboro, Ky., family.

Police found the children dead and Mrs. Rudy dying in their automobile parked on a highway a half-mile east of Gentryville. Each had been shot through the temple. Mrs. Rudy died in a hospital at Huntingburg.

Coroner Roscoe Medcalf said Mrs. Rudy left this note:

"Your mother and Tyler have found me out. They intend to send me off for treatment. This is the easiest way out for all, because it's done. Mother and daddy, forgive me if you can."

There was no identification of "Tyler," but Dr. Lee Tyler of Owensboro confirmed that she had been his patient.

Import Restrictions Not Answer—Fadden

LONDON, Jan. 31 (Reuters).—Finance Minister Sir Arthur Fadden of Australia said today that import restrictions alone will not solve the sterling area's financial problems.

Such a policy, he said in a BBC Pacific service talk, would eventually defeat its purpose and weaken the sterling position.

"There must be a common policy," he said, "having for its objective the restoration of sterling to its full stature as a world currency and the removal of the fundamental causes of these recurrent crises."

Fadden said the recent conference of Commonwealth finance ministers agreed the sterling bloc must increase its dollar-earning capacity and do its utmost to attract investments from outside the sterling area.

A fundamental necessity was that each member of the sterling area must strive to live within its means.

Landmark Goes

PINCHER CREEK, Alta. (CP). —A landmark in this Southern Alberta town since 1889, the Arlington Hotel has been torn down. The hotel, built of hand-made bricks made on a district farm, was known for many years simply as "The Brick Hotel."

Guilty Of Assault Man Fined $15

Found guilty of a common assault charge in police court Wednesday, Albert McCaw, was fined $15 and costs totalling $33.20.

McCaw, who operates a store and cabins on Highway 28 between Peterborough and Lakefield, was charged with assaulting Hilda McIlmoyle, 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. Hilda McIlmoyle who lives with her family in one of McCaw's cabins.

The alleged assault was said to have taken place December 26, when McCaw struck Miss McIlmoyle after she and his wife had been scuffling in a snow bank.

Both Mrs. McIlmoyle, her daughter Hilda and a witness, Mrs. Frances Wagstaff testified they heard McCaw use foul language, then strike Hilda with his fist.

Denies Blow

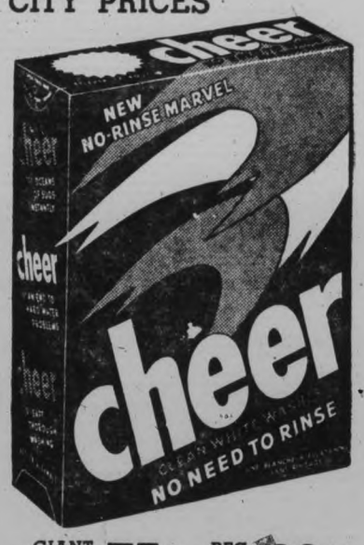
McCaw denied hitting the girl and using foul language. Mrs. Rita McCaw and their 12-year-old son Albert explained that after Mrs. McIlmoyle and Mrs. McCaw had become involved in an argument, Hilda had rushed out and intervened. Mrs. McCaw said Mrs. McIlmoyle was "about to hit her with a stick," when her son Albert stepped between them and hit Hilda.

"Frankly, I can't believe the defence evidence that no foul language was used," commented Magistrate W. R. Philp in finding McCaw guilty. "If the accused cannot be believed in that detail, how can he expect me to believe him at anytime?" the magistrate said. "It is unfortunate the little boy was brought into this."

Condemned To Die

VIENNA, Australia, Jan. 31—(AP)—A Red Bulgaria court in Sofia has condemned to death Kyrill Petronoff and Pavel Pnceff for "spying for the United States," the Czechoslovak radio in Prague announced Wednesday nigtht. Four others accused were sentenced to prison terms.

Go Out of Business



TOKYO, Jan. 31—(Reuters)—State Minister Katsuo Okazaki said today the Soviet Mission in Tokyo will go out of business when the Japanese peace treaty comes into effect. He told the budget committee of the diet (parliament) the government does not know whether Russia, which did not sign the treay, intends to maintain representatives in Japan.

Good English Begins At Home

The University of Toronto is disturbed because a large proportion of its first-year students have a poor command of English. Some attempts have been made to lay the blame for this upon High School teaching, and the High School teachers have passed the buck to the public school teachers; these, in their turn, have said that they cannot be expected to teach children good English who do not hear good English at home. And in this we think that they are entirely right. The place to begin learning good English is in the cradle.

* * *

Languages are best learned by ear. A child who has learned to speak English grammatically and expressively at home will learn the whys and wherefores in its grammar studies when it goes to school, but it will not have to undo impressions received during the first five years of life. It may be said, however, that a child who goes to school with a background of good English speech at present will quickly learn that many other children do not speak the language in the same way; often, to gain popularity or simply to escape without mockery, it will learn another sort of English—the English of the schoolground.

* * *

Are Canadian homes illiterate and ill-spoken, upon the whole? We do not like to think so, but the evidence from the schools and universities suggests that it is true. It is also asserted that the press plays its part in degrading the English in common use in our country; we do not seek to escape completely from this charge, but we say that the press is never, knowingly and deliberately, ungrammatical. The usual prose of Canadian newspapers, though undistinguished, is not bad, and we would back the journalists of Canada to make a better showing on a stiff examination in grammar and usage than a group of university students. Language is the tool of their trade, and they must have a workmanlike command of it.

* * *

We are not, in this country, careful in our use of the King's English. (Pardon: in deference to the known opinion of the Government, let us say The Government of Canada's English.) We seem to lack that taste for good speech which distinguished so many of our Scottish, Irish and English forebears. This is a fault in our national character; it is an important aspect of life in which we are not fully civilized. And until the population of the country, on all except its lowest levels, learns to love our language, and treats it with respect and affection, we needs must complain that our schools are not doing their job in this respect. Home is the place to learn the mother tongue, and parents are the first and most influential teachers. Let them look to it.

First Pension Cheques

More than twenty-five million dollars of extra money are to be put into circulation by the end of the week. They are the first pension cheques to be issued since automatic pensions for every Canadian aged seventy or more became a fact in Canadian law.

Although the cheques individually amount to only $40, they add up across the country to a very large sum—more than $25,000,000. This amount is to be disbursed each month. As the population increases and ages, the amount will increase. It is both a large load on the taxpayer and a new flow of money; (312,000 of the 623,000 cheques go to persons formerly not pensioned.) In times like the present this national disbursement is somewhat inflationary, for it increases by more than $25,000,000 a month the spending capacity of the Canadian people. In times when economic depression threatens it will be a stabilizing flow of extra money.

All major political parties in Canada have accepted the principle of old age pensions as being a right of the citizens. In the first dozen or score of years it will be a right for which most of the recipients have not themselves paid in taxes. But thereafter, since wages and profits are being taxed now to provide pension funds, the pensioners will have bought the pension which is stated to be theirs of right.

There is one restrictive clause in the old age security legislation which we believe should be deleted, either now or in a dozen years when pensioners will have paid for at least a part of their pension in previous taxes on their earnings. That is the clause restricting residence to Canada. A pensioner may not continue to receive his pension if he lives outside the country for more than three months in the year. This restriction on residence may be justifiable as a safety control to the flow of money outside Canada; for if every pensioner chose to live in Florida, England or Italy, the outward monthly flow of Canadian dollars would be an unbalancing deluge. But we think no such situation is likely to arise. If conditions of foreign exchange made a stoppage of pensions payments to Canadians living abroad necessary, this could be done by special legislation.

If the old age pensions are a right and not a privilege, then that right should be freely given—especially in a dozen or two years when most pensioners will have paid their own hard cash for the pensions. Is there something distasteful to Ottawa in the notion of a person of seventy choosing to spend part or all his declining years outside Canada? It seems so, otherwise, why the residential restriction attached to the pensions? Veterans of the first and second World Wars who are pensioners receive their disability pensions wherever they might be. It is taken for granted that that is their right. Why then should it be taken for granted that an old age pensioner must live in Canada if he wants to get his $40-a-month cheque?

Put Your Hand Down

The lone man at a resort operators' meeting in North Bay who held out against every other member has recanted. It was a shocking example of the way democracy sometimes works.

The issue was whether or not to admit wives as members of the association. It was said that they shared the work of running the resort business anyway. However, the item was not on the agenda and could not be admitted to it, or the proposal accepted, without unanimous consent. All the men approved the item and the admission of the women to membership—except one. His veto was sufficient to block the motion. However, he later recanted. "I didn't realize what I was doing. I was sitting in the front row and couldn't see that I was the only man to put up a hand".

How shaming! Not that he was the only man to object, but that, having objected, he put his hand down when he found the majority against him. It is reported that after the meeting he was besieged by members and their wives; however it matters little whether they ganged up on him or whether he could not bear being out of step and thus withdrew his objection. If he had any principle or logic behind his opposition he deserted it in the face of the majority—meekly, without protest, with only a squeal: "I was sitting in the front row and couldn't see that I was the only man to put up a hand". Thus does democracy work far too often—weak submission to loudness, faint-hearted fear of unpopularity, a hankering for pre-natal warmth in the womb of the crowd. Take a back seat so that you will not need to reason for yourself or stick to any principles; just see what the crowd does and do likewise.

That is how it came about that Germans took a back seat to Nazism.

Unsigned Letters

In the discussion of the school situation in Douro we have received a number of unsigned letters to the editor. We must repeat that we will not publish any letter unless we are in possession of the name and address of the writer; we shall keep this a secret if that is the writer's wish, but without it we will not publish.

In our experience these unsigned letters usually contain rancorous expressions of opinion. We are prepared to publish letters containing strong opinions, strongly worded, so long as these are not libellous. But we cannot, for obvious reasons, publish unsigned and unacknowledged communications which appear to have been prompted by spite or malice.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"You should have a good reason for removing the tonsils," says a medical columnist. Or two bad reasons will do.

We know too many self-made men who tried to do the job in a five-day week.

Most men, we read, are taller in the morning than when they go to bed. The result, we presume, of depressing incidents during the day.

Canadian chartered banks have agreed to be as cagey as possible about loans, in order to check inflation. In contrast, we presume, to their usual devil-may-care, "take an extra thousand" attitude.

People who have qualms because the Governor-General designate has had connections with the Liberal Party may ponder the situation of the retiring Governor-General becoming a Conservative Cabinet Minister.

Toronto is now considering paying its school trustees salaries equivalent to those of aldermen. In return, of course, they would be expected to take on the duties of crossing guards, and helping the kids on with their outside clothes in cold weather.

The Gulf Between Britain And U.S.

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

(Ed. Note: In this article Sebastian Haffner pinpoints the basic outstanding policy division between America and Britain. The peace of the world, he says, may well depend on the overcoming of this division.)

THIS Churchill-Truman meeting of 1952, in contrast of the two Attlee-Truman meetings of 1945 and 1950, which dealt only with specific topical questions, amounted to a general survey of the world scene and an attempt to harmonize British and American policies on a global scale.

Exactly to what extent this attempt has succeeded it is impossible to say yet. Clearly there has been some success. British and American policies have moved closer on several issues. But one basic diference between British and American world policy and cold-war strategy appears to have been clarified and brought into the open, rather than eliminated.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE difference does not lie in the appreciation of Russia and Communism — both countries regard Russian and Communist imperialism as an implacably hostile force. Nor does it lie in their attitude towards the question of war or peace—both countries refuse to regard war as inevitable and reject any thought of a preventive war or aggressive crusade. Nor is there any basic difference in their European policies, despite occasional minor differences and misunderstandings. Both countries are fully committed to the defence of Europe, and both give to this commitment first priority in their foreign and defence policies. There is not the slightest doubt that if there were any military aggression in Europe, both Britain and America, without a moment's hesitation, would resist it with their entire power, even at the risk of world war. Precisely because this is so, and is well-known to be so, there are now sober hopes that aggression in Europe will not occur.

But the cold war has three fronts, of which Europe is only one. The other two are the Far East and the Middle East. And here the British and the American world strategic appreciations and policies difer. For America, the Far East is priority Number Two (after Europe)—indeed, there is a minority school of American policy-makers who would give it equal priority with Europe — while the Middle East is very definitely priority Number Three. For Britain, it is exactly the other way round.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is very natural, if one considers geography. The Far East—"Far" only as seen from Europe—is America's next-door neighbour. If you stand at the San Pedro Palisades in Los Angeles or on the Golden Gate in San Francisco, you feel in the very heart of American civilization. But there is nothing between you and China except an empty expanse of water. The Middle East, by contrast, looks far away from America, and America's interests there are only marginal.

For Britain, on the other hand, the Middle East is the very centre of the Commonwealth system, by which Britain lives and breathes. Cut its communications, take away its oil (which fuels the British Navy and Air Force) and you have cut the throat of the Commonwealth. On the other hand, the most serious possible losses—in the Far East—such as the loss of Hong Kong or even of Malaya—would be painful but not mortal; the loss of precious limbs, but not of vital organs.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS difference in priorities might not matter so much if Britain and America had the ready and mobilized power to take good care of all their interests, whatever the priority. But this, as everybody knows, is not now the case. At the moment, British and American resources, only quarter-mobilized, are stretched to the utmost. Even their joint Number One priority, Europe, is only most precariously defended. In these circumstances a harsh choice must be made between ordinary interests and "vital" interest. Rather than let it fall under hostile domination she would risk world war. The Middle East is no vital intnerest to her. For Britain, it is the other way round; the Middle East is vital; the Far East is not.

Unfortunately, there is a very real possibility that the year 1952 may produce international crises which pose the question of war or peace both in the Far East and the Middle East.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the Far East, the armistice negotiations in Korea may yet fail, or an agreed armistice may be broken; and the fact the China has now air parity in Korea may make it impossible for the numerically-inferior Allied land forces to repeat their earlier successes, which were largely due to their domination of the air. Such a situation might therefore again raise the terrible alternative between accepting total defeat in Korea or making unlimited war against China at the risk of world war. And a similar alternative would arise in the case of Chinese armed intervention in Indo-China.

In the Middle East, a time-bomb continues ticking away in Persia. With the Persian oil industry at a standstill, the chief flow of revenue which sustains the Persian economy has ceased. An economic collapse may be staved off by shifts and expedients for some months, but is bound to occur some time in 1952, unless the oil is set flowing again—and of this there is no sign. If an economic collapse in Persia leads to a successful Communist coup or to Russian intervention in a civil war—and both are very real posibilities—the West will face the alternative of permitting a deep Russian penetration into the Middle East, and to the shores of the Indian Ocean, or of intervening at the risk of world war.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE fact that British and American policies are basically divided—and are known to be divided—over these fateful questions makes it all the more likely that they will be put to the test. The peace of the world in 1952 may well depend on the overcoming of this basic division and putting it publicly on record, beyond any doubt that it has been overcome. This division—and not any superficial squabble over the personal merits or demerits of Chiang Kai-shek (Chinese Nationalist leader) or Dr. Mossadek (Persian Premier), or over the legal intricacies of the status of Formosa and the claims of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company—is the issue that Britain and America must solve if they are truly to "tread the same path" and thus prevent disaster in the dangerous world of 1952.

Letters To The Editor

WEIN, WEIB UND GESANG

Sir: Accustomed as we are to the occasional errors which we like to think should be attributed to the typographical rather than to the Editorial Department, we feel that your latest error in tonight's Examiner, was, unfortunate. In the note "City Declining", there appears the opening line "In the immoral city of Vienna". Dealing as it does with the subject of the birth-rate there, this might well be read at its face-value by anyone unacquainted with this beautiful and cultured city. However, we trust that you will surely correct this statement about this immortal city, and, perhaps give us some rather more interesting details of Vienna.

Yours truly,
DR. and MRS. ARTHUR METCALFE

Ed. Note: The item was printed exactly as it was received from Reuter's Vienna bureau which, being on the spot is presumably in a position to judge. A city containing three different armies of occupation may well have a shaken moral foundation.

WHY NOT A VETERANS' VILLAGE?

Sir: Having read so many letters regarding schools in Douro Tp., and having come from a family of teachers and having been a teacher for 14 yr. in the U.S., I wish to state a few facts. As a back ground for the following, I relate this not to boast but to prove the saying, "Where There Is A Will There Is A Way".

My parents had five teachers in their family of eleven children. Four sons married teachers. There were seven grand-children teachers. All those teachers has experience in so called "One room red brick schools", excepting one daughter-in-law. All were graduates of universities or colleges excepting two men. All taught in little red schools and later in high schools or colleges, excepting four. One of those teachers was never in the 4th or 8th grades because the school was so small that the 4th and 5th grades were joined and the 7th and 8th grade were taught together. Each time the 3 in the lower grade passed along with those in the next grade and with honor. All those children, who later became teachers entered without difficulty the highest standard of high schools. Each passed into respective colleges and universities without difficulty.

Recently a councillor told me, "When you become educated enough to understand our proposed by-law on forest conservation, you will think differently . . . "I wish to state that, I learned about conservation of forests long before I came to Canada and had the good fortune to teach and practice it. Now, I wish to apply the word conservation in respect to the taxpayers' money and the rights of the veterans of Douro and any or all other parents. The taxpayer's rights and money are being jeopardized today in too much of a dictatorial way by too many in office not acting as representatives of the people in general but in a way that is emptying both the heads and pocket books of all concerned to a degree that forces the taxpayers to think, and say now and with the determination to act later. "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be, so there is a great change in the making."

All of us saw the little red school fade away (excepting where demand did not merit the change) and most modernly built, equipped, staffed and regulated schools sprang into being even though the "One hoss minds" did kick like baby steers on a city street. Now within a 100 mile radius of the home of our parents, there are over 20 colleges, universities, business schools and the most modern of, consolidated country schools along with a few One room schools.

Any city of growing population has suburbs so as I see potentialities in the near future, I see no reason why those veteran families should not work toward their desired goal by making their home site a Veterans' Village the true sense of the word. I class that as Conservation for Humanity.

Read January 26th Toronto Daily Star and see how a group of RCAF members built a $300,000 structure over a period of 2 yr. making a 12 room stucco modernly-built, equipped, staffed and regulated school for their children on the frozeh and barren lands of Labrador. If those men of battle can build on frozen ground, why cannot our veterans of world wide experience, education, ambition and strong will fight this school battle and win for the sake of their children and those of future generations with the same determined spirit as they fought and helped to win 2 great wars and come out with flying colours and honour only to be harassed by those who have known and experienced so little of the progress a growing world has to offer.

The world and the people in it can take away most any and everything but they have a real fight on if they try to take away our education and character. They may and can empty their own heads and hands and your hands but they cannot empty your heads and destroy your character or will to progress.

God gave us rocks with which we can build roads and schools etc. Why not build a rock school on a rock foundation with an auditorium to be used as a theatre, for physical, mental and spiritual building, where all may gather for educational value whether they be youth or adult? Community spirit would help mould a way for a modernly built Veterans' Village, first in Ontario? Where there is a will your needs should prove a way.

Yours,
(MRS.) JOSEPH HAMILTON
Stony Lake

A VOICE OF REASON

Sir: May I take this opportunity to urge all those of differing views regarding the School Area to drop sarcasm, personalities and bitterness. Both have points and though I am a farmer's wife and am vitally interested, I want to see all the children given a fair chance. Our trustees have been guilty of exaggeration in several points which has weakened their case.

There is no reason why the growing Warsaw Road settlement should not have a man on the council and in order to get a fair representative vote the hours should be changed. I would suggest they send a deputation to the Council before another election and ask that the voting hours be from nine to six or even ten to seven. The only law regarding the hours is that the poll be open for nine consecutive hours.

One correpsondent rather bitterly remarked that no farmer helped to build the new temporary room put up last summer. That is rather unreasonable when every farmer was working at top speed at that time and could hardly be expected to leave his crops out. We don't get Saturdays off, you know.

There are a couple of points that might well be remembered. If the school is built on the Warsaw Road property as suggested and the children brought by bus, it will be the children of those of us who have lived in this township for many years, (in many cases several generations on the same farm) who will have to get to school by bus. It means an early start, probably waiting at gates in winter for the bus, stormy days when the bus won't get through at all. The children from the V.L.A. settlement will have the school at their doorstep. Another point—our schools were not overcrowded until you moved into the township and is it surprising that we hesitate to be forced into a capital expenditure when we were doing all right as we were? Granted that our schools are not adequate, they certainly aren't as bad as so many of you have pictured.

It is clear that new schools will have to be built. The present trustees advocate building more one-room schools. But wouldn't this be more expensive in the long run? Surely one larger building under one roof and on one foundation, with one heating system would be less costly than two or more separate smaller units.

My solution is some of the parties to get together with a representative of the Department of Education and go over the whole thing without anger and with give and take on both sides. An auditorium would be splendid, but is it absolutely necessary at the present time? If estimates can be got with all the frills eliminated we might find the cost less than expected. It won't hurt to look into it. In the meantime we are getting no where and only stirring up hard feeling.

ONE FARMER'S WIFE

A LESSON FROM DICKENS

Sir: Is it permissible to quote from a book, passages which impressed the writer of times long past but which in many, many ways could be applied to modern times? If so, here are two paragraphs which caught my attention.

When Charles Dickens was returning from Quebec to Montreal, the decks of the vessel in which he was travelling was crowded with English and Irish emigrants to Canada. He wrote of how wonderful it was to see how clean the children had been kept, and how untiring in their love and self-denial all the poor parents were. He wrote "Cant as we may, and as we shall to the end of all things, it is very much harder for the poor to be virtuous than it is for the rich; and the good that is in them shines the brighter for it. In many a noble mansion lives a man, the best of husbands and of fathers, whose private worth in both capacities is justly lauded to the skies. But bring him here, upon this crowded deck. Strip from his fair young wife her silken dress and jewels, unbind her braided hair, stamp early wrinkles on her brow, pinch her pale cheek with care and much privation, array her faded form in coarsely-patched attire, let there be nothing but his love to set her forth and deck her out, and you shall put it to proof indeed. So change his station in the world, that he will see in those young things who climb about his knee, not records of his wealth and name, but little wrestlers with him for his daily bread; so many poachers on his scanty meal; so many units to divide his every sum of comfort, and further to reduce its small amount. In lieu of the endearments of childhood in its sweetest aspect, heap upon him all its pains and wants, its sicknesses and ills, its fretfulness, caprice, and querulous endurance; let its prattle be, not of engaging infant fancies, but of cold, and thirst, and hunger; and if his fatherly affection outlive all this, and he be patient, watchful, tender; careful of his children's lives, and mindful always of their joys and sorrows; then send him to Parliament, and Pulpit, and to Quarter Sessions, and when he hears fine talk of the depravity of those who live from hand to mouth, and labor hard to do it, let him speak up, as one who knows, and tell those holders forth that they, by parallel with such a class, should be High Angels in their daily lives, and lay but humble siege to Heaven at last."

"Which of us shall say what he would be, if such realities with small relief or change through his days, were his? Looking upon these people; far from home, houseless, indigent, wandering, weary with travel and hard living; and seeing how patiently they nursed and tended their young children; how they consulted their wants first, then half supplied their own; what gentle ministers of hope and faith the women were; how the men profited by their example; and how very, very seldom even a moment's petulance or harsh complaint broke out among them, I felt a stronger love and honor of my kind come glowing on my heart, and wished to God there had been many Atheists in the better part of human nature there, to read this simple lesson in the book of Life."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.

The Lord then answered him, and said, Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?

And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him. (Luke 13: 11-17.)

A "Check" To French Immigration

(Le Soleil, Quebec)

For two years, especially during the last six months, thousands of immigrants of French or Latin origin have arrived in our province with the intention of settling and living here. It is natural that the French-speaking people are seeking to live a new life in an atmosphere which is not too foreign to that of the country which they have left. Leaving aside certain absurd illusions which they may have cherished on leaving, is not the margin too great between their experience and what they expected to find on arrival? Anglo-Saxon and other immigrants have also had their disappointments: that is understood. After all, they cannot be compared with the vexations which hundreds, even thousands, of French immigrants are undergoing, victims of a not disinterested propaganda on leaving and of a lack of interest when they arrive. Already there is talk in some quarters of a "check" to French immigration to the province of Quebec. Perhaps the word is an exaggeration for the moment. But, alas, it will be in accord with reality if, six months or a year from now, steps are not taken in higher circles to better the situation.

ALL ELEVENS

He was talking of coincidences: "The most amazing think happened to me at the races. It was the eleventh day of the eleventh month. I arrived on the course at eleven minutes past eleven. Later in the day I learned that eleven horses were to run in the big race, so I backed the eleventh horse on the car.

"And it won?"

"No. It came in eleventh."

SPS Juniors Get Win Over Lindsay

St. Peter's High future in collegiate basketball took on a rosy hue Wednesday when the juniors walloped Lindsay Collegiate 49-27 in "B" play. The Saints' bantams forced Lindsay to the final whistle before succumbing 30-29 while the seniors were handed a 36-17 setback.

For Johnny Lynch's juniors the win was the third in league play without a defeat and it was most decisive and important. It assured at least a tie for first but most likely the group "B" honors.

Simmons led the attack in the first quarter when the Saints rolled to an 11-5 lead. They all followed his scoring in the pattern to run in 14 points against Lindsay's four for a half-time score of 25-9.

The Saints maintained their first half power in the third quarter and again distributed 14 points. But Lindsay became stronger, led by the scoring of Teel. In the fourth quarter they paced the Saints on even terms with 10 points each, McDuffee leading the way.

Doug Galvin with 13 points and Fred Legros with 12 again led Saints to victory, a habit for them this season. Simmons turned in a top performance both ways, collecting 11 points.

Too Powerful

For the senior game the Saints were over-matched with the strong Lindsay team, one of the best to carry Lindsay colors since the war. They outchecked, outpassed and outscored the Saints throughout.

Lindsay jumped to an early 11-4 lead in the first, then began to play scrambly basketball. McDuffee, a well built pivot man over six feet, missed long shots time and time again in the second quarter which saw only one basket scored and that by McDuffee.

Lindsay cagers began to open up in the third quarter with a fast-breaking style and went up 22-9. They finished off with a burst of checking and passing plays which overcame the Saints for a 14-point total.

Despite his poor shooting McDuffee led the scoring with 13 points, followed by the Saints' Richardson and Lindsay's Taylor, each with nine.

Lindsay won the bantam game thanks to several foul shots missed by the Saints in the final quarter. Close throughout, the Saints were only a few feet away at the finish from their second victory in three starts, but that distance from the foul shot line was too much.

Killen of the bantam Saints edged Blackwell and Truax of Lindsay for the game's scoring honors with 10 points. Blackwell and Truax each had nine. Board and Smith each had six for the Saints and Sinclair five for Lindsay.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Russia has entered a team of professional athletes in the 1952 Olympic games, Vincent Montgomery said in London Wednesday, adding that other nations should follow the same procedure at Helsinki this summer.

The top man in the British Army said this was "the only sound course" to follow in view of Russia's decision to take part in the Olympics. Soviet athletes, he asserted, must be considered pros by western sports regulations and standards.

Montgomery, in a letter to The London Times, from his vacation retreat in Murren, Switzerland, where he is head of the Kandahar Ski Club, wrote:

"In a Communist state every adult is employed by the state; an athlete is as much a professional as a school teacher or a doctor or a commisar."

Frank Sedgman, Australian tennis ace, and Jean Spence, 21-year-old Melbourne brunette, were married Wednesday night in Melbourne's Old Toorak Presbyterian Church. Later at the wedding reception the Sedgmans received as one present a cheque for $12,260, raised in a public donation drive by three Australian newspapers after Frank announced his decision to remain an amateur.

J. M. Considine, secretary of the California Athletic Commission, said Wednesday in Sacramento that a New York bank refused to honor the $2,500 cheque posted by Sugar Ray Robinson for his middleweight title fight with Carl Olson in San Francisco Feb. 14. He said he did not know why the bank refused the cheque. William P. Kyne, promoter of the fight, said he had received word that Robinson's cheque will be made good.

The Philadelphia Athletics on Wednesday announced appointment of Elmer Burkhart, former official of several minor league teams, as business manager of the Ottawa team of the International League.

Thorncliffe Race Track in Toronto is for sale but as yet the price asked for the track and property has not been made public. John Farrell, Jr., who acted for Maryland interests in the recent sale of Bowie Race Track in that state, announced Wednesday in Toronto that the plan of principal stockholders in Thorncliffe is to get out of racing.

The Western Ontario Athletic Association Wednesday night ordered the Arthur Community Arena closed until adequate police protection can be assured at future hockey games. The action followed a brawl Monday night during an Intermediate A game between Mount Forest and Arthur. Mayor Ross McClellan of Mount Forest, the penalty timekeeper and several players were injured.

The University of Toronto's senior intercollegiate basketball team walloped Windsor's Assumption College 65-46 Wednesday night in an exhibition game in Toronto.

Chicago White Sox Wednesday became the first major league club to sign its entire roster of 38 players for the 1952 season. General manager Frank Lane announced in Chicago that Marvin Grissom, a pitcher, and Rocco Kranich, third baseman, agreed to terms via long distance telephone.

The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission cast a cynical eye Wednesday in Philadelphia on a pair of fighters who testified they refused to face each other in the ring because they were friends. The commission dealt out indefinite suspensions to lightweights Jimmy Carlini and Sante Bucca and their manager. Carlini and Bucca said their managers had signed them to contracts for an eight-round bout Saturday night without telling them.

Warkworth Legion Trims Provincials

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 31 — (ENS) — Provincial police from Peterborough, Belleville and Campbellford and members of Warkworth Legion are looking for the liniment bottle today.

In an exhibition hockey match at Warkworth arena Wednesday night, the Legionaires defeated the OPP 10-8.

For members of both the pick-up teams it was the first trip on skates in several years.

Proceeds from the capacity crowd will go to the Legion's recreation committee, which manages the Warkworth community centre.

Peterborough OPP officers playing included: Roy Feeley, Bert Howden, Clive Naismith, Archie Eady, Tom Armitage, and Wallace Mohns. Corporal Ray Pope was coach.

G. Walton Rolls 869

George Walton hit a high three of 869 in the Major Bowling League at Playfair this week, with high single of 370 going to M. Mackay. Sun Life led teams with 3,540 and had best game of 1,307. Six points were taken by Selkirk, Plaza, Cherney, Crowley, Stud. Champs, Campbell, Bickell, Herb's and Revenoors respectively over B & E, Examiner, Wonder Bread, Brewery, Darling's, Kingsmen, Lillian's, McLeod and Kawartha, as four points went to Wood, Mowry and Odeon over Clapper's, Sun Life and UEW.

Good scores included: Jake Wade (317) 808, H. Roberts 807, W. Boon 790, A. Pilling (332) 765, M. Mackay 757, B. Miller 755, F. Willison 742, F. Hurley 740, J. Platt 729, E. Reynolds 728, C. Downer (303) 721, R. Bennett Sr. (316) 712, J. Goodson 701, J. Barnes 700, G. Snape (317) 709, and singles by G. Walton 342 and 303, and A. Woodcock 303.

Central Victorious

Central seniors edged Queen Mary 6-5 in school hockey at the arena yesterday. Patterson banged home three goals for the winners, Naish getting two, Robbins one and an assist, while D. Lustic helped on one. G. Dafoe clicked for three QM markers, J. Dafoe and Morgan each counting a goal and an assist, as Atkinson had one assist in the tight tussle. Teams:

Central: Tranter, Naish, Kelly, Gray, Patterson, J. Lustic, D. Lustic, Brown, Craymer, Robbins, Lloyd, Dunford, Sorrie, Martin.

Queen Mary: Stinson, Morgan, Atkinson, J. Dafoe, Reynolds, G. Dafoe, Passmore, Perritt, Dobbin, Lincoln, Milne.

23 Contented Giants Sign, Big 3 Missing

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (AP) — By twos and threes, the New York Giants daily announce signings of satisfied hirelings. The total now is 23.

But a check of the list fails to produce the names of such bulwarks of the National League champions as Bobby Thomson and Larry Jansen, Sal Maglie and Jim Hearn, the big three of the pitching staff.

The list of satisfied players does include such regulars as Whitey Lockman, Don Muller, Max Lanier, Monty Irvin and Alvin Dark. But it is also swelled by such virtual unknowns as Rudy Rufer, Ronald Samford and Hoyt Wilhelm, who signed Wednesday.

It is too early to describe Jansen, Hearn, Maglie, Thomson and other unsigned Giants as holdouts. The Giants, however, figure to have a tough time signing some of them.

Maglie, in fact, is in town, eager and ready to talk business with his bosses. He arrived Wednesday. A Giant official predicted the club would have no difficulty getting Sal to come to terms. He said the club and the veteran right-hander were not far apart in their estimates of the 35-year-old right-hander's ability. It is reported the Niagara Falls, NY, hurler is asking $40,000.

Tough Proposition

Jansen, the Giants' solid man since he joined them in 1947, received an estimated $30,000 last year. No word has been heard from him as yet.

Hearn, the third man of what is probably the National League's top pitching trio, proved a tough man to sign last year. He finally signed for $16,000. Big Jim is reported to have asked for $25,000 as against the club's offer of $20,000.

Thomson probably will prove the least difficult to sign of the four. The hard-hitting third baseman, whose dramatic ninth inning home run gave the Giants the flag has intimated that he and the club are not far apart. He earned an estimated $22,500 last year.

Joe Louis, then world heavyweight, knocked out Red Burman in five rounds at New York 11 years ago today. That was Joe's 14th consecutive ring victory since he won the title by knocking out James J. Bancroft Triumphs Over Madoc

BANCROFT, Jan. 31 (ENS) — Bancroft Pontiacs won a 7-to-6 victory over Madoc in a regular Hastings - Addington Hockey League game in the local arena on Monday night.

Bill Delyea was the hero of the game when he slammed home the winning goal in the third. The line on which he played, the Brough Brothers and Delyea, accounted for six of Bancroft's seven goals.

The victory gave Pontiacs 12 points and brought them into a tie for first place with Madoc. With only a few games to be played this win assures them of either first or second spot at the end of the regular schedule.

Madoc hauled their goaler, Toar Ross, off the ice when there were 45 seconds to go in the third period. From then until the final whistle there were three face-offs with six men swarming around the Pontiac's net but Art Young successfully held the fort.

The Pontiac's goals were by N. Brough 3, Delyea 2, E. Brough and Green, while Madoc's scorers were Goodchild 2, Kellar, Stewart, Naylor and Smith. Penalties were even with four minors per team.

Madoc—Goal, T. Ross; defence, Lavender and Naylor; centre, G. Nickle; wings, Tufts and Sisler; alts, Shadbolt, Reynolds, Thuggs-Bancroft Pontiacs—goal, Cashel, Keller, Stewart, Goodchild, Haworth and Sandy; mgr., H. Tuffs; coach, T. Ross.

Bancroft - Pontiacs — Goal, Young; defence, Stringer and McAlpine; centre, E. Brough; wings, N. Brough and Delyea; alts, T. Maxwell, Bruce, D. Maxwell, Green, Hogarth, Fox, Hattin, Dugald, J. Maxwell, McGhee, mgr., Shapiro; coach, Tanner.

Referee—Howie of Belleville; linesman, Follis of Bancroft.

Timers—Gauley of Madoc and Tryon of Bancroft.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Let's see the basketball setup here this weekend. Two girls' games in the YW tomorrow night, starting at 8.10: CGE vs. Normals, and Neill's vs. Lindsay. Schedule ends on Feb. 22. With the PCVS junior and senior girls' teams at Cobourg that night, the "B" SPS bantam, junior and senior squads play the PCVS boys' crews at Collegiate on Friday. Saturday sees the OABA junior PCI-ers in Oshawa, 12 points up in their playdown series. Same night has Trenton tangling with Marines in an important Eastern Ontario loop schedule windup as Marines and Belleville fight it out for top spot and first home game in playoffs.

* * * * *

Good sports' sponsors are scarce and we'd like to mention an excellent one in Frank Patterson. This will be the third year he has backed the Filter Queens in OLA junior competition. Frank is the club's immediate past president and formerly played hockey and sponsored minor puck clubs ere switching over to junior lacrosse. His team fills a gap between the PMLA and senior ranks, and the team won the junior "B" title in 1950 and lost out to the "A" champion Mimico crew last year. Keen on youngsters and generous with equipment and money, Frank is a fine fellow personally, and we believe he will come up with another strong OLA squad this coming season.

* * * * * *

Hawklets Play IOOF

Two more weeks and the OHA junior "B" group schedule is over, and playoffs commence. After a long, slow start, Johnny Godfrey's local IOOF-ers are plenty hot in recent weeks and knocking all and sundry off. They're tackling a tough opponent in the Belleville Hawklets here tomorrow night and it should result in a steaming scrap from start to finish. Hawklets and Lindsay were fighting it out all season for top spot but now the Oddfellows, in third place, are climbing the ladder fast and worrying the other group clubs. They have only a few more scheduled games and are out to make the most of em'. This tilt rates a hefty Friday night crowd of fans.

* * * * * *

Parks' superintendent Armar Butcher assures us that he has nothing against the city's outdoor hockey rinks. He's all in favor of the present number of open-air puck cushions. What he was referring to when he said they "cost too much for what they are worth" was the proposed two new ones. Told us yesterday: "At this time of year, I'd be foolish to recommend two more city rinks to the parks committee. They wouldn't be worth the expenses so late in the season, and we might run into a lengthy mild spell any time which would make them useless." He's quite right at that, and we're satisfied that the present number of open-air rinks is sufficient at present.

Lot Of Action At End

It was 7-6 for Petes over Kingston here last eve but a tight fit, indeed. Twice in the dying minutes of the third chukker, the K's tied it up and threatened to snatch a victory, but each time the Petes poured back in a hurry to go ahead again. Jake Wade cuffed in the winner with 45 seconds left to play in regulation time. That puts Petes in a top-place senior "B" group tie with Belleville Hawks at the moment, though Friday's tilts in Kingston and Bella Villa may change things again. Kingston and Eagles are also tied but down the ladder several rungs. Harding, Mason, Fryia, Dugan, Wade and West all were prominent in the Ellis squad's win, and Steele went okay, too, though kept off the sheet. The K's really gave 'em a battle.

* * * * * *

Lindsay junior "B" Kinsmen aren't fooling around as the end of their schedule looms. They've brought in Goalie Danny Pallister, who was with Oshawa Generals, and that makes five Oshawa puckists in the Lindsay lineup now, Marshall, Deeth, Copeland and Haxton being the others. Lindsay is the nearest junior "B" centre to the Motor City, which has no "B" team. Same applies to Peterborough in senior "B" ranks, and the Eagles are taking advantage of it to import Oshawa players. Our senior ball club did likewise last spring when Merchants preferred to spend their mazuma importing USA ballsters, leaving local talent to seek greener pastures. Hockey presently is at quite a low ebb down Oshawa way.

Dealing 'Em Off Cuff

SPS junior "B" cagers won last eve but the bantam and senior teams lost in games with Lindsay.... Plans were discussed at a junior ball meeting last p.m. and another meeting will be called next month.... Sun Life rolled high in the Major Bowling League and Aces led in the lasses' "Y" loop.... Yukon Eric's outsized pet dog drowned lately.... The detective father of Mike and Ben Sharpe died the other day in Hamilton.... Otonabee Combines took Lakefield EPL-ers 13-8 last night; they clash again Monday in Keene, while St. Peter's go to Warsaw on the morrow.... Flyers of the TVL play in Lakefield on Friday as Norwood is at Hastings.... Otonabee tilts tomorrow at Keene: Downer's vs. Assumption, Westwood vs. Hiawatha's.. Six PMHA jousts this e'en at Civic, starting at six bells.... Central seniors edged Queen Mary 6-5.... Creighton, Wootton, Slater, Magee, Thorpe and some more Timbermen have a puck exhibish with the Redmen in Port Hope on Sat'day.... Don Moffit's peewees (R. Brady is manager) won 13-9 in a Warsaw exhibition; the boys meet at Moffit's on Beverley St. at 5.30 p.m. Saturday to take off for Appley.... And we take off here.

Hewitt Has High Single

In the girls' senior "Y" bowling league this week, T. Hewitt had high single of 251 and J. Alexander top three of 664. Aces led teams with 2,831 pinnage in blanking commandos. Lucky Strikes whitewashed Hurricanes, while 2-1 wins went to Tigers over the Corvettes, and to Glengarrys over Bombers.

GOALIES ENJOY BUSY NIGHT—Both Ray Harding of the Petes and Don Anderson for Kingston SCA's were worked alternately into frenzies Wednesday night at Civic Arena. Harding finally proved superior as the Petes won 7-6. Curly Mason gave Anderson some busy moments. In the top left photo after he had tested Anderson (out grabbing the puck), Mason was roughed by Myra Bender (5) in the goal crease area. A hot drive by Mason (top right) on Anderson is smothered but seconds later the Petes slapped in a rebound for a 2-1 score. Harding sprawled (lower photo) across the ice looks with dismay into the net after McGregor had notched a SAC goal. Gus Leonard (behind Harding) shares his sadness.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Lawn Bowlers Lose One Of Old Members

With the sudden passing of Geo. Coleman, Sr., the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club lost one of its oldest and most highly respected members. His death came as quite a shock to his friends.

He belonged to the old school of lawn bowlers, having joined, nearly 30 years ago, when the club was situated on Aylmer and Brock Streets.

He was a great competitor; win or lose it was all the same. You could always rely on the late Mr. Coleman. He would enter every tournament, if not with one of his sons, it would be the three of them. At one time every member of his family belonged to the club.

He was a gentleman always. He played the game hard but he played it square, and he will be greatly missed.

To his widow, daughter and sons, the lawn bowling club extends deepest sympathy.

Campbellford Tilts

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 31 — (ENS)—The first games of a home-and-home series in the OMHA bantam and midget competitions will be played here Wednesday next week.

The bantam "C" series will get under way in the arena at 7:00 pm when the local team will take on Tweed bantams. At 8:30, the Campbellford midget team will tangle with Norwood. Total goals will count.

The Rotary club sponsors the Campbellford squads and these teams are the town's only hope for more advanced competition in other leagues next year.

Officials hope fans will turn out to give the lads the support they deserve.

Addis Signs Contract

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP).—Outfielder Bob Addis, obtained from Boston Braves in a trade after the 1951 season, has signed his 1952 contract, Chicago Cubs announced today. Addis hit .276 for the Braves last season, his first full season in the majors.

CURLING NOTES

By HERB MARTIN

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Ladies' Curling Association held at Hamilton on Monday evening, Mrs. V. Selkirk of the Peterborough club was elected second vice-president. We join members of this club with congratulations to Mrs. Selkirk.

Dr. R. Clark's rink playing in the Quebec City bonspiel seems to be doing pretty well. It has reached the semi-finals in the main event.

Mrs. T. Doughty's rink was defeated in the semi-finals up at Hamilton Wednesday morning.

And congratulations to Mrs. E. Northey of Lakefield and her rink. True they did not win the ladies' Tankard, but they did the next best thing—they were runners-up. Mrs. Northey's rink was entered as a Lakefield rink with members of the Lakefield club and also memebrs of the Peterborough club. However, it was nice going for Lakefield and Peterborough. The rink: Mrs. J. Dunkerly, Mrs. L. Bearne, Mrs. H. Hamblin, Mrs. E. Northey, skip.

Today's thought: Someone once asked Professor C. T. Copeland of Harvard why he lived on the top floor of Hollis Hall in his small, dusty old rooms. "I shall always live there," he answered. "It is the only place in Cambridge where God alone is above me." Then after a pause, "He's busy, but He's quiet."

Wade's Last-Minute Goal Gives Petes Win Over K's For Top Spot Tie With Belleville

Jack Wade's goal on a pass from Junior West at 19:15 of the third period here last night broke a deadlock and gave the Petes a 7-6 nod over Kingston. The win pulled the Ellis squad up into a first-place tie with Belleville in their OHA senior "B" group race and left Kingston tied with Eagles seven points off the pace. Only a few hundred chilled fans viewed the tight tussle.

While the Petes took a 3-1 lead in the first period, the K's fought back to outscore them 3-2 in the second, leaving the homesters one up to open the third. Kingston tied it late in the last heat, Petes went up 6-5, Kingston tied it once more and then Peterborough pulled out the verdict. All four goals in the final frame were counted in the last three minutes of hot play. The game generally was fast, close and quite clean, the winners drawing three of the four penalties.

Led The Way

Curly Mason and Chum Fryia were in on three goals each as they tallied twice apiece. In on two each were defenceman Jake Wade, Arn Dugan and Junior West, while single points went to Gus Leonard, Jack Mortimer and Ron Horton. The Petes had to battle all the way as Kingston kept bucking in and goalie Ray Harding had to show his best wares to keep down the count.

Don Anderson in the other net was forced to pull a flock of fine saves, too, and he let in no soft ones. George McGregor shone with two goals and two assists, while Cliff Aitken sniped one and helped on three others. Bud Ohlke and Clint Tinkess were each in on two as single points were registered by Myra Bender, Bud Goodfellow and Dave Latimer for the visitors.

A Smart Goal

Mason opened scoring when he missed a straightaway thrust on a breakaway with Dugan, but recovered to circle the net fast and slip the rubber in. Horton was off for hooking when McGregor backhanded home a passout on a play started by Ohlke and Aitken. Later, Fryia put Petes up on a breakaway with Horton's pass as the K's ganged up, Chum finishing it off neatly. Sweetman was serving a cross-checking penalty when Dugan dented the hemp in close from Mason and Wade to make it 3-1 at the bell.

Play was speedy and clean with Kingston pressing a bit in the first half of the second period, as Harding kept kicking them out. Gus Leonard snared the first one in a crease scramble with Mortimer and West. Wade was gated for hooking and Horton followed for holding, leaving them shy two men for half a minute. It was enough for Ohlke to slap one in on neat combination with McGregor and Aitken. With all back, Fryia took a good pass from Dugan and whizzed home the biscuit. Kingston pressed again to tally two. Tinkess got in close with a pass from Latimer to hit the rigging, and then Bendero's slap shot counted on fine passing inside with Goodfellow and Tinkess.

Clean Stanza

The Petes had most of the play for 10 minutes of the clear third chukker. They were in repeatedly on Anderson but couldn't beat him. The Kingstons came down the ice at times in dangerous rushes but Harding was tough to fool, also. Play was quite fast and exciting as each side battled hard for that first goal. It finally came at 17.20 when McGregor skirted defence fast with Aitken's pass to pick a net corner smartly. But the Petes roared back and Mason's angle backhander with Fryia's flip put them up once more. Aitken again tied it on a bullet drive inside on McGregor's pass, but the Petes flew up and a corner passout by West was slapped in fast by Wade at the edge of the crease with less than a minute left to play. That did it.

Kingston — Goal, Anderson; defence, Stewart and Latimer; centre, McGregor; wings, Aitken and Ohlke; alternates, Catlin, Mulholland, White, Larmer, Tinkess, Bender, Sweetman, and Goodfellow.

Tobin Taps Canadian Talent To Bolster Sagging Hawks

By The Canadian Press

Reports out of Chicago indicate that Bill Tobin, the Ottawa man who owns the National Hockey League's tail-end Black Hawks, is planning a jaunt into the Hinterlands of his native land in an attempt to search out talent to bolster his sagging club. The windy city six, 33 points off the pace set by the league-leading Detroit Red Wings and five full games behind New York Rangers and Boston Bruins who are deadlocked for fourth and last playoff spot in the six-team circuit, have won only 13 of their 46 outings this season. They have managed to tie only four games.

Tonight, the hapless Hawks entertain Boston Bruins while New York Rangers skate into Montreal for a tussle with the third-place Canadiens. The two games could settle the fight for that fourth position—until the weekend anyway.

In the Canadiens, New York faces one of the hottest clubs in the league, while Boston, which has shown some surprising resurgance itself of late, could have an easy time with Ebbie Goodfellow's charges at Chicago Stadium.

Not Much Change

The Black Hawks have finished no better than fifth in the regular schedule since the spring of 1946 when they steamed in third and then bowed out in the first round of the Stanley Cup playoffs. Their losing ways, and the influx of television in recent years, has had more than a major effect on their gates. Calling the largest arena in the circuit their home, the last few seasons have yet to see it more than three-quarters filled where once packed houses sat.

In moving north, Tobin said he has his eye out especially for a number of players performing in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League who have been showing plenty of scoring punch during recent games. Ken Wharram and Ted Sleaver of the Galt Black Hawks and Murray Costello of Toronto St. Michael's were mentioned as likely candidates for the Chicago fold.

Wharram is one of the brightest stars in the OHA junior loops. He is currently tied for first place in the league scoring race, with 104 points in 40 games to date. Forty of these points are goals. A sharp-shooter like Wharram could help the Hawks a lot.

Lakefield Rink Bows To Granites

HAMILTON, Jan. 31.—Mrs. L. Woolley of Toronto Granite Club, Wednesday afternoon skipped her fourth Ontario Ladies' Tankard winner when she led her rink to an 11-5 victory over Mrs. E. H. Northey's Lakefield rink. The game was played before a packed house at the Victoria Curling Club.

In the Tankard Mrs. Woolley's victory was not as easy as it looked. The Lakefield outfit held on until the eighth end when the Toronto crew pulled into the lead.

Mrs. Claude Knapman of Victoria was a winner in the Northey Trophy event, winning in the final from Mrs. J. Hargreaves of Brantford.

The closest match of the final day's play was in the semi-final of the main event. Mrs. Woolley was pressed all the way to take an extra-end victory over Mrs. C. Gooch's Victoria quartet. The Gooch rink seemed to be in, right until the final rock was delivered.

Mrs. Northey made the final game with an 8-7 win over the defending champion, Mrs. C. S. Robertson of the Toronto Granite Club. Mrs. Knapman made her way to the final of the Northey Trophy with a 9-6 triumph over Mrs. O. Doughty's Peterborough outfit, while Mrs. Hargreaves took a 10-5 decision from Mrs. C. Perkins and her Lindsay quartet.

Roth Leading By 23 Points

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP). — Mickey Roth, 24-year-old centre with the leading Stratford Indians has turned the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League scoring race into a runaway.

Roth has 44 goals and 56 assists for a total of 100 points. He tops the league in both goals and assists.

In second place, 23 points behind, is Roth's leftwinger, Dinny Flanagan. Billy Flick, the third member of the Indians' potent punch line, shares third place with Kitchener's Ed Stankiewicz. Both have 72 points, five less than Flanagan.

Stratford netminder Bruce Dale tops the netminders with a 3.23 average. In 35 games played, Dale has fanned on 113 shots. He is tied with three other netminders for most shutouts, with two.

Clarence Henry TKO's Bob Satterfield

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP). — Clarence Henry, No. 3 contender for the world's heavyweight championship, Wednesday night scored a technical knockout over Bob Satterfield in 1:41 of the first round of their scheduled 10-round bout in Chicago Stadium.

Satterfield, wobbly after three knockdowns, was out on his feet.

The spectacular triumph added prestige to Henry's heavyweight ranking. It was the 14th consecutive victory for the 23-year-old Los Angeles contender and his 17th knockout in 32 professional bouts.

Dr. Ralph Clark Advances To Chateau Semi-Finals

QUEBEC, Jan. 31 (CP).—Play in the Holt Renfrew competition of Quebec's 39th International Bonspiel today entered the quarter-final round.

Two rinks, skipped by Ralph Lyman of Moncton, NB, Beaver, and Dr. A. D. Beaudin of Quebec, Wednesday advanced to the quarter-finals.

Play also opened in the Blue-Ribbon Lieutenant - Governor's section for the 'spiel championship with the Fredericton teams of R. Limerick and A. R. Clark being knocked out.

Survivors of the first round included five Quebec foursomes, and N. Findley of Toronto Royal Canadian, P. J. Power of Detroit and Mel Stonehouse of Ottawa.

Play in three leading events—the Chateau International, the Omega International, and the International Gold Cup—advanced to the semi-finals.

Quarter-final round players in all three events earlier qualified for championship play of the week-long 120-rink bonspiel.

Still In There

In the Chateau, Findley, the defending section winner, advanced along with O. Samson of Quebec Jacques Cartier in one bracket, and Dr. R. Clark of Peterborough and E. L. Gallagher of Montreal West will face each other in the bottom half.

Limerick and Clark, the New Brunswickers who were dropped from the Lieutenant-Governor's, advanced in opposite brackets of the Omego semi-finals against two Quebec teams, A. Dussault of Winter and A. F. Muth of Victoria, respectively.

Mac Canapinin of Copper Cliff, Ont., snared one berth in the International Gold Cup semi-finals, along with C. C. Crutchfield of Shawinigan Falls, Que.

F. A. Murgatroyd of Hamilton, Ont., advanced against Gaston Amyot of Quebec Jacques Cartier in the other bracket.

Barons Blank Hershey 6-0

By The Canadian Press.

Hershey Bears, front-running team in the eastern division of the American Hockey League, suffered a 6-0 walloping Wednesday night at the hands of Cleveland Barons but the Bears still have a comfortable lead.

In other games, Cincinnati Mohawks took a 4-3 overtime decision over St. Louis Flyers and Syracuse Warriors defeated Providence Reds 4-2.

At Cleveland, the Barons exploded for five goals in the third period on shots by Vic Lynn, Gerry Couture, Cal Stearns, Steve Wochy and Eddie Olson. It was Olson's 100th AHL goal.

Stearns got the first goal of the game in the second period.

At St. Louis, Bill Wylie's goal from a scramble at 7:42 of the overtime period gave Cincinnati Mohawks their victory.

The triumph widened Cincinnati's third-place western division edge over the Flyers to four points.

Jack McLeod got a pair for the Mohawks.

THAT'S RIGHT—Rangers' goalie Chuck Rayner gives a backward glance to confirm for himself the bad news that Dickie Moore's shot in the first period of Sunday's game with Canadiens at Madison Square Garden has got past him (arrow indicates puck.) Canadiens toppled Rangers 5-3.

Galt Hawks Blast Generals 9-1 Tied With Guelph For Second Place

By The Canadian Press.

Galt Black Hawks have fought their way into a second-place tie in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series—and don't show any signs of stopping there.

For weeks, the Chicago farm team ran in third and fourth slot in the 10-team loop. Now they're on even terms with Guelph Biltmores, right behind the leading Toronto Marlboros.

The Hawks blasted tail-end Oshawa Generals 9-1 Wednesday in the motor city. The tie with Guelph leaves them only three games off the pace set by Toronto Marlboros who came through with a victory Wednesday night at Barrie when they downed the eighth-place Flyers 4-2.

In the only other junior game played Wednesday night, Toronto St. Michael's moved into sole possession of fourth place with an 8-4 win at Waterloo over the Hurricanes, currently in seventh place.

Sarnia Victor

Senior OHA play saw Sarnia Sailors jump to within six points of fourth place with a 7-2 decision over Brantford Redmen.

Sudbury Miners launched a fight to reach a playoff position in the four-team Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior series with a 5-2 victory over second-place Sudbury Wolves.

Harry O'Connor and Jim Wilson paced the Sailors with a brace of goals each while Don Emms, George Gosselin and Don Savage added the others. Lloyd Ferguson and Bill Shill scored for the losers.

Danny Poland led the Marlies' attack with three goals, Wally Maxwell potting the other. Hilly Menard and Ken Collins were the Barrie scorers.

At Waterloo, Jim Logan paced St. Mike's with a pair of tallies while singletons went to Eddie Plata, Murray Costello, Bill Lee, Marc Reaume, Ron Wallace and Butch Ratchford. Jerry Horton pushed in two for the losers while Lou Dietrich and Ken McNeal came through with the others.

Tony Poeta slipped in two of Galt's goals at Oshawa, the remaining nine going to Mike Buchanan, Bill MacIntosh, Tom Fyles, Pete Conacher, Jim McBurney, Neil McDonald and Johnny Sleaver. Pete Hudson scored the Generals' lone tally.

RICH TERRITORY

Surveys in Chinese Manchuria, have indicated vast mineral wealth including gold, iron, coal, magnesite and oil shale.

ELMER LACH, left and Paul Meger are finding Habitants' winning streak is taking its toll . . . in plasma. This pair of warriors can't vouch for the claim that a hockey player's life is a pleasant way to make a living. Elmer has some intricate needlework in his right eyebrow, has a nick on the side of his nose and sports a fine shiner. Eager Meger also has a shiner, a fine blooming one; has a neat slice on his forehead, a split lip and sundry other facial abrasions.

Combines Down Lakefield, 13-8

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 31 (ENS).—Otonabee Combines from Keene pulled out a 13-8 EPHL win over Lakefield here last night in a wide-open contest. Each team has won one and tied one against the other in four starts, the clubs clashing again Monday next in Keene. The first line of Combines proved potent with Heafield scoring five goals, Cowie getting three, and Whalen aiding on five. The victors finished stronger as Lakefield tired after a sizzling pace.

Each scored three in the first heat, Cowie, Locke and Burns for Keene, with Whalen helping once. Calberry, Wilford and Birch hit the mark for the homesters, the latter two having an assist each. In the second, Lakefield got three as McIlmoyle, Henry and Calberry counted, the former assisting on two and Calberry on one; but Keene clicked for four, Heafield getting two, and Cowie and Gilbert one, as Whalen aided on two. Knox and Birch scored for Lakefield in the third, the latter and Sabatino having an assist each. Combines shoved home six, Heafield clicking for three, as Cowie, Kempt and Locke hit the twine. Burns was in on two. Teams:

Combines: Mackness, Close, Houle, Whalen, Cowie, Heafield, Locke, Kemp, G. Burns, H. Burns, Gilbert.

Lakefield: Wasson, Sabatino, Birch, Wilford, Hockaday, Knox, Morrison, McIlmoyle, Wannamaker, P. Calberry, R. Calberry, Henry.

Referee: W. Flint.

Hastings Juves Win

HASTINGS, Jan. 31—(ENS)—Hastings juveniles pulled off a Frank Merriwell finish here last night, as trailing 5-4 with less than two minutes to go, Radford banged in a pass from Crowley and then at 19:01 Stevenson drove home the winner to complete a nice play from McMillan and Forde as Hastings beat Stirling 6-5.

It was a fast, clean game before a slim crowd, as the weather kept the fans at home. Hastings outscored the visitors 2-1 in the first period, but in the second, Stirling rapped in three while holding the locals scoreless. Hastings finally showed what they are capable of in the third, outscoring Stirling 4 to 1.

Stevenson was top man for the locals with three goals, while Hermiston duplicated the feat for Stirling.

Hastings—Goal, D. Montgomery; defence, Fisher, Crowley; centre, P. Stevenson; wings, Fisher, K. Forde; alternates, B. McMillan, E. Post, F. Lynch, B. Orr, D. Radford, B. Wilson, D. Condon, R. Fairman, P. Sullivan.

Stirling—Goal, C. Ackers; defence, F. Phillips, R. Pemberton; centre, M. Eamey; wings, A. Munro, F. McMuray; alternates, R. Ingman, D. Reid, J. Bennett, D. Tameah.

Providence Owner Cancels Resignation

PROVIDENCE, RI, Jan. 31 — (AP)—Lou Pieri, owner of the Providence Reds of the American Hockey League, Wednesday night announced that he has reconsidered his resignation as president of the team and will continue in that post.

Pieri announced Tuesday night that he had resigned from the league's board of governors and as president of the Reds. He made the statement after the league's board of governors rejected his protest of a decision made by Maurice Podoloff, league president, on a disputed game.

Pieri said his resignation from the league board will stick. In explaining his sudden return to the club presidency, Pieri said: "I want to retain an official post so I can continue my fight to make a better American Hockey League and protect the future of the game in this city."

PolicemanHeads Safety School At Owen Sound

OWEN SOUND — (CP) — Hundreds of Grey county school children are receiving safety training because Provincial Police Constable E. M. Reid of Owen Sound believes in "preventive medicine" for traffic accidents.

He has instigated, and is carrying out alone a scheme for educating the youth of the country in the rules of traffic safety.

Constable Reid spends his free hours calling at rural schools throughout the country. His lessons are easy to take for he uses films especially prepared for young people by the National Film Board and similar organizations. He rents a projector, and already this month approximately 3,500 school children have seen safety films.

Besides showing the films, Constable Reid also talks briefly to the pupils, and gives them literature, included in a pamphlet entitled "You and Your Bike," prepared by the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways.

The work Constable Reid is doing has been welcomed by the teachers, pupils and school officials. The pupils enjoy learning about safety this easy way. The teachers and officials realize the importance of safety education in today's world of motor transportation.

Form Safety Patrols

Several schools where he has shown films on safety patrols have formed their own safety patrols. Members of the patrols guide their fellow students at bad corners and other sections where traffic is heavy.

Grey County Council has recognized the work he is doing, and has made a grant of $100 to defray the cost of renting the projector and films.

The constable's efforts are not going unnoticed outside the county. A similar plan is to be instituted in neighboring Bruce County soon.

He has a sound explanation for his enthusiasm. As a police officer he has investigated many accidents in which children were either killed or maimed. He knows that his work will do much to eliminate these accidents.

Great Age

TRENTON — (CP). — Mrs. Jane Mitchell quietly celebrated her 105th birthday recently at the home of her son in Preston Hill. Still mentally alert, she loves to relate tales of the pioneering days. She has three sons, 14 grandchildren, and several great-grandchildren.

Three CPR Employees Killed In Collision

GRAND FALLS, NB, Jan. 31— (CP)—Collision of two freight trains Wednesday at Argoy, NB, caused the death of three CPR employees, P. L. Beaulieu, 42, and H. H. Dixon, 33, both sectionmen of Ortonville, NB, and Conductor H. Perley Cox, 56, Aroostook, NB.

The two sectionmen, who were in the van of one train, were killed on the spot. Cox died in hospital.

The engine of one freight plowed into the rear of the other, which had stopped to take on water. The engine jumped the tracks, the van was demolished and a carload of pulpwood caught fire.

Beaulieu and Dixon were patrolling their section in a motor trolley. With the temperature ranging down to 30 degrees below zero, they entered the van for warmth shortly before the collision.

Friendship Symbol

BERLIN (CP).—West Berlin plans to start a "green guest book", as a symbol of her friendly relations with foreign visitors. The plan is to have visitors plant small trees in the Tiergarten, in the British sector. A British garden has already been started with contributions from England.

Preserve Trees

MONTREAL — (CP). — Organization of a new section of the Civic Parks and Playground Division, in charge of trees, is proceeding rapidly. The division will be responsible for growing trees at the city nursery and for their planting and upkeep in the streets and parks.

New Hampshire Thermometer For Elections

By SELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 31—(AP)—New Hampshire now is the leading political weather-station in the United States, as a result of a flurry of manoeuvres affecting the primary elections, March 11.

President Truman's name has been entered. He has 10 days in which to withdraw it.

Promptly after that became known, the supporters of Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee put him in the race, as they said they would, if the President entered.

And Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio also took the plunge on the Republican side, giving formal consent to entering the so-called "popularity contest", as well as the battle for delegates.

Thus, New Hampshire can become the scene of straight tests of strength in both major parties. The all-star card may pit the President against the Tennessee senator. Taft opposes Eisenhower. Former governor Harold Stassen of Pennsylvania is also in the arena.

More Important

More important, whatever the President does now will be interpreted as answering the question he, himself, has declined to answer, namely—will you run again? Continued silence, traditionally meaning consent, would cheer the Democrats who have been calling on him to make the race.

Mathematically, New Hampshire's 14 convention votes are unlikely to win or lose the nomination.

But psychologically, they are immensely important and the March primary will be the first in the United States. Hundreds of Republican leaders, at all levels, have refrained from any commitments—and may be honestly undecided—for any of their four candidates. A decisive result in New Hampshire could have decisive effects on the whole Republican picture.

Good News

TORONTO, Jan. 31. (CP)—W. H. Tisdale, general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, said Wednesday that lower wool prices are good news for sheep breeders. He told the Ontario Sheep Breeders' Association that wool was so expensive last year that no one wanted to buy it. This year, prices are a little lower and there is a better market.

Conference Asks Tightening Public Appeals

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—(CP)—The people who make public appeals for welfare contributions would like to see the appeal system tightened.

At a meeting here, the Canadian Conference of National Voluntary Health and Welfare Organizations recommended to its membership for approval a two-point resolution urging more specialized and widespread use of existing legislation for supervising charitable organizations and appeals.

The conference urged provincial and federal governments to:

1. Closely examine any charitable group "other than those having primarily religious or fraternal objects" before granting either incorporation or income tax exemption, and

2. Require that all such organizations file an annual report reflecting "all pertinent information regarding operations, finance, administration, and organization."

The conference, which includes most national non-government health and welfare groups, said this would "serve to ensure the continuance of the high regard in which charitable and philanthropic endeavours now are held by the public."

Attending were representatives of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society, Canadian Council for Crippled Children, Canadian Jewish Congress, National Institute for the Blind, Canadian Red Cross Society, Canadian Tuberculosis Association, Canadian Welfare Council, Health League of Canada, and the Victorian Order of Nurses.

ROCKCLIFFE "ICE WAGON" of the Royal Canadian Air Force forms a background at LaGuardia Field, N.Y., for members of its crew and scientists on arrival from Montreal. The giant "all-weather" craft made two unsuccessful attempts to land at New York during a recent sleet storm and was forced to return to Montreal. Tuesday the skies cleared and the aircraft touched down safely. Leaving the experimental plane, left to right, are: Research Engineer John Milson; Pilot Doug Biden, of Moncton; Co-pilot Owen B. Philp, of Vancouver, B.C.; Physicist Donald Fraser, and John L. Orr, head of the National Aeronautical Establishment of Canada. The shark's fin atop the fuselage is used for de-icing experiments. It is eight feet high and represents a high-speed symetrical-section wing. The aircraft is in New York for examination during the annual meeting of the Institute for Aeronautical Sciences.

Couple Drink Large Amounts Not Bootleggers

Asserting he could "polish off a 26 ounce bottle wine, "before breakfast," Cyril Anderson, 54, Dacre St., said in police court Wednesday that he drank up to 10 bottles of wine a week, and his wife could "drink more than I can."

Anderson was testifying in his own defence on a bootlegging charge.

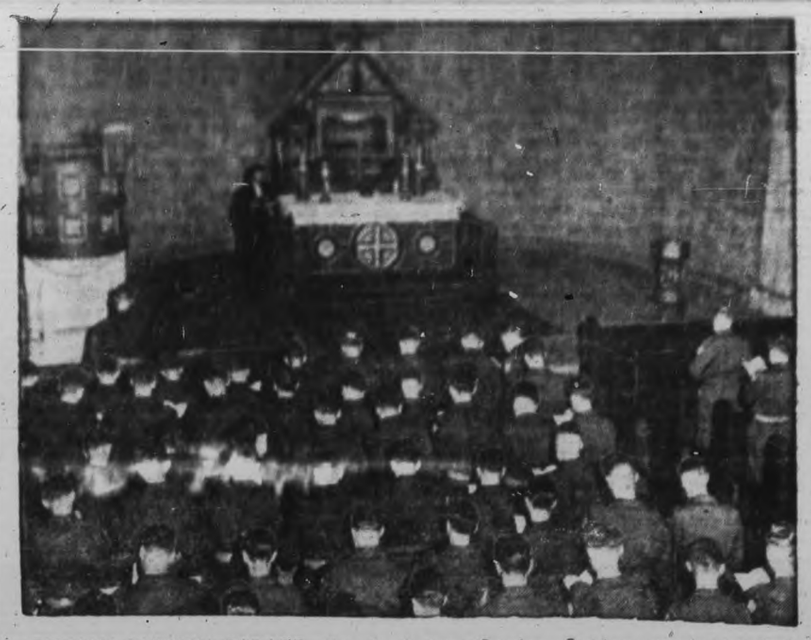
He denied that he was keeping liquor for sale, and both he and his wife said they had not seen two crown witnesses, for nearly two months and had not sold them any wine January 11.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter McNeilly testified that they had visited Anderson's house the morning of January 11 and purchased wine. Mrs. McNeilly said her husband paid $2 a bottle for two bottles which they drank in the house and $2 for two other bottles they took with them.

McNeilly admitted he had been drinking before going to Anderson's but said he was not drunk. Later in the day, Mrs. McNeilly notified police that her husband, who she said had been put on the interdicted list was drinking. McNeilly was arrested and charged with having liquor not obtained on his permit.

On January 12, a raid by city and provincial police on Anderson's house netted seven full bottles of wine, two part bottles of wine and a part bottle of what constable Douglas Farthing described as "home made wine."

Defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson demanded that the crown produce the written information placed before the justice of the peace to obtain the search warrant which was filed.



Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said he was refusing on "technical grounds."

Mr. Farquharson argued that if the search was illegal, all the evidence found in Anderson's house was inadmissible. Mr. Bradshaw submitted that "any exhibit, regardless of how improperly it was obtained could be filed in court."

After hearing the evidence, Magistrate W. R. Philp adjourned the charge until February 6. He asked both Mr. Bradshaw and Mr. Farquharson to submit written arguments on the point of law.

Commenting on the contradictory evidence of the crown and defence witnesses, Magistrate Philp said, "I would suggest that if any further information comes to your hand Mr. Bradshaw, the crown might well consider a charge of perjury."

Mr. Bradshaw assured the Magistrate he would.

GERMAN CHURCH PARADE—For the first time since the arrival of Canadian troops in Germany, men of the 27th Brigade marched to a civilian church in Hanover Sunday. Services were held at Bothfeld Lutheran Church. Conducting the service is Major D. R. Anderson, of Montreal, Senior Protestant Chaplain with the brigade group.

Altar Society Euchre

MARMORA, Jan. 31 (ENS)—The Altar Society of Sacred Heart Church sponsored a bridge and euchre party in the parish hall Tuesday evening. Six tables of bridge and seven of euchre were in play. Prize-winners were: Mrs. Ernest Shannon, Miss Miriam Savage, Mrs. Donald Shannon, Dermont Bedore, Donnie Shannon, Mrs. John Reynolds, Mrs. R. E. Maloney, Louis Bedore.

Claim Exemption

CALGARY (CP) — Drivers of milk wagons here are seeking exemption from Calgary's new law against jay-walking, so they can cross the street anywhere to make deliveries.

PLOW CHAMPION—Eugene Timbers, 18-year-old truck driver from Milliken, Ont., won a cup for plowing at Newlyn, England, despite the fact the Cornish horses had difficulty undertanding his Canadian accent. The Canadian plowman won first prize in the 21-and-under class in the west of England championship plowing match although the team of horses started badly because they did not appear at first to understand his commands.

St. Paul's Congregation Reviews Activities Of The Past Year

The annual meeting of the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian church was held on Wednesday evening. A membership of 1,319 was reported by the session with 89 new members added during the year and 34 names removed from the rolls.

Rev. C. G. Boyd conducted the devotional service and acted as chairman during the meeting when reports were heard from the various organizations. Elected to the Board of Managers for a three year term were Max Kaye, Stewart Lockington, Tom McMillan Jr., Jack Watters, and Leighton Ross. R. N. Wilson was named to fill an unexpired term.

A. E. Watkins and O. M. Steer were named as representatives to the Peterborough Bible Society; Miss Laura Davidson, representative to Anson House Board and Ian MacDonald and John Buckley were appointed auditors.

Mr. Boyd conducted 36 funerals, 31 marriages and 49 baptisms. Special mention was made in the session report of the splendid work being done in the Sunday school and the increased numbers enrolled. The parents were urged to aid in the home study of the children's lessons for the Sunday school, in the cultivating of a proper attitude toward Bible study and a pride in the church in which they are a part.

A junior choir which started 14 months ago with 10 members now has an enrollment of 46 girls and 13 boys and it has become necessary to hold separate rehearsals every week.

Mention was made by the session of the 18 members of the congregation who died during the year, two of whom were elders, John Hill and John B. Fowler, who had given years of service to the congregation and the Presbyterian church.

The financial statement of the various organizations and of the congregation indicated a total revenue of more than $30,000. The Board of Managers reported receipts of $20,024 and a surplus of $3,554.

Contributions to the work of the Presbyterian Church in Canada increased to an all time high and an increased allotment was accepted by the congregation for 1952.

The various women's organizations of the church engaged in missionary endeavor reported their allocations met and increased money sent to the WMS headquarters.

The Ladies' Aid had a successful year. Surplices were purchased for the junior choir, the manse was re-decorated, parties were given for the children, flowers were provided for the church on Sunday and also sent to shut-ins and a start was made in setting aside a fund to purchase new cushions for the seats of the church.

The CGIT, the Cubs and the Explorers all provided training and experience for the teen-age girls and younger boys. While a most valuable contribution to the social life of the church was made by the Married Couples' Club and the MA club.

Expressions of appreciation were made to Christopher Gledhill, the organist, and to the choir for their loyalty and devoted labor in the service of praise from Sabbath to Sabbath.

Cut Dollar Spending Best Way For Britain

GENEVA, Jan. 31 (AP) — A drastic reduction in dollar spending rather than a new devaluation of sterling is the best way for the sterling area to meet its trade deficit, the UN economic commission for Europe said Wednesday night.

The annual survey of the commission's research division, prepared in advance of new economy moves by Britain, said it would be useless to trim the value of sterling again.

Hope Seaway Started In 1952

ALBANY, NY, Jan. 31—(AP)—The New York State Power Authority today expressed hope that 1952 would clear the way for state development of the huge St. Lawrence power project.

In its annual report to the legislature and Governor Thomas E. Dewey, the four-member authority said President Truman's administration "must clear the way for the development of the great natural resources."

The authority contended that New York State had been "kicked around very thoroughly" so far in getting federal approval to handle the power phase of the St. Lawrence project, and pledged a continued battle against what it termed attempts of the federal government to "inflict a federal, electric power bureaucracy upon the northeastern region of our country."

President Truman has reiterated his support for the "strategic necessity" of building the seaway project, so that Labrador iron ore can be transported by water to the American steel industry. He urged in his annual message to Congress that $20,000,000 be made available to start work on the $1,000,000,000 project.

In the face of continued Congressional opposition to joint participation, Canada has served notice it will proceed alone to develop the internaltonal project.

Beer Down Drain

HALIFAX, Jan. 31 (CP)—Nine thousand gallons of beer went down the drain here Wednesday when someone entered a brewery and opened the valve on a huge storage tank. Police arrested a former employee of the brewery and charged him with committing damage. The beer had a retail value of $16,000.

Stomach Disorders, Gas Headaches, Rheumatic Pain

This Woman Tells of 5 Years' Suffering. Got Bad Dizzy Spells, Nervous, Rundown. Says Syntona Gave Her First Real Relief. "Feel Good Again."

MRS. FRANCES CHAPMAN

Here's good news for sufferers from common stomach, kidney, liver disorders and associated symptoms. Thousands of men and women say Syntona Herbal Compound has given them prompt, effective relief and help them to feel good again. Such is the experience of Mrs. Frances Chapman, 8 Oxford Street, London, Ontario, who said in a recent report:

"I suffered 5 years with stomach troubles; would get awful gas, indigestion, and sour acid risings after my meals. Being this way so long, I became rundown, extremely nervous, and always felt tired. Rheumatic pains set into my legs. I couldn't sleep at night, an I was subject to frequent headaches and dizzy spells. Many days my stomach felt so sick and upset I didn't feel like eating.

"Medicines that I took did not seem to do me any good, so one day recently a friend advised me to try Syntona. In only a few days I could see that my food was digesting better and then the gas pains, sourness and other distress all cleared up. As I continued taking Syntona the aches and pains, headaches and dizzy spells all went away and now I am not nervous as I was before, get sound sleep at night, and I feel good again.

"I am so pleased with the way Syntona has helped me that I just feel that everyone who suffers in this way should be taking this medicine and I can highly recommend it."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help, you, too. (Advt.)

Indian Trapper Not Lost, Needed Quota

MAGPIE, Jan. 31 —(CP)—Pete Groulx, an Indian trapper who stayed on his trapline an extra month to catch his annual quota of furs, walked out of the woods Wednesday, just a day after a search party set out to find him.

Groulx, who has only one eye and one arm, entered the bush near this village, 200 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 22, and was to have returned by the New Year. An illness during his first few days in the woods caused him to fall behind in his fur quota.

Meanwhile, a second search group was being organized to find the original three-man party.

The Indian, none the worse for his extended stay in the woods, laughed heartily when told of the excitement he caused.

The search party was believed to be somewhere along the hunter's 10-mile trapline.

One of the $40 cheques also was presented to Mrs. Wild, 79, a native of Glasgow.

Henry Jakeman Heads Red Cross

BETHANY, Jan. 31 (ENS). — Manvers Township branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society held its annual meeting in the Town Hall at Bethany on Tuesday afternoon. Henry Jakeman was re-elected president. Other officers are:

The Rev. T. S. Gault, honorary president; Miss Laura Morton, first vice-president; Dr. G. McNeil of Pontypool, second vice-president; Hildon Johnston of Janetville, third vice-president; Miss Evelyn Mantle, treasurer; Mrs. R. Carr, secretary. Mr. Jakeman was also appointed chairman of the committee for the annual campaign, with T. M. Weatherilt, Mr. Gault, and the Rev. James Hampson as co-workers.

The emergency loan cupboard will be in charge of Mrs. R. W. Price and Miss L. Thompson, the first-aid kit in charge of George Smith. Mrs. Edgar Beer was appointed chairman of the volunteer nursing services committee. Mr. Hampson was reqquested to contact headquarters in Toronto about the showing of films depicting the work of the Red Cross Society to be shown in the township prior to the campaign in March. It was decided to purchase a stretcher to supplement the first-aid kit.

The secretary's report mentioned the home nursing course begun in November in charge of Mrs. Edgar Beer, RN, asisted by Mrs. Clarence Page, RN, and Mrs. G. M. Longfield, RN, with 25 members receiving instruction each week. It is expected the course will be completed about the end of February. Twelve thousand cod liver oil capsules had been purchased and distributed to the school children throughout the township. Travelling expenses had been paid for a patient to the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto. Assistance had been given to a family in the vicinity of Drum, who had lost their home and contents through fire.

The treasurer's report indicates the work of the local branch throughout the year: Balance on hand at beginning of 1951 $461.46; receipts from campaign, donations and bank interest $371.79. Received for instruction books from the nursing class members $22, making a total of $755.25.

The sum of $361.46 had been sent to Toronto headquarters; 12,000 cod liver oil capsules had cost $81.60; travelling expenses for patient to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto $13; clothing and bedding for family who lost their home and contents by fire $45.49; expenses for nursing class, books, supplies, and storage cabinet $49.89; expenses for canvassers in the campaign for funds $5.00, making a total of $556.34, with a balance on hand of $198.91.

Oatis Arrest Halts Spying Czech Declares

PARIS, Jan. 31 — (AP) — A Czechoslovak delegate told the United Nations today that his country's conviction of William N. Oatis, Associated Press chief of bureau in Prague, exposed and put and end to an important spy network.

The delegate, Frantisek Vavricka, spoke in reply to a slashing attack delivered Wednesday night in the General Assembly's 60-member Social Committee by United States delegate Channing Tobias.

Vavricka told the committe it was witnessing an American attempt to abuse the UN by slandering Czechoslovakia and bringing up a matter to which the UN was strictly within the domestic jurisdiction of the Prague government.

"Oatis is a trained spy," he said. "His post in The Associated Press was only an alibi."

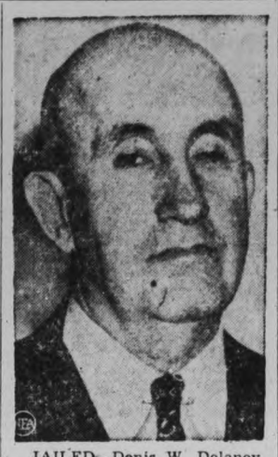
Tobias had told the committee Oatis's trial was "staged" to intimidate all reporters and shut off news from behind the Iron Curtain. He insisted Oatis was guilty of nothing but trying to do a good job as a reporter.

Calculated Attack

The Oatis case, Tobias said, was "not merely a case of one man in prison as a result of a forged confession and a very clumsily-staged trial. It was a calculated attack on freedom of information."

Vavricka asserted today Oatis had been tried by a legitimate court in accordance with normal trial procedure

"No one can challenge the legaltiy of the Czchoslovak action," he said.



The Czech delegate spoke after several other delegates had attacked Czechoslovakia for snuffing out freedom of information.

The Rev. L. J. C. Beaufort, of the Netherlands, said Czechoslovak law does not permit any freedom of information because correspondents can send only official pronouncements.

Madame Marguerite De Rie-Maecker, of Belgium, said it would be more honest to bar correspondents than to admit them and then imprison them for doing their work.

Guilty of Assault

TORONTO, Jan. 31. (CP)—The first time Beverley Randall, 17, of suburban Mimico accepted a ride with a stranger, she had two teeth knocked out. In Mimico court on Wednesday, Robert Schaller, 24, of St. Catharines was found guilty of assaulting the girl Jan. 21 and remanded a week for psychiatric examination.

Customers Loyal To Mobile Drugstore

TORONTO (CP) — Customers who want to visit Willaim Woods' drug store first have to find it, then climb a 10-foot wooden staircase to get in.

The drug store and three apartments above it—450 tons of building in all—are being moved 240 feet across front lawns to make way for a new traffic artery.

Old customers and a telephone business keep the mobile drug store in business. The telephone cable is a long line which feeds out as the building moves. Electricity is supplied by a similar system.

The furnace in the house has long been disconnected but the store is heated by two small heaters.

NJ State Seizes Tram Firms To Avert Strike

NEWARK, NJ, Jan. 31 (AP).— The state today seized the public service transportation companies to avert a strike of 6,500 employees set for midnight.

The seizure under the New Jersey Public Utility Anti-Strike Law, was followed by agreement by both company and the union to submit the issues to binding arbitration.

AFL operating employees had voted to strike for a 10-cent across-the-board wage increase plus a shorter work week and fringe benefits.

The union, Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees (AFL), demanded the increase over the present scale of $1.66 an hour starting wage which rises to $1.70 an hour after a year. Shop workers pay is $1.50 an hour and mechanics average $1.85 in hour.

The strike threatened for Friday would have halted public service bus and trolley service throughout the state. Public service is one of the largest bus operators in the United States.

Ku Klux Klan Vanished From Alberta

EDMONTON—(CP)—The "Alberta Realm" of the Ku Klux Klan, which had its heyday in the early 1930s, appears to be out of business officially, after a long period of silence.

The current issue of the Alberta Gazette lists it among societies liable to be struck off the register for failing to comply with the Societies Act.

The formal title of the Klan is "The Invisible Empire Knights and Ladies of the Ku Klux Klan, realm of Alberta."

Nothing has been heard of the KKK in Edmonton since August, 1937 when 250 klansmen and their followers held a picnic at an Edmonton district beach. Fiery crosses were burned at that time.

The Klan was incorporated under the Societies Act of Alberta on Sept. 17, 1932. The last correspondence the province had with the hooded knights was Feb. 20, 1933.

Under the Societies Act, organizations must register the address of their official headquarters, hold annual meetings, and submit reports to the provincial registrar.

The Klan has failed to comply for the last 19 years. If nothing is heard from them in the next four or five months, the "Invisible Empire" will cease to exist as far as the official records of the province are concerned.

Formerly Active

The Ku Klux Klan began a membership drive in Alberta in 1929. In November of that year, a Calgary man announced that two branches had been formed, in Calgary and Edmonton. Other branches were later formed at Vermilion, Red Deer and Lacombe and Alberta Klansmen held a convention in Calgary in March, 1930.

A Lacombe blacksmith was victim of a tar and feather episode the same month.

The editor of Lacombe's weekly newspaper launched an editorial campaign against the Klan and said he was threatened with violence in an anonymous letter bearing the Klan's symbol—a maple leaf, a crown and a fiery cross. But nothing happened.

A cross was burned in Edmonton July 29, 1930. It was 50 feet in height and burned on a cliff overlooking the north Saskatchewan river. Newspaper accounts said it could be seen from nearly all parts of the west end of the city.

Two years later a fiery cross was burned in the race track enclosure at the Edmonton exhibition grounds and the fire department was called to douse the flames.

Originally formed secretly in the southern United States in 1866 to terrorize Negroes who voted, the KKK was revived there in 1920. Although suppressed, it is still seen occasionally in the south holding conclaves and burning crosses.

TENEMENT INFERNO—Firemen survey the damage to a Minneapolis, Minn., tenement building after an early morning fire gutted the structure. Eleven persons were missing in the blaze, with 26 others escaping uninjured.

Chorus Girl Takes Lead In Musical

LONDON, Jan 31—(AP) — A 19-year-old dancer stepped out of the chorus and took over the lead inn the musical "Kiss Me Kate" Wednesday night—just like in the movies.

Honey-haired Elizabeth Larner never read the script of the Cole Porter show. But she had been hearing the lines and songs for 11 months and thought her memory was pretty good.

Her chance came when Helen Bliss, star of the American musical transplanted to London, lost her voice. The regular understudy suffered an earache and had to go to a hospital just 15 minutes before curtain time.

Miss Larner volunteered.

The audience thought she was fine. She had 11 curtain calls.

30,000 Vounteers Recruited To Guard British Coasts

LONDON —(CP)—A force of 30,000 civilian volunteers is being recruited in Britain to guard the nation's coastal waters and inland waterways against mine-laying by enemy aircraft in time of war.

The new service, launched by J. P. L. Thomas, First Lord of the Admiralty, is open to men past the 45-year-mark and women aged 26 and over. Preference will be given volunteers living on the coast or near major waterways.

Mine-watching posts will be established at strategic points along the country's coastline as well as principal ports and estuaries. Efforts will also be made to enlist the support of owners of small craft to ensure speedy action in event of an emergency. The service will come under the direction of existing naval commands.

In opening the campaign for members, Mr. Thomas recalled that more than 22,500 mines had been laid by the Germans in British waters during the last war. It had been through alert spotting, he said, that the enemy's menacing magnetic mine had been discovered and an effective weapon found to combat it. The new force would operate under a slogan that every mine spotted meant a ship saved.

The drive for mine-watchers, however, conflicts with manpower appeals by several other branches of the country's defence forces. The home guard is after another 125,000 men. Civil defence recruiting officers report that only 167,500 have responded to a call for 460,000 volunteers. The auxiliary fire service requiring 60,000 recruits reports it has only about 12,000, and less than 23,000 special constables have been signed up to meet the original target of 80,000 men.

Marriages Increase

TORONTO, Jan. 31. (CP)—The number of deaths, births and marriages in Ontario during December, 1951, increased over the same month in 1950, the Provincial Registrar General reported Wednesday. The birth rate showed an increase of only two over the previous 8,770, there were 2,997 marriages as compared with 2,697 and 4,022 deaths as compared to 3,792.

Pension Applicant

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent, 70 Friday, is believed to have applied for his $40-a-month old-age pension, available to anyone 70 and over since Jan. 1. There was no announcement that the Prime Minister had applied, but government officials said it would be logical for an application to be made by the head of the government that initiated the universal-pension legislation.

Brazil Boosts Steel Output

By F. ZENHA MACHADO.

RIO DE JANEIRO — (AP). — Brazil plans to make all the steel she needs within a few years.

If she can do this, she can save a lot of foreign exchange or can use it for other goods and services.

Also her expanding economy will not have to depend upon what other steel producing countries may have available for export.

Major expansion will be at the Volta Redonda steel mill, built with United States help, which has been operating since 1946.

Volta Redonda now produces about 420,000 tons of steel a year. One phase of expansion, now underway, is expected to bring it to 700,000 tons in several more months.

President Getulio Vargas has approved a second expansion of the mill owned by Companhia Siderurgica Nacional, a joint government-private enterprise. Detailed technical studies, including the financial, have been started.

The aim is, by around 1954, to expand Volta Redonda to its full capacity of 1,000,000 tons a year. This is about what the country now uses—40 per-ent of it imported.

"Of course," says Volta Redonda's assistant director, Euvaldo Simas Pereira, "The country's consumption will be larger by then, but so will the production of other plants."

United States Loan

The present expansion is being carried on with a loan of $25,000,000 granted about a year ago by the US export-import bank and an increase in the company's capital of an equivalent amount.

The town of Volta Redonda, near the mill in the State of Rio de Janeiro, has been growing, too. On the site of a previous cattle ranch, it now has a population of 35,000 and more than 3,000 homes. Eight hundred more are under construction.

Planned to operate entirely with national raw materials, 99.8 per cent of Volta Redonda's production is consumed in Brazil, and more than half of it in the fast-growing industrial state of Sao Paulo.

The value of Volta Redonda's production in 1950 was about 1,200,000,000 cruzeiros—a saving for Brazil of about $60,000,000 in foreign exchange which would have been required to import the steel.

When the plant reaches full capacity, the annual saving in foreign exchange will amount to about $145,000,000.

Fundamental Differences Split Major US Parties

By ED SIMON

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 (CP)—Barely 10 months before election day, both major American political parties are torn by fundamental differences that hamper their efforts to unite behind a presidential candidate.

A certain amount of intra-party dissension is inevitable at this stage, when rival factions jockey for a commanding position at their party's national convention next summer, where presidential nominees are chosen for the November election.

But rarely has the early campaigning pointed up more basic disagreement in the ranks of both Republicans and Democrats on the issues on which the election should be fought.

The chief split among the Republicans is in foreign policy. When Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York led their ticket in the last two elections, they were committed to the bipartisan policy of the late Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Grow More Critical

With the death of Vandenberg last year, a faction led by Senator Robert Taft of Ohio has been increasingly critical of President Truman and State Secretary Dean Acheson, particularly with regard to their conduct of the Korean war and other Far Eastern matters.

Truman's dismissal of Gen MacArthur last year brought this criticism to a head. And Taft, an isolationist before the Second World War, has come out for limitations on foreign aid and defence expenditures.

Taft, one of three announced candidates for the Republican nomination, comes closest to meeting the demands of old-school Republicans.

The other two men officially in the field, Governor Earl Warren of California and former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota, both have international records.

But the man considered to be Taft's chief rival for the Republican nomination, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, is attacked by his opponents as definitely committed to Democratic foreign aims.

While the general is not yet officially a candidate, Taft supporters say his position of military commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Oroganization ties him to Truman's big defence budget and to his policy of all-out European economic aid.

Domestic Disagreements

The Democrats are virtually united in foreign-policy matters, but there are basic disagreements among them on some key domestic issues.

Truman's insistence on a civil-rights program remains a sore point. Some states of the traditionally Democratic "solid south" withdrew their support from Truman in the last election and threaten to do so again if he insists on sponsoring legislation outlawing discrimination against Negroes.

Another touchy Democratic problem is the question of corruption in government. Truman has been under fire for his inability to set up a bi-partisan body to investigate charges of maladministration in the justice and internal revenue departments.

Senator Estes Kefauver, the only man who has declared himself in the running for the Democratic nomination, is at odds with the administration on both these issues.

New Political Party Planned For BC

VANCOUVER, Jan. 31—(CP)—Plans for a new political party in British Columbia were unfolded here Wednesday night.

Announcement that the Christian Democratic Party had filed an application for a charter under the Societies Act was made by James Cederberg, executive member, and F. W. Peters, corresponding secretary, both of North Vancouver, BC.

They said in a press release that the party is open for membership to everybody "who believes in Christian principles and is willing to apply them to the social, economic and political sphere of BC."

". . . We believe in private initiative and highest development of the individual, which can only come by multiple ownership, management and control by as many people as possible," the release said.

Indefinite Postponement

PEMBROKE, Jan. 31. (CP)—Magistrate W. K. MacGregor on Wednesday granted an indefinite postponement into the preliminary hearing of a double murder charge against Spr. J. D. U. Lanoie, 34, of Welland. Lanoie, an officer's batman at nearby Petawawa military camp, is charged with the fatal shooting Jan. 1 of two fellow-soldiers, Spr. J. W. Caufield, 21, of Pine Falls, Man., and Craftsman C. E. Johannson, 20, of Saskatoon.

Hear Evidence In Ferry Firm Swindling Case

QUEBEC, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Ernest Armstrong, general manager of the Levis Ferry Company since Feb. 8 last, Wednesday testified that Armand Rochette attempted to have him sign a document May 15, 1951, attesting the holding Feb. 20 of a meeting of company directors, which allegedly was not held.

Rochette, 46-year-old Montreal broker, is charged with having stolen $291,000 from the company and its shareholders and with having defrauded them of $375,000.

Mr. Armstrong testified he never had been a director of the company although he has been a shareholder for the last two years.

Other testimony revolved around entries in the books of the ferry company and in those of Armand Rochette, Ltd., and on the sale of $201,000 in bonds, transferred from the company to the account of Armand Rochette, Ltd., in the Royal Bank of Montreal.

The Crown prosecutor showed Mr. Armstrong a document that appeared to be a copy of the minutes of the alleged meeting Feb. 20.

The witness denied having signed the original although the copy shown the court indicated he had signed along with two directors.

Rochette and a director signed the original, said the witness, but the other director who appeared to have signed was not at the May 15 meeting.

Mr. Armstrong testified that later, following an inquiry into company affairs for the federal government, Rochette had telephoned him and said not to worry about the minutes as they had been destroyed.

It is alleged there was a resolution on this copy of the minutes authorizing Rochette to dispose of $200,000 in bonds, owned by the ferry company.

Veteran Nurse Fire Heroine

VICTORIA, BC (CP)—Plucky Miss Jane Megarry, a 72-year-old graduate nurse recently assisted in the rescue of her nonagenarian patient in an apartment house fire. She helped her charge, 94-year-old Miss Alice Turner, from smoke-filled rooms.

Miss Megarry was decorated some years ago by the King for her nursing work among Alberta Indians.

While nurse in charge of the St. Paul's Indian residential school at Cardston, Alta., from 1924 to 1936, Miss Megarry taught first-aid and home nursing to the Indians.

As a result they were among the first natives to win many honors in St. John Ambulance competitions.

Miss Megarry received recognition for this from the King. She was awarded the medal as a serving sister of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem. Presentation was made in Ottawa by the Earl of Bessborough, then governor-general of Canada.

She has a medal to show she graduated from the Galt Hospital at Lethbridge and a special medal for her work with the Blackfeet Indians at Bleishon, Alta.

Elocution Lessons For Yorkshire Cops

HALIFAX, Yorkshire —(CP)— The Halifax police force, 124 strong, has been ordered to take elocutions lessons. This new twist in police training followed complaints from local magistrates that evidence given by many of the constables was often incoherent.

The chief of police believing his men were victims of "nerves," called in Harold Brook, an adult education official, with a microphone, recording machine and copies of Shakespeare's works.

The constables were then required to read a passage from Shakespeare which was played back on the recording machine. Few recognized their own voice.

Now Mr. Brook is teaching the force how to articulate properly, sound vowels more clearly, stop their voice dropping at the end of a sentence and how to breathe correctly.

No one is exempt from the "talkie" sessions and the injunction: "Go home and practice talking and reading before the mirror."

He's Fed Up

MONTREAL (CP) — Emile Blanchard, 63-year-old pawnshop proprietor, said he was going out of business after his store was robbed for the fourth time in less than 12 months. He said the last pair who robbed him were the same men who cleaned out the till last November.

Traffic Costs

MONTREAL (CP) — Franklin Kreml, director of the Traffic Institute at Northwestern University in Illinois, in a speech here estimated Montreal's traffic congestion and parking problems may cause a loss of $15,000,000 a year to citizens.

Ottawa Film Expert To Stay In Britain

LONDON — (CP) — John D. Ralph, of Ottawa and Montreal, awarded an MBE in the New Year's Honors List, says he plans to go right on making three-dimensional films.

"I may not return to Canada for another year or two," says the New Zealand-born Canadian, who had a top job with Canada's National Film Board from 1946 to 1949.

Ralph, about 40, received his award for services in connection with the 1951 Festival of Britain. He was producer of the three-dimensional film exhibit which was rated as one of the Festival's most successful ventures.

Among the films shown were two from Canada, produced by Ottawa's Norman McLaren and scored by Louis Applebaum, of Toronto.

Ralph now is associated in production and distribution of three-dimensional films with Raymond Spottiswoode, also of Ottawa.

Lunch In Boxes Important For Workers

Ask any man who takes his lunch to work, and he'll tell you that what he finds in his lunch box at noon each day is of no small importance.

From a different point of view, nutrition experts will tell you the same thing.

Margaret E. Smith, director of nutrition of the Health League of Canada, has some ideas on the subject it would be well for any housewife who makes lunches for either her husband or children to look over.

Should Be Proteins

The lunch box should contain some form of body building and body repair food (protein). This comes in the form of meat of all kinds, fish, eggs and cheese. These proteins have everything essential to life. Fruits and vegetables also have proteins, but do not have all the essentials.

Sandwiches usually make up the basic food in the box, but these should be varied. When baked beans are given as a substitute for sandwiches, cheese should be included.

Best bread for sandwiches is whole wheat, rye or oatmeal bread that is one day old spread with softened butter. Filling should include sliced meats or liver or heart cold. Meat leftovers can be ground and mixed with dressings. Mixtures of meat and vegetables, cooked or raw, make excellent salads.

Raw vegetables of almost every sort, from carrot sticks to cauliflower buds and green pepper are very valuable for their vitamins. Any fresh fruit the housewife can buy is a very welcome addition to the lunch.

Desserts in small glass or cardboard containers, can be baked custard, rice or raisin pudding, tapioca pudding or bread puddings are good.

If the man has two thermos bottles, one can be filled with soup and the other with a beverage. Most healthful beverages are hot milk, fruit juice, postum or kaffee hag or cold tomato juice, lemonade or orangeade, milk or buttermilk.

Lunch Menus

Here are some helpful menus for lunches:

Baked Beans with strips of bacon and Canadian cheese. Buttered whole wheat muffins. Wrapped in waxed paper and put in a box to keep whole. Cole Slaw. Dessert: Pumpin pie. Beverage.

Split Pea Soup, in thermos bottle to keep hot. Sandwich of ground cold meat, grated raw carrots, and diced cooked potatoes, marinated with a mayonnaise or salad dressing. Buttered whole wheat bread and lettuce leaves.

The sandwich mixture may be put in a jar. Carry the lettuce and the buttered whole wheat bread in waxed paper. Dessert: Cooked fruit and oatmeal cookies. Beverage.

Minced chicken, rice and vegetable salad seasoned with mayonnaise if preferred. Use equal parts of chopped celery, minced chicken and cooked rice. Green peppers and celery might be used in equal portions instead of celery only. Complete the salad with buttered whole wheat bread and lettuce leaves.

The same measure of grated cheese and boiled rice and one-half as much chopped nuts, marinated with salad dressing or chili sauce. Complete the salad with buttered whole wheat and raw turnip strips. Dessert: Raisin cup cakes and banana jello. Beverage.

Heart Diseases Affect Half Million

It is estimated that more than half a million people in Canada are today suffering from some form of disease of the heart and blood vessels, according to Dr. John D. Keith of the Canadian Heart Association. And each year these diseases constitute the largest group of causes of death in the country.

"Approximately half the deaths in people over 50 years of age fall into this group," states Dr. Keith. "The head and blood vessels produce three times as many deaths as cancer, five times as many as violence and accidents, eight times as many as tuberculosis."

Disease falling into this group do not confine their attack to the elderly. Rheumatic fever is still prominent among causes of children's deaths — fourth most important cause in the 10 to 20 year age group. And each year in Canada approximately 700 infants die in their first year of life from congential heart disease.

Ways To Help

Research in heart disease is placed high on the list of ways to cut this tragic annual loss—"We don't yet know the cause of rheumatic fever, high blood pressure or hardening of the arteries," points out Dr. Keith.

And another important and promising line of attack is a broad vocational guidance, rehabilitation and employment program for older victims of heart disease.

"Men and women suffering from heart disease have quite a potential contribution to make to our society if we will accept it," says Dr. Keith. "We need to offer vocational guidance to the younger people and planned rehabilitation and employment programs to the older ones. The individual with heart disease should be encouraged to apply for a job in many businesses that now discriminate against him."

Mental Patients Equal Number in General Hospital

There are as many patients in Canada's mental hospitals as in all the country's general hospitals combined, according to Dr. J. D. Griffin, general director of the Canadian Mental Health Association. In addition to this, 30 to 50 per cent of all patients consulting family doctors are suffering from illnesses either caused or accentuated by emotional or mental factors.

"Poor mental health cripples, in considerable measure, the working efficiency of 10 per cent of our population," asserts Dr. Griffin. "It disables more people than tuberculoisis and cancer combined.

"Anxiety states and neurotic disorders are important factors in industrial absenteeism and poor production, in marital discord and broken homes and in social dependency and delinquency."

Canada Leads The World

The association of which Dr. Griffin is general director, has for 34 years been working with governments, universities, school systems, health departments and welfare organizations in promoting the positive mental health of the Canadian people. Its founding in 1918 made Canada the second nation of the world to bring scientists and citizens together in the interests of mental health. Today 33 countries have mental hygiene societies with a total of more than a million members.

"Canada is in the forefront in promoting positive mental health and wholesome human relations," says Dr. Griffin. "Public education in mental health through the medium of radio is more extensive in Canada than elsewhere; and Canadian films on mental health are acknowledged to be the best in the world.

"The fight for better mental health in Canada, however, is only half won; and therefore the challenge for the future is to strengthen our facilities for research, for the training of professional personnel, for treatment and for prevention. When the fight is won, Canada will be a sturdier and a richer country."

Mental Hygiene Stronger Through Industrial Health

In summarizing the field of industrial health for the Health League of Canada recently, Dr. H. M. Harrison, an experienced industrial physician of Toronto, laid stress on the educational and preventive aspect of his work.

"I should like to point out that industrial medicine has a real opportunity to contribute to a community's mental hygiene program," states Dr. Harrison. "The employee coming in for a medical check-up with an assortment of complaints which cannot be given any organic diagnosis presents a real problem. A competent nurse and a physician who will take the time to try to get to the background of the complaints may uncover an early mental breakdown.

"If I am correct in assuming that relieving fear, anxiety and the numerous neurotic complaints will contribute to an improvement in mental hygiene, what more fertile field can we find that the daily contact of physician, nurse and employee in medical services in an industrial plant"

Services Believed Increasing

Dr. Harrison goes on to estimate that about 25 per cent of employees in manufacturing industry in Ontario are covered by some degree of health supervsiion. This does not take into account the considerable number who are covered in such industries as public utilities, insurance, mining, etc. It is not possible, he points out, to give an up-to-date picture on the extent of industrial medical services in Canada as a whole as there has been no national survey since that which was conducted in 1943 as a war measure.

"In 1951 in Ontario there were known to be 28 full time and 165 part time physicians engaged in health supervision in the manufacturing industry alone," Dr. Harrison says. "These figures are approximately correct and indicate a substantial increase in the number of companies with health services . . . Likewise from available reports of 561 nurses employed in Ontario industry, we can assume that there has been a definite increase in the employment of nurses in industry throughout Canada."

Bullet Misses After 4 Misfires

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP). — George Petdus is a lucky man. Early Wednesday he grappled with a would-be holdup man who tried five times to shoot him. Four times the gunman's weapon misfired. The fifth bullet fired but missed Petdus.

The incident occurred in the Queensway restaurant at 401 Bloor St. W. where Petdus is employed as a cleaner. After the restaurant closed he went to the basement dressing room and was confronted by an armed man.

"This is a holdup," the man said, "raise your hands." However, Petdus had other ideas. "I thought I could get to him before he could shoot," he explained afterward.

He dived at the bandit, who stepped back and levelled his gun. Petdus heard the gun hammer click four times on useless bullets. The fifth bullet fired but plowed into the floor. Then Petdus knocked the bandit down.

In the struggle the bandit reversed the gun and slugged Petdus twice over the head with the butt. He fled as Petdus fell to the floor. The cleaner was treated at the Wellesley Hospital for cuts and bruises to his head.

Fierce Bush Fire Claims Two Lives

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 31 (Reuters)—A man and a boy were reported burned to death and several children were missing in a fierce bush fire that today swept the tiny town of Barnawartha on the border of New South Wales and Victoria States.

The death toll as a result of the bush fires in the two states during the last four days has reached 10.

With temperatures near 100 degrees the whole of Victoria State was on a fire alert as the flames burned out 10 Barnawartha homes, two stores, a boarding house and the railroad station.

At the northern Sydney suburb of Hornsby schoolchildren fled before a giant bush fire which swept through a valley near the suburb. Treetop-high flames burnt down at least one home and every available man and woman in Hornsby were called out to fight the flames.

Can't Get Steel

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 31 (CP)—Canadian steel is not available for Victoria hospital's 410-bed addition, members of the hospital trust learned Wednesday. In a letter to the trustees, E. G. McNutt, deputy director of the steel division, department of defence production, said that the department was "unable to assist in the procurement of steel at this time."

Industry Urged To Help Solve Health Problems

TORONTO. — Industry has brought a whole new series of public health problems to the community, and it is to be hoped that industries will assume their share of responsibility in solving them. So said Dr. Robert A. Kehoe, director of the Kettering Laboratory, University of Cincinnita, in an address before the 32nd annual meeting of the Health League of Canada here.

Following a report on the effectiveness of social medicine in meeting Great Britain's public health problems by Dr. Fraser Brockington, professor of social and preventive medicine at the University of Manchester, Dr. Kehoe said that he hoped and believed that the situation can be met more effectively in America by private enterprise — "if industry here will assume its full share of responsibility for community health."

Reaches Everywhere

"What may properly be called industrialization has reached so far into our population — our farms and even our homes have now at least some of the hazards of an industrial environment — that the health problems of our working population are really part and parcel of the whole problem of public health," Dr Kehoe said.

He suggested that there is a "strategic advantage" in approaching the whole question of public health from the standpoint of industrial health.

"If we could introduce into industry the type of health program they should have, practically the whole population could be influenced," Dr. Kehoe declared.

He recommended an abrupt, radical change in the practice of industrial medicine, from the application of curative medicine after the fact of accident or disease to an active brand of preventive medicine.

"Indeed, industry will not long be able to support the increasing cost of medical care for its own employees unless it does apply preventive medicine and so helps to clip the cost of cure," Dr. Kehoe warned. "In the United States — and I presume this is equally true in Canada — we won't be able to take care of the burden of sickness unless we reduce the load by a sound brand of preventive medicine."

He's healthy now and Health Week observed all the year round will keep him that growing way. National Health Week is Feb. 3 to 9.

Health Week Deserves Citizens' Aid

Canada's eighth annual National Health Week deserves the support of all citizens of the Province of Ontario, says Health Minister Phillips in a special message issued in connection with the 1952 observance of this yearly mass health education effort.

"The Ontario Department of Health associates itself with the Health League of Canada, sponsor of the Health Week observance, in calling public attention to the event because we believe that while health deserves year-round attention an annual concentrated educational campaign does much to renew and revitalize the interest of the public in so importnat a subject," Dr. Phillips says in his statement.

Need Healthy Citizens

"The Ontario Government, through its Department of Health, recognizes the fact that no nation or individual political unit can carry on or survive without the benefit of a healthy citizenry. Never before in Ontario's history —and making all due allowance for increased costs of services— has there been so much expenditure of both money and effort to protect the health of the people of the Province. Provincial government spending in the health interest of the people of Ontario is now around $40,000,000 a year, or close to $9 for each man, woman and child. Ten years ago health expenditures rated less than $3 per capita.

However, it must be remembered that public health administration as carried on by the Ontario Department of Health is more than just distribution of funds— it requires human understanding —an understanding of our own abilities and our own shortcomings, and an understanding of the hopes and human feelings of the people of the Province who look to us for guidance and help.

"We, in the Ontario Department of Health, are endeavouring to the best of our ability and with all the resources at our command, to maintain such human understanding.

Raised Standards

"During 1951 we made progress in raising the standard of care and treatment for patients in our mental hospitals. Two new Ontario Hospitals were opened—one at Smiths Falls and one at Aurora. We improved the basis by which we make capital grants to public and general hospitals for new construction and rebuilding programs, thus reducing further the once serious shortage of hospital beds. Municipalities were relieved of some of their hospital burdens by provincial aid in the cost of care of indigent patients, including those in isolation hospitals.

"A further attempt to meet the problem of nurse recruitment was made through capital grants to hospitals for the construction of residence accommodation.

"In the field of tuberculosis control, the Ontario Department of Health in 1951 continued its free X-ray service to thousands through its mobile clinics, and provided sanatoria with close to $6,000,000 in maintenance and capital grants to aid in patient care and building construction. We are proud of our record of having the lowest TB death rate of any of the Canadian provinces.

"In the field of epidemiology, it would appear that with the exception of poliomyelitis there has been a lower trend in the incidence of all communicable diseases reported in the province during the past year. Cases of diphtheria and typhoid fever reached an all-time low point in incidence.

New Dental Car

"The Departmental dental grant has encouraged promotion of local dental programs by school boards and boards of health. During the year, a second dental railway car was put into service in Northern Ontario, taking needed dental care to thousands of children in isolated districts.

"Our laboratory facilities were extended so that our technicians in 1951 made more than 1,600,000 pathological, bacteriological and chemical examinations—98 per cent of them free of charge to the public through their physicians.

"Continued interest in cancer was shown during the year by a Government provision of $2,000,000 for the setting up of a Cancer Institute of Radiotherapy.

"Interest and intensive work in the fields of industrial hygiene, public health nursing, sanitation, maternal and child welfare and venereal disease control was continued by other departmental divisions.

"As can be seen, the Ontario Department of Health has not been idle in the past year. However, it is never too busy to appreciate the work of the many voluntary associations in the health field, so at this time—National Health Week—I, as Minister of Health for Ontario, commend to the people of the province the valuable health education work carried on at all times by the Health League of Canada."

Health Week Activities Planned By Local League

Canadian Health Week, February 3-9, will be observed in Peterborough by special health education activities sponsored by the Peterborough branch of the Health League of Canada.

Sunday, the week will be officially opened by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH, and George Barnes, president of the Peterborough branch, in a radio broadcast.

During the remainder of the week daily health broadcasts will be made. Each day's broadcast will be conducted by one of five following health organizations in the city: The Department of Health, the Cancer Society, the Dental Public Health Association, the Peterborough County TB Association, the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Panel Discussion

Tuesday, the regular Home and School broadcast will take the form of a panel discussion on immunization and nutrition. Included in the panel will be Mr. Barnes, Mr. Kelly, Miss Gwen Reed, YWCA dietitian, Miss Veronica O'Leary, public health nurse.

Health education pamphlets are being distributed to schools, service clubs, and other organizations by the Peterborough branch members for use during Health Week.

An extensive publicity campaign has also been planned. This is to include displays in store windows. Even restaurants will not be left out. Stickers bringing attention to Health Week will be pasted on all their menus.

Says Canadians Paying Less Hospital Care

"Relatively, on a per day and on a per illness basis, Canadians are paying less for hospital care than they did a few years ago," asserts Dr. L. O. Bradley, executive secretary of the Canadian Hospital Council. "This is because our hospitals have been working at full capacity for the past number of years, and also because the average patient's stay in hospital is but a week or less today, where it was nearer to two weeks a decade ago."

In actual dollars, the average cost of hospital care may be expected to increase by another 10 per cent this year if the present trends continue, adds Dr. Bradley.

151,832 Beds in Canada

According to Canadian Hospital Council records, there are now a total of 75,245 public hospital beds (including general, women's, children's, chronic and convalescent hospitals) available in Canada. There are about as many mental and private hospital and tuberculosis sanatorium beds in use, making a grand total of 151,832 beds of all kinds in all of Canada.

The boom in hospital construction since the war has added 26,722 hospital beds of all types to the Canadian scene, Dr. Bradley reports, including in this number the acquisition of 3,120 beds with the entry of Newfoundland into Confederation. Federal health grants to assist in the construction of hospitals have been voted on the basis of 35,000 new beds, some of which are not yet available for use.

Dr. Bradley also points to the lack of qualified hospital personnel in many categories as an impediment in the way of improved hospital service in all parts of Canada.

WET PLACE TO PARK—The rampaging Ohio River caught these cars in a Wheeling, W. Va., parking lot. Freezing temperatures slowed the rise of the river, which was swollen by record January rains. More than a million acres of land in five states were under water, and at least 8,000 persons had to be evacuated.

Clean Your Teeth Shortly After Eating

Present dental knowledge of tooth decay shows that unless sweet food debris is removed from the surfaces of the teeth within 10 minutes of the time of eating, tooth brushing will have very little beneficial effect. So says the Canadian Dental Association.

The Dental Association goes on to recommend four rules to improve the dental health of Canadians:—

1.—Eat less of sweet foods.

2.—Reduce the number of times a day when sweet foods are eaten.

3.—Brush the teeth and rinse the mouth immediately (within 10 minutes) after eating.

4.—If you can't brush, then rinse the mouth vigorously immediately after eating.

"Remember," urges the dentists, "prevention is better than cure — and cheaper!"

Dental Troubles Hit 99 Per Cent

Dental disease and abnormalities—tooth decay, gum diseases, and irregular teeth—affect 99 per cent of all Canadians, according to the Canadian Dental Association. Because of these conditions, "the adult mouth is frequently 10 to 20 years older than the rest of the human body" Too many men and women are dental cripples in their early adulthood.

"These dental conditions may begin in very early childhood," warns the Canadian Dental Association, "Only about one-fifth of such dental conditions are cared for in their early stages, when protection is effective. Early supervision and regular dental care can prevent such crippling dental conditions."

SYNAGOGUE. GETS. A. "GRAVEN. IMAGE".—A Jewish congregation in Chicago has defied a centuries-old tradition by erecting a figurative sculpture on an outer wall of its modern synagogue in suburban River Forest, Ill. Some Jewish ecclesiatics believe such figures defy the commandment against worship of graven images. However, sculptor Milton Horn defends his work as being in the true tradition of the Hebrew religion. The work shows a winged figure with "flame-like head and four all-seeing eyes" holding aloft the tables of commandments and trampling the earth-bound behemoth.

Labor Party Burns Midnight Oil Seeking Way To Recoup Power

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Jan. 31 (CP) — Britain's Labor party is burning midnight oil in back-room studies it hopes will point the way back to political power.

Party planners have again joined hands with the Fabians—the original "idea men" of the Labor movement—in search of a new dynamic for democratic socialism.

In committee rooms and debating chambers, research staffs will appraise the successes and failures experienced under the first majority Labor government, which ruled from 1945 to 1951. Policies long accepted as articles of faith will be subject to scrutiny. Hilary Marquand, former health minister, predicts "bold and far-reaching plans" will result.

Disenchantment

The present ferment can be interpreted as a sign of socialist disenchantment. In the later years of the Labor administration it was widely held, even among sympathetic critics, that the government was running out of ideas. Now it is evident that British socialism, accepting this analysis, no longer intends to stand pat on the old doctrines, so long and so fiercely defended.

An example illustrates the point. In its early days of office, Labor ardently believed that public ownership of industry would work miracles. It didn't. Although opinions differ on the results of nationalization, it seems a majority view that in large industrial undertakings public ownership may mean merely the transfer of one set of high officials for another.

Thus, in drafting its back-room blueprints for a new policy, the party will certainly devote fresh brainpower to problems apparent under public ownership.

The party panel discussing nationalization, one of seven groups headed by former Labor cabinet ministers, will be under Philip Noel-Baker, former fuel minister.

Brainy Trust

There are two other main lines of research. In addition to the panels headed by prominent Labor personalities, four special sub-committees have been appointed to report on national issues. Several research groups from the Fabian Society, the party's intellectual mainspring in the days of such pioneers as Sidney and Beatrice Webb, are also active.

Honorary Member

OTTAWA, Jan. 31. (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent became an honorary optimist Wednesday. The honor, involving membership in all optimist international units, has been conferred on only two other persons—President Truman and former Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Gets 18-Pound Trout

JACKSON'S POINT, Jan. 31—(CP)—Walt Tramner Wednesday hooked a trout weighing 18 pounds two ounces — the largest trout caught in Lake Simcoe in the last five years. Tranmer caught the trout o na whitefish line while fishing through the ice about two miles off shore. The record trout taken from the lake weighed about 21 pounds.

Denies Canada Can Build Seaway Alone

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 — (CP).—The New York Herald Tribune says today that it is "physically impossible" for Canada to construct the St. Lawrence seaway project alone.

In an editorial it also criticizes President Truman for saying Congress must give quick approval to the construction of the seaway if the United States is to have a part in its management and enjoy the "inestimable" advantages.

The Herald Tribune says that Truman's insistence in his annual budget statement that Congress must consider Canada has passed legislation to go ahead with the seaway alone is "almost pure poppycock."

"Many might say—indeed, many have said, since Prime Minister St. Laurent first opened the Canadian plan at the White House in September—that if the Canadians want to build the seaway alone, by all means let them do so. But this . . . is no part of the Canadian intention, since it is physically impossible.

"There cannot be a seaway without a dam to raise channel levels; Canada cannot build the dam alone since the site is in the international section; and the power project is essential to support the cost of the dam.

"What Canada really proposes is that if Congress once more rejects the President's inclusive package, and if the power project and dam can then be worked out between Ontario and 'an American agency' (presumably the State of New York), Canada will sustain the cost of the navigational locks and channels . . . ."

The Herald Tribune says that while Canadians have naturally denied that the St. Laurent proposal was mainly a device for putting pressure on Congress, they do not deny that at the best it leaves Canada a long way from any actual start on the digging.

Silent Candidate Opposes Nehru For Seat In Gov't

By R. SATAKOPAN

ALLAHABAD, India, Jan. 31—(AP) — A rarity in politics— a candidate sworn to silence — is challenging India's Prime Minister Nehru for a seat in parliament.

He is bearded Prabhu Dutt Brahmachari, a Hindu Sadhu (holy man) who has taken an oath never to speak.

Brahmachari has conducted a strong campaign in Allahabad, Nehrus home town, presiding over meetings and silently receiving the homage of his followers while lieutenants speak for him.

His support is so strong that Nehru abandoned earlier plans not to visit his own constituency. His Congress party concentrated some of their best campaigners in this area.

Voting in Nehru's own constituency will be finished this month.

Would Curb Rights

Brahmachardi's main campaign plank is opposition to the Hindu Code Bill, which confers on Hindu women rights which their Western sisters have long taken for granted. In "its passage," he tells voters, is the ruin of Hindu culture and religion.

Now India's largest state, it is the last to go to the polls. Its 32,000,000 voters spread over 114,000 square miles will elect 430 members to the State legislature and 86 to the central parliament. More than 2,600 persons representing 14 parties are competing for these seats.

Besides Nehru himself and his sister, Madame Pandit, the other contestants to the central parliament from Uttar Pradesh include Education Minister Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, Commerce Minister Shi Prakasa, Home Minister K. N. Katju, Rehabilitation Minister Ajit Prasad Jain, Deputy Minister B. V. Keskar and Minister of State for Finance Mahavir Tyago.

Brahmachari's election appeals have been unique even in mystic India. Followers go about at every household—not for food but for voters. They bless the householders, sprinkling holy Ganges water on them, and plead that the return to power of Nehru's Congress party means the end of everything sacred to Hindus.

Supporting Nehru's campaign at home, Congress speakers assailed Brahmachari's plunge into politics.

"The Sadhus must try to purify public life," Home Minister Kailash Ath Katju told an audience. "It is wrong for them to enter politics."

Seating Plan In Ontario Legislature Altered To Prevent MPP's Feeling Lonesome

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP). — The provincial election November 22 which brought the Progressive Conservatives the largest majority in the history of ontario has resulted in a change of the Legislature's seating plan.

When the first session of the 24th Legislature opens February 21, the Cabinet will sit in the centre of the right-hand row of desks, instead of in its traditional spot immediately to the right of the Speaker's chair.

The Opposition will occupy a section of the left-hand row of desks directly opposite the Cabinet. Government members will use the rest of the seats on both sides of the House.

Premier Frost's government has a total of 79 members. In Opposition are seven Liberal members, one Liberal-Labor, two CCF, and one Labor-Progressive.

The centring of the Cabinet and Opposition was worked out to bring the House together. The government felt that many members would feel isolated if the Cabinet were placed at the right of the Speaker and the Opposition in a small section to the left.

Rev. J. J. Guiry 23 Years Port Hope, Dies

Rev. James J. Guiry, parish priest at Port Hope more than 20 years died this morning at St. Joseph's Hospital, Parry Sound, where he had been chaplain since last October.

Father Guiry was born at Downeyville in 1880, son of Garrett Guiry and his wife, Hanora Crowley. The homestead was four miles northeast of Downeyville. From Lindsay Collegiate Institute, he went on to St. Michael's College, Toronto for philosophy; and took the theology course at the Grand Seminary, Montreal. He was ordained as priest at St. Luke's Church, Downeyville, on August 10, 1910, by Most Rev. Richard A. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough.

Was In Peterborough.

After serving as assistant priest in Peterborough and Lindsay, Father Guiry began his pastoral career at Kinmount, was administrator of the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Peterborough during 1927, and was appointed parish priest at Port Hope in 1928. He remained in that charge until October 1951, when he resigned, and was appointed chaplain at the Parry Sound hospital.

Predeceased by his parents and two sisters, Father Guiry leaves three sisters and three brothers: Sister Mary Victory and Sister Clement of St. Joseph's Convent, Cobourg; Miss Ada Guiry, Lindsay; Herbert Guiry, Trout Creek; Joseph Guiry, Toronto; and John of Downeyville.

Funeral announcement will be made later.

Downtown restaurants in the Charlotte and King St. areas had a small flurry of extra business today. The reason: shortly before noon women attending the cooking school at the Odeon theatre came streaming out and some of them at least were not in any rush to try what they had learned. They decided to eat downtown instead.

Hold $15,000 Till Job Done

Peterborough is winding up its agreement with the George Hardy Construction Company for the enlargement and completion of the sewage disposal plant.

The total amount payable to the contractor is $532,241.14. Of that amount progress payments totalled $377,245.02, leaving a balance of $139,996.12. Board of works Monday recommended in a motion by Mayor Waddell and Ald. T. D. Miller that this sum be paid, excepting $15,000 which is being retained until May 1.

Withholding of that money until spring was advised by City Engineer Chalmers as guarantee of the final work about the grounds which has been delayed until the frost goes out.

The itemized statement of cost details was listed in twelve typewritten folio pages on the file of the board of works.

Extra Work Added

The Hardy bid on the basis of unit costs of concrete, steel, etc., was $485,123.61. Extra work brought the total to the amount of $532,241.14, as reported to the board by City Engineer Chalmers.

The sewage disposal job was one of the major undertakings laid down in 1950, and as previously reported the plant is now in operation, and the contractor is being paid off with the exception of the $15,000 that is being held by the city until spring.

Masonic Temple Planned For September

Completion of the new Masonic Temple, on the Hamilton property on Reid St., by September was promised the shareholders at a meeting of the Masonic Hall Ltd. held on Wednesday night.

The president of the company, R. L. Dobbin announced that splendid progress was being made on the new building and work was advancing on the renovation of the stone house.

The new temple will have seats for 170 and provision is made for adding temporary seats. The dining room is it expected with seats between 300 and 350.

Mr. Dobbin announced that the Hon. W. J. Dunlop, a past grand master of Grand Lodge of Canada in the Province of Ontario would lay the foundation stone early in May. Mr. Dunlop is a member of Peterborough Lodge and is now the Minister of Education.

In Memory of Masons.

Much of the new equipment to go into the temple is being placed in memory of men who were prominent in masonary in Peterborough by their friends and families while other equipment is being donated by individual mason.

The nine directors of the company were re-elected: R. L. Dobbin, W. A. Richardson, G. A. Macdonald, Horrace Steggles, Dr. J. J. Craig, T. H. Taylor, Ian F. McRae, E. R. Shirley and G. Wilson Craw. The directors at a meeting following that of the shareholders re-elected Mr. Dobbin president and named Mr. Macdonald vice-president. L. F. Dyer was re-appointed secretary.

4 Constables Guard Prisoner

BARRIE, Jan. 31. (CP)—Four Ontario Provincial Police officers have spent two days shunting Lawrence Shirley of Toronto around Ontario after an attempted break from Toronto's Don Jail was discovered early Sunday.

A police official said here Wednesday night that 22-year-old Shirley was taken from Don jail Sunday under heavy guard and moved to Kingston penitentiary. Brought to Simcoe county jail here Monday to await trial, he has been guarded by four Provincial Police officers since.

The attempted break was discovered when bars in Shirley's cell were found broken. Shirley is reported to have ripped out plumbing in his cell and cowed jail trusties with his feats of strength.

Provincial Constable Reginald Wilson Wednesday identified Shirley and Frank Watson, 26, also of Toronto, as two of three men with whom he traded shots after a $4,200 bank robbery at Bradford July 26.

Constable Wilson, testifying at the trial of Shirley and Watson on charges of armed robbery, said: "I'll never forget them."

Car-Carrying Truck Struck By Train

GRANBY, Que., Jan. 31 (CP)—An automobile-carrying vehicle was struck by a Canadian National diesel-engined freight train today and damage estimated at $4,000 was caused the carrier and two small trucks and a passenger car aboard it. No one was hurt.

The carrier is owned by the Carleton Transport of Oshawa.

The driver, J. C. Fortin of St. Zotique, Que., leaped from the cab before the collision.

The accident occurred at a level crossing on the outskirts of Granby.

HEADS HOG BREEDERS

HOCKEY PLAYER CUT

Lakefield hockey player, David Casey, 211 Rogers St., received a cut over his left eye in a goalmouth scramble during Wednesday night's Trent Valley League game between Belleville and Lakefield in Belleville. Two stitches were required to close the cut caused by a stray hockey stick.

ELECTED PRESIDENT

C. W. Boorman, Boorman's Beverages, Peterborough was re-elected president of the Ontario Carbonated Beverage Association at the tenth annual convention held in Niagara Falls. A. F. Hunter, Stratford, was returned as vice-president, and Daniel Kay, Jr., Mount Forest, was again named honorary secretary-treasurer.

TWO FIRE ALARMS.

Despite Wednesday's subzero temperature and the temptation to overheat the family furnace there were no serious fires in the city. An oil range flooded at the home of Mrs. Ferne Berry, 417 Sheridan St., but the call to the fire department was more of a precautionary one. No extinguisher was necessary. Late Wednesday night firemen used two handpumps to snuff out a chimney fire at the home of Pennington McConnell, 27 Lansdowne Street.

Tom Nimmo Scots' President

Tom Nimmo, Wednesday night, was elected president of the Canadian Scottish Club of Peterborough. He is the first elected president, succeeding Dave Leckie who served in an interim capacity since the club was started last fall.

The declared purpose of the club is to promote Scottish culture and lore in Peterborough and lend a helping hand in settling recent immigrants from the Old Country.

Here is the 1952 slate of officers: Tom Nimmo, president; Jack Gilchrist, vice pres.; Archie Boyd, secretary; George Laing, treasurer; and three directors — Bill Hammill, Bill Rickard and George Rogers, Jr.

Approve Constitution.

About 40 members attended the first annual meeting in the YWCA. Besides electing their officers for 1952 they approved the club's constitution drawn up by a five-man committee.

The first three club ventures were reported as successful. They were the St. Andrew's dance, Hogmanay (New Years's Eve) dance, and the Burns supper.

But the Scottish club's next venture may cause some eyebrow raising. It will be a St. Patrick's dance, held in the Empress Hotel, March 15.

And why should Scots celebrate the memeory of Ireland's patron saint?

"Well," said one of the club members, "we're entitled to borrow St. Patrick for one night in the year; after all he was born in Scotland."

3 Young Britons Missing Off Hong Kong

HONG KONG, Jan. 31 (AP)—Planes and ships hunted Hong Kong waters today for three 19-year-old Britons missing since Tuesday in a home-made dinghy equipped with a small sail.

The three boys don't know much about it but are "tremendously keen on sailing," said David Bottomley of the Hong Kong public works department, father of one.

The three, all scions of prominent Hong Kong families, are David Bottomley, Tony Martin and Michael Salter.

The search began after they failed to return from a Monday night sail.

Oshawa Health Board Asks Fluorine In Water

OSHAWA, Jan. 31 — Fluorine salts may be added to Oshawa's water supply this year.

The city's board of health voted Tuesday night to ask city council for a grant sufficient to buy fluorine salts for this year.

The salts have been helpful in some US cities in keeping children's teeth sound and healthy. In Ontario, only one city has tried it —Brantford. They reported a certain degree of success with the experiment, enough that fluorine salts will continue to be added to that city's water supply.

PULL UP EVEN with the car in front. Turn your steering wheel hard right, and back up slowly.

WHEN YOUR FRONT SEAT is even with the other car's rear seat, begin straightening your wheels. By the time the bumpers are even, your wheels should be straight. Then turn your steering wheel hard left.

BACK AND FRONT will then come close to the curb. Pull ahead, straighten wheels so that front and rear are within six inches of the curb.

Can You Park Correctly? Your Fenders Say You Can't

Careless parking methods account for 25 per cent of the car accidents on Peterborough streets, Police Chief John Thompson estimated today. On busy city streets, a slight error in judgment, or absent-minded carelessness can cause a serious accident, resulting in property damage, as well as possible injuries to the people involved.

The Motor Vehicles Branch of the Department of Highways suggests a three step method of safe parking.

(1) When you spot a parking space, pull up even with the car in front and stop. Turn your steering wheel hard right and back up slowly.

(2) When the front of your car is even with the rear seat of the car alongside, start straightening your wheels. By the time the front and rear bumpers of the two cars are even, your wheels should be straight. Then, turn your wheel hard left.

(3) If this procedure is followed, your car will back in close to the curb. After you have backed up to the curb pull ahead a ways, and straighten the wheels.

If the careful driver follows these instructions, his car will be parked within six inches of the curb.

Don't Forget Signal

To these three parking hints, Chief Thompson adds a very important point—the importance of signalling.

Too often, Chief Thompson emphasizes motorists driving along in traffic see a parking place. They stop suddenly without signalling. The drivers following, often close behind, are faced with the necessity of having to stop suddenly, go around the car, which is often impossible because of approaching traffic, or hit the car in the rear.

Rear end parking collisions are all too common, and can be avoided. If the driver who is stopping to park, puts his left arm out the window, pointing downward, cars travelling behind know the driver intends to stop.

It's the same when pulling out of a parking space into traffic. "Many drivers just pull straight out, without signalling for a left hand turn," Chief Thompson points out that it is important for drivers to signal by putting their left arm straight out (as for a left turn) when they are pulling away from the curb.

It is an offence under the Highway Traffic Act to fail to signal for a left hand turn, and the Act also states, that a driver must first see if he can do so in safety.

May Face Charges

Anyone who disregards these warnings and is involved in an accident, while getting in or out of a parking space is liable to be charged with failing to signal or careless driving.

In connection with giving the proper signals, courts have held that opening a door and looking behind to see if other cars are likely to be affected by the manoeuver, is not a proper signal. The arm must be extended so that oncoming traffic can see the signal and be made aware of what the driver intends to do.

Nursing Consultant Aids In Civil Defence

Miss Isabel Black, provincial consultant on nursing courses under the Civil Defence Committee, is in Peterborough today.

Miss Black has come to Peterborough to help in the organization of classes to be held by the city's Registered Nurses' Association, and sponsored by the Peterborough Civil Defence Committee.

The lectures are in charge of Miss Harriet McGeary, nurse-in-charge of the VON; Miss Mary Nesbitt, of Civic Hospital, and Miss Dorothy Walker, public health nurse.

Steam Mistaken For Convent Fire

LINDSAY, Jan. 31. (ENS)—Lindsay firemen were called out for a false alarm late Wednesday afternoon to St. Joseph's convent in the south section of the town.

Firemen arrived with two of the town's three trucks expecting the worst but found that there was no fire.

One of the sisters in the convent had noticed what she thought was smoke arising from the bell tower of the building.

When the men arrived, they climbed the tower to try and find the trouble and the "smoke" was found to be steam coming from a bathroom pipe. Three bathrooms on each of three floors in the tower were connected with the same pipe causing an unusual amount of steam, especially in the cold weather.

Named Librarian For 28th Year

BANCROFT, Jan. 31 (ENS)—For the 28th consecutive year Miss Alice Mullett was appointed librarian of the Bancroft Public Library Association at the annual meeting of the body on Monday night. In 1924 Miss Mullett succeeded Mrs. A. Davy as village librarian and has been re-appointed to this position every year since.

During the election of officers Mrs. R. Stringer was chosen as chairman for the year. Other officers elected were: Vice-president Mrs. E. Laundry; sec.-treas. Mrs. J. W. C. Hutton; board members, Miss E. Lowden, Mrs. T. Kavanagh, Mrs. H. Strudwick, Mrs. J. Rutledge, Mr. A. W. Smith, Mr. J. Bleecker and a representative to be appointed from Bancroft village council.

Report of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. W. C. Hutton, showed a bank balance of $158.44 at the close of the calendar year. To date the alteration and enlargement of the library quarters has cost $323.29, with lighting and painting to be completed.

In her annual report the librarian said there had been 312 borrowers during the year, and that these people had paid $117.75 in fees; $201.86 was the sum of money spent on new books.

Since the floor space of the library has been doubled it is now possible for the 5,081 volumes to be displayed to better advantage. Majority of the new space has been allotted to the juvenile section.

Otonabee Farm Boy, 12 Hangs Self Accidentally In Rope Noose In Barn

Mother Finds Son Hanging From Pole; Believed Victim of Curiosity While Doing Farm Chores In Evening

A young Otonabee mother late Wednesday afternoon walked up the barn steps into the loft to see why her 12-year-old son wasn't completing the chores. She found him hanging, with a noose around his neck, fatally injured. He died shortly afterwards, presumably the victim of his own curiosity. Funeral arrangements are being made today for Larry Mark Manley, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Manley, Lot 18, Concession 9, Otonabee township. The farm home of the Manley family is seven miles southeast of Peterborough.

LARRY MARK MANLEY

Young Manley, a Grade 6 pupil at Providence School on the 9th Line, came home as usual by about 5:15 pm Wednesday.

He pitched in and helped his mother, Mrs. Elsie Manley, with some barnyard chores.

Went To Barn

After rounding up a few stray pullets and shooing them into the barn, he went up into the loft to throw down some straw. That was the last time he was seen conscious and alive.

About 15 minutes later his 14-year-old brother went back to the house and complained:

"Isn't Larry going to help me with the chores."

"Why, he is helping," said Mrs. Manley. "He is down at the barn getting down some straw."

Sensed Trouble

When Terry said there was no sign of his brother, Mrs. Manley sensed that something was wrong.

"Come on," she said, "he must have hurt himself."

Together they went up the barn stairs into the loft. In the twilight Mrs. Manley could see the silhouette of her son.

"All right Larry, stop hiding, I can see you," she said.

Then Mrs. Manley struck a match and saw her son unconscious and hanging from a seven foot rope, a noose drawn loosely over his parka-covered head.

She slipped off the noose and she and Terry took the still-breathing lad back to the house. There they applied artificial respiration and put in a call for Dr. Wilson Ford of Keene.

Dr. Ford arrived about 6:15 pm, but it was too late. Larry was dead.

"Death by strangulation," was the verdict of Coroner Dr. H. R. Carleton.

Nobody Saw

Exactly what happened nobody will ever know. But the facts are these: The boy went up into the loft to fork down some straw. He did this, though the straw had not yet been forked down the chute into the stable.

His gloves and schoolbag were carefully laid on the barn floor, directly underneath the noose.

The noose is on the end of a seven-foot rope, suspended from a 20-foot pole that spans the two large upper beams in the loft. The noose was high enough that he had to climb up on a ground-level beam, three feet high, before he could grasp it or the rope.

(The rope had been left, as the boy found it, from a previous threshing. One end of a pole for a threshing platform had fitted in the noose.)

Standing on the three foot beam, he is thought to have seized the nose and put it over his head —the way boys will—just out of curiosity. Somehow he slipped off the beam and was unable to either touch the floor, or get back onto the beam.

That was the position he was in when found by his mother and brother. Parents and friends say he was a happy boy. Only Tuesday night he had scored two goals for the Keene Peewee hockey team.

The Manley family have had bad luck. Six years ago another son, Wayne, age three, was killed by a truck at Downer's Corners.

He leaves his parents, George Willis Manley and the former Elsie Stazicker; two brothers, Terry 14 and Paul 2, and a sister Judith Ann 5.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Seven Years In Jail

CORNWALL, Ont., Jan. 31 (CP).—Three Montreal men yesterday were sentenced to a total of seven years in jail when they pleaded guilty to auto theft at Alexandria, about 20 miles north of here.

They are Roger Lussier, 28, given a three-year penitentiary sentence; Lucien Laplante, 22, and Norman Lecompte, 26, each sentenced to two years less a day in reformatory. The trio was arrested after a stolen car was in collision with a transport truck.

PROCLAMATION

The Health League of Canada, the nation's great voluntary health education association, has set aside the week of February 3rd as NATIONAL HEALTH WEEK. This is a great annual crusade for health which is worthy of the support of the citizens of this community.

In urging support for this NATIONAL HEALTH WEEK observance I, at the same time, wish to urge that you also give your all-out support to the work of your various public health units who strive at all times to make this nation, this province and this municipality a healthier place. You, as an individual, can do your part by learning how to attain and retain good health.

Bodies Tossed On Bonfire In Cairo Riots

By RONALD BATCHELOR

ISMALIA, Egypt, Jan. 31 — (Reuters)—The first full account of last Saturday's rioting in Cairo, received here Wednesday, said well-organized gangs equipped with kerosene-soaked sacking carried out the raid on the British Turf Club.

Among the nine killed in the riot was J. Macleod Boyer, Canadian Trade Commisioner and a native of Victoria, NB. Four were injured and three are missing, presumed dead.

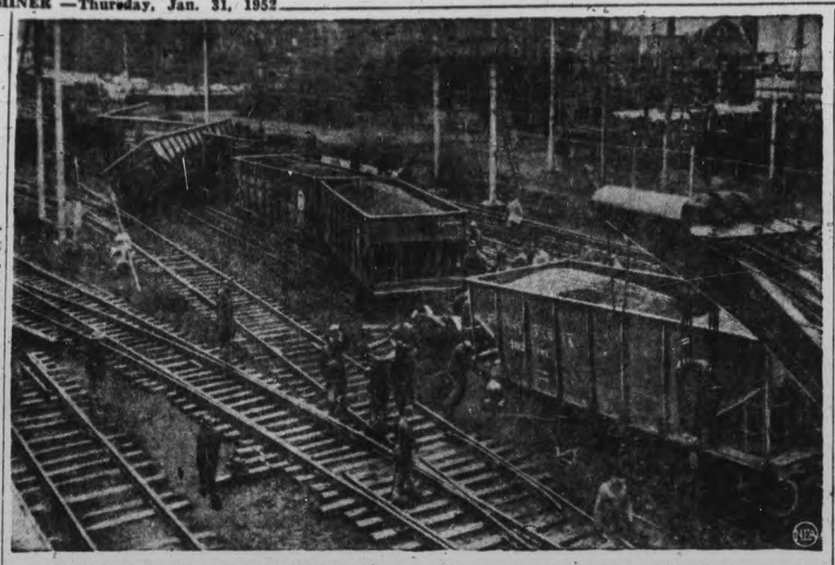
Rioters broke down the barred front door of the club with battering rams. They smashed the furniture and put it on four big bonfires on the ground floor.

Several club members escaped through the back door while others withdrew to the top of the building.

As the fire began to get a grip, two men and a woman jumped for their lives from the first-floor window. All were injured.

One member, escaping from a second floor window by knotted sheets, was attacked and stabbed to death by an enraged mob.

Another member was seen with blood streaming down his face trying in vain to get out of another window.



Set Severe Injuries

All the victims except one woman received severe if not fatal injuries after being burned. Two Britons had head wounds. One body, which was only scorched and has still not been positively identified, was disembowelled and had compound fractures of both wrists, the reports said.

Four bodies were so badly burned they must have been thrown on the bonfire. One body was found with a leg chopped off above the knee and the hand and forearm missing. Another victim had the top of his head battered in.

Another two bodies also were disembowelled, but reports say in this case it could have been caused by the heat of the fire. Many fingers were missing from these two bodies.

A party of rioters seized one body, dragged it across the street, stripped it, partially dismembered it, and threw it on a hastily-built bonfire, the reports said.

WRECK DELAYS COMMUTERS—This is the general scene, near the Byrn Mawr, Pa., station, where 14 cars of a 106-car Pennsylvania Railroad coal train were derailed. No one was injured, but the wreck blocked all four tracks of the main line and delayed thousands of commuters in the Philadelphia area.

Cayuga Tangles With Enemy In Running Duels

ABOARD DESTROYER CAYUGA, Jan. 31 — (CP). — This Canadian destroyer came through ticklish situations without damage recently in running duels with Communist batteries along a section of the Korean coast.

Now back in Japan, the Cayuga came under the fire of guns whose shells landed close enough to shower her decks with salt spray.

In this new area, the Haeju River estuary, Cayuga took over as commander of a task unit. The first such command in the area, it was created owing to increasing enemy pressure on United Nations-held islands whose defence the Cayuga was instrumental in organizing.

The Cayuga came under fire from enemy guns mounted on the Red-held mainland while she was bombarding in support of small South Korean craft carrying out evacuation of refugees.

In the face of the fire, Cmdr. James Plomer, commanding officer, and Lieut. Peter G. Chance, navigating officer, negotiated the withdrawal of the Canadian destroyer through the tricky channels in the estuary. It was estimated about 50 enemy shells were thrown at the warship which fired back about 150 rounds from her four-inch guns.

Scored Damage

Next day a senior South Korean navy officer brought the Cayuga a report of damage caused by the destroyer's shells to enemy craft and gun emplacements.

Later she returned to the area and opened up with her main armament in an effort to silence Communist artillery.

Climaxing the patrol, the destroyer sailed to within one mile of a heavy artillery concentration and, running down the coast, plastered them with close-range weapons and four-inch guns. She escaped unhit.

It was during this run, which took 25 minutes, and in which the Cayuga used 142 rounds of four-inch ammunition, that she fired her 4,000th round against the enemy since her arrival in the Korean War theatre in July, 1951, to begin her second tour of duty.

Aussie Lotteries Give Millions In State Revenue

SYDNEY, Australia (CP) — Lotteries are a thriving business in Australia.

With this in mind some Sydney University senators have suggested that a lottery would help to reduce the institution's £250,000 deficit this year. Much as the senate liked the idea of raising money, it decided a lottery would be "too undignified" for the oldest seat of learning in this part of the world.

But no such considerations of dignity surround the New South Wales government's best paying business, which in 22 years of lotteries has made a profit of about £22,000,000.

Most of this comes from Sydney people, of course, but there's a steady flow of money from many countries, particularly Canada. Last October a ticket in the name of Frank Ernest Matthews, of Vancouver, won a prize in the lottery, but he had been killed in a traffic accident five weeks before.

The New South Wales Lottery Office is Australia's biggest single gambling organization. It is devoted to satisfying one of the average Australia's greatest loves—gambling—and neither advertises nor pays income tax. The state government started it in the 1930's during the depression to raise money. The profits go straight into consolidated revenue.

Daily Drawings

Almost every day of the year, except Sundays, there's a lottery drawing, and for each drawing there are 100,000 tickets. Each costs 5/6, for a first prize of £6,000. Every week or so there is a special lottery, with 10-shilling tickets and a first prize of £12,000. Hundreds of agents all over Australia handle tickets, and in Sydney their runners wait outside the lottery office at 4 am to be first in line when the doors open at 9 am.

As each numbered marble is drawn out of the barrel girls start preparing cheques so that all prizes are ready soon after the drawing is finished.

Statistician N. G. Pope says "lotteries are held in just about every country under the sun, but for head of population I reckon we 'eat' other people's figures." After looking at the winning figures for years, he still doesn't hold out any hope of a winning system. Exactly as many numbers below 50,000 have won prizes as have numbers above 50,000. Number 11 is the lowest number to win first prize, but number 1 has won several smaller prizes. Eighteen numbers have won first prizes more than once.

Some workers in the lottery office buy tickets regularly but Marcus S. Quinlan, director of state lotteries, is not one of them.

"It would never do for me to win first prize," he says.

English Clergymen Debating Innocent Party's Remarriage

CANTERBURY, England (CP) —A proposed amendment to Church of England Canon Law relating to re-marriage of innocent parties in divorces, has been rejected by the lower house of convocation.

The amendment, defeated 69 to 62 read: "Parties to a marriage should understand the life-long nature of the marriage bond and the grievous sin they commit when either party to a marriage enters upon a form of marriage during the lifetime of the other."

Rev. A. P. Shepherd, of Worcester, said there were many who honestly believed that if they were innocent parties to a divorce they were not committing sin by marrying again. He suggested that insertion of the amendment in Canon Law would not only cause these innocent parties grief but there would also be a complete rebellion of feeling among them.

Rev. M. Bruce, of Chiddingfold, Sussex, said that a broken oath was a sin and people who married again during the lifetime of a partner were breaking their oath.

"It should be made clear to young people," he added, "that what the church teaches is not just that divorce is a pity but that it is wrong."

Dr. Alan C. Don, Dean of Westminster, said it would be a mistake to overload the Canon Law with too much prohibition. It was enough, he submitted, that a church canon should stress the positive nature of the life-long union of two persons.

ApsleyChurchReviews Work During 1952

APSLEY, Jan. 31 (ENS)—The annual congregational meeting of Trinity United church, Apsley, was held following the Sunday evening service. Mr. Robb was in charge and Mrs. W. Lean was secretary of the meeting. In absence of treasurer the report was given by M. A. Tucker, showing a balance on hand of $328.04. The Missionary and Maintenance treasurer reported $192.28 collected.

Mrs. Stuart Brown, superintendent of the Sunday school, reported on the work of the Sunday school; seven teachers, 36 pupils, 11 on cradle roll. Average attendance was 25.5.

Officers for 1952 are: superintendent—Mrs. Stewart Brown, assistant superintendent—Mrs. N. H. Wilson, beginners—Joan Wagner, primary——Marie Tucker, intermediate—Mrs. N. Wilson, junior girls—Mrs. S. Brown, senior boys—Miss E. Infurnari.

Sunday school financial statement showed a balance of $26.69 and a Sinking fund of $74.79.

Mr. Robb thanked Mrs. Brown for her work in the Sunday school and assured her the support of everyone in the congregation.

The choir report was given by Mrs. Wellington Lean, organist, showing a good attendance at choir practise and church services. Special music was supplied several occasions including a Cantata at Christmas and supply music at Grace Church's 52nd Anniversary and at Glen Alda's anniversary.

Report of Session given by Norman Wilson showed 38 members, 59 adherents, 33 families. During year there was one burial and no marriages, 52 services held, three special services, two Communions, three board meetings.

Following appointments were made: Treasurer—Herb Tucker, M and M treasurer—Mrs. Herb Tucker, Observer representative and press reporter—Mrs. W. Lean, organist—Mrs. Lean, assistants—Miss E. Infurnari, Miss Marie Tucker, Mrs. R. Fitzgerald, Miss G. Langton, choir leader—Miss E. Infurnari, altar and flower committee—Mary Jean Wilson, Elaine Brown, Joan Wagner, Marie Tucker.

The retiring stewards were re-elected and Herb Tucker named a fourth member of the parsonage property committee.

The 49th anniversary of the church will be observed early in June. Arrangements to be made by committee consisting of Mrs. K. Wagner, Mrs. R. Fitzgerald, Mrs. W. Lean, Misses Marie Tucker, Myrtle Tucker, E. Infurnari, Messrs. Joseph Tucker and Norman Wilson.

The wrecking of the old Manse and building a new one was discussed and left in hands of parsonage property committee. A new furnace has been ordered and in the near future will be installed in the church building.

Treasure Hunters Back Not Looking Prosperous

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 (CP)—A couple of treasure hunters came back to Montreal Wednesday looking anything but prosperous.

They lost most of their possessions when the schooner which was to have carried them to Captain Kidd's buried riches was wrecked by a storm soon after leaving an English port.

The returned gold seekers are John Fry, 21, and Geoffrey Taylor, 22, both graduates last year at McGill University.

They went to London after graduation and met Ian Rogers of Ottawa. They talked about the expedition which one of them had heard about in Paris, and decided to join the international crew.

Their ship was a schooner-rigged racing yacht, commanded by a Greek captain. The ship set out late in October for a little island where the pirate treasure is supposed to be buried. Then storm struck and the crew was fortunate to be rescued by the Royal frigate Redpole.

The Montreal boys were asked if they might make another try. "We're not talking," they said.

Lewis, Taft Stage Roaring Duel

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—John L. Lewis and Sen. Robert Taft (Rep. O.) roared at each other face to face before a Senate committee Wednesday in a long clash over the Taft-Hartley Act's bearing on mine safety.

At times the exchange turned into a verbal slugging match with the contenders red-faced in their shouting efforts. But when it was over they grinned and shook hands.

It all stemmed from Lewis' testimony Tuesday to the special Senate group studying proposals to tighten safety laws. The core of the union leader's statement was that "Bob Taft's slave statute" prevents miners from forcing closure of unsafe diggings. Lewis said the statute opens the way for suits by mine owners if the men quit shafts over management's objections.

The Senator set off Wednesday's renewal of the long feud with answering testimony that Lewis' complaint was a "red herring," irrelevant to the subject before the committee, and "untrue" besides.

Lewis cited the situation at the Brackwood Fuel Company mine in Virginia. He said the company refused to close down, one man finally was killed because of conditions about which a safety committee complained, the men were "scared to death" and finally quit work. Now, he said, a $750,000 breach-of-contract suit under the Taft-Hartley law is pending.

Open To Lawsuits

Lewis' voice was thundering by the time he got to his conclusion:

"The point of all this is that, regardless of what lawyers like Mr. Taft say, the operators don't close their mines when the union finds them to be unsafe.

"And the union is open to lawsuits when the men refuse to work in dangerous mines. This proves it."

Taft at one point already had commented that mine management would not have "the chance of a snowball in hell" to maintain a suit over a walkout from an unsafe mine.

He cut in on Lewis with the comment that what he apparently wants is full immunity for the union even from being sued. And he quoted one of his Harvard law instructors as having told him "You can sue the Bishop of Boston for bastardy" but it is another thing to prove the charge and collect.

Iran Offers Bargain Oil, Delivery Worry

TEHRAN, Jan. 31 (AP)—Hard-up Iran has offered to sell 500,000 tons of oil at cut rates. Communist Poland and Hungary are snapping at the offer, but observers wonder how Iran can deliver in face of a boycott by western nations who own most of the world's tankers.

Allahyar Saleh, chairman of the parliamentary oil board, told reporters Wednesday Premier Mossadegh himself had given authority for an exceptional reduction in the fuel price.

Mossadegh's government announced Wednesday night it will sign a one-year pact with Hungary to barter Iranian oil for Hungarian machinery and manufactured goods.

Britain has warned she will try to confiscate any oil shipped out of the country before settlement of her dispute with Iran over the nationalization law.

Long Dickering

Hungary and Poland have been dickering for Iranian oil ever since the Mossadegh regime, stung by the western boycott, cancelled priorities to former western customers and announced it would sell to anyone.

Czechoslovakia also is reported interested.

The semi-official newspaper Bakhtar Emrooz said Wednesday "an Italian company which has dealings with an American company" will buy a half-million tons of oil for about $8,118,000. This would be $16.26 a ton, compared with an established international price, it said, of $25 a ton. The paper did not identify the companies, but said the US government had okayed the deal.

The usually well-informed newspaper Keyhan said an oil sales agreement will be signed this weekend with an American oil firm it identified as the International Contracting Co. Keyhan also said the oil would be sold at 30 per cent below the market price.

The 65-year-old British-owned Bank of Iran and the Midle East announced Wednesday Iranian restrictions are forcing it to close shop here by July 30. The bank did a thriving business until Mossadegh's government banned it from foreign exchange transactions.

At the same time it was learned the government is getting ready to force the closure of British, American and other foreign cultural organizations operating outside Tehran.

Fair President Reviews Society's Work In '51

MARMORA, Jan. 30 (ENS).—The annual meeting of Marmora Agricultural Society was held on Tuesday evening with the president, John McAvoy, in the chair.

The president gave his report, thanking the members for support in 1951. He said he felt that more enthusiasm had been shown in the past year than for some time. The choice of Labor Day for the day of the fair had proved advantageous and was responsible for a better attendance.

With the present industrial situation in the village and its situation on the Trans-Canada Highway there was no reason why the interest in Marmora Fair could not be further extended. The field crop competition with 15 entries and the Calf Club with its 11 members had been commendable features of the year's activities.

Ground improvements in sight were briefly commented upon by the speaker who voiced the opinion that the rink commission and Agricultural Society should get together on the project of having a fence erected across the front of the grounds. He paid a tribute to the support given by the two local municipal councils and to the help afforded at a desired time by the Hydro Commission. He concluded by saying that with the right support, the biggest and best rural fair in Hastings county would be possible here. T. J. Bateman, secretary-treasurer, presented a summary of the year's finances.

L. Fitzgerald, district director and acting president of the Central Ontario Fairs Association, who was present, gave an informal talk. He contended that directors should be on the job all day and should be wearing their badges for identification. All should recognize the truth that "Our own fair is the show window of the district." He finished with suggestions for the best operation of a midway which evoked keen discussion.

At the close of his remarks, last year's directors were re-appointed. The board of directors will hold a meeting in a week or so to complete business including the election of officers for the year.

Korean Casualties

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 — (CP). — The Army Wednesday issued its 94th casualty list of the Korean War, reporting two men wounded in action. The last previous list was issued January 24.

Wounded were Acting Sgt. Jean Gerard Ostiguy, Royal 22nd Regiment, Granby, Que., and Sgt. Joseph Ernest Stone, PPCLI, Maple Creek, Sask.

Acting Sgt. Ostiguy was awarded the Military Medal about a month ago for bravery in action. His next-of-kin is his wife, Mrs. Marie Ostiguy, Ville Jacques Cartier, Que. Sgt. Stone's next-of-kin is his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Elizabeth Stone, Calgary.

This brought to 699 the number of casualties so far suffered by Canadian troops in Korean action, including 129 dead, 505 wounded, 60 injured, 4 missing, and 1 prisoner.

Business Women Form New Club

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 31 — (ENS)—A representative group of the business and professional women of Campbellford met at the Trent House here recently preparatory to organizing a Business and Professional Women's Club in this town.

Guest speaker at the dinner was Mrs. Gordon Conant of Oshawa, the regional advisor of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. Accompanying Mrs. Conant was Miss Bernice Corbett of the Cobourg Club.

Mrs. Conant outlined the aims and objects of the club, which is an international and national organization, with branches in all parts of Canada, the US and western Germany. The main purpose of the club is community service and promotion.

Election of officers of the new club took place and the following were named: president, Miss Jean Morrison; vice-presidents, Miss Aileen Linton and Mrs. Donald Russell; secretary, Miss Eleanor Allen; treasurer, Miss Berle Spencer.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Jan. 31st—Pots 'n' pans gleam and dishes sparkle when you use those grand new detergents. But you've probably found, as I have, that detergents are drying to your hands. That's when wonderful JERGENS LOTION comes to their rescue! Just smooth Jergens on your hands after every watery job . . . because it's liquid, Jergens quickly supplies the softening, smoothing moisture that dry, thirsty skin needs. I always keep a bottle of Jergens Lotion handy in both kitchen and bathroom . . . use it regularly . . . and by the end of the day, my hands are soft and smooth as can be. Ask for Jergens Lotion. Just 15c, 37c, 65c and $1.15.

A Roaring Blizzard always makes me think longingly of warm summer sands and sunshine. And that brings on enticing thoughts about my holidays next summer. I haven't decided yet where I'll head to for fun 'n' frolic, but I've done one very important thing as part of my 1952 Personal Planning program . . . I've opened a Sunshine Account at the BANK OF MONTREAL. That's the one way to be sure that you'll have the necessary cash when winter's snows are gone and the beach is beckoning. Resolve now that lack of holiday funds won't force you to make do with a "second-best" vacation. Open a Sunshine Account at the B of M tomorrow. Then, save a definite amount each pay-day, and you'll be all set to enjoy every sunshine-filled moment when your holidays come 'round.

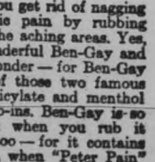
Ever Had Six Youngsters (between the ages of 4 and 8) come to visit you? I have—and we had ourselves quite a time. But when it was all over I was ready for a good, relaxing cup of coffee. So I made myself a cup of INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. Good? Yes! For Instant Chase & Sanborn is made by coffee experts . . . it's the only instant coffee backed by over 85 years coffee experience. But you don't need to know this to appreciate its hearty, deep-down flavour. Every sip tells you that here is something special. And Instant Chase & Sanborn is so quick to make—takes no longer than boiling the water. Economical too—for there's no waste. Look for it next time you're shopping. I know you'll be impressed!

They're The Proudest in Canada . . . the rich "Aristocrat" tomatoes that go into HEINZ TOMATO PRODUCTS. Mellow—glowing—delicious—they're sun-ripened on the vine—then cooked to perfection in Heinz gleaming kitchens. Yes, Heinz Tomato Products add delicious variety to mid-winter meals. Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup—so good as a first course or in meat and vegetable dishes. Heinz Tomato Juice—Heinz Chili Sauce and Heinz Ketchup to add zestful flavour to main dishes. Incidentally, I like to buy Heinz Ketchup in the big, economy-size 13-ounce bottle. Compare it with the 11-ounce bottle of some brands. You'll see how little it costs for Heinz extra value . . . ketchup so rich that a few drops go a long way!

Something For The Small Fry . . . something extra-good for breakfast is tempting "Cream of Wheat". Top it with raisins or apricots for a really wide-awake breakfast dish that'll have the youngsters saying . . . "M-mmm—so good, mum!". And you can be happy in the thought that "Cream of Wheat" is good for them, too. Yes, 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" provides Iron, Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements—and for less than a cent a bowl! What's more, "Cream of Wheat" is wink-quick to prepare . . . cooks to satin-smooth digestibility in just 5 minutes of boiling.

Like To See that "Oh What A Wife!" look in your husband's eyes? (Makes you feel wonderful!) Well, here's how!... Give him a sparkling, delicious JELL-O JELLY POWDER dessert. (Seven exciting "locked-in" flavours to choose from.) Here's a recipe he'll like—and so quick, easy and economical to make, too! And the fresh Jell-O flavour is locked right in until you release it by adding hot water . . . Raspberry Jell-O—Delicious—

1 package Raspberry Jell-O
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
8 marshmallows, quartered
1/2 cup diced canned pineapple or diced grapefruit sections



Dissolve Jell-O in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup cold water. Chill in shallow pan. Cut in cubes. Pile in dessert glasses, combining cubes with remaining ingredients. Garnish with whipped cream. Makes 6 servings.

There! THAT'S Better! What a relief it is when you get rid of nagging chest-cold, rheumatic or neuralgic pain by rubbing BEN-GAY (Baume Bengué) on the aching areas. Yes, that's all you do. Just rub in wonderful Ben-Gay and relief is almost instant. And no wonder—for Ben-Gay contains up to 2½ times more of those two famous pain-relieving agents—methyl salicylate and menthol—than 5 other widely offered rub-ins. Ben-Gay is so comforting—so pleasantly warm when you rub it on . . . and kind to your skin, too—for it contains skin-soothing lanolin. That's why, when "Peter Pain" strikes, I always reach for Ben-Gay. Wonderful relief—for just 75c a tube!

Come Join My "Fan Club" . . . I know so many women who say they wouldn't miss the CORINNE JORDAN radio programme for "worlds"! It's such fun! Fifteen minutes of delightful talk . . . about babies and food and folks-in-the-news . . . and delightful music, too. For Corinne plays all of your favourite old melodies on her grand piano. Listen to the Corinne Jordan programme—brought to you by the makers of BEE HIVE GOLDEN CORN SYRUP. Once you've used it on cereals or pancakes—or for making ice cream sundaes . . . I know you'll agree with Corinne that—

"For guests or for family — why, sakes alive! No corn syrup compares with GOLDEN BEE HIVE!"

Man Convicted Of Bootlegging To Appeal Case

Second man this week to be convicted of bootlegging, Norman Manley, 206 Lansdowne St., was sentenced to two months in county jail by Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court Wednesday.

Monday, Robert Williams, 340 Armstrong Dr., was found guilty of the same offence and sentenced to two months.

Manley's residence was also declared a public place. This permits police officers to search the premises for liquor without a warrant.

Immediately after Magistrate Philp announced his finding, W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, who defended Manley, said he would be appealing the conviction.

Constable Douglas Farthing led a squad of city police officers into Manley's house shortly after midnight January 12. Four full 24-pint cases of beer, another case of beer containing seven full bottles and five 26-ounce bottles of wine were seized.

Second Time Searched

This was the second time in less than two months, Manley's house had been searched for liquor. On December 2, a larger quantity of beer and whiskey was seized. Manley was charged with bootlegging but the case was dismissed in police court January 9, when two crown witnesses, William Sorg of Ottawa and Neil Paudash, RR 2, Keene, denied the truth of a statement they gave police.

Constable Farthing testified on Wednesday that he had Manley's house under observation for a couple of hours before midnight January 11. While watching the house, he said he saw a man come out of the house with Manley and stand on the verandah. Then the man went down the street to a taxi parked nearby with the motor running.

The man, Alexander Williams, was searched and a 26-ounce bottle of liquor was found in his pocket.

Williams testified that he bought the liquor from Manley for $7. When shown a statement by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Williams said the signature was his and he said he recalled making it to police and that it was true.

Williams was shown the statement before he began his testimony and Mr. Fair objected to Williams being questioned regarding the statement because it was not admissible as evidence. Magistrate Philp ruled the questions in order.

Although he could not remember how he paid Manley, Williams could not be shaken under cross-examination from his story that he had bought the bottle from Manley. He said Manley had not gone out on the verandah when he left. Williams said he had been drinking beer that afternoon and evening but said he was not drunk.

Manley said he knew the police were watching his house when Williams called. He said Williams was "pretty drunk" and he gave him the bottle to get rid of him. Manley said he also warned Williams not to tell police that he had paid for it if he were picked up, because Manley insisted he gave the man the bottle.

Everitt Byers, 745 Walkerfield Ave., was said by Constable Farthing and Patrol Sergeant Claire McGillen to have been in a drunken condition when found in Manley's house.

He was charged with being found in a place where an offence under the liquor control act was being committed. Byers denied being drunk when he testified in the charge against Manley.

When Mr. Fair announced he was appealing the conviction, Mr. Bradshaw agreed to an adjournment on the charge against Byers until March 3.

Scores Ruling

Criticizing the ruling which permitted Mr. Bradshaw to question Williams regarding an alleged statement, Mr. Fair declared, "The practice of refreshing a witness' memory is not only illegal but condemned by law authorities."

Emphasizing the time Williams admitted spending in a beverage room and his "vague idea of the conversation which took place," Mr. Fair said his story should not be accepted. In addition to his being "very intoxicated," Mr. Fair said that since Williams would be an accomplice if he were telling the truth, his story should be corroborated and that he had denied standing on the verandah with Manley as both Manley and constable Farthing had testified.

Mr. Bradshaw pointed out that Manley admitted all the crown case except the payment for the bottle and that it was strange for him to give a "virtual stranger" a bottle of liquor. "Even more strange, when he knew the house was under observation," he added.

Magistrate Philp said he was accepting the evidence of the police officers regarding the condition of Byers and Williams. "I don't think his (Williams) oversight regarding how the money was paid, should carry much weight." The magistrate also mentioned the fact that Byers had had the bottle on his person a few minutes after leaving Manley's house.

Mr. Bradshaw offered no evidence in a second charge against Manley of premitting drunkenness on his premises.

THIS IS MAIN STREET, New Martinsville, West Virginia, after the muddy Ohio River, swollen by torrential rains over the week-end, jumped its banks in the area's worst flood in 15 years. The river there is already six feet above flood stage and residents are set for more high water. The floods have driven thousands of persons to higher ground and slowed industry almost to a halt. Damage to riverbank towns is expected to run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Want More Liberty

LONDON, Jan. 31—(Reuters)—Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury, urged Wednesday that the Church of England should be given a degree of liberty by which it could order its own spiritual affairs. At present parliament has power to pass laws relating to the church.

Clubrooms Raided

SEATTLE, Jan. 31—(AP)—The clubrooms of Alcoholics Anonymous were raided Wednesday by Seattle police. The take: five slot machines. They are illegal in this state. Club officials explained the income from the machines is used to buy coffee for members and maintain a rehabilitation shop.

New Cartel Replacing Farben Empire

By DAN DELUCE

FRANKFURT, Germany, Jan. 31 (AP)—A powerful survivor emerged today from the fragments of I. G. Farben, Nazi Germany's chemical empire which has developed as many lives as a cat.

A board of directors headed by Germany's leading financier, Herman J. Abs, and a chemist who refused the Nobel Prize at Hitler's [illegible] Dr. Richard Kuhn, took over Farben's vast Ludwigshafen plant under the name of Badische Anilin Und Soda Fabrik.

Two more big combines and six smaller companies are due to emerge eventually from the seven-year Allied trust-busting campaign aimed at the huge Farben cartel. Before the war it virtually monopolized the German chemical industry and had ties with British, United States and other foreign chemical makers. The Allied aim was to turn the Farben combine into these separate companies.

The Badische Company, which fathered the Farben cartel by absorbing seven other chemical makers in 1924, became an independent firm today with 100,000 marks ($23,800) as its nominal capital.

Already Flourishing

But it has been operating ever since the war under Allied control and already is flourishing despite crushing wartime losses.

Last year it produced and sold more than $160,000,000 worth of dyestuffs, plastics, fertilizers and heavy chemicals. One-third of the output was marketed in foreign countries by a sales organization which had been completely disrupted at the war's end.

BASF will remain under titular Allied control for a considerable time while the intricate process of liquidating Farben ownership rights unfolds. At present, it still belongs to Farben, at least technically, despite its actual independence.

Old I. G. Farben shares must be converted into shares in the nine independent firms which are scheduled to come out of the Farben combine. Financiers are reluctant to guess when all the Farben complications will be straightened out.

Asks For Refund

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 31—(AP)—A convict in the State penitentiary asked the State Tax Commission Wednesday whether he had an income tax refund coming. He listed three names and said he had paid taxes—and served time—under each. Commissioner Ray Smith said he'd look it up.

PAIRS CHAMPIONS—Frances Dafoe, 22, and Norris Bowden, 25, both of Toronto, Canadian 1952 senior pairs figure-skating champions, will represent Canada in Winter competitions at Oslo, Feb. 14-25. Miss Dafoe is also an accomplished artist and costume designer. It is her design which appears on all official Canadian Figure Skating Association medals and she has designed a number of costumes for the Toronto Skating Club's annual carnivals. Bowden rejected a bid to the 1948 Olympics to continue University studies. He holds his M.A. in Commerce from University of Toronto.

Elect H. A. Dickenson Head Of Horsemen

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP). — H. A. Dickenson, of Mount Hope, Ont., one of Canada's best-known harness-racing men, was elected president of the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society at Wednesday's annual meeting here. Mr. Dickenson is the father of Herb Dickenson, rookie hockey player with the New York Rangers.

He succeeds James W. Brown of New Liskeard, president for the last three years.

The society's annual report said that in 1951, there were 789 new standard bred registrations, compared with 579 thoroughbred registrations.

Mr. Brown urged breeders to continue their fight for night harness racing in Ontario.

THERE'S A NEW LOOK AFOOT FOR SPRING. — It's the narrow, pointed toe in company with the shaped, graceful heel. It's shown here (upper left) in a blue calf-and-suede pump with mudguard treatment and in a black patent pump (upper centre) that's like those small girls wear to dancing class. It's done in brown silk threaded with gold (upper right). Chocolate brown stripping sandal (lower left) underscores the bare look in shoe fashions for spring and summer. It's in patent, with baby Louis heel. Supple, polished leather sole creates a comfortable base. Combination pump (lower centre) is in blue patent and suede, has tapered toe and medium heel. White kid pump (lower right) has slim black leather sole, buttoned vamp, open toe. The model wears a red calf shoe on baby Louis heel. It's cut at both sides with oblique draped vamp treatment. These new shoes have a soft, ladylike look.

Tapered Toe Leads Style In Ladylike Look In Spring

A clean-cut silhouette in shoes with tapered toes and heels is the new shoe look for Spring, 1952. In all collections, the medium heel is starred. But this year, it's a heel that's shaped for a delicate air.

Balancing the pump with the closed, tapered toe and closed back is the open, airy sandal that reaches the ultimate in the bare look. These new sandals are mere wisps of leather but they cling firmly to the foot through careful design.

Many of them are completely bare at the back, with sling fastenings replacing the ankle strap that has had popularity through so many seasons.

The shaped heel applies to all heights—low, medium and high. Its newsness springs from the fact that the curve of the heel is reversed and placed on the inside.

Both for comfort and for the right appearance, the narrow toe is soft, adapting itself to a sleek and glovelike fit. It creates a dressy look that's a good companion for spring ready-to-wear.

Patent leather, a perennial favorite, appears for spring in chocolate brown and pewter grey as well as in the favorite, shining black. In black, it gets touches of white in stitching and ties.

The contrast heel, in bright blue or red for a black shoe, lends a fresh, sparkling look to footwear. In another form, the contrast heel is polished, natural wood is used as a foil for black or pewter patent.

DOROTHY DIX

Once Lost Reputation Always Hard To Recover

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a freshman in high school and have a problem that seems serious to me. Recently I attended a theatre where I met my boy friend. He teased me, so I moved away and sat with another boy, merely to make my friend jealous. While we sat together, we kissed a few times. Now some of the boys in school who were at the same show are spreading stories about my awful conduct with these two boys. None of it is true, but I am losing friends because of the false rumors.—GRACE A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: With just a little reading between the lines, I gather your conduct was rather more indecorous than you indicate. Certainly it was more unladylike than a high school freshman should be. Having attained an age where you do, I am sure, feel entitled to a certain amount of liberty as far as dating goes, you are old enough to conduct yourself properly—at least in public. This you have not done! Why, therefore, should you be surprised if a witness to your ill-bred behavior takes it upon himself to spread a story? Naturally the story will be exaggerated, and become more so as it develops—all stories do—but had you not given some basis upon which to build a malicious tale, it never could have come into being.

You Must Be Careful

A young girl's reputation and good name are the greatest things she possesses. Treating them lightly by flagrant flirting, petting in public, making an exhibition of yourself in a public place—as you did—will not enhance you in the eyes of your particular schoolmates. You do have the sense to realize how much you have lost by one indiscretion. (Was it only one?) Let it be a lesson to you! You can show your regret by being especially careful in the future. The unpleasantness which surrounds you at the moment will die down, provided you do nothing to set it aflame again. When you get back to a normal footing with the schoolmates, the loss of whose friendship you so deplored, stay there! Quarrels and reconciliations with your various boy friends are matters for private consideration.

At your age you should be friendly with boys, and if you are fortunate enough to know lots of them, so much the better. Treat them all as friends, and as much on the same basis as possible. Don't take any of them too seriously and don't let them get too serious over you. Be a good friend; a cheerful, amusing companion. Don't get the idea that because you attract boys easily you are superior to any of your less favored friends. Perhaps popularity has slightly turned your head, and made you a little boastful with other girls? If so, you are on the straightest road to losing favor with them. If you have given the impression, they are naturally going to seize on any gossip that circulates and spread it accordingly. You have deserved no better! Take stock of yourself, Grace. A popular girl can be a great factor for good in a school if she knows how to use her gifts properly. Don't throw away a good reputation and good friends by careless behavior.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: No matter how hard I try to stop, I am always nagging at my boy friend, accusing him of things I know he doesn't do. I'm 21 now, and a few years ago I had an unfortunate romance with a boy who wasn't trustworthy. Since we broke up I seem to suspect everyone. We are to be married in a few months but I know if I don't stop this nagging (which I cannot help) he'll call off the wedding.—H. B.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You know perfectly well that you must stop your jealousy and nagging if you expect to marry. No man is going to stand for false accusations. Either you pull your will power together and get over this habit (which is all it is) or you face a very dismal and lonely future. If you aren't able to trust your future husband now, you won't after marriage, and you'll make his life a veritable Hades.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For the past six months I have been going with a divorced man who has a 7-year-old daughter. He has asked me to marry him but I hesitate because of his attitude toward the child. She will not be living with us but he is very devoted to her, sees her as often as he can and takes her places without asking me along. He fully supports her and admits that his daughter will come first in his life at all times. I have never been married before. I like his child and want him to be good to her but I think I should have some consideration, too.—ANN.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Though you deny it, your attitude most certainly is jealousy, both of your sweetheart's child and his ex-wife. He is to be commended for his care of the youngster, and if you continue to resent it I can recommend nothing else but parting. You've only known this man six months and you can scarcely expect in that short time to supplant a daughter in his affections. If you cannot reconcile yourself to second place in your husband's life, this man is not for you.

Viscountess Takes Many Canadian Articles Home

OTTAWA, Jan. 31—(CP)—Viscountess Alexander won't forget Canada. Not only is she taking back memeories of six years here, but she also will bring home to England a "mountain" of articles that will remind her of her busy years as the chatelaine of Government House.

In a farewell interview with newspaperwomen, the wife of the former governor-general told Wednesday how she will be taking away next month such typical Canadian possessions as a collection of square-dance records, her weaving loom, Eskimo and other native handicrafts and a regular art gallery of Canadian paintings.

In the paintings will be several by her husband, though she said he's given away most of the products of his hobby.

"He's awfully good at snow scenes," she observed, "but not so good on summer pictures—the colors here are so vivid that nobody in England will believe they're true."

She said she wishes now that she had joined Viscount Alexandler in taking up skiing, his favorite winter pastime.

"Every chance he gets these days, he goes skiing," she said. "He used to ski in Switzerland before the war and took it up again here. Now that I'm leaving, I'm so sorry I didn't, too."

Lady Alexander said that in London they are tkaing a furnished house owned by Gen. Sir Gerald Templar, who is going to Malaya as high commissioner They won't be able to use "Nightingales," the home they recently bought outside London in anticipation of Viscount Alexander's retirement.

Leap Year Valentines Set Mood

"Roses are red, violets are blue, "Leap Year's on, and I want You."

If this isn't a warning to the happy bachelor, he's apt to find himself a Valentine victim, who didn't have enough foresight to take to the hills while he still had time.

Feminine initiative being what it is, a record-breaking number of Valentines are expected to be sent this Feb. 14, and there's little doubt that all sorts of follow-through is being prodigiously planned.

The 1952 V[illegible] with their curtains of lace, tiny pressed flowers and scented satin puffs (all touches of the nostalgic "good old days") have definitely been created with the women in mind.

And, frankly, they may prove to be too much for the stronger sex.

If proof is necessary for the skeptics, take a look at history. The whole business of St. Valentine's Day started because of a young Roman priest who was to be beheaded on Feb. 14, 270 A.D., for refusing to renounce Christianity.

In prison, on the eve of his execution, he wrote a farewell letter to console the jailer's blind daughter, signing if "From Your Valentine."

This act of kindness to a little girl who had befriended him, established Valentine's Day as an occasion for exchanging gifts of friendship.

The Romans, however, had been celebrating Feb. 15 for several centuries as the Feast of Lupercalia, dedicated to the pastoral god, Lupercus, and the goddess of love, Juno.

As a part of the gay festivities, Roman maidens placed their names in an urn set up in the public square, and courageous bachelors were allowed to draw one name each to determine their "blind dates" for the year.

Eventually, because of pressure from the Christian Church, which felt the Romans were up to no good, the two holidays were merged, and thought of as an occasion for remembering old friendships.

Dan cupid was not to be outdone. Sweetheart Valentines began appearing in about the year 1400 A.D. At first, to elude vigilant fathers, they were hidden in hollow trees that served as trysting places.

Usually these love messages were anonymous — for safety's sake. Sometimes they were left on a lovely lady's doorstep by a bashful suitor who knocked and then promptly ran away.

Valentines had pretty rough going in the years that followed, but they always emerged victorious. Without sufficient evidence, it is difficult to say whether the women or the men were responsible.

In this year of the quest however, many a woman may wish that the olden days, when Valentines came to be considered equivalent to a proposal of marriage, might be revived.

There's little hope for this. Modern man, alas, has been given too much freedom.

To protect the timid woman who may feel reluctant to express her sentiments too freely, many 1952 Valentines "pop the question" in a whimsical way.

After all, you can overdo a good thing. But whether serious or casual, men who receive Valentines had better make it a point to read between the lines. There's where the trap may lie.

What's Right?

You are meeting a group of your daughter's friends for first time.

WRONG: Monopolize the conversation.

RIGHT: Join in the conversation —but seek to draw the younger people out, rather than to use them merely as an audience for you.

VALENTINE CARDS were taken pretty seriously back in the 1880's. Gay numbers such as this one often cost as much as thirty dollars.

SINCE FRILLY, fussy Valentines of the period 1900-10 were usually made by hand, a fellow had to be definitely smitten before he undertook such a task.

RIDING HIGH—Coat collars have retained the stand-up collar popular in past seasons. Left, a full backed wide-sleeved mid season coat of nubby textured fabric. High style details are the arrow pockets and huge turn-back cuffs. Right, hip-length all-wool tweed jacket with four grandiose pouch pockets. Deep turn-back cuffs show slit detail.

Coffee Party At Dr. Moffat's For Soroptimists' Friends

A community coffee party at the home of Dr. Agnes Moffat on Wednesday evening climaxed this winter's scheme of the Soroptimist Club. In the past several weeks each club member has entertained a group of friends for an evening of bridge or canasta and provided each of her guests with a tally card which was admission to the coffee party. Though a number of those invited could not attend last night, nearly 200 did enjoy the delightful occurrence. Their tallies went into a box at the door from which draws were made later by club president Miss Alice Curtis, and the winner of a travel alarm clock was Mrs. Percy Hooper. Other gifts were won by Mrs. J. W. Kerr of Burlington, Miss Anna Edmondson and Mrs. J. W. Bowen. Hostesses served coffee and sandwiches in the dining-room and in the basement lounge where Dr. Moffat's distinctive home-decorating effects are perhaps most intriguing.

St. Paul's Ladies Create Fund By Social Event

A delightful social tea was held Wednesday afternoon in the upstair parlour of St. Paul's Church. Attendance by a pleasingly large number of the ladies of the congregation, in spite of weather conditions, proved this event, dominated by simplicity and friendliness, is most popular.

The tea is held each year by the Women's Missionary Society to build up an expense fund for the sending of missionary bales. Mrs. W. Hinds and Miss M. Lees were accepting the donations from the guests who received a gracious welcome to the tea room from president Mrs. Walter Perks and Mrs. C. G. Boyd.

Heralding the spring that has seemed so very far away for several days was the lovely table centrepiece arranged by Mrs. Manson Comstock. She had selected an arrangement of the favorite spring flowers—daffodils, narcissus, hyacinths, iris and painted daisies spiked with softly tinted pussywillows. These were higlighted by the pale gold damask tablecloth. Potted plants in full bloom made spots of color around the room.

Miss Laura Davidson, Mrs. Dickson Hall, Mrs. D. T. Diplock and Mrs. D. W. Clark presided at the tea table in turn and the refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Marsh, Mrs. L. R. Mitchell, Mrs. D. Davidson, Mrs. V. Tully and Miss Mary Lees. Mrs. W. A. Burrell was in charge of these arrangements and looked after replenishing plates and tea pots as well.

Hostesses were Mrs. E. Howson Mrs. James Dutton, Mrs. P. B. MacQueen and Mrs. F. D. Weir, and they were in a great part responsible for the friendly atmosphere and exchange of greetings among the guests.

Ladies in charge of the home-cooking table were kept quite busy, for they had most delicious things for sale. They were Mrs. Fred Hills, Mrs. Hubert Eastwood, Mrs. Robert Abbott and Mrs. C. A. Sollitt.

BIG BRIMS AND LITTLE—Catwheels, like this afternoon hat (right) trimmed with raffia, indicate formal Summer dresses Paris designers will unveil will be feminine and fluffy. Little hats like the number with a rolling brim (left) hint that sleeves will be important.

Find Aura Of Romanticism In Hats Planned For Easter

PARIS (NEA) — Parisian modistes, like the swallows, are fashion's harbingers of Spring. Although they're completely ignorant of the silhouette and lines the fashion czars intend to launch, they have an uncanny way of sensing which way the wind blows.

Thus, it can be inferred from the profusion of tiny hats that sleeves will be important, while horsehair cartwheels indicate that formal Summer dresses will be feminine and fluffy.

There is a definite aura of romanticism plus a strong impressionistic influence in the 1952 Easter bonnets. The first is traceable in the flower, ribbon, feather, fruit and berry trimmings, the second in the color combinations as well as in the line of the hats proper.

Width is important in the new hats. Most brims acquire a measure of width over the ears, even in the most diminutives shapes. Another brim treatment is seen in the cloche that dips over the temples, bonnet-wise. There are still brims that project forward. But no matter what the handling, the brim is meant to reveal an unruffled brow.

Crowns are secondary in importance and fade out in back. Some are anchored by narrow straw or grosgrain bandeaus or possibly by an inner crown that grips the hair.

Veils, conjuring up pictures of harem beauties, are very important. The newest are gathered in folds across the lower part of the face; others cast their shadows across the eyes. Some are dotted with flowers, straw or wood paillettes in subtle patterns.

On these general lines, the modistes have superimposed their personalities.

Germaine Legroux introduces the widened line in perfectly-proportioned though irregular bicornes. For daytime wear, she uses the impressionist theme in the form of tiny boaters. In color, she likes white with earth browns, the entire scale of yellows, little black or navy.

Rose Valois' hats follow the pattern of seashells while her trimmings are in the Botticelli and impressionist schools. Trailing gauze and chiffon scarves and bows, field flowers, and berries fashion the trimmings.

Maud et Nano, specialists in hats for the younger sets, like tiny cloches and bretons in crisp pique combined with straw or surah. In contradiction of the general trend, their crowns are on the large side, coupled with a small brim. They like the picture-type hat with huge brims slightly mushroomed in line.

The diversity in color is an important part of the Spring hat story.

Black and navy are for the background only, bringing to the foreground the entire range of yellows, all the earth browns, the luminous blues, pinks and reds as well as oranges, copper, gold and silver, with just a little mauve mixed in. Pure and off-whites are smart, too, particularly in combination with gray, mocha or navy.

Yacht Owner Mrs. Worden Dies

TORONTO, Jan. 31—(CP) — Mrs. Julia Hallan Worden, 71, first woman to ride a motorcycle in Toronto and believed the first to fly the blue ensign of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, died Wednesday.

Mrs. Worden, widow of Walter Garth Worden, former Oshawa city engineer, bought a 40-foot yawl in 1907 and although women then were not admitted to membership in the RCYC, managed to qualify her craft for the coveted flag.

St. Andrew's Re-Decoration Displayed At Open House

The people of St. Andrew's United Church are justly proud of the result of a complete renovation program in the church buildings and they and friends took pleasure in looking it over Wednesday evening when "open house" was held prior to the annual meeting. The Rev. Henry Cotton and Mrs. Cotton, and the presidents of the Women's Association and the Women's Missionary Society, Mrs. C. C. Pilon, and Mrs. A. A. Munro, welcomed them.

The men of the session and their ladies and the board of managers and their ladies acted as guides.

Loveliest, of course, is the church itself which has been redecorated to emphasize its original beauty. The building was constructed during 1885 and its cornerstone laid June 29th with a silver trowel which was on display. Inscription on the blade advised that the trowel was presented for the occasion by Mrs. C. J. Nicholls in whose memory are three windows at the front of the church, to the right of the pulpit. The baptismal font, also displayed, was presented in 1891.

Unique gifts to the church are the six collection plates brought in 1918 by the Rev. James Rollins who was serving in England during World War I when the "William the Conqueror Oak" at Windsor Castle was ordered cut down. He secured a plank of this tree, then at least 1,000 years old and eaten through with worms, and had the plates made by the King's carver at Windsor.

A set of chimes installed in the organ is in memory of those who gave their lives during World War II. Organist Mr. Harry Northrop was playing classic selections during the reception. New communion trays have been presented by Mrs. F. W. K. Harris in memory of her brother, Mr. Frank E. Kerr. Lovely flowers seen at the front of the church were placed for the evening in loving memory of Mr. E. B. Fowler, former chairman of the board of managers and the board of trustees.

In the vestry were found records dating back to 1858, although St. Andrew's church had its origin in 1833 and the first church building was erected in 1835. The visitors found it interesting to look up their names in these books, especially the marriage register where some handwriting is noticeably shaky. Pictures of all the former ministers up to the Rev. M. J. Aiken are on the walls.

The Sunday school building which was added to the church in 1923 has been repainted throughout with skilful choice of color for the various rooms. Most pleasing of all the schemes is in the basement dining hall which also serves as the children's Sunday school classroom and the bowling room and now has a smooth linoleum flooring. Modernization of the adjoining kitchen so that it is efficiently equipped and easy to work in has been planned and paid for by the Woman's Association at a cost of about $900. This organization also guided the rearrangement and re-equipping of the kitchenette adjoining the ladies' parlor, at extra cost of about $600. Then, draperies, curtains and so forth in the vestry and Sunday school rooms were supplied and hung by the members.

Modern oil heating systems have been installed in the church and manse, the exteriors have also been painted and the buildings insulated under this rejuvenation which has cost nearly $13,000.

The inspection tour concluded in the dining hall where coffee was served. A tea table, gay with bright spring flowers and yellow tapers was presided over by Mrs. V. Hamilton, Mrs. W. A. Conner, Mrs. E. Hawley and Mrs. T. Detcher in turn. They and the ladies serving and in charge of the refreshments were selected from the congregation because of lengthy family association with the church.

Greater Care Urged In Child Adoption

LONDON, Jan. 31 — (CP) — Babies are not bottles of physic to be prescribed as mental medicine for barren wives, said Mrs. E. Edwards, at conference of Adoption societies.

"Babies are still handed over for therapeutic purposes," she said. Barren women who allowed this fact to upset them were advised to adopt a child. And in the case of unhappy marriages, a child was often handed over in the hope it may improve relations between husband and wife.

"But it's a very peculiar marriage that can be put right by someone else's child".

Mrs. Edwards proposed that greater consideration be given the reason for adoption. She wondered if the best adopter was not the old "slapping and kissing village foster-mother with a brood of her own, who did not worry if the adopted child did not come up to scratch". Too many parents expected the child to be a credit, she said.

2,000-Year Adage Given Basis Of Mental Health

So-Ed lecture this week was on the topic "Mental health and family relations" and was delivered by a leading psychiatrist, Dr. Don Atcheson,, of Toronto, who also has to do with cases in the Family Court.

He revealed at the conclusion that the central theme from which mental health comes is an adage more than 2,000 years old and known to almost everyone—"Do unto others as you would be done by."

In other words: To appreciate that the other person has feelings and beliefs and while perhaps not agreeing with them, having regard for them as you would wish your own to be regarded.

Psychiatry is the attempt to face problems of humanity with reasonable scientificness but psychiatrists know they will never be able to completely understand, he said. Although they are accused of being agnostics and non-believers, he pointed out they cannot practice without faith in some philosophy of living. Mental hygiene is only the scientific way of expressing the obligation surrounding that faith.

Dr. Acheson dealt with the responsibility of parents to their children and consideration of it even before they are born. He said there is an amazing lack of security, human understanding and of desire to feel there is any better way of doing things displayed by parents. And he termed "disgraceful" the way in which he had once endeavoured to make his two-year-old son drink orange juice. In some cases such behaviour would have affected the child so that in 15 to 20 years he would require psychiatric treatment.

The doctor said the great need today is a children's psychiatric hospital where the small kinks could be ironed out.

His audience comprised the 159 young people who are registered for the full calendar and 26 persons who came for the lecture only. He was introduced by Miss Mary Barker, of the national YWCA health department, a visitor in the local Y this week and thanked by Mr. Colin McEachern, district field representative, Canadian National Institute for the Blind, who spoke of personal observance of Dr. Acheson's work in Toronto Family Court.

Chairman for the meeting in George St. Church Sunday school was Ron Watson.

The interest groups and activities afterward at the YMCA were followed with recreation and a social period when refreshments were served.

Blame Drinking For Increase British Deaths

LONDON—(CP)—Drunk divers are blamed for the increasing toll of British traffic accidents in a report by L. C. Nickolls, chief of the Metropolitan Police Laboratories.

The report, published in the current issue of the British Medical Journal, says records kept since May, 1949, show that 79 per cent of all arrests in connection with road accidents happen between the hours of 8 pm and 2 am. An "extraordinary large" percentage of these, it adds, occur shortly after public houses close.

Mr. Nickolls also reports that a graph covering 600 cases of traffic violators showed many drivers had consumed six pints of strong beer or nearly half a bottle of spirits.

Professor Sydney Smith, of Edinburgh University, however, doubts that pub-closing hours are responsible for the rise in traffic arrests

Drunken Pedestrians?

"It is not necessarily true," he said, "that this is due to the advent on the roads of an increased number of drunken motorists. It may be there are more drunken pedestrians on the road."

Prof. Smith said that if it is felt the case against alcohol is sufficiently established, the only course open would appear to be to insist on a blood examination in all cases. Presence of any alcohol in the blood would then be regarded as sufficient grounds to warrant prosecution and conviction.

This obviously would mark a serious departure from the present conception of crime and of the rights of the individual," he said.

Exercises To Trim Figure Pacing Clothes Trends

Not since the early part of the century has there been so much emphasis upon the womanly figure—in the old-fashioned sense of the term—as there is currently.

Pacing changing clothes trends, the ideal feminine form has run the gamut during the past half-century from curves to boyish flatness to a combination-figure featuring constraint here and exaggeration there. Now there's a return to rounded naturalness in hips and bust, with a tiny waist pointing up the importance of both.

An aid to women who wish to revamp their figures to fit the current ideal is a series of exercises worked out by Manya Kahn, body-molding expert, who recently published a home course entitled "Lovely to Look At."

The first of her suggested "body rhythms" which were designed to correct posture and to develop grace as well as to beautify the figure is an exercise for the bustline. This may be done either seated cross-legged on the floor, or else standing tall in a free area.

Begin by straightening yourself into an erect, vibrant posture — head up, chest lifted, abdomen in. Place your finger tips upon your shoulders, your elbows pointing straight forward. Drop your head limply forward, then inhaling deeply, raise your head slowly up and back.

Follow Lead of Head

Keeping your fingers upon your shoulders, bring your elbows forward and then up and back, following the lead of your head. When your arms have made a full circle, exhale, lower your elbows and begin the movement again from the starting position. Five times around should be enough to give you, after each exercise session, a sense of tautened pectorals and loosened shoulders.

It's important, Miss Kahl explains, to keep your body in balance and to bend with your muscles in the way that they naturally go. A waist exercise is much more than just simply flopping your torso from side to side. She suggests this one, cautioning you to keep your body in line, avoiding swaying awkwardly to the front or to the rear.

Stand with your feet spread apart, and your hands clasped high above your head. Next, bend sideways, three times to the right, then three times to the left.

As you swing, unclasp your hands and hold them in a palms-outward position. As you move to the right, swing your right arm downward; as you move to the left, your left arm follows suit while your right arm is again elevated above your head.

It is then time to flow into the final position of this exercise. Swing back to your original stance and then shift your right foot away from your left as far as you can reach. Bend your right knee and swing your body three times to the right and then to the left. Reverse the foot positions, then, and swing for another three times.

Floor's The Place

To coax your thighs and hips into feminine curves, try a floor exercise which combines the benefits of rolling with stretching. Sit upon the floor, legs outstretched straight before you. Roll your torso tot he left, bringing your arms around to the left to support your weight. Place your palms flat upon the floor.

Raise your right leg, then, bending your knee and pointing your toes. Lightly touch your left knee and then swing your right leg into the air as high as you can manage, remembering to keep your knee perfectly straight. Eventually you should be able to kick sufficiently high to grasp your right heel with your right hand. This will require torso elasticity as well as limberness of leg.

Style Conscious Make Finds In Nassau's Originations

NASSAU, Bahamas, Jan. 21 — Nassau's original fashions and accessory designs are drawing the eye of New Yorker's fashion experts and of the style conscious visitors who want something "different."

One shop, which features native straw work and traditional weaves in high style colors, designed into accessories with a flair, has minute cocktail baskets copied from the native market baskets, dyed in shocking pink, magenta, saffron or violet and trimmed with sequins. The same shop has straw hats styled after the golfer type cotton hats so popular with daytime cottons.

Its most novel accessory, however, is a knee length evening stole made of heavy wide mesh cotton fishnet trimmed with a contrasting border of raffia cut to look like coarse fringe.

The designer has glamourized straw dog-leashes in the same colors as the cocktail baskets, which are strong enough, according to her tests, to withstand a pull of 75 pounds.

Another shop, which specializes in native shell-work, uses tiny rice shells (which look like their name) and gold thread for embroiding evening cardigans; an evening skull-cap of white fish-scales, trimmed and grouped to look like white blossoms; and a daliesque assortment of brooches made of cockle-shells and chunky bits of branch coral with unrest rhinestones, pearls and sequins glued on.

A third, whose owner imports batiks and unusual prints, creates resort dresses with halter necks or basque waists with square neck-lines. Her color combinations are most unusual and striking: a black and white plaid with a cotton halter and bias two-inch belt of burnt orange, or a "faded" pink and dark green striped design made with a basque waist and full skirt and square neckline.

The same designer uses cotton fruit and flowers combined as chocker necklaces for her resort dresses. She has a matching ensemble of a cotton Scots hat with an envelope purse, and a "basket" type hat styled of a rope of bias cut batik wound into a pyramid and topped with a tuft of the same material, and a round pocketbook designed like the hat.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Lesson In Faith That Comes From Woman Of East Berlin

In East Berlin they still have faith.

Faith that a believer in faith finds hard to comprehend.

The Dean of Women of a Canadian University attended a worldwide church conference held in a number of European cities, including Barcelona, Rome, Zurich and Berlin. While her impressions of the poverty in Spain, the good cheer in Italy and the scenic grandeur of Switzerland are vivid, what dwells in her mind now that she is home, are the scenes and people of Berlin, in both East and West sectors. And what dwells in my mind after my long evening's conversation with her is the story of one East Berlin mother — who somehow attended the Conference in West Berlin.

This mother of two daughters, in describing her experiences with the Soviet occupation troops, said, "We all knew the children should be kept off the streets, and we were living in the basement and rubble of a bombed building. But they cannot be watched every second. One day when I had to go further than usual for our ration of bread, the children came out to look for me. They didn't find me and I have never been able to find them since."

Her two nine and eleven-year old little girls—gone. Six months previous to this her husband had been commandeered by Soviet officials. She has not heard from or of him in all those occupation years. Yet in those conference meetings Mrs. Bates says her faith shone through her countenance and she is one of the most indefatigable of church workers. Let us hope and pray that she and hundreds of others in the same tragic state, will find and hold their loved ones again —for they believe they will.

Another delegate to the conference (from East Berlin) told my friend that one night she was sitting in front of the fireplace in her living-room with her mother. Suddenly the front door burst open and two Soviet soldiers stood there — quickly glancing about the room. One of them fixed his stare on her mother, then whipped out his revolver and shot the old lady dead. The explanation of this outrageous murder (and many other similar murders of old people), is that aged folk are only a burden to the occupation forces, since they are past their period of work and usefulness to the state.

For days I have tried to keep myself from repeating these horrors, for as you know. I want this space in the newspaper to be cheerful. But what tipped me over was Pete.

Yes Pete—my dearly loved son. He had the audacity to complain about his cereal this morning. It was a mixture of three cereals — cooked and hot. Now he loves rolled oats and cornmeal porridge, each of which I serve once per week. (On the non - porridge mornings we have eggs.) In my plan to serve all of the whole grains once per week to my family, the one he does not like always comes in for a grimace or remark.

This morning I replied with both barrels. I told him those two stories of East Berlin women, and finished with "You have health and love heaped up and running over. The worst tragedy of your life was the death of Lassie. If I hear any more complaints about the kind of porridge you like or dislike I'll prop a picture of Stalin up in front of your place at the table."

I didn't intend that to be funny.

FUNNY BUSINESS - By Hershberger

"Let him knock out a couple of your teeth to wow the television audience!"

NEW SLEEVE TREATMENTS are apparent in these very feminine blouses for spring. Wide cuffed sleeves and collar in double layers of organdy (left) provide femininity without frills. Blouse is in woven tuck organdy. The bell sleeve (centre) blossoms in transparent organdy with scalloped embroidery trimming and tucked front. Baby soft imported cotton bastiste right) makes blouse with new lantern sleeve. Detailing is in lace.

Blouses Have Frilly, Feminine Air

The very definite change in the appearance of the 1952 spring blouse is mostly a matter of sleeves. It's the Gibson Girl blouse, that's getting attention, with its frilly, feminine look and its voluminous sleeves.

With these balloon, belled, lantern or leg-of-mutton sleeves, there's a new, natural shoulder line, often a dropped shoulder. Most wearable with suits is the lantern sleeve that has fullness just about the elbow.

The more frilly the blouse, the better it looks with quilted skirts or skirts with a petticoat air.

Sleeve ruffs and fancy cuffs are nearly as important as the Gibson Girl styling. Neat, small black bows trim necklines and set off lace detailing.

Most often, these blouses are done in silky Swiss batiste or in organdy that's permanently crisp. These have appeal because of their fresh, cool look and their washability.

Novelty voiles and striped shirtings get emphasis and so does woven-tuck sheer cotton that seems to be pleated.

Blouse trim this year is borrowed from lingerie or baby dresses and imparts a sweet, girlish air.

MOVIE COLUMN

Believe Actors Have Most Temperament

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan 31 — (AP) Who has the most temperament, actors or actresses? The actors, says Maureen O'Hara.

Miss O'Hara is obviously an actress. She is also red-haired and Irish, so one would expect her to toss a tantrum on the movie sets. But no, she remarked, it's the male members of the casts who get temperamental.

What do they do?

"Many things," she replied. "They come in late to the studio in the morning. They fret about their makeup. They have a tizzy because they don't have enough dialogue. They spend minutes in front of a mirror so they can get one lock of hair to dangle correctly on their foreheads. They are late getting into their costumes after lunch."

Men Uneo-operative

She added that the men are uneo-operative about their off-stage dialogue. When the actress has a closeup and the actor is not in the camera's range, he will usually go to his dressing room and play cards, she said. The dialogue director or script clerk then reads his lines.

However, she hastily made an exception of her present co-star, Errol Flynn, who is "extremely nice."

George Sherman, directing the pair in "Against All Flags," remarked that temperament is a negligible factor in movie-making nowadays. The veteran director said that star tantrums have virtually disappeared from the Hollywood scene in the last two years.

"The only one who gets away with it any more is Shelley Winters and she's crazy," he said frankly. "I directed her in her first picture after she made her hit in 'A Double Life.' She said to me, 'George, you understand me. You know I'm crazy, and all these other people have to find it out the hard way.'"

6—In Memoriam

DENOBLE—In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Teresa DeNoble, who passed away January 31st, 1950.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Always tender fond and true.
There's not a day, dear mother,
We do not think of you.
No one knows how much we miss you,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
You are not forgotten loved one,
Nor will you ever be
As long as life and memory last,
We will remember thee.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died two years ago.
—Always remembered by her children.

FONTAINE—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Angus Fontaine, who passed away January 31, 1948.
Please, God, forgive a silent tear,
A silent wish that our father was here,
There are others, yes, I know,
But he was ours, and we loved him so,
Four years ago we had to part,
With one we loved with all our hearts,
The wound so deep it will never heal,
Only those who have lost know how we feel.
Never forgotten, nor never shall be.
—Ever remembered by his wife and family.

JACKMAN—In loving memory of mother, who passed away January 31, 1948.
You are never forgotten mother dear,
Nor ever will you be,
As long as life and memories last
We will remember thee.
—Ever remembered by Doris, Iva and Joe.

JACKMAN — In memory of Mrs. George Jackman, who passed away four years ago today.
In our hearts your memory lingers
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear mother
That we do not think of you.
—Ever remembered by Del and Jean.

THROOP—In loving memory of Mrs. Wilfred A. Throop, who passed away January 31st, 1951.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
For memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died one year ago.
—Always remembered by husband and family.

7—Cards of Thanks

Joe Mathews, 298 Brock Street, wishes to thank the doctor and nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital, and all friends who remembered him while he was ill.

The family of the late Albert Valois wish to thank the attending doctor, Rev. J. A. Purser, Civic Hospital staff, neighbors and friends for their many kind attentions and thoughtfulness in the passing of a dear husband and father.—Mrs. Albert Valois, Leslie and Norman.

Segregating POW's To Reduce Friction

KIJEDO ISLAND, Korea, Jan. 31 (Reuters)—To prevent further fights between Communists and non-Communists in the United Nations war-prisoner camp here military police guards have segregated the two factions.

Col. Maurice Fitzgerald, camp commandant, said today there had been bitter strife between the island's 155,000 North Korean and Chinese Communist prisoners.

Officials, who admitted segregation has helped cut down clashes, never enter the prison compounds unarmed.

Turkey Makes Strong Bid To Lure Christian Tourists

ISTANBUL, Jan. 31 (Reuters).—Mohammedan Turkey is making a strong bid to attract western tourists by developing and playing up places of historic Christian interest in the country, especially the House of the Virgin near Ephesus, where one tradition says Christ's mother died.

At Christmas, Rauf Onursal, mayor of Izmir, sent a Christmas card to the pope, illustrated by a photograph of the House of the Virgin. A recent tourist booklet of 110 pages and more than 40 photographs devotes the bulk of its space to the story of the house.

It also points up the connection of Ephesus with St. John the Divine, St. Paul and ecumenical councils of the early church.

The Christians, especially Roman Catholics, are responding to the tourist drive and several pilgrimages have been organized to the hillside dwelling.

The pope has authorized Monsignor Descuffi, archbishop of Izmir, in whose diocese Ephesus lies, to impart the papal benediction on pilgrims visiting the shrine.

While Christians have held divided opinions about the place of the Virgin's death—another tradition says it occurred at Gethsemane in Jerusalem—the booklet cites an ancient tradition among Greek villagers of the Ephesus district that says Mary did die there. The Greeks are descendants of Christians who fled into the mountains when it was captured by the Moslem Turks.

Funds have been allotted to improve the road leading to the shrine and orders have been given for the repair and modernization of a small hotel there.

The Turkish Government also is striving to attract tourists to the Marvels of Cappadocia, rock and cave monasteries and churches in the Urgub district, about 50 miles from Kayseri, site of the ancient town of Ceasarea of Cappadocia.

The Marvels, a geological freak of soft cone-shaped rocks from six to 90 feet high, are of interest to Christians because early Christians, fleeing Roman persecution, burrowed into them to make houses, hermit cells, monasteries and churches.

12 Being Held In PO Racket

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP). — Police Wednesday night charged three Toronto men with conspiring to defraud the post office, bringing to 12 the number of men arrested since investigations began.

Arrested were William Ellis, 40, Henry Mesda, 29, and Burton Graves, 35.

Police said a postal clerk and 11 mail drivers participated in a "foolproof scheme" which netted then at least $2,500 and possibly double that amount last year.

They charge the clerk recorded fictitious deliveries of non-existent parcels and the men, who are paid for each delivery, got the extra amount in their pay cheques. They later split profits with the clerk.

Refuse All Orders On Military Equipment

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP) — An External Affairs department official said today Canada will probably refuse to fill any orders for military equipment for the Middle East at this troubled period—but there aren't any countries seeking arms for that area anyway.

He said an export permit to ship five elementary training planes to Egypt was cancelled last fall at the request of the manufacturer, the DeHavilland Company in Toronto, which was having some trouble over the contract with Egypt and decided to sell them at home.

Since that time there have been no orders from that area. However, if there were, it is doubtful the government would allow them to be filled because it is government policy not to send arms to foreign countries in potentially explosive areas, the official said.

Hamilton Ready Join Toronto Building Jail

HAMILTON, Jan. 31. (CP) — Hamilton is ready to join any time in negotiations with the city of Toronto and the Ontario Department of Reform Institutions for the erection of a common jail house which might also serve Oakville and Milton, Ald. Russell Reinke, chairman of the fire and jail committee, said today.

Mayor Allan Lamport of Toronto said discussions were under way for the proposed common jail and Ald. Reinke said Hamilton would save money if the present "obsolete" county jail on Barton Street could be disposed of.

Engine, Baggage Cars Derailed At Oshawa

OSHAWA, Jan. 31. (CP)—The engine and two baggage cars of an extra Montreal-to-Toronto Canadian National Railways passenger train were derailed here early today. No one was injured.

Thirty-seven passengers were taken the 40 miles to Toronto by bus.

The derailment was believed caused by a faulty wheel on a baggage car.

Killed In Car Crash Bewdley Man Buried

BEWDLEY, Jan. 31—(ENS)—Funeral service for George Oulds, 37, killed early Sunday in a car-truck crash on Highway 2, was held Wednesday. The Rev. C. H. Bouldon of St. Anne's church officiated.

Mr. Oulds was picked up as a hitch-hiker by an east-bound auto that later was in collision with a truck three miles east of Newtonville.

Pallbearers were V. Mayling, William Gordon, David Benson, Jack Ackison, Tommy Tolland, and Frank McAllister. Burial was in Bewdley cemetery.

York Couple Receives First Pension Cheques

TORONTO, Jan. 31—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. John M. Carter, of suburban North York, both 76, today became the first couple in Canada to receive cheques under the government's new old age security program.

Four generations of the Carter family were on hand when the couple were handed cheques for $40 at a formal presentation.

Among the first in Ontario to file applications, they were selected by lot for the presentation.

Natives of Tavistock, Devon, England, they have resided in Canada for 40 years. Mr. Carter is a retired accountant.

The presentation was made by F. C. Jackson, Ontario Regional Director of Old Age Security, and R. L. Morton, Treasury representative.

French-Speaking Class Naval Recruits

OTTAWA, Jan. 31 (CP)—First class of French-speaking recruits to attend the Royal Canadian Navy's new basic training school at Quebec City will arrive there next Monday, naval headquarters announced today.

Classroom instruction will get under way next week, although the official opening ceremony has been postponed for more favorable weather conditions, sometime in May.

The first class will consist of 60 recruits from the province of Quebec and Eastern Ontario. Additional drafts will arrive at the school each month until it is operating at a maximum capacity of 180.

The six months' course will be given in both the English and French languages. Naval history, seamanship and parade ground training will be included in the curriculum. On completion of the course, candidates will go to HMCS Corwallis, near Digby, NS, for more advanced training.

Cmdr. Marcel J. A. T. Jette of Montreal is officer in charge of the school as well as commanding officer of HMCS Montcalm.

Ask Rate Increase

CORNWALL, Jan. 31 — (CP). —Cornwall Street Railway Light and Power Company officials on Wednesday night, at a special meeting of the city and township councils, requested permission to increase power rates, effective on February 15.

Chevrier Takes Issue With New York Daily

OTTAWA, Jan. 31. (CP)—Canada fully intends to go ahead with the St. Lawrence seaway project, Transport Minister Chevrier said today.

The minister was commenting on an editorial in today's New York Herald Tribune. The newspaper was critical of some aspects of the Federal government's plan for all-Canadian construction of the navigation works and joint international works for electric power from the river.

Mr. Chevrier said he does not want to get into any fight between the Herald Tribune and President Truman, but he added the editorial has some inaccuracies concerning Canada's role in the project.

The Herald Tribune said Mr. Truman's insistance, in his annual budget statement, that Congress must consider Canada has passed legislation to go ahead with the seaway alone "almost pure poppycock."

"The Herald Tribune's statement is 'pure poppycock'," Mr. Chevrier replied. "We have passed legislation and we do intend to go ahead."

(Parliament passed legislation last month creating a "St. Lawrence seaway authority" to build and operate the navigation phase of the project, empowering the new body to borrow up to $300,000,000. At the same time, it ratified an agreement with the Ontario provincial government under which that government would split evenly with the appropriate US agency the $400,000,000 cost of developing power.)

Build Canal Alone

Dealing with the newspaper's statement that it is no part of the Canadian intention to build the seaway alone since that is physically impossible, the minister said:

"If that refers to the navigation canal, we certainly can do it alone. If it refers to power, we have said all along it must be a joint undertaking."

He also denied a statement in the editorial that there could not be a seaway without an international dam. "Certainly the seaway could be built without a dam," he said.

Mr. Chevrier described as "silly" the Herald Tribune's statement that Canadians are "not sure" whether they have the money for the project.

He said the estimated cost of the navigation end is $250,000,000, which would be paid off in 30 or 40 years by charging tolls at the rate of $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 a year. The saving in transportation costs would be around $45,000,000 a year.

The minister also disagreed with a statement in the editorial saying the Canadian plan depends on Mr. Truman yielding in his objection to a joint power development by Ontario and New York state.

He noted that the Canadian government has not stipulated whether the US agency should be a federal or state body. He also noted that the US and Canadian governments, as announced earlier this week, now are working on a joint reference to the international joint commission, the body with jurisdiction over boundary waters.

He described as a "mis-statement and inaccuracy of the worst kind" the newspaper's statement that the real bases of the project are "obscure."

The engineering features he said had been agreed to in 1941 by the best engineers and by the governments of both countries. From the strategic defence standpoint, the seaway had been approved by the permanent joint defence board of the US and Canada.

Hydrogen Plant Cost Doubled

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31 (AP)—The United States Atomic Energy Commission today made its most specific announcement about the hydrogen super-bomb project: That the plant to produce it is going to cost more than double the originally guessed figure.

A semi-annual report of the commission said the current estimate for constructing the huge Savannah river plant in South Carolina is more than $1,250,000,000.

A year and a half ago a preliminary calculation set the cost of the plant at perhaps $600,000,000.

Rumor Assassination Of Ex-Syrian Premier

CAIRO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Cairo newspapers published today unconfirmed reports of an outbreak of violence in Syria and the assassination of Nazam Bey Koudsi, former Syrian premier. There was no confirmation of the report from Syrian sources.

Koudsi, leader of the Populist party, was premier from June, 1950, until last March, when he resigned without explanation. He was asked to form a government several times but refused.

He was jailed last November when Col. Adib Shishekly, Syria's strong man, set up a virtual military dictatorship after an army coup.

Al Ahram reported six days ago that 27 persons were killed and 287 wounded in a clash between students and army officers at Aleppo, Syria.

It said Shishekly then ordered Koudsi's release "to ease the situation."

August Now Set For Starting Of Canadian TV

(By The Canadian Press)

Continued increase in sales of television receivers in Canada lends interest to the recent statement of A. D. Dunton, chairman of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, that the CBC now is aiming to start television in August. His statement was qualified by the hope that further shortages of building materials will not develop.

By August, the CBC expects to have between 180 and 190 trained TV employees divided about equally between Toronto and Montreal where the first Canadian television stations now are being constructed. Television training courses in television began at CBC studios in Toronto and Montreal in January, for program and technical personnel who will be charged with the direct production of video programs.

Some of the CBC personnel of course have been engaged for some time in television study, planning and experimental programming. For the training lectures specialists in some fields will be brought in, and all details involved in putting TV shows on the air will be studied.

Practical work on cameras and control equipment has been carried out for some time, and the present study courses are to show what the equipment can do and how it can best be used under production conditions.

In about three months' time, further training courses will be inaugurated to initiate a second line of men and women in the intricacies of TV. In this group will be set designers, carpenters and other specialists whose functions are complementary to those of the technical group.

Sales Increase

The Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa recently disclosed that in the first 10 months of 1951, sales of television sets in Canada jumped to 28,979 units, valued at $15,607,000, compared with 19,183 sets in the same period of 1950. The bulk of sets were sold in border areas of Ontario.

The United States now has more than 15,000,000 television sets. A recent survey there showed Sunday evening to be the most popular viewing period, with something over 47 per cent of all sets being in use between 6:30 pm and 11:30 Sunday nights.

The present "freeze" on new television stations in the United States, imposed as a defence economy measure, is expected to be lifted shortly. But serious shortages of essential materials, notably steel, continue and it seems doubtful if many new American TV transmitters will be on the air before 1953.

Trio Suffers Burns As Fumes Explode

WINDSOR, Jan. 31 (CP).—Exploding gasoline fumes sent three Windsor men to hospital Wednesday night with first and second degree burns and blew the plate glass window out of the front of a lunchroom.

Most seriously injured was Kenneth Fraser, owner of the Felix lunch. Hospital attendants today described his condition as serious, although not critical.

Also injured were Odillon Seguin, in the restaurant at the time, and Bill Hartlen, 26, a passerby who rushed in to help and suffered slight facial burns.

There was no damage to the interior of the restaurant.

Order Vote

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP).—The Ontario Labor Relations Board announced today it has ordered a vote among the 18 driver salesmen of Doyle's Bakery, Kingston, to determine whether they wish local 403 of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Union to act as their collective bargaining agent. The board previously certified the union as bargaining agent for plant employees.

RAWHIDE, Max Ferguson to those who know him, radio announcer and comedian, will be guest speaker at the dinner at the CGE cafeteria March 7 opening the Red Cross and Community Fund campaign.

Rawhide To Speak At Dinner Opening Community Fund

Toronto announcer - comedian Max Ferguson will be guest speaker for the opening dinner of the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign, March 7.

Mr. Ferguson is best known for his Rawhide radio show program now featured on CBC Trans-Canada. Rawhide—a westerner with a shady background, age unknown—first turned up as a radio personality in Halifax where Mr. Ferguson found himself sole heir to a hill-billy show. He became so popular he was transferred to the Toronto studios. A highlight of his program is his take-off on different CBC shows, in which he acts all the parts himself, in voices ranging from soprano to bass and with tongue-in-cheek abandon.

Mr. Ferguson was born in Durham, England, the son of Irish parents. But he has lived most of his life in London, Ont., where he graduated from the University of Western Ontario in 1946. In the summer holidays he played with a radio stock company in London and neighboring districts.

After graduation, he went to station CFPL, London, as an announcer, and a few months later joined the CBC and went to Halifax.

The opening dinner will be held in the CGE cafeteria, and the campaign will be closed with a dinner at the Empress Hotel March 15.

People Kind To Widow 23

SEATTLE, Jan. 31 (AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Nordness was one of the many women who were widowed by the sea three weeks ago.

Her 28-year-old husband, Einar, was lost with 45 other seamen when the freighter Pennsylvania sank in the storm-lashed North Pacific.

Left alone and virtually destitute with three children, the shock cost the 23-year-old mother the fourth child she had been expecting.

There was no insurance, no resources.

"But," she said today, "I didn't know people could be so kind. A few days ago a man I had never seen before knocked on the door. 'I don't know you and you don't know me,' he said, 'but here.' He shoved a $20 bill into my hand and went away. He seemed awfully embarrassed."

A laundry informed her she was to receive free diaper-washing service. Friends stocked her pantry.

Then, a field man for the Social Security Administration called to advise her that, starting next month, she will receive $130 a month until baby Julie is 18. She now is eight months old.

"I just didn't know there was so much good in people."

Kitchener City Council Offers 10-Cent Raise

KITCHENER, Jan. 31 (CP).—A City Council negotiation committee Wednesday night offered civic workers a 10-cent-an-hour increase for 1952.

The union had asked for a $400 across - the - board raise — the equivalent of 17 cents an hour. Their present basic rate is $1.02 an hour.

Union President Jack Rutherford said later the offer probably will be turned down by the union membership. The union committee claims a 10-cent raise will cover only half of the cost-of-living increase of last year.

Hope's Challenge Accepted By Crooner

LONDON, Jan. 31—(Reuters)—The Bob Hope-Bing Crosby challenge to take on any two British entertainers at a round of golf has been taken up by top British crooner Donald Peers.

"If and when Hope and Crosby come over again . . . I am sure they can be accommodated," he said today, engagements permitting.

Peers is no dub. He played in the British amateur the last two years.

TTS Transcontinental Circuit Opened By AP

NEW YORK, Jan. 31 —(AP)—The Associated Press teletypesetter wire today became a transcontinental circuit, another first in the rapid expansion of communication.

With the addition of 12 southern California newspapers, the circuit now spans the United States from coast to coast and from Canada to Mexico.

TTS, as the service is called, originates in New York and goes to members in 26 states. There are three national circuits. One is for the afternoon papers, another is for morning papers and the third is a market wire which carries, among other market material, a complete New York stock list in tabular form. All three types of service are first with the Associated Press.

The Associated Press also operates state circuits apart from the national wires.

TTS delivers actual type automatically, ready to print, from perforated tape which is simultaneously received in newspapers. It is completely automatic and replaces the former system of delivering copy which had to be edited and then composed after receipt.

Delayed By Storm

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 (CP)—A Trans-Canada Airlines plane carrying Finance Minister Abbott home to Canada from Commonwealth talks in London today was reported held up by a storm at Keflavik, Iceland by airline officials. The plane is due to arrive here shortly before midnight.

Urges Canadians To Keep Commonwealth Idealism

TORONTO, Jan. 31 (CP)—T. C. A. Hislop, High Commissioner for New Zealand, urged Canadians today to keep the spirit and idealism of the Commonwealth burning bright in Canada for its on the strength of this spirit "that our common safety over the years ahead depends."

Danger unites, he said in a speech prepared for delivery to the Empire Club of Canada, and thus the trials and stresses of war have brought closer the members of the Commonwealth.

"But," he urged, "let us so shape our national lives that when the dangers go and the darkness recedes and days of real peace come once more, let us ensure that ease and comfort do not lead us into sloth and forgetfulness.

"Let us keep in the forefront of our thoughts the basic ideals that united us, let us remember our past, let us meet one another and really get to know each other as members of a family and so preserve the unity that has kept us through the years and amidst all the dangers that have beset us."

Ideal Same

When he spoke of the Commonwealth and used the word "Empire," said Mr. Hislop, he did it not only because it is the "good old word" used in the Canadian charter, "but because whether you use it or the more modern 'Commonwealth' or 'Commonwealth and Empire' the ideal and the purpose is the same."

Canada, with its immense natural wealth, its resources, harnessed to a vigorous and resourceful people, was a demonstration of a great nation.

"But with all these great material assets," said Mr. Hislop, "something more is needed I believe, and that something more you and we and our Commonwealth do share.

"It is the ideal of the dignity of man, man not as a mere cog in a state machine, but man as an individual with the inalienable human right to use in ordered freedom his God-given attributes of mind and spirit and body."

It was this spirit, added Mr. Hislop, that has held the Commonwealth and Empire together through all the stresses and strains and "it is on the strength of this spirit and ideal that our common safety over the years ahead depends."

Mrs. S. F. Fee

The funeral for Mrs. Samuel Francis Fee, the former Annie Faux, Uxbridge, who died Sunday, was held Wednesday from the Kaye funeral home.

The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee United Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Lorne Wilson, George Moncrief, Walter Riddell, Ray Bleakley, Clayton Fee, Glen Fee. Burial was in Emily Cemetery.

United Church Fund New High

TORONTO, Jan. 31—With 1,000 Churches showing increased contributions, the Missionary and Maintenance Fund of the United Church of Canada today reached $3,031,706—$221,916 more than the fund had received at this time a year ago, Dr. Denzil G. Ridout, secretary, announced today.

The current year's appeal ends on February 15. The fund asked churches to increase their givings by 10 per cent. to provide for additional church projects urgently requiring attention. Last year the total was $3,009,979.

This is the 11th successive year the Missionary and Maintenance Fund has shown an increase, Dr. Ridout said.

The Fund provides grants for Home and Overseas Mission Work, Christian Education, Social Services, Pensions, Colleges and Secondary School upkeep, etc.

Information Centres Closed In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 31—(AP) — A United States embassy spokesman said today Iran has ordered immediate shutdown of all American State Department information and education centres here except the one in Tehran. The order also applied to British and Russian cultural centres outside the capital, it was reported.

Drafting of the closure order was reported unofficially Wednesday. The Iranian action was based on a 1949 decree permitting foreign cultural activities only in Tehran. The decree had not been enforced.

A month ago, Moslem leader Ayatullah Kashani, whose word often has great weight with the government, "suggested" enforcement of the decree in a note to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh. Mossadegh's Nationalists have been demanding that he close down British and other foreign cultural centres, alleging they are "espionage nests."

James Maher

The funeral of James Maher of Windsor, son of Mr. M. J. Maher, 270 Rubidge St., took place Wednesday morning from his father's home to St. Peter's Cathedral. Requiem high mass was celebrated by his brother, the Rev. Gerard J. Maher of St. Michael's Church, Toronto, assisted by the Rev. John Lambert, CSSR, London, and the Rev. J. Vincent Gillogly, Port Hope.

Most Rev. Gerald Berry, DD, bishop of Peterborough, attended in the sanctuary, and 20 priests of the diocese, including Monsignor P. P. Butler of Peterborough and Monsignor J. V. McAuley of Lindsay, were present.

Prayers at St. Peter's Cemetery were offered by Father Lambert and Father Maher and Rev. J. Weiss.

The pallbearers were Stanley Pogue, John Burke, M. E. Finn, Kenneth Guilfoyle, Oscar Perdue and William Roche.

Mr. Maher died suddenly last Sunday in Windsor where for years he had been a druggist.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 31 (CP).—Jim Sikora, 17, died today of injuries suffered yesterday when he fell from his bicycle under a transport truck.

10 Days On Head —While Drunk

"I could do ten days standing on my head," an inebriated American from Youngstown, NY, declared early today when warned that unless he calmed down he would be charged with being drunk.

Everitt Sinclair called at the police station at 1 am today and complained vigorously that a policeman had taken his car keys away from him because he was too drunk to drive.

However, the warning failed to impress Sinclair and he continued to heap abuse on the local men in blue and was placed in a cell to sober up.

In police court today, Sinclair did not repeat his boast made to Sergeant Leo Murphy about standing on his head in the cooler for ten days. However, he did plead guilty to two charges, one of being drunk, in the police station, and another of causing a disturbance—in the police station.

Magistrate W. R. Philp fined Sinclair $10 and $2.50 costs on each charge. If the fines are not paid, Magistrate Philp said the two jail sentences of 10 days each are to run concurrently.

Toronto Minister Named Principal

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 31 — The Rev. A. E. MacKenzie, minister of a Toronto church, will assume the principalship of Albert College on July 1, it was announced Wednesday.

Mr. McKenzie succeeds the Rev. Bert Howard, whose retirement becomes effective late in June.

Mr. MacKenzie, a native of Nova Scotia, is a graduate of Mount Allison University and the Pine Hill Theological College.

Dr. Howard's retirement closes a period of 18 years as principal of the college. He came to Belleville from Arcola, Sask. He and Mrs. Howard will live in St. Catharines following retirement.

Montreal Pathologist Wins Fellowship

MONTREAL, Jan. 31 (CP). — Dr. H. Terry Van Patter, 26-year-old Montreal pathologist, has won the $8,000 Allan Blair Memorial Fellowship established by the Canadian Cancer Society, it was announced today.

The award will enable Dr. Van Patter to study advanced pathology for a year under Dr. Fred W. Stewart at the Memorial Centre for Cancer and Allied Diseases in New York. Later he will spend a second year in British cancer research centres.

At the age of 17 Dr. Van Patter won the Quebec entrance scholarship to Queen's University, but had to decline because he had joined the army. At McGill University he won first place high aggreate standing, obtaining his B.Sc. with honors in 1947.

Murney Martin

Funeral service for Murney Martin, 68, of 267 Simcoe St., was held Wednesday at the Belleghem funeral home, the Rev. H. B. McCormack of St. James' United Church officiating.

Mr. Martin, who died Monday in hospital, was seriously injured January 12 when he was hit by a car driven by Elwood McIlmoyle, 33 Armour Rd. An autopsy was performed Monday by Dr. C. B. Waite, district provincial pathologist, and it has not yet been decided whether an inquest will be held.

Pallbearers were all members of the Legion and the Red Patch Club: Michael Gahagan, Bruce Castle, Robert Evans, Rod McGinnis, Harry Clapham, Harry Summers.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

St. Luke's Anglican Church Reports Year Of Progress

The 76th annual vestry meeting of St. Luke's Anglican Church was held in the parish hall Monday evening, with the Rev. W. J. Gilling in the chair.

The rector's report upon the condition, progress and needs of the parish was read at all services on the Sunday before the vestry meeting.

The financial report was read by Gordon Whyte, the people's warden, and was commented upon by the rector's warden, John P. Gemmell. The report showed that the parish enjoyed great financial success; the amounts raised were the greatest in the history of the parish. Furthermore, the mission allotment was over-subscribed.

The reports of all parochial organizations showed progress in numbers and work accomplished; these organizations now cater to all age groups of the parish family. The success of the 75th anniversary celebrations held last June was due in no small measure to the tremendous amount of work done by the women of the parish.

The new appointments of the parish are as follows: Rector's warden, Donald G. Worboy; people's warden, Gordon White; vestry clerk, Fraser Watson; envelope secretary, Roland Krant; parochial auditors, Keneth Campbell and S. J. Pammett.

Lay delegates to the Synod of the Diocese: Dr. Gordon R. Langley, Ross Greenley, Gordon Manniece, alternates Chris Hughes and J. S. Mason.

Lay delegates to the Great Chapter of the Rural Deanery: D. Wyatt, Keith Stewart, B. Duder, John Gemmell, Harry Willis.

Then ew office of chairman of the sidesmen is to be filled by John P. Gemmell.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a prayer book to Mrs. Arthur Long, who is retiring after nine years of service in the junior Sunday School. The presentation was made by the rector who expressed the thanks of the parishioners of St. Luke's for the good work that Mrs. Long has done.

Before closing, Mr. Gilling expressed his thanks to John Gemmell, the retiring church warden, and one and all for their co-operation of the past year.

During the season of Lent, men and women of St. Luke's are to engage in a campaign of personal evangelism through lay apostleship. Every house in Ashburnham is to be visited with the hope of finding men, women and children who are without a church home, and particularly all new or unattached Anglicans in the community. The object of the campaign is to find all Anglicans who are described by the church as "missing in action." The committee of the campaign, under the direction of Bernard Morin, is already hard at work on the plans and porcedure for such an effort.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 25c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

WATERMELON WISH—Lucille Dotson, 17, of Wyandotte, Mich., eats a watermelon flown to her bedside from Cuba. The girl was stricken with a kidney disease six weeks ago, and awakened from a near-coma with the craving for the fruit. With her are her sister, Mary, and a friend, Bill Gackerio. Doctors say she has a "very poor" chance of recovering.

Heart Stops 105 Mins. Electricity Saves Life

CHICAGO, Jan. 31 (AP)—Doctors at Presbyterian Hospital reported Wednesday that they shocked a student nurse back to normal life with electricity after her heart had quit beating for an hour and 45 minutes.

A jolt of 110 volts was sent directly through her exposed heart after three doctors took turns "milking" it by hand to keep her blood circulating through her body.

The nurse, 21-year-old Darline Timke, discussed her experience with reporters Wednesday at the hospital, where she is a senior student nurse.

She entered the hospital operating room as a patient Dec. 12 for minor nose surgery. Doctors believe extreme sensitivity to a local anesthesia caused her heart to stop normal beating.

Another Round In Australia Won By Rabbits

By LOUIS L. LECK
Canadian Press Correspondent

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP)—Australia's 360,000,000 rabbits have won—at some cost—another round in the battle to wipe them out. This time they have beaten what farmers triumphly dubbed the "wonder disease."

Last year the disease, myxomatosis, spread rapidly over most of southeastern Australia killing rabbits by the millions. Inexplicably it jumped the 800-mile-wide waterless Simpson desert to the northern territory and killed thousands of rabbits in Australia's far north.

Spread from one rabbit to another by mosquitoes and possibly by ticks also, it raced along riverbed areas and, with pools of water from a year of record rains, hit practically every warren in much of Australia's richest farming land.

Farmers clamored for virus-infected rabbits to speed the spread. Everywhere were dead and dying rabbits, with swollen and infected heads, running eyes and drooping bodies.

Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animal officials made a half-hearted appeal against official spreading of the virus, but Australia farmers, whose stations carry three times as many rabbits as sheep, were delighted with its results.

Experts say that if there were no rabbits Australian farms could carry 40,000,000 more sheep, or a third as many again as they do now.

Inoculated With Virus

In government agricultural stations in many parts of the country, well-fed rabbits have been inoculated with the virus and wait to be taken out to farms where the disease died down during winter months. To help the carrier mosquitoes, each rabbit has a shorn patch along its body. Altogether about 500,000 rabbits have been infected for the current summer's campaign.

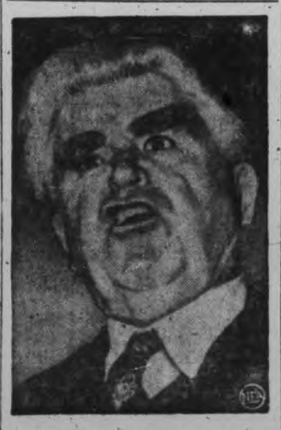
But so far, with near-drought and drought conditions in many parts, the mosquitoes have either been missing or haven't done a good job of passing on the virus. Thousands of the infected rabbits have died without infecting others.

Elsewhere research officers have found that some rabbits have resisted the disease. At Swan Hill, northern Victoria, only two of 20 rabbits infected died. Others seemed to get myxomatosis but recovered.

Some scientists now fear that the offspring of those rabbits which recovered will be able to resist the virus. And even if half their offspring die, a pair of rabbits could multiply to 9,000,000 in three years.

Warns Dr. I. Clunies Ross, chairman of the Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization: "Myxomatosis will never wipe out the rabbit pest. It comes back to hard and continuous work by farmers using orthodox methods."

Will Stand Trial



BRAMPTON, Jan. 31. (CP) — Marvin Henriksen, 35, of Cooksville ,Wednesday was committed ville, Wednesday was committed murder in connection with the shooting of Frank Hackim, 45, of Port Credit, last Dec. 19. Hackim testified Henriksen accused him of "going with his wife." The shooting took place in Henriksen's home.

Killed By Train

BLENHEIM, Ont., Jan. 31. (CP) —Glen Lethbridge of Chatham was killed Wednesday when his coal truck was struck by a New York Central passenger train at a level-crossing three miles northeast of here. The train, travelling at 80 miles an hour, scattered the truck wreckage hundreds of feet along the tracks.

Holds Up Bank

MONTREAL, Jan. 31. (CP)—A lone bandit Wednesday held up an east-end bank for the second time this month and escaped with $1,000. Police said Teller Germaine Reeves recognized the man as one who took about $700 from her Jan. 9.

Winnipeg Group Drama Winner

WINNIPEG, Jan. 31 — (CP)—Winnipeg Little Theatre Wednesday night made a clean sweep of the Manitoba regional tests of the Dominion Drama Festival.

British adjudicator Pierre Lefevre awarded the group top place in the regional tests for their performance of "Medea," Robinson Jeffers' adapted version of the Euripides Tragedy.

Peggy Green, who played the emotion-tossed heroine, was named best actress, and Bill Walker, who played her faithless husband, was chosen best actor.

"Medea" was a fast moving and great play, Mr. Lefevre said. But it was essential that performers get the feeling of balance between human weakness and failings and the will of the gods.

He said he was impressed that the Little Theatre cast, directed by Robert Jarman, should "have the guts" to stage such a play.

He said, however, that the actors did not have enough feeling "that they were digging their own graves" or the sense of fate. The feeling of poetry had been too assumed.

Pilot To Emperor

STOCKHOLM — (CP)—Capt. Claes J. Smith, well-known Swedish aviation engineer and test pilot has been appointed chief pilot to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia. He will also organize and train the transport section of the Ethiopian Air Force.

Handy Fireman

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Timmins firemen do a lot more than put out fires. Their report for last month includes thawing of frozen water pipes, clearing plugged sewers, helping housewives light their oil burners and opening doors for people who locked themselves out.

Test For Subway

MONTREAL —(CP) — Holes drilled in tests for the proposed subway here have gone below 20 feet in Victoria Square, showing a high water content of the soil at that level. The Victoria Square drill hole pumps about 35 gallons of water daily.

Figuring Costs

WINNIPEG (CP) — City engineer W. D. Hurst has been asked to make a report on the probable cost of fluorinating Winnipeg's water supply. An estimate last year was $32,720, or 11 cents per capita, but equipment has risen in price since then.
